Saving of Food Being Stressed

Mayor L. W. McNatt Issues Plea to Conserve for Help to Others. Mayor L. W. McNatt and the Chamber of Commerce are co-operating with the U. S. department of agriculture in urging Americans to save food here so as to save lives abroad.

In a "share a meal" campaign, Mayor McNatt enters a plea for the millions of people who are innocent sufferers of war and who will starve unless people share food, clothing and medicines to relieve the condition. Mr. McNatt asks that everyone "stop all waste and save all the food possible so some may be left to assist the starving people to rebuild life, energy and a better world."

Vol Peterson seems to be well out in front in the race for the republican nomination for governor. Farmers and townspeople alike delight in boosting a fellow of the sturdy Peterson type—a fellow who has made good in improving himself and who now fully measures up to the best stature of a governor.

Republican congressional candidates have not excited much interest. Incumbents are considered soundly constructive and generally in harmony with the thinking of the Nebraska majority. Race for the unicameral in this district, comprising Wayne, Stanton and Colfax counties, is lively, but friendly. N. F. Schroeder of Wayne county, has the vigorous backing of enterprising Hoskins neighbors.

Burr R. Davis, incumbent, and William A. Crossland are out for the republican nomination for county attorney, and the winner in the primary will have no opposition from the democratic party in November because there is no democratic lawyer in the county. Candidates are to be named for county commissionerships in the first and third districts. Six are asking for the republican nomination, and one for the democratic place, in the first district. For the commissionership in the third district are two republicans with no opposition on the democratic side.

Unless names are written in on the rival ticket, a republican nomination in the third district will be equivalent to an election. All in the field for county commissionerships are notably good men. The pre-primary campaign will be over in another week, and results will then be known. And every voter is asked not to neglect the call of duty on primary day.

Got Down to Business. We have heard of one farmer who is just about ready to burn a considerable mortgage that had hung over his farm for a long term of years. He managed to ride the perilous breakers of lean years when drought, grasshoppers and low prices bobbed up counter to effort and plans. In recent years, he wiped out obligations instead of accumulating more of them.

It is easy to borrow money and increase debt when times are flush. But instead of doing so, practical wisdom strongly urges getting out of debt and keeping aloof from dangers that threaten when the going becomes tough. Forty-Hour Week. We have been notified by wholesale houses that they will hereafter be closed all day Saturdays. They will be open five days of the week, presumably following the 40-hour work week rule. We can understand how miners, lumberjacks and steel workers could get enough exercise out of 40-hour work stretches, but we cannot visualize how dishing out paper tappers during such a brief period will keep bodies strong and minds sharp.

Cemetery Beauty Seen by Many on Sad Memorial Day

THE graves of precious soldier and civilian dead were treated to a wealth of beautiful blossoms on Memorial day. Cemeteries everywhere were decked in the season's richest floral beauty. Crowds that visited Greenwood, Wayne's silent city on the hillside, noted many new-made graves. The grim reaper was found to have been busy the past year. Many who witnessed impressive Memorial services in 1945 were not present last Thursday. They had joined the eternal host, and sacred mounds now mark their final resting places. Greenwood is properly kept a beauty spot with gently waving evergreens and neatly cropped grass, but always full of sad memories. It is gradually expanding and the time will come when additional space will have to be acquired.

Proett, a member of the municipal-affairs committee, explained that the proposal suggests using the money for the golf course, club house, lighted tennis courts, permanent traffic lanes and fireplaces, tables, etc., on the picnic grounds.

Stassen in State
 HOWEVER high the appraisal of statesmanlike qualities possessed by Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor and possible candidate for the U. S. presidency, many Nebraskans will feel justly aggrieved over his presence in the state to urge nomination of Governor Griswold to succeed the present incumbent, Senator Butler. It is gratuitous outside interference that invites sharp resentment.

There is nothing in the Butler record or in the Griswold promise to justify the senator's overthrust to gratify the governor's ambition. Stassen showed surprising weakness in coming here to tell Nebraskans how to decide between their own candidates.

If the late President Roosevelt's example in going into other states to dictate nominations and elections is any criterion, the Stassen appearance will hurt rather than help the Griswold candidacy. The late president drew a boomerang in every attempt. Primary returns may be expected to reveal a similar experience here.

