

Park Must Hurdle Obstacles to Carry Out Proposed Plan—Hoping for Early End of Strikes—Spring Election.

Wayne is destined to grow and increase service to an enlarging area unless a false sense of security reverses the order and causes a stalemate or worse. A town cannot safely rest on its reputation. It goes ahead or slips. This town is in a position to advance, but it must not now allow the erosion of self-satisfaction to eat away advantages. These cannot be maintained without contributing forces in the shape of money and effort.

We are thinking of proposed improvements to Memorial park north of town. The question of legally issuing enough bonds to take care of the cost has developed uncertainty as to the course to pursue. Ways to accomplish desired results without infringing on the law are being figured out, as we are assured. It is suggested that if all plans cannot be handled in one year, they may be strung along through succeeding years until the job has been completed.

Some minimize the importance of a swimming pool. Perhaps others would look indifferently at the need of a golf course. Disagreeing ideas as to demands would seem to be a convincing argument in favor of all the recreational facilities proposed. To satisfy all groups—all contributors—it is desirable to carry out original plans with no least delay. That purpose is no doubt in the minds of those leading the movement, and ways may be expected to open under the spur of proper determination.

Ord lately voted bonds of $50,000 to provide a park, swimming pool and other attractions. Other towns have looked out for wholesome opportunities for leisure time. Those that fail to meet modern demands will slip. A town cannot stand still and make itself think it is progressive.

Wayne is on the eve of unprecedented growth. New business houses and many new dwellings are in process. People want to come here, and they will come if the spirit of progress is kept alive and real in all respects.

Capital-Labor Conflict. We hope strikes will soon run their course and allow workers to settle down to the routine of essential production. From the conflict in which the public is an innocent sufferer, should be found a basis for closer understanding and better faith. Employers—big or small—can tolerate blunders and losses, but they cannot be indifferent to evidence of bad faith which shows interest only in doing the least for the most pay without caring a peyean about quality. Confidence between employer and employee is necessary to good faith, and good faith is essential to successful cooperation.

For the good of the strikers as well as the general public, we hope fair grounds for settling disputes will soon be found. Labor and capital are indispensable to each other, and they should be moved by the practical wisdom of pulling together instead of pulling apart.

Municipal Election. The last of February primaries are to be held to nominate candidates for city and school officers to be voted on the first Tuesday in April. Voters should attend and share in the responsibilities of local government. Terms of mayor, clerk and treasurer expire. Mayor Lundberg, who has served four years, is trying to talk himself out of remaining at the post, but he will not succeed if the feeling of a satisfied constituency is permitted to prevail.

A lot of money has been turned into the city the last few years from dead tax-ridden lots. The financial record of the city is good. Little more than 20 years ago the bonded indebtedness, due to paving, amounted to nearly a million dollars. With the aid of the $15,000 and aviation of $17,000 since added, the total now is $167,000. Nothing is that to groan over.

Councilmen whose terms expire are: First ward, John Meister; Second ward, W. A. Hixcox; Third ward, L. B. McClure. Terms of these members of the school board run out: Paul Mines and Edw. Seymour.

Clothing Drive Is in Progress

Garments Should Be Left At Women's Club Room Last of This Week.

A drive for clothing needed urgently in war-damaged lands is now in progress in the United States, and Wayne Women's club has charge of the local collection. Mrs. Geo. Seek is chairman of the committee. The club rooms in the auditorium will be open all day Friday and Saturday this week. Organizations and individuals are asked to leave clothing or bedding, also money which can be used for purchase of vegetables for war victims.

Types of articles wanted are: Coats, suits, trousers, skirts, dresses, shirts, hose, mittens, underwear, shoes, galoshes, overshoes, rubbers, pajamas, nightgowns, knit wear, blankets, caps, mufflers, bedding, quilts, blankets, sheets, piece goods, remnants and draperies. Anything wearable or usable by infants, children, men or women is needed. Shoes should be tied together in pairs. Items that are not desired are straw hats, toys, feather beds, pillows, mattresses, novelties and household furnishings.

