addressed Wayne college students at convocation Tuesday. Rev. Maier, who was presented by Rev. O. B. Proett, quoted Dr. Walter Judd, Minnesota congress-man, who in his "Philosophy of Life that Works" said that all have one thing in common—one life to live. In commenting that too many proceed through life without a plan, Rev. Maier noted that each is born with possibilities of life, love and happiness and often these are not fully realized. This may be due to lack of plan or its execution. "We need faith that gives meaning to life, responsibilities are laid on one by life, and much depends on one's attitude toward these re-sponsibilities."

bilities." Sermon on the Mount, Rev noted, indicates in thre Maier noted, indicates in three ways that one's attitude should be generous service. The sermon ad-vises one to "give also the cloak," "turn the left cheek" and "go two miles." The pastor explained that in Biblical times a Jew discharged his obligation to a Roman soldier by carrying the latter's pack one mile. Doing more than required frees one from drudgery and gives a glorious and happy experience. The principle applies to school work, to parenthood and to other obligations of life. Happiness comes from generous service.

Thursday, November 15, 1945. Land AN, interesting story of assessed land valuations came out of the Values state tax commissioner's office at Lincoln last week-end, and it is noted with satisfaction that Wayne county compares favorably Douglas county ranks highest at $80.30 per acre. Thomas county hits the bottom with $2.44 per acre. Wayne coun-ty's average is $63.77 per acre. Besides Douglas, these counties are ahead of Wayne: Washington, $73.44 per acre; Cuming, $67.25; Cass, $66.45; Dodge, $66.-33.

Cuming, $67.25; Cass, $66.40; Doage, soc.-33; Good land is important, but it is evi-dent that live towns are large contributing forces. Douglas county's land is no better than that in some other areas, but its value is manifestly stimulated by the presence of Omaha, the state's biggest city. On the contrary, Thomas county's land is prob-ably no worse than that in other parts, but it has no town to attract special attention. Thedford, its county seat, is given a popu-lation of 270. Rich soil is important, but it suffers dis-advantage if it lacks the stimulus of live, progressive communities.

New AN advertisement from the county Law, clerk in this issue warns motor ve-Law, biele drivers to produce certificates of with before securing licenses for 1946. This is in accordance with a law passed by the last unicameral. Probably valid reason for the law ex-ists. It is probably important to keep track of titles and establish ownership. It is probably as important as the law requir-ing birth certificates. The automobile title wings any doubt of ownership from a driv-er's mind. Proving a fellow was born estab-lishes when and where if not why. In doctoring the statutes to regulate motoring the legislature plainly did not go far enough in fixing responsibility. In-surance provision of a new law gives some protection, but does not require every mo-torist to have insurance when he procures a license. The law should be so definite and so filled with sharp teeth that a rattletrap edanot smash into a valuable car and escape liability. In the insurance safeguard the unicameral made progress, but not the out is the statute. Per-haps it will do better next time.

A year hence congressmen and a number of senators will be elected, and the two principal opposing parties are now too busy planning campaign thunder to permit undivided attention on unbiased and high-minded public service, never more urgent-ly needed than at this time. The Washing-ton administration which will appear for approval or disapproval in 1948, is accus-ed even this early of shaping its course to capture votes three years from now. It would be better for the country if a presi-dent were made ineligible for re-election, or if the high office were in the hands of a statesman who cared nothing for more than one term. In any event, he should feel free to lead without regard to group pressure or partisan politics.

Armistice day was also the anniversary of the storm of sleet and snow that ruined many valuable Nebraska trees.' It happen-ed five years ago. Owners of orchards in the southeast part of the state were espe-cially large losers. It is remembered that stately trees dotting the Willow Bowl at the college here were killed. We under-stand sap high in the trees at this early season made them easy prey of severe weather.

The CIO-PAC combination fell before republican opposition in the late mayor-alty election in Detroit, stronghold of la-bor organizations. The result suggests that even unioncers are no longer disposed to be whipped along by the CIO-PAC. It sug-gests lack of sympathy for socialistic movements designed to dominate the coun-try's industry and politics.