Senator Butler has done many things to his credit. His official actions have tallied with the good judgment exercised in public matters by Nebraska's majority. Nothing he has said or done warrants coldly turning him aside just because a governor wants to step higher.

McKelvie Speaks
 SAM McKELVIE, publisher of the Nebraska Farmer, and one-time governor of the state, is refreshingly sound in his consideration of public questions. He is president of the Nebraska Sandhills Feeder Cattle Producers association, and in a speech to a group of feeders at North Platte recently, he attributed to national controls the prospect of empty feed lots. He deplored obstructive strikes and urged legislation to stop them. Speaking of the beef industry and labor's rights and wrongs, he said:

"We in the beef industry know as well as anyone that a well paid and regularly employed laboring man is the best consumer of our product, and we are anxious to see full employment at good wages for that very selfish reason if no other."

"But we are unalterably opposed to placing in the hands of the unscrupulous labor leader the instruments by which he may thwart the economy of the nation, and threaten the very lives and well-being of people by the millions at home and abroad."

Five thousand men and women from coast to coast, questioned as to whether they would elect business executives, labor leaders, politicians, lawyers or college professors to congress, decided in favor of the business executives by a big margin. College professors received the least votes. Too many theorists experimenting with the economics of the country have evidently convinced a sober majority of the imperative need of more common sense in government. Business men who have been kicked around indifferently of late will be cheered by the popular endorsement.

Of 82 fatal accidents on Memorial day, 45 were the result of automobile wrecks. Drownings followed with 19. Because of more motoring, holidays always increase the death toll. More people are in a hurry to reach places, and in just as much of a hurry to return. They tempt the possibility of doing neither.

April was too cool and generally too dry. May was unseasonably cold, but wetter than its immediate predecessor. June came in with too much of a chill to stimulate growing corn, but it is confidently expected to dish out enough heat and moisture to make up for lost time.

One may agree with Harold Stassen's international policies of good will and still not agree that such ends would be better served by Governor Griswold than by Senator Butler.

Another bright spot in the world's clouds is seen in France where communist forces met overwhelming defeat in Sunday's election.

through amendment of the Selective Service law, and President Truman by a new labor law.

Even in the years when the "no strike" pledge was operative, President Roosevelt saw the need of drastic legislation to prevent the tying up of the country's essential industries.

LOAFING PAV.
 (Norfolk Daily News)
 "The utter hopelessness of teaching industry, thrift, courage and ambition to the young so long as we have the Gold Coast radicals and Reds to contend with, is patent to any visitor to the Southern California scene," observes Hyde Sweet of the Nebraska City News-Press, who has just returned from the land of sunshine and subsidized leisure.

"The fact," he says, "that the Los Angeles Times, which is a responsible and reputable newspaper, played up on its front page a couple of weeks ago the loafing-pav of 123,000 persons under the Unemployment Insurance laws of California, should give one pause. While these persons, representing about 5 percent of the population of Los Angeles county, say they can find no work, newspapers, published in the same area advertise to the extent of many pages daily of want ads, that jobs are open for any man, male or female, who wants to labor."

Commenting on this the Nebraska City editor donkeys, "There is no incentive to labor, so long as Henry Wallace, who seeks election to the presidency, informs the indigent, the moronic and the downright rascal that it is not necessary to earn bread (if there is any) in the sweat of one's brow, so long as there is a benevolent government in Washington."

The most wholesome law of life ever promulgated is ascribed to Capt. John Smith, who is said to have told the easy-going gentlemen who made up his Virginia colony that "He who will not work, may not eat."

That isn't what has been put in the heads of the young people of this country in the last ten or dozen years. They have been instructed in the new theory that prosperity comes from the government instead of from production.

But it is as true now as it ever was that the government doesn't create wealth. The dolé that encourages idleness reduces wealth, encourages inflation and gives vacant minds an urge to get into mischief.

UP TO PARENTS.
 Increasing juvenile violators of law during hours when youngsters should be home and in bed has caused enforcement at Fremont of the curfew ordinance by punishing parents.

