Coming School Board
Vacancies—An Unhappy
Report—New Kind of Letter
Writing.

The Wayne Women's club devoted Friday's meeting to consideration of youth problems and youth welfare, as reported elsewhere in today's Herald.

We would say the three speakers, Mrs. J. O. Bridgman, Mrs. Rollie W. Ley and Mrs. Leonard Strong, chosen to handle the subject, were very informative and constructive.

Indifference born of inadequate family incomes often accounts for school neglect. Instead of accepting examples of great and useful persons who have overcome all kinds of obstacles, youths too often resign to an inferior status as inevitable.

Mrs. Ley mentioned 100 Wayne county youths brought into juvenile court in the last ten years. Of course, the number is not many in comparison, but 100 too many to grow hopelessly beyond the bounds of law and home.

Mrs. Strong presented the benefits of the girl scout organization. Similar boys' groups bring equal rewards. It is recalled that rural precincts have 4-H clubs as boy and girl character builders.

An Error Noted. In this usually infallible column came an error last week with reference to the identity of those whose terms expire as school board members this spring.

Evils of the Flu. When Columnist Elsie Robinson expressed the idea recently that people secretly wish to die she was probably suffering from an attack of the flu.

Eased Out of Buying. During the war and more particularly in the post-war period, there is a demand in wholesale circles for experts to explain why orders cannot be filled and to solve over often tense situations.

Has Major Operation. Mrs. E. A. Milder underwent a major operation Friday in a Sioux City hospital. She is getting along well.

Plans Progress In Polio Benefit

Fans and Players Getting Ready for Double Header In Wayne February 12.

FOOD NEEDS URGE NO CESSATION IN FAMILY GARDENING

GARDENING was intensified during the war to satisfy increased food demands. Persons who had had no experience in raising their own vegetables became almost expert. The result was a source of large relief. An around-the-world scarcity makes the need now as great as at any time in the past. The world will have to produce more food to keep helpless persons from starving.

Thursday, January 31, 1946

Need of Sanitary PRESIDENTIAL circles have been running wild in demands for unnecessary appropriations at a time when the huge national debt shouts louder and louder for economy. Last week a bill was pressed for favorable action to authorize an expenditure of $1,630,000 to build an addition to the White House and make other improvements that could wait. This move on the federal treasury was wisely turned down in the house, together with request that the president be permitted a five-million-dollar emergency fund; it is hoped the senate will encourage the country by supporting the stand taken by the lower branch.

Why can't the administration get down out of the stratosphere of reckless spending long enough to give the country a chance to recover? Economy should be the rule, and it is refreshing to see congress leaning that way.

Too many useless employees are still reported hanging to jobs in Washington. Farm organizations frown on costly subsidies, preferring to paddle their own canoes and depend on markets regulated by supply and demand. Big loans to Great Britain should be gauged to meet practical necessity, not poured out to bolster up doubtful belief in exhaustless resources.

Persons in high places should have some sound business sense. They are not elected to the presidency or to other places of responsibility to stick out their chests and act the role of good fellows by wasting the money of overburdened taxpayers. A critical and indignant populace will welcome return to sane economy.

Reporters on metropolitan journals show amazing forbearance. They are trained to get the news and present it fairly, always bent on faithful performance of duty without unnecessary offense. But we note they are sometimes made subjects of ugly rebuffs from persons who want to conceal facts to which the public is entitled. Unwarranted self-importance, aggravated by too few working brain cells, may explain why some news sources backfire in contrast with the many who are willing, often eager and always courteous. Reporters are taught to report legitimate news, and give everybody a square deal. And they seldom fail.

The motive behind the demand of the speaker of the Georgia house of representatives that the state own and control all newspapers and radio stations within its boundaries is so evident that it should be quelled immediately. He was prompted by a charge in the Atlanta Journal that he was delaying a vote on the question of whether Gov. Ellis Arnall could run for a second term. The house speaker is reported nursing gubernatorial ambitions. Thus, for purely selfish reasons, he would strangle the free press. That would be a long and alarming backward step.

