

Meet in Omaha After Two Years Respite—Livestock Feeders Protest—West Point Senses Popular Need—Vandalism in Omaha.

Editors have problems familiar to editors. Members of an editorial group, assembled for a convention, probably gain most benefits from exchange of ideas—not just listening to speeches and trying to understand obstacles in the way of qualifying for foreign advertising.

Convention of the Nebraska Press association in Omaha last week after one year's suspension on account of the war, drew an increased attendance. Editors relished seeing one another and talking over problems common to all. The Omaha hospitality is always cordial. Visitors like its friendly atmosphere. Interdependence of the metropolitan and the rest of the state suggests closest possible relationships.

The task of building subscription lists and increasing foreign advertising income was considered at considerable length. As pointed out, foremost in the mind of the publisher is ambition to issue a newspaper that people want and are willing to pay for. Making a newspaper more readable and more in demand will take care of circulation and both local and foreign advertising with comparative little effort. To translate the uneasy quest for foreign advertising into cultivating the local field and need for the former will be less keenly felt.

Subjects discussed at the press meeting pointed to a future of more readable rural publications. News stories with short sentences, using simple words, were included in proposed improvements. John Bentley of the World-Herald editorial board, mentioned this need. A Minnesota editor emphasized homestead editorial values. A stronger appeal for reader interest is in prospect.

N. B. Pont of the Stanton Register, who retired as president, made a very efficient and satisfactory leader. He is succeeded by E. C. Leggett of the Ord Globe, with W. H. Smith of the Seward Independent vice president and in line for the presidency. The association had the good fortune some years ago to instill Miss Nancy Mahood as secretary, and she has performed her duties in a most acceptable manner. The organization is in good shape, and it will continue forward under a full head of steam.

Too Much Restraint. The meeting of the Corn Belt Livestock Feeders' association in Omaha Friday denounced livestock and price ceilings on livestock and meat as detrimental to farm interests. Steps were taken to carry complaints to congress, asking for removal of OPA control. Speaking to the association, Senator Hugh Butler and Harry B. Coffey, president of the Union Stock Yards Company of Omaha, emphasized the need of freedom from paralyzing government restrictions. The ordinary observer wonders why the insistence on maintaining subsidies in the face of avowed opposition on the part of those who receive them.

Well Lighted Town. West Point is wonderfully well lighted, as revealed to travelers returning from Omaha in the evening. Our neighbor to the south seems to understand the warmth of invitation involved in extra illumination. It reminds us that Wayne could benefit by improved lighting, especially in the business district.

Outrageous Cussedness. No doubt instigated by the devil, vandals entered an Omaha school and caused serious damage to valuable property. Ink was splashed on walls, desks wrecked, books torn and dumped on the floor, maps ruined. Everything movable was upset. Aggravating cost of repairs is existence of a state of mind so diabolical that it would descend to purely malicious destruction.

Eight in Honor Group. The Olive M. Huse chapter of the International Honorary Society of High School Journalists met for its initial meeting and election of officers Tuesday evening. Students who have met the requirements of the national secretary and have been accepted for membership are Jane Bridgman, Dora Branham, Betty Peterson, David Carhart, Norman Ellis, Marjorie March, Janice Johnson, and Virginia Meyer. Mrs. Maynard had been a prisoner in Santo Tomas camp in Manila. Lt. Col. Maynard was a prisoner of war from the fall of Bataan to the liberation last August.

Buefow were Mr. and Mrs. John Sutherland and Mrs. Kathryn Heidy of Ponca, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lindvall of South Sioux City, Mr. and Mrs. Dick VonSeggern of Wisner, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Mejerhenry of Hoskins, Louis Essinger of Holstein, Neb., and Mrs. Geo. THE season to attack and get rid of ash piles and other unsightly waste is here. Cleaning premises helps discourage flies and rodents. It puts the finish on sundry disease germs. For appearance and healthfulness the annual clean-up contributes untold values. Hauling off rubbish is consistent with return of the green landscape. It is in line with renewed plowing and planting. Late rains have helped. They have been a stimulus to the spirit of spring. Soon fields will send forth tender blades and the annual miracle of growth will be evident. National Aeronautics Is Oldest Organization of Kind in Nation.

A local chapter of National Aeronautics association, which promotes all air services, is to be organized. Minimum membership is 25 and it is expected that this number will sign up this week in preparation for the new unit. It is anticipated that the membership will be much larger than the minimum, and the new organization will be functioning within a few weeks.