One father was recently fined $5 for some delivment his boy had engineered. The plan is to hold parents responsible for their children's willful disregard of orderly processes. In commenting, the Norfolk Daily News says: "If the youngster is out after hours with the consent of his parents, there is no doubt about parental connivance at his delivment. If he is there without such consent, then something is wrong with the discipline in that household, which a touch of the law might help correct. Many who have studied the workings of laws relating to juveniles insist on parental responsibility as the cornerstone of enforcement. No town can be policed closely enough to prevent violations, but the knowledge that they will be held responsible for infractions by their children, would make every parent a law enforcer. From far and wide come complaints of vandalism by youngsters. Most of the offenses are committed after children under 16 should be at home and in bed. Parents are charged with the duty of training their children and the law may well recognize that fact and hold them to their responsibilities."

Stefan Reveals Communist Growth
 Washington, D. C., June 1, 1946. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, tells the Third district representative: "We in law enforcement are again faced with a rising tide in crime which must be vigorously combated if our democratic institutions are to survive."

Mr. Hoover's emphasis upon the survival of democratic institutions is a direct reference to the present threat of communism against the American way of life. The recent report of a prominent churchman that there are 20,000 avowed communists, dedicated to the overthrow of the American government by force, under federal civil service today, has been confirmed by evidence submitted in congressional committees and on the floor of the house.

Congressional investigation has brought out that there are more than 500,000 practicing communists now at large in this country. The FBI maintains card files on over a million members of the communist party and communist affriliates and these files are constant ly growing.

We cannot be satisfied and let down our guard because only one out of every 150 Americans belongs to a communist-front organization or because one out of every 300 Americans is an out-and-out communist. There are more communists and allies of communism in the United States at this moment than there were in Russia in 1917. It is impossible to lose sight of the fact that, at the time of the bolshevik revolution, an insignificant minority group in Russia numbering 200,000 persons gained control of the Russian government, a country which then had a population of 170,000,000.

Americans have no desire to dictate to the people of the soviet union about what form of government they should have. Neither will Americans permit agents of the soviet union to change our present form of government to suit themselves.

"It can happen here!" But, with God's help and the alert watchfulness of every American citizen, it won't.

FDR Asked Labor Draft.
 (Norfolk Daily News)
 Labor leaders and their friends who are asserting that President Truman is straying from the path trod by President Roosevelt, in asking for the drafting of strikers in plants taken over by the government, have forgotten something.

Former Secretary Ickes also shows absent-mindedness when he says in his column: President Roosevelt "did not have to draft labor or compel workers to work at a bayonet point to keep our factories running for victory."

President Roosevelt didn't have to resort to the draft, it is true, because, for the duration of the war, labor leaders promised there would be no strikes, a promise that was not always kept. But President Roosevelt did feel the need for exactly the power to draft labor that President Truman has asked for.

In June, 1943, when President Roosevelt vetoed the Smith-Connelly anti-strike bill, he offered a substitute for a clause forbidding support of a strike in a government operated plant. The president wrote:

"I recommend that the Selective Service act be amended so that persons may be inducted into non-combat military service up to the age of 65 years. This will enable us to induct into military service all persons who engage in strikes or stoppages or other interruptions of work in plants in the possession of the United States."

That is so like the Truman proposal, it is a little hard to distinguish between them, except that President Roosevelt would have acquired the power to draft

TO THE VOTERS OF WAYNE COUNTY.
 The primary election, June 11, is more important to the citizens of Wayne county than may at first be apparent.

In the first place, the candidates for the various county, state and even national offices have spent a lot of their time, energy and money getting themselves before the voters and they are entitled to have the voters choose between them. This can't be done if the voters remain away from the polls.

In the second place, the county is spending a considerable sum of our money to provide the facilities and personnel necessary to conduct this election. This money is wasted if we don't vote.

Then, most important of all, the privilege of voting the way each one of us really wants to vote, without pressure or intimidation, is one denied most of the other peoples of the world. We had better keep voting when the opportunity comes if we wish to retain that privilege. And that goes for the least citizen as well as the most important. Each vote is just as potent as any other. Each of them counts just one. In the voting booth, you are just as important as the millionaire or the labor leader. So let's all vote!