In Poland alone 10,000 are dying each month because they lack food, fuel and warm clothing. In the Philippines people need clothing to protect them from tropical sun. In all countries that felt the destruction of war, clothing is a fundamental need.

Not only do those in war-torn countries require clothing and food to survive the weather and diseases. They need garments so they may start rebuilding their factories, homes and farms.

Dan A. West, state executive director of the victory clothing collection, appeals to all to look through closets, cellars and attics and to give. "If your neighbor's home were destroyed by fire, you'd give from your household to help him start over again. Thousands and thousands of neighbors in other countries are destitute. With their possessions burned, looted or lost, these families are trying to rebuild their lives. It is winter now and they have nothing to wear but the clothes on their backs. In most cases it is the same clothing they've worn six years in and day out for the past six years. They've been patched and repatched until now they're wearing little more than shredded rags. Money can't buy new outfits in their lands, so people who really took the brunt of the war have nothing warm to help them resist illness.

In the name of humanity we must spare what we can of our plenty. Everything is needed in war-damaged lands. The garments you can spare will mean life and self-respect to those who receive them."

Trailers Ready In Near Future

Most of Units Are Moved To North Wayne Site For War Veterans.

Twenty-four of the trailers being brought here from Hastings to furnish housing for veterans, have been placed on the site a block west of the college. Eight came Tuesday and 16 were brought last week. Three more are to come. Officials hope to have some of the houses ready for occupancy by the first of next week. Nine veterans have already inquired about renting trailers.

Some repairs have to be made and the buildings will be cleaned before they will be ready. It is not likely that the exteriors can be painted until later.

The utility building has arrived and is in place. In the moving, some of the fixtures were frozen and broken and new equipment is being sent from Sioux City. The building will soon be connected with the water which has been piped to the site. Some delay may be experienced in connecting the plumbing as R. B. Standley, who was helping with this, underwent an operation Monday.

Councilmen J. H. Brugger and Herman Sund were in Carroll Monday to buy a government grain building which will be moved to the site and converted to a laundry. Renting of the trailers will be in charge of Prof. C. H. Lindahl of the college.

TRAILER QUARTERS HELP SOLVE HOUSE SHORTAGE PROBLEM

A CURRENT cartoon pictures a little log house on top of the world with these popular words: "Be it ever so humble, there is no place like home." Acute housing shortage has given emphasis to the familiar refrain. Returning soldiers are disappointed by lack of living quarters. Others are in the same trying boat. Introduction of trailers, borrowed from the government, promises some local relief. Wayne's quota has begun to arrive, and the houses are being put into shape for use. The trailers are reported comfortable and possessed of all necessary conveniences. They will satisfy the demands of many small soldier families. The shortage has caused a sharp rise in property values, many being forced to buy to secure places to live. Unsatisfied demand will no doubt exist until new houses can be built.

Basketball Event Is Polio Benefit

Dakota Wesleyan to Meet College and Oakland to Play High School.

The first basketball double header of its kind will be played at Wayne municipal auditorium February 12 for benefit of the polio fund. Wayne high school meets Oakland high at 7:30. The Wayne college team will play the colorful Dakota Wesleyan team of Mitchell at 8:30. The Wesleyan basketball giants are headed by a center who is 6 feet 10 inches.

Both the college and high school are giving two of their best games for furtherance of what is hoped will be an annual affair for this worthy cause. Officials will donate their services.

"What better way can one spend an evening than watching our boys play so others can walk?" asks Prof. Raymond Schreiner, local official, who is donating his time. Coach R. A. Speece, Wayne high coach who will have a team playing and who will give his services in officiating at the college game, says, "I'm sure that I speak for all the young men who will be playing when I say that we are most happy to do all we can for this worthy cause."

Coach J. H. Morrison, whose college cagers are giving their best game, added that he will submit any of the remaining games on the schedule for polio benefit. Dakota Wesleyan was scheduled because it promised to be the greatest fan pleaser.

"I'm sure every citizen of Wayne will want to buy at least one ticket for this worthy cause," comments P. L. Marsh, chairman of the athletic polio committee. Tickets are $1 plus tax. Seating with Mr. Marsh on the committee are Supt. Stuart Balier and Coach Morrison.