The president's recent message figured total government expenditures at 36 billion dollars for the coming fiscal year, with total receipts estimated at $11 1/2 billions, leading Congressman Karl Stefan to suggest the necessity of reduced expenditures or increased taxes. There are essential expenses—among them proper and adequate provision for war veterans—but there are plenty of other useless costs that could be eliminated without in the least impairing service.

Central City and Norfolk are voting on propositions to grant franchises for introduction of natural gas. The question is being fought over in a fashion familiar to Wayne which voted favorably some fifteen years ago.

A lot of kicking against operation of OPA would seem to mean practical adjustments or a trip to the junk heap for the entire setup. Many persons favor continued controls in modified form.

American soldiers in Germany are appealing to President Truman to permit them to marry German girls. We wonder if that wouldn't help democratize Germany in accordance with the American plan!

It is so well established what an atomic bomb can do that one unacquainted with the facts is frustrated in an attempt to figure out it needs to be tested at this time at a half billion dollars per test.

Contacts with the moon through the use of radar may reveal a wealth of new knowledge. They may lead to settlement of the question of life on Mars and other planets.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.
David Lawrence calls attention to the manner in which big corporations rode rough-shod over the country somewhat over fifty years ago. They squeezed out competition, imposed on labor and on the public generally. Then congress came to the rescue, passing the anti-trust law and trimming the sails of those who defied fair practices. In subsequent years labor became powerfully organized. Their final encroachment on individual rights has become a threat to the American way of life, and popular resentment is certain in time to arouse lawmakers to correct glaring faults—to prevent recurring economic paralysis and to safeguard citizen rights. Proof of the need of a law with sharp teeth has become more and more apparent through multiplied strikes since the end of the war, and it is high time for the people to speak unmistakably and decisively through their duly chosen representatives. Power-drunk labor leaders should be dealt with as firmly now as were their oppressors fifty years ago.

WALLACE SPEAKS.
No doubt because there are so many of us, Henry Wallace has come to the surface with renewed emphasis on the importance of the common man. As suggested by the Norfolk Daily News, Henry wants to sidetrack the uncommon man and turn everything over to the common man. Even if we common plugs have had no training or experience beyond scraping together a livelihood, Henry thinks it is our turn to run things and that a mere lack of ability should not be allowed to interfere. The News suggests that the common masses had the good sense to elect Washington and Lincoln for leadership. The News quotes Herbert Hoover as saying: "The essence of our American system is that the best are to be selected for public responsibility and public service. It is also the essence of our economic life, our spiritual life, our educational institutions. Our sure hope of recovery in the moral and spiritual world is the wealth of uncommon men and women among our people." The News comments: "It is the part of the common man to train himself to recognize the man who has unusual traits and then put him in the place of leadership."

Conservation of Choicest Asset Is Big Objective Of Women's Group.

"Conserving our choicest asset" was the theme of Wayne Women's club program given Friday afternoon in the club rooms by Mrs. J. O. Bridgman, Mrs. Rollie W. Ley and Mrs. Leonard Strong.

Mrs. Bridgman quoted figures to show that nearly two-thirds of the children are in low-income families and their economic plight does not insure a decent standard of living; that the largest percentage of children are in families that cannot afford good housing and at least one-third million children are growing in crowded cities and slums.

The term youth problem is a misnomer because it implies that the problems originate with youth whereas in reality they are the result of faulty social conditions.

Among the lessons coming from the war is one that the nation needs an over-all program for youth conservation. It is time to eradicate the shame of 600,000 illiterates and five million physically and mentally unready for military service.

Women's federation is cooperating with other groups in channeling work to be done in youth conservation. The planning committee is working out best policies for youth in fields of education, health, recreation, leisure-time activity, employment, vocational guidance, preparation for family life and citizenship.

Problem Lies in Home. Youth conservation can be accomplished by prolonged, intensive and personal effort, concluded Mrs. Ley in her consideration of the problem.

A Fallowfield, Pa., township farmer who owns a herd of 32 cows went to Charlester hunting a pound of butter.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sterling of Los Angeles, told police it was a poor way to start a honeymoon.