NAA shows the community how to develop air facilities and how to use them. This non-profit organization promotes commercial and private use of planes.

Those who own, rent or fly planes, those who use air mail, and those who ship goods by air freight are interested in NAA. The local chapter dovetails air services with those of other communities. Flying instruction, improving ports, providing comforts at ports and all other services dealing with air travel and service are considered.

Pinkham Builds Station Addition

Formal Opening Is Planned In Produce Plant This Spring by Owner.

Improvements just completed by Dick Pinkham at the Wayne Produce Co. plant at 2nd and Logan make that an attractive property and a convenient station. The roof is red. A row of bright lights circles the building.

Five entrances add to convenience. One drive through the center of the station enables farmers to drive into shelter for unloading their produce and loading their supplies.

Mr. Pinkham has gravel spread on a large drive and parking space so that customers may be served at any side of the building. Parking is also ample. The new part of the building is for storage of feeds and eggs, and the older part for buying cream and grading eggs. Mr. Pinkham is retaining the W. C. PRIMARY FOLLOWS ANNUAL CITY AND SCHOOL ELECTION

NEXT Tuesday is the day for the annual city and school election, and the fact that a few petition nominees have appeared will no doubt stimulate interest and increase the vote. There is a possibility that convention nominees now without apparent opposition may be defeated by write-in candidates. The best assurance for popular post-election satisfaction is for voters to go to the polls and express themselves. Next in the political order is the nominating primary, which comes June 11. Between now and then the campaign for popular favor will proceed with growing animation. A good sign that democracy is working is found in spirited rivalries.

THE KNOT-HOLE

Vol. 8 Wayne, Neb., Thurs., March 28, 1946. No. 9 "I'm sorry," said the elevator girl, "Did I stop too quickly?" "Oh, no," said the disgruntled passenger. "I always wear my pants down around my ankles!" That car of Sheet Rock that came in the other day meant that a lot of you who have wanted to do a little fixing up around the house will be able to get the job done. For new partitions there is nothing like it. For replacing old cracked plaster it is also ideal. It can be painted or papered because it gives you a smoother, straighter wall than you ever thought possible. You'll like Sheet Rock walls for any room in the house. In the Dakotas a patient rests easy after the removal of 1000 yards of twine from the stomach. We thought some high-strung reader might like to know. This is the time of year when fencing is the order of the day. No wonder, then, that so many of our customers Sergeant: "How do you happen to overlook this morning?" Private: "There were seven of us in the barracks and the alarm clock was set for six."

Political Party STATE indorsement conventions were held according to statute, Tuesday of last week.

Republicans met in Omaha and democrats in Lincoln. Platforms were adopted, and candidates were ordered on the ballot for first and second places. The only spirited rivalries developed within the republican group over preferences for United States senator and governor. The democrats had some difficulty in finding enough candidates. John Mekota, an outstanding democratic leader, had announced himself as willing to run for the senate, and he was readily indorsed.

In the republican convention, top place in the senatorial preference was given to Senator Hugh Butler, present incumbent. Governor Griswold landed in second place. Now that the convention is over, the real political battle between two stalwarts for the primary nomination June 11, will occupy attention.

Governor Griswold was quoted as saying he was not surprised over the result and would not accept the voice of the convention as indicative of the way people will vote June 11. He proposes to appeal to the masses, basing his confidence on success in capturing popular favor in former campaigns. He will of course on reflection temper his enthusiasm by comparing feeble candidate opposition in the past with that of a first-terminer who is in tune with Nebraska thinking and who bears no flaws as a consequence of his public service.

Senator Butler who was awarded top indorsement, belongs to the country and city alike. He knows from long, practical experience the problems of agriculture and livestock growing. He truly belongs to the grass roots. He has proved alert and sound in attention to farm needs. He will be justly acclaimed deserving of the customary second term.

The rural candidate for governor, Val Peterson, scored first place. He is publisher of the Elgin Review, taught in the University of Nebraska, campaign manager for Senator Butler in 1940, later secretary to Governor Griswold and finally overseas veteran in World War 2. By training and experience he is recognized as eminently well qualified for the governorship. He is neither visionary nor ultraconservative. He knows the city, but he sprang from the country—from Wayne, to mention one among several rural communities where he studied, worked and grew. Northeast Nebraska never had a governor, and this lack which has existed since the beginning of time, may now be remedied by uniting on Peterson. This may be done without the least disrespect for Joe Wishart, Lincoln attorney, and long-time party worker, who landed in second place. Wishart could be consoled by the thought that people would vote for him if Peterson were not in the field.