VOTERS... ELECT A MAN AS YOUR STATE SENATOR WHO HAS HAD LEGISLATIVE EXPERIENCE AS WELL AS EXPERIENCE IN BUSINESS, FARMING AND LIVESTOCK RAISING AND FEEDING. Albert Fickler, Sr. For Unicameral Legislature, 16th District, which includes Wayne, Colfax and Stanton Counties Legislative Experience: Albert Fickler, Sr., has served as Stanton county representative in the Nebraska Two House legislature prior to the adoption of the Unicameral legislature. His service to his constituents was highly regarded and appreciated and while acting as such representative he gained the knowledge of governmental functions and procedure of legislative system necessary to make a successful representative. Mr. Fickler voluntarily forsook a further legislative career at that time to go into private business. Farming Experience: Albert Fickler has been a resident of Stanton county for over 40 years. During most of that time he has been either directly or indirectly engaged in farming and livestock raising and feeding. His knowledge of livestock and farming is well known and recognized by all who know him. Business Experience: Mr. Fickler has spent 12 years as general manager of Livestock Commission firms at Sioux City, Chicago and Milwaukee. During that time he was constantly in touch with the farmers and livestock feeders of the middle west. To be successful in such enterprise Mr. Fickler had to know farmers' and feeders' problems and lend his assistance in solving them. THE UNICAMERAL SYSTEM was adopted in Nebraska and placed in operation in 1937. The state was divided into districts; the 16th such district is comprised of the Counties of Wayne, Colfax and Stanton. There have been five regular terms of the legislature under this system, of which Wayne county has been represented in three terms and Colfax county two terms. Stanton county, the only remaining county in the district, has never been privileged to send to the Unicameral legislature a representative for the district. With voluntary decision of the capable Senator Crossland to devote his entire time to his personal business and not seek reelection it is felt that the time is opportune to elect a representative from Stanton county. Mr. Fickler has retired from private business and is free to devote his entire time in behalf of the district which he seeks to represent. For Unicameral Albert Fickler, Sr. (Pol. Adv.)

TOMATOES WASTE IN FLORIDA FIELDS

Tampa Fla.—Enough tomatoes to have filled more than 20 million cans rotted in Florida fields this spring because processors could not can them without losing money under OPA price ceilings.
It is difficult to find a can of tomatoes on any grocery shelf in Florida.
For weeks growers have been advertising for housewives to come into the fields and pick all the tomatoes they are able to can. They are charged only $1 a bushel, which is enough to fill more than 50 No. 2 cans.
Church women and business men of Wauchula canned, without any profit to grower or canners, a total of 50 thousand No. 2 cans and donated them to UNRRA to be sent to hungry Europe.
The estimate of 20 million cans of tomatoes lost was made by the most conservative growers. The total waste represents 400 thousand bushels.
Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Swanson and Wilma of Bloomfield, Mr. and Mrs. Art Larson of Allen, and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Sederstrom and two boys were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sederstrom.
John Hawkins of Heron Lake, Minn., visited from Friday to Monday in the Frank Morgan home and with Jack Fitch.

Chemical Fails On Some Weeds

A few troublesome weeds still do not yield to treatment of 2,4-D chemical, according to Dixon County Agent Howard Gillaspie.
The Russian Knapweed is quite tolerant to 2,4-D. In the last year's experiment, 2,4-D treatments were tried with sodium chlorate. Those plants treated with 2,4-D did not seem to display too much injury, while those treated with sodium chlorate showed about an 88 per cent kill.
Canada thistle seemed to be moderately resistant to 2,4-D. Some of the other plants that are resistant, or moderately so, to 2,4-D are the buffalo burr, tan weed and sandspur.
Sodium chlorate still seems to be the best chemical treatment for the above weeds. However, there still seems to be a shortage of sodium chlorate. Dixon county just received its allotment of chlorate for 1946. The shipment which arrived may not be sufficient to supply all of the requests which are expected in Dixon county. It will probably be wise to stock your chlorate now.
For most weed control, four pounds of sodium chlorate, evenly applied, per square rod is all that is needed for eradication. However, there are a few plants which need a much heavier application, such as tan weed, leafy spurge and perennial peppergrass.

Rev. C.W. Wiberg, Wakefield, Gives Memorial Talk Here Thursday.