Fresh Eggs Found In Suspicious Gift

World War Veterans Form Organization to Solve Housing Problem.

When the Fairbury, Neb., draft board received a parcel marked "handle with care," the members were suspicious.

At Oklahoma City, six war veterans, impatient with the housing shortage and high real estate prices have decided to do their own building, strictly for veterans.

The Rev. Walter Kerr was stopped by a traffic policeman at Austin, Tex., and identified himself as a pastor of the Central Methodist church.

At Bangutch, Utah, the lady, who, it is often said, has the right changed her mind, and Mrs. Mabel W. Nielsen declined to become mayor.

At 93, Downon Halsey Winslow of Los Angeles, is still pretty chipper. A widower, he and Mary Dorothy Larson went to meet Santa Ana for their marriage license.

Pilot Don Dorothy of Sacramento, Cal., presented a check for $1,000 at an Anchorage, Alaska, bank, then counted the money and nearly fainted.

At West Palm Beach, Fla., E. T. Sarman arrived from Bendridge, Ind. in a hearse, but made it clear he's vacationing, not graveyard bound.

John Geary of Philadelphia, Pa., found a steak after a search of meat-searce butchers. He put it in a pan to cook. Grease caught fire and burned the steak to a crisp.

A holdup man's conscience hurt him to the extent that he returned $40 he took in a robbery at St. Louis, Mo., and added $3.30 to it. Alvin Slaton, owner of a confectionery store, got a special delivery letter after he had been relieved of $40 in his store.

Dr. Charles W. Kennedy of Galup, N. M., has put his prescription book to a new use - solving a fuel shortage for some of his patients.

For a family of seven "in dire need" because of illness, the physician prescribed coal, addressing his order to George Bubany, coal yard operator.

Joseph Mossel escaped from a fire in his apartment building at Kansas City all right, but firemen had to rescue him. He had taken refuge in a tree after crossing the roof of an adjoining porch.

A hen, apparently lost in a fog, was flying at a fast pace when it crashed through two windows in Mrs. John W. Moore's home at Eyanston, Ill.

Gene Archer, 69, Rockford, Ill., reached into his pocket for his automobile keys and pulled out a billfold containing $411 he didn't own.

There's a housing shortage at Fairmont, Minn., and it's possible some war veterans' families will wind up on the poor farm.

People of New London, Conn., took heed, apparently, when City Manager Edward Henkle broadcast a warning that prosecution faced anybody who neglected to shovel the snow and ice from his sidewalk.

An 82-year-old man came into Jenkins' saddlery at Salt Lake City, Utah, and asked the proprietor, "are you the son of old J. W. Jenkins, who had a saddle shop back in 1885?"

Do you feel like Montaigne who wrote, "When attacked by gloomy thoughts, nothing helps me so much as running to my books. They quickly absorb me and banish the clouds from my mind."

Emerson people are considering improvements in their water supply.

Prep Is Winner In Games Played

Wayne prep basketball team defeated Winside here Thursday evening. First team won by 43-20. The score at the half was 19-9 for Wayne. Neary was high scorer for Winside with 9 and Morrison was high for prep with 18.

Wayne State Wildcats defeated Hastings basketball 41-38 at the game played at the college gym Friday evening.

YOUTH PROGRAM

Folks do not want freedom but they do want to conform to requirements of their group. Dr. Geo. Crane, psychology head at Northwestern, thinks the "country has missed the boat completely by not using the church's influence in youth guidance." Dr. Howard Shaw, widely known in social work circles, states that "unless we believe in democracy and work with problem children instead of for them, the problem child will always remain an anti-social child." Mrs. Fannie Hurst is shocked at the impersonal, abstract attitude of women toward trends among youth. "The longer youth conservation remains impersonal to the average woman, the greater the jeopardy to the youth of the country." All these specialists agree that youth conservation is vital now.