The platform took a strong position against government bureaus and deficit spending. It declared against subsidies as unnecessary and as contributing to Federal control. It favored meeting every obligation to the soldiers who fought and won the war. It firmly upheld constitutional government.

An encouraging note was sounded by Premier Joe Stalin of Russia last week when he declared himself in favor of world peace. He expressed the ardent hope of all nations. But if soviet leaders would carry out agreements, they would not excite suspicions. They must know the United States is firmly against war, and will do everything within reason to avoid war. They must know Russia could not have won in the late conflict without the aid of this country. They must also know no power on earth could conquer an aroused United States. Then why would Russia be foolish enough to carry its insatiable itch for power to the danger point?

The Omaha World-Herald is not alone in wishing to postpone atomic bomb tests. People generally would not doubt join that newspaper in asking for indefinite postponement. Speaking of the folly of the tests, the World-Herald says: "There certainly is no excuse for them at a time when the leaders of all nations are talking and promising peace and all peoples are cheering them on. Let us get on with the endeavors for peace prosecuted according to the methods of peace."

Speaking at a Jackson day dinner Saturday night, Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace criticised democrats who are in the party, but out of accord with its spirit of progress. This he mentions as doing violence to the traditions of Jefferson and Jackson. And how can anyone figure either Jefferson or Jackson would be in harmony with Henry's political ideologies.

Meeting of the UNO encourages hope that clouds on the international horizon may be banished and that a practical basis for world peace may be worked out. That is the purpose of the organization, and a determination to make it operate successfully will help.

The Norfolk Daily News notes need of a remedy for the political convention law which requires election of delegates two years in advance. Thus, representatives in the 1948 conventions will have to appear on the ballot in the coming June 11 primary.

A magazine article details advantages in ability to forget. Most of us, particularly oldsters, have a hopeless struggle in trying to remember precious values, and contrariwise, trying to forget things that nag conscience and that ought to be forgotten.

NOBLE ACTIVITIES. Some recent activities in Wayne are decided character builders. The YM and YW conference and the speech and play contests are influential for wholesome development. The coming music contest encourages right ideas. Besides, we have the boy and girl scouts and the 4-H clubs, constantly engaged in useful work and holding noble ambitions. These strong forces for good clash with evil tendencies and speed the pace for worthy purposes. The good, not always so evident as it had, can be depended on as a rule to maintain orderly and uplifting processes. All the activities mentioned, besides many others, stimulate the best in character. They show society is not forgetful of what citizen foundation needs.

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, MARCH 28, 1946.

NUMBER FORTY-SIX

Science Award Received
To Be Presented Student
At Commencement.

National Honor society bestowed membership upon four juniors and three seniors at its initiation meeting Tuesday evening at Wayne high school. This brings membership of this recently organized chapter to nine members.

No higher honor is bestowed upon a high school student than being elected to this society. Members must be outstanding in scholarship, leadership, service and character. Only ten per cent of the second semester senior class and five per cent of the second semester junior class are chosen; thereby admitting only the most excellently qualified.

Seniors who are now members are June Bridgman, Althea Pfeiffer, Lila Brannan, Norman Ellis and Cleo Heine. Junior members are David Carhart, Janice Johnson, Marianne March and Jim Nissen.

Any time a member falls below the standard by which he attained membership he is dropped from the society.

The school is the recipient of one of the Bausch and Lomb Optical Company's honorary science awards. This award, which is a bronze medal, will be presented to the senior who has made the most progress in science. The student being given the award is eligible to enter in the $1500 scholarship competition awarded at Rochester.

The girls' sextet, under the direction of Miss Delores McNeill, presented several numbers before the Women's club Tuesday night.

The 7th grade completed a unit on verb complements. This was clinched with a mastery test in which 26 had ratings above the required 80 per cent and were again admitted to the round table of King English.

Freshman drawings of class-mates were made in 7th art. These were later reproduced in silhouette. The results are accurate enough so that most of them can be recognized.

Blues who earned 100 in mastery tests two consecutive weeks are Shirley Burk, Robert Huebner and Carroll Thompson. Reds are Delmar Cadwallader, Harold Corzine, Paul Einung and LaNita Woods.

The play, School Days, was presented at 8th grade club meeting Monday. Billie Jane Roberts was in charge. In the cast were Maurice Proett, Tom Bahe, Lois Russell, Paul Einung, Richard Jensen, Jack Fisher, Shirley Thompson and Billie Jane Roberts.