Speaks To Nation GENERAL Dwight D. Eisenhower spoke to the nation convincingly on the problem of speeding return of American soldiers in foreign service, and he pledged least possible delay. He understands homesickness and the yearning for home contacts, but he cautioned against haste that would destroy ground gained by nearly four years of fighting and sacrifice. He said five-eighths of V-E day soldiers have been returned to civilian life, adding: "No other demobilization has ever been carried out so speedily, or on a scale remotely comparable to this in vastness." But military departments promise to hasten withdrawal of men not needed, and see that the point system is lowered accordingly. It is the belief expressed in some official circles that voluntary enlistments will take care of demands involved in the enforcement of peace.

On the Way up VAL PETERSON, returned soldier, Elgin publisher and republican candidate for governor, filled numerous speaking engagements in northeast Nebraska the past week. He proves he is not just another politician—not just another fellow out for political conquest. It is noted that the rural soil, from which he sprang, has enriched his experience. He shows real sympathetic touch with the vicissitudes and problems of the countryside and small communities. He does not forget names, nor faces, nor kindly impulses, and his unpretentious attitude and sensible judgment stick favorably in the minds of those who know him. Qualities of executive leadership are apparent. It looks at this juncture as though northeast Nebraska would capture the governorship for the first time in its history. And it would seem high time.

Touching inflation tendencies, an industrial source makes this observation: "With material and labor costs constantly rising, we also must face further price rises this year, before we can achieve the industrial production necessary to drive prices downward through competition and increased efficiency. The longer that shackles are kept on production, the higher the bidding is going to be on scarce goods, and the longer the prices are going to stay at inflated levels."

The Omaha World-Herald points to an enviable record of freedom from labor troubles in Nebraska. It commends the amicable way in which wages and hours and working conditions have been settled through cooperation of union and managerial heads. As pointed out, a strike here is engineered and ordered from outside the state. Says that newspaper: "When Nebraskans have full control of their own affairs they generally work out their problems peaceably."

President Truman has tobogganed far in public favor since he succeeded to the presidency. He has failed to hold support of many party members in congress. A Washington report says he will have to show effective leadership in handling involved problems during the next few months to insure control and renomination. He has a tough assignment, but he will have to make good or slip to that disagreeable depth sometimes referred to as political oblivion.

Right now the world needs more of the gospel of earnest work and honest production, and less of the spirit that treats responsibilities flippantly and values indifferently. But it is hoped the swing back to a condition wherein persons will want jobs or will be glad to sell to meet market demands, stops before labor becomes too plentiful and beseeching, and supplies are wasted by unnecessary excess. The middle ground is the most healthful and most practical.

Left and right wingers were clearly represented in the Town Meeting of the Air discussion last week. Two speakers leaned to government paternalism; two others to independence and self-reliance. Both sides firmly upheld the rights and privileges of returning war veterans who were under consideration.

Regardless of merits in prevailing strikes, the public will generally applaud the courage of the west's master builder, Henry J. Kaiser, in raising wages and going counter to the wave of industrial paralysis.

Conditions have changed. The order has been reversed. An arrogant capitalist once exclaimed: "The public be damned." That is about the way labor union bellwethers now seem to feel.

If the world had to hit bottom in troublesome perplexities before improving, we would judge from appearances all around that improvement is now due.

AGAINST STRIKES.

Farmers don't like strikes. They want to see labor adequately rewarded, but they do not relish the idea of loss and suffering caused by leaders failing to reach an understanding. The Omaha Journal-Stockman observes that General Motors employees have been out of work since November 21, and have lost around $70,000,000 in wages. Farmers do not watch the clock, have no set hours for production and run the chance of unfavorable seasons and unsatisfactory markets. They keep on the job, and produce if weather makes production possible. On the contrary, unionizers are often forced into work stoppages whether they want to quit or can afford to be idle. Commenting, the Journal-Stockman says: "A tragic thing about it is that the majority of the strikers want to work. But they are no longer free men; they are slaves, with their destiny in the hands of a little coterie of self-perpetuating leaders concerned not so much for workers or the wages paid them as for more and more power, in politics and in business. They are determined to run the country and the business of the country, and the only power to stop them is in congress. That is why it is important that congress hear from the country. That is one place where a farmer's letter—and a farmer's vote—still carries weight."