It would appear that China and Java had witnessed enough human slaughter in recent years without engaging in deadly conflict after the world war had ended. It would seem cessation of hostilities with reasonable compromise would appeal to common sense, providing, of course, lead-ers happen to possess that jewel.

A Washington report states that Henry Wallace now secretary of commerce, is preparing to augle for the presidency in 1948. He is believed one of the best inform-de officials in Washington. Also he is rated one of the most visionary and injudicious. This latter deficiency is likely to frustrate his presidential aspirations. Helen Erlandson was at home Washington. We heard a radio report to the effect that a movement had started to require radio spielers to explain in advance wheth-er they were about to let loose news or propaganda. Without knowing, we suspect an itch for more government control.

Referring to food scarcity and hunger as Europe's aftermath of war, the Sioux City Journal concludes: "Surely humanity cannot contemplate it now or witness it later without finding still another power-ful argument for permanent peace."

It is popular in a democracy for high executive officials to assume to act in re-sponse to mandates of the people. In so act-ing it is the rule to attempt to fashion a mandate to suil performance.

Optimistic. "The Impasse Can Be Re-solved" is the title of an article by Eric A. Johnson, president of the United States, in the cur-rent Kiwanis magazine. He mentions that the war between industry and labor threatens to delay the period of unexampled prosperity due in the course of unprecedented de na nd. He urges, the necessity of conces-sions by both sides in disagree-ment in order to benefit all concerned. He thinks capital and labor which are interde-pendent, cannot afford to break down the American system of free enterprise. Parties of nei-ther group want to do it. No foresighted person in the Unit-ed States favors the trend to commism. Mr. Johnson says: "We are in somewhat of an economic oasis in a desert of socialism. All the world turns to us for help; they may turn away from the standards we follow, but they still turn to us for metual advantage. "The al-ternative to self-inspired agree-ment is government control — control which are for sor-time soft in comparison." Mr. Johnson concludes: "Americal-has the ability to produce in astronomical proportions. This ability, properly employed, should guarantee a fuller, freer life for all due."

GREATEST NEED.

GREATEST NEED. The Saturday Evening Post declares that what Russia most needs is freely circulated news about its affairs for its own people and for the outside world. Keeping Russians in ignorance prevents complete understand-ing. This policy of news suppres-sion enables designing leaders to misrepresent the intentions and plans of the United States. It foments distrust and trouble. A free press and freedom of speech would solve many tick-lish problems and have much to do in shaping a permanent peace structure. Rus sia n s should know the story of this country and its endeavors to promote universal good will. If news could pass uncensored be-tween Russia and the United States, and, as suggested by the Post, if 'the Russian people had a chance to make up their own minds as to what we are like and what are our hopes for the truture, the peace of the world would be a certainty. With the Russian people denied this right to reality and fed the myth of 'capitalist encirclement,' the odds strongly favor eventual war. The horror of such an event puts it up to us to find a way to persuade Stalin that no peril to his regime from exten-sions of liberty is comparable to the pert for all the world, in-subiling Russia, if this stupid policy is continued."

Notice!

The 1945 Nebraska Legislature passed a law making it compulsory to obtain a Certificate of Title for all motor vehicles, commercial trailers, semi-trailers and cabin trailers before a 1946 Nebraska license to operate can be procured. The original title law became effective in September 1939 and most motor vehicles purchased prior to that date, unless sold or traded, do not have a Certificate of Title. To avoid a December and January rush, and possible delay and inconvenience to car owners, we suggest that titles be secured as early as possible. Your title may be obtained through the mails by clipping the application reproduced in this issue, filling in ALL the information required, sign before a Notary Public and mail to the County Clerk's office with your before a rotary rubic and man to the total of the registration certificate will be returned to you with your title. Probably all information required, with the exception of the SERIAL NUMBER, can be found on the registration certificate. Fords, and other cars made by Ford, have no serial number. On all other cars and other cars indue by Ford, nave no serial number. On all other cars and trailers the serial number can usually be found somewhere on the floor board, frame or dash panel. If you can come to our office, bringing the registration ceritificate from the steering post holder and the SERIAL NUMBER, we will complete the application and issue your title immediately.

C. A. BARD, County Clerk.