Perfect spelling scores were earned by 24. The class received a letter from Darrel Franzen who moved to a district near Winside.

All had perfect attendance two days last week. Pupils earning perfect scores in spelling are Yvonne Koplin, Mark Tietz, Barbara Ellis, Patty, Joel and Gary Jeffrey, James Henegar, Jim Burr Davis, James Sutherland, Helen Corzine, Mary Einung, Billy Palmer, Doris Skeahan, Jackie Korff and Jim Atkins.

New inspectors elected are Billy Palmer, Mary Einung, Jackie Korff and Gary Jeffrey. Adventures of Huckleberry Finn is being read. Birds were drawn and mounted as cut-outs.

Fourth Grade Notes. Two baseball teams have been organized, with Charles Messerschmidt and Gordon Zapp as captains. Perfect scores in spelling mastery tests were earned by Gloria Ahlvers, Bob Balber, Marian Kugler, Sally Liveringhouse, Joan Pawelski, Virginia Proett, Leland Reibold, Bobby Ulrich and Marcia Wittner.

The class received a letter from Sharon Lindsay who is ill. Border designs were made in art.

Third Grade Notes. Christianity Is Need of Present

Rev. Paul J. Folino of Chicago, Urges Real Brotherhood Among Peoples.

Rev. Paul J. Folino, minister of the United Church of Chicago, son of an Italian immigrant, appealed for real Christian brotherhood as a means of preventing controversies among nations and within nations. Rev. Folino was principal speaker for the Nebraska district Student Christian Movement conference held at Wayne college Friday and Saturday and attended by about 150 young folks from 11 colleges of the state. Nebraska University, Agricultural college and Wesleyan of Lincoln, Nebraska Central college of Central City, Doane of Crete, Peru State, Kearney State, Norfolk Junior, Hastings, Midland of Fremont, and Wayne State were represented.

Rev. Folino, who serves a church in the heart of the steel industry in Chicago, spoke Friday evening on "Christian Youth in the World Today." The minister is not alarmed at calling the present the atomic age, for every critical time in history has been named, such as the Dark Ages. "Christian people have always had problems and must find ways to solve them."

Problems of today, which seem overwhelming, are the pastor stated, due to rapid growth of great cities with people in close proximity. Rapid development of machines is another cause. One new cotton picking machine displaces 500,000. Speed of travel has made the world seem to shrink in size, and tension and conflict among people are intensified.

Changes are taking place in the U. S. and world economy. With three million unemployed here and more than a million service men out of work, figures indicate that the unemployed will reach six or eight million by the end of this year.

Rev. Folino said that 200 corporations own 59 per cent of the wealth of the United States, and 13 families control 79 per cent of these corporations.

The speaker believes that it is wrong to separate church and state entirely. He urges good Christians to take an interest in politics so as to have Christian principles followed in politics and to see that right legislation is passed. The minister believes that if OPA is cut out, every small business man will suffer. Salaries will be cut in half, he said. OPA is, he (Continued on Page Two) listing workers and employing spies. The speaker deplored the fact that later thousands of workers were brought from many other nations and placed in industries. They could not understand each other and trouble resulted.

Rev. Folino stated that labor unions made workers feel that they are real men and not just parts of machines. Unions have provided protection against accidents. They have enacted safety measures. her book will never make her a half million dollars, but she can always be proud of having written it. Can we lay the entire blame upon the writers if we tempt them by our seeming preference for the kind of books which will bring them financial success? Isn't it perhaps just a part of the pattern of our American lives where we are so apt to measure success in dollars and cents and to count success as worth more than self respect? All this means that we are highly commending the book, "Nicodemus," by Dorothy Walworth. A condensation appeared in the February Ladies Home Journal.

Did you thrill to read "Burma Surgeon," by Gordon Seagrave? Then you will surely want to read "Burma Surgeon Returns." This is a fitting successor to his earlier book.

Guard the soil...
IT'S YOUR PRICELESS HERITAGE
This evening—look over the acres that make up your farm; ask yourself this question and answer it frankly, sincerely:
"Am I doing everything I should to protect my land?"
Think it over before you answer; remember, the land you farm is held in trust for other generations of farmers—your sons, perhaps—and their sons.
If your answer cannot be a definite "yes", why not see the county agent or local conservation engineer, now, and ask his advice on a soil-saving program for your farm? You'll find that practically all of your present farming equipment is fully adapted to the soil conserving practices recommended for your farm.