YOUTH CRIMES. Youth crimes have become so numerous of late that prderly sensibilities are shocked into wondering the cause and the best cure. A 17-year-old Oregon youth confesses setting fires that caused damage amounting to $200,000. A Chicago child was wantonly backed to pieces by unknown assailants, believed to have been crime-bent youngsters. Every day crimes in increasing numbers are detailed, often laid at the feet of immature persons. A crime wave followed World War I, and a similar unfortunate experience is apparently happening in this post-war period. It may be due to a bad state of nerves released from war tension. Be that as it may, the remedy is up to parents as well as up to guardians of the law. Parents must sense the trends and apply preventives ahead of serious developments. Youth needs careful guidance, often firm restraint—especially in these hectic times. Parents cannot shrink major responsibility, and if they do not try to shield it, they may save themselves a lot of bitter anguish.

Library News

"I cannot see that lectures can do so much good as reading the books from which the lectures are taken."—Boswell's "Life of Dr. Johnson."

Many lectures could be taken from The History of Western Philosophy, by Bertrand Russell. Subjects for many sermons could be found in the Encyclopedia of Bible Life, by Madeleine and J. Lane Miller. This book presents valuable information on the life, habits, occupations, customs and manners of the people in the countries where the Bible was written. It is filled with good illustrations and pictures. There are 14 maps, and names, places and localities are easy to locate on the maps. How to say it: Daphne Du Maurier, author of The Kings General, pronounces it Doo-Moreyay. Count Galazzo Ciano, author of the Ciano Diaries is Ga-lay-at-so Chan-d.

The book committee met at the library this week and made out an order for books to take care of the early spring reading. Due to unavoidable circumstances the usual winter story-hour for children, sponsored by the Mother's club, will not be held this winter. Flying Farmers ATTENTION!
Learn to Fly in Your Own Back Yard

A large percentage of the farms have natural landing strips within a few hundred feet of the house, and a lot of others can easily arrange strips by a little fence relocation and seeding.

With our background of flying experience, we will be glad to assist you and offer suggestions in selecting and planning a safe landing area on your farm.

When your strip is completed, we can make arrangements to teach you and members and your family, and your neighbors, to fly the New Piper Cub, the world's safest training airplane.

New Pipers are rolling off the assembly line in ever-increasing numbers, and, quoting Mr. Piper, whom we had the pleasure of meeting at the Flying Farmers' Convention in Omaha several days ago, "Piper does not anticipate a raise in price, as so many of the light plane manufacturers have done recently."

How many new telephones for Elm street?

On countless home streets live families who have waited months, even years, for telephone service that the urgency of war denied them. Now, with peace, our responsibility is to see that there is service for these people... as soon as possible.

The job of catching up with this country's telephone needs is a huge one. It means placing millions of miles of new telephone wire in cities and towns and on the farms throughout the nation. It means engineering and manufacturing and installing vast quantities of new equipment for central offices. It means many new jobs. And it will call for huge amounts of new capital—money that must come from investors with faith in the credit and earning ability of the business.

The problems of planning and building are not new ones for your telephone company. But never before in peacetime has the work ahead been so vast in scale. To you as a telephone user these plans also have a meaning... because every telephone added, every improvement made in service, increases the usefulness and value of overall telephone service.

This ever widening scope of service is a part of our long time policy... to provide the broadest and best telephone service at the least cost to the public consistent with fair treatment of employees and the financial safety of the business.

Car Load of Wayne Feed

We Will Have a Carload of Wayne Starter on the Track About Saturday, January 26th

We don't need to tell you that the feed business is very critical, and feed mills have been forced to close down many of their departments due to lack of animal protein. The endurance of the packing house strike will determine, to some extent, how long this situation will exist.

Order Your Chick Starter from the Car Most of you know how many chicks you will have, so since it takes 200 pounds of starter to feed 100 chicks for 6 weeks, you can easily determine your starter needs.

We Can't Supply All of Our Customers From This Car — So Act at Once!