To extend the spirit of good will and understanding, to recognize the social implications of atomic energy and to show devotion to this nation established on principles of freedom will preserve peace, stated Rev. C. W. Wiberg of Salem Lutheran church, Wakefield, in speaking at memorial plot in Greenwood cemetery Thursday morning for Decoration day services sponsored by the Legion post.

It was John A. Logan, commander of the G.A.R. who in 1868 suggested that May 30 be set aside as a day to honor the nation's heroes. Rev. Wiberg began today Memorial day has greater significance. It prompts honor for the brave of all wars and also pays tribute to all who have fallen on the battle front of everyday life. "We revere the memory of all who have gone before."

After several years in which Memorial day was observed in the midst of war, this is the first such occasion following victory. "Shall we be victorious in peace?" questioned Rev. Wiberg. International strife, famine, social and economic stress, labor and management troubles perplex the world. "Have those who have sacrificed done so in vain?"

In answer to the question of what can be done to preserve peace and to fulfill an obligation to the land of the free and the home of the brave, Rev. Wiberg first suggested extending the spirit of good will and understanding between nations. "God made all of one blood." The united nations organization is a step in the right direction. It is only a child though it can grow and spread love as did the child of 2,000 years ago. The speaker quoted the mayor of New York who said that "for global peace we must have trust and cooperation of all people. If efforts are to succeed, suspicion and distrust must be put in envy, hate and war. The spirit of the golden rule must be emphasized to produce good will."

Secondly, continued Rev. Wiberg, the world must recognize the implications of atomic energy. God would not have released this new power if it had not had good in it. Murray Lincoln said that "out of war comes the challenge to men to recognize their interdependence. They must live together peacefully or die separately. Life is in the balance in the use of atomic energy. And James Byrnes stated that the united nations proposes to create a force that will be the servant of reason. Rev. Mr. Niembler, German pastor who notes the vast advances in science and decline in ethical standards, believes that "it is either nihilism or faith, death or understanding." Atomic energy can be used for good purposes.

Thirdly, Rev. Wiberg noted, "our beloved land deserves our devotion. We have an obligation to the land of the free and the home of the brave. Patriotism and love of country are more than waving flags, singing songs, etc. They mean duty and devotion. Nathan Hale expressed this devotion when he said he regretted that he had only one life to give to his country. "The battlefield of life calls for heroic living and unflinching devotion. Let us extend to our country and to our comrades our full devotion. They died that we might live."

Legion Commander M. N. Foster, who presided, introduced the speaker and also invited the sergeant at arms to place flowers on the grave of a comrade. "The symbol of the flowers will endure to the end of time."

W. A. Crossland, who served as chaplain, gave the invocation, asking that "Almighty God hasten the peace without end, guide those in whose charge the welfare of all is placed, honor comrades, observe justice, keep alive freedom and democracy, inspire loyalty and bring life everlasting as the reward." Mr. Crossland also pronounced the benediction.

Wayne band, directed by A. J. Atkins, opened the program with "Star Spangled Banner." The band also played for the march to and from the plot. The high school double octet, led by Miss Delores McNatt, sang "The Navy Hymn" and "America." W. A. Lerner read the roll of honor for the wars of 1812, 1861, 1898, 1918 and 1941. Girls, in charge of Mrs. Hattie McNutt, then placed flowers on graves in the plot, and salute to the dead, taps and echoed closed the service. Howard W. H. Witt and Post Adjutant Wm. A. Lerner had charge of Memorial day plans. Color bearers were Kermit Florine and Walden Felber and, color guard LeRoy Sund and Geo. Kolund. The firing squad, under direction of Roland Mahnkne, included Don Sherbahn, Merlin Meyer, Bud McNatt, Robert McLean, LeRoy Clark and Lawrence Laas.

Hound and Rabbit Interrupt Baseball

Two Cattfish Are Caught on One Hook by Fisherman in Washington.

An Auburn, N. Y., Watertown Border Baseball League game wasn't delayed long when a frightened beagle hound ran out across the diamond. Twelve hundred fans sat goggle-eyed as they watched the hound being chased by a rabbit, also frightened.

Myers Smith, Bloomington, Ill., anticipated a parts shortage back home before he left Okinawa as a marine. Piece by piece, he sent home parts of a Japanese made automobile engine, a two-cylinder, air cooled, cast aluminum job. Now out of service and back home he's got it all back together again and is mounting it in a home-made car for his four sons.