Scouting Is Valuable.
Girl scouting is one of the ways favored by women's clubs for helping conserve youth. Mrs. Leonard Strong, one of the local leaders, spoke to the club on scouting. She explained requirements which girls must meet to become scouts. She stated that girl scouting has a distinct place in every modern community because it teaches girls to get on with others, to become good leaders, to be loyal, honest, friendly, courteous and cheerful. "Through the girl scout program we are raising a fine group of future citizens and homemakers for tomorrow's world and a wonderful body of leaders for a few years hence." Mrs. Strong noted.

In conclusion, Mrs. Bridgman stated that experience has shown that most of youth's problems can best be handled in the home and

In the three-minute McCall reading test, 14 earned superior ratings, seven excellent, five average and three below sixth grade level.
In Fourth Grade,
"Let's Look Around" is a new reading book.
Health is replacing science this semester.
Perfect scores in spelling mastery test were earned by Gloria Ahlvers, Paul Andersen, Bobby Baller, Larry Johnson, Sharon Lindsay, Betty Lou McCullough, Virginia Proett, Evelyn Roberts, Bobby Ulrich and Jerry Korff.
Book reports were given in English class.

In Third Grade,
Third graders are trying to become good talkers. Every two weeks they find a really interesting story to tell their group. Best story tellers chosen this week were Larry Bales, Delilah Gilbert, Gloria Pfeil, Gary Webster, Paul Otte, Daniel Dougherty, Steve Pawelski and Ted Schuldt.
Delilah Gilbert, Tootie Pile and Donna Reibold brought doll dishes, knives and forks, lunch cloth and napkins Wednesday and children learned how to set a table correctly. Sharon Larson loaned the class her book, "Many Manners." Pupils read and illustrated the verses dealing with good manners at the table.
Interesting reports on the story of bread were given by Steve Pawelski, Bobby Sieckman, Gary Webster, James Marsh and Gloria Pfeil.
Mrs. Wm. Pfeil visited Friday.

Second Grade Notes.
Second graders learned that good citizenship calls for voluntary acceptance of responsibility. This week, since all volunteered, duties were assigned as follows: Keeping library corner clean, Charles Mel- lert; science table, DeMares Woeh- lert; textbooks, Larry Hofeldt; workbooks, Freddy Proett; typing table, Jerry Lueders; bulletin board, Sandra Haas; answering knocks at the door, Billy Finn.
"The class is enjoying work in "Our First Speech Book." To interest pupils in speech improvement, the author has created attractive and tuneful jingles representing abused speech sound.
The class has gym period three times a week with games played with 1st graders.
The study of Yellowstone park continues to interest children. Mary Dean Turner brought a book about the park and this is being read.
In First Grade Room,
Miss Betty Sund and Michael Sund were in school Friday.
Books taken from the grade library are returned in one week or a fine will be charged.
Danny Driscoll's writing was chosen best and it was pinned on the library bulletin board.
"The Wishing Well" is the new reading book.
The January calendar shows more sunny days than stormy. Class members have been caring for the calendar for Ervin Jensen who has been ill.

Kindergarten Items.
The classes began a unit in transportation and communication. "The Train Song," "The Bus" and "The Auto" are new songs learned. Children imitated airplanes in rhythms. Tommy Beckner, Dennis Kern, My- cola Lueders and Clifford Price brought toys that "go" to display. Books relative to the unit were brought by Joan Larson, Dennis Kern and Jimmy Schuldt.
Sand table toys were brought by Tommy Beckner.
Interesting story books were brought by Duane Fitch, Judy Sutherland, Tommy Beckner and Jimmy Bales.
Trains, wagons, airplanes and boats were made in handiwork. Both classes enjoy the imaginary trip taken each day by those who are dressed for dismissal promptly. Mrs. Arlen Fitch visited Friday.

Bowel-Cleaning Power Of Erb-Help Medicine

One man recently took ERB-HELP three days and said afterward that he never would have believed his body contained so much filthy substance. He says his stomach, intestines, bowels and whole system were so thoroughly cleansed that his constant headaches came to an end, several pimply skin eruptions on his face dried up overnight, and even the rheumatic pains in his knee disappeared. At present he is an altogether different man, feeling fine in every way.

ERB-HELP contains 12 great herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get ERB-HELP Sold at all drug stores here in Wayne.