This is Bob Firch's fish story at Tacoma, Wash. He saw two catfish thrashing about in shallow water. He dipped his hook beneath one; snagged it by the jaw and when he jerked the line the other fish came out, too, caught in the mouth of the first.

Here's a tip to home-hunters. You can get an entire home for $500. That is if you're willing to live in a boxcar. A Rock Island, Ill., company official disclosed he had been selling discarded railroad boxcars for living quarters for some time. He said people are snapping them up like hot cakes.

An Indian squaw, carrying her papoose at Roseau, Minn., stopped at the ticket window of a movie theater and bought a ticket for the current feature. She remained for the entire show, which was a Scandinavian production, all in the Swedish language.

N. R. Cousins, 72, Nickel Plate railroad conductor, decided at Buffalo, N. Y., to hitch-hike to his home in Connecticut, because of the rail strike. He said he began railroading at the age of 11 and "this is the first time I've ever had to do this."

Residents of a fashionable district at Lewiston, Mont., objected vociferously when they saw some one had moved in an unpainted shack. Plans to invoke zoning laws were abandoned when the shack's owner placed this sign in a window: "This house being remodeled for a G. I. Joe who spent five years in service and 2 1/2 in the South Pacific." Neighbors now are helping Joe with hammers and saws.

Sheriff Harold L. Ellsworth of Canton, Ill., is on the prowl for the thief who stole a barn, or what was left of it. Sheriff Ellsworth bought the barn and had it razed, and planned to remove the lumber. But when he returned the next day, everything was gone.

There was some question in John Maddox's mind whether he'd rather face the Normandy landing again or a throng of bread-hungry women. The 27-year-old veteran, now a Los Angeles grocery clerk, received only a slight shrapnel wound in European fighting. But 400 milling women, waiting for honor for the wars of 1812, 1861, 1898, 1918 and 1941. Girls, in charge of Mrs. Hattie McNutt, then placed flowers on graves in the plot, and salute to the dead, taps and echoed closed the service. Howard W. H. Witt and Post Adjutant Wm. A. Lerner had charge of Memorial day plans. Color bearers were Kermit Florine and Walden Felber and, color guard LeRoy Sund and Geo. Kolund. The firing squad, under direction of Roland Mahnkne, included Don Sherbahn, Merlin Meyer, Bud McNatt, Robert McLean, LeRoy Clark and Lawrence Laas.

bread, made a frontal attack as Mr. Maddox started to open the doors. His battle scars: Arm and hand cuts and a severed artery. They showed him through the plate glass window.

The Fox Valley Animal Welfare League, Aurora, Ill., is planning something new in a pet show. Any type of animal may be entered, if it isn't pedigreed. Early entries include an Albino mule, two fox cubs, ponies, goats, rabbits, mice, a turtle and dogs and cats. Prizes will include dogs with pedigrees.

At Great Falls, Mont., a rancher brought five live coyotes to the sheriff's office, in crates, and demanded a bounty of $2 a hide. "There are the hides, complete with coyote," he told Sheriff E. J. Liptak. "Skin 'em to suit yourself." Sheriff's officers argued what to do. The coyotes howled. Finally Mr. Liptak decided. "Bring back the hides," he told the rancher. "We pay for the hides only."

Philippines High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt proved himself a diplomat as he stepped from his plane after a flight from the Orient, via Adak in the Aleutians. "After Manila, this cool climate is wonderful," he exclaimed. Then he smiled and added quickly: "After Adak, this warm weather is wonderful."

At Redding, Cal., Forest Ranger Harold Peterson reports the presence of a fish in the headwaters of the Pit river arm of Shasta dam "as big as a truck" and if you don't believe it, he'll show you the truck. Mr. Peterson said he used his forest truck for a comparative measuring stick to estimate the big fish's length. He came up with this data: It was a sturgeon, 14 feet long.

No. 13 was different for Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Breiner, Blandinsville, Ill. The Breiners, parents of 12 daughters, were blessed with a boy, Lloyd Eugene.

For more than four months, George Flisinger, 16, and his brother Allan, 8, of Buffalo, N. Y., worked on a 12-foot sailboat and dreamed of their first cruise. Finally the boys launched the craft, climbed in, hoisted sail and were promptly spilled into Buffalo river. They had neglected to provide the boat with a keel.

The Detroit Lakes, Minn., fire department got a call to a fire at a nearby resort. But before they ended their run, several hours later, the firemen had covered 75 miles without locating the blaze. "Well," commented Fire Chief Frank Palm, "it was a nice day, so we didn't mind the ride."

At Tacoma, Wash., safe crackers who stole $430 from a meat market forgot something. They left behind their ticket to the Tacoma policeman's ball.

Burglars broke into the OPA office at Springfield, Ill. They drilled the combination locks off two steel doors to the vault in an attempt to obtain sugar stamps. Officials said the rationing stamps for sugar are kept in a bark. The thieves, however, passed up 100 pounds of sugar, in a potato sack, which is being held for evidence in a pending court case.

Appointed to Vital Senate Committee

Senator Hugh Butler, (R), Nebraska, has been designated chairman of a special senate agricultural subcommittee to consider S. 1908, the surplus crop utilization bill. Other members of the subcommittee are Senator Elmer Thomas, (D), Oklahoma; Senator Clyde Hoey, (D), North Carolina; Senator Allen J. Ellender, (D), Louisiana; and Senator Milton R. Young, (R), North Dakota. Senator Butler's designation as chairman, an unusual appointment for a member of the minority party, is believed due to his greater familiarity with the problem of farm surpluses.

The surplus crop utilization bill directs the secretary of agriculture to find uses in industrial or chemical processes for surplus farm crops. As a first step, it transfers to the department of agriculture all government-owned plants equipped to process agricultural crops into industrial products. This would include the 70,000-gallon-a-day alcohol plant in Omaha, owned by the R. F. C. It is hoped that this plant could be kept in operation as a market for future grain surpluses, if it were placed under the agricultural department.

The bill was introduced by Senator Butler with a dozen other senators as co-sponsors, and it is believed by its authors to provide the permanent solution to the problem of crop surpluses. Under its terms, additional alcohol and other surplus plants might be built if farm surpluses mounted. At hearings held recently, the bill gained the approval of officials of the department of agriculture and a number of other witnesses, while no one appeared in opposition.

Democratic Way Hope of All Men

Rev. Oliver B. Proett Gives Memorial Day Address At Carroll Hall.

Democracy is the only ideology that assures realization to the hopes of all men everywhere, in the opinion of Rev. Oliver B. Proett of Wayne, who gave the Memorial address Thursday afternoon to a large audience at Carroll auditorium, the services sponsored jointly by the Legion, Lions and Auxiliary.

Rev. Proett, whose subject was "Essentials for Victory," spoke of the significance of Memorial day, set aside after the Civil war and now recognized as a holiday to honor all who have gone before. A country may be judged by the way it reveres its dead, Rev. Proett mentioned.

In quoting from conclusion of the poem, "In Flanders Fields," Rev. Proett read these words, "If ye break faith with us who die, we shall not sleep though poppies grow in Flanders fields." The speaker added that "we are charged with the responsibility of making the principles for which they died endure."

Confidence in human relationships and confidence in democratic ideals are essential for freedom, Rev. Proett noted. Also essential is a belief in the destiny of the democratic system as workable around the world, for it incutates the essential freedoms, the speaker concluded.

Robert Johnson, Legion post commander, presided and read the roll of war dead. The chaplain offered prayer. Girls placed flowers in memory of the five from the vicinity who gave their lives in World War Two.

The ladies' chorus, directed by Ivor Morris, sang, and all joined in the national anthem.

Service men conducted rites at Carroll and Bethany cemeteries. Girls placed flowers on graves of all veterans.

It had been my hope that during the present campaign to have the opportunity of seeing the voters of Wayne County personally, to express my appreciation of having served as your County Attorney and also to ask for your continued support, but so far it has been impossible for me to see any great number.

I hope in the future that I may have this opportunity, but if it should be impossible then I want you as voters to know that I will greatly appreciate your support at the primary on June 11.

Memorial Rites Held in Winside

Norris Schroeder Speaks At Services Honoring Heroes of Nation.

In speaking at Memorial day services in Winside auditorium Thursday morning, Norris Schroeder of Hoskins, challenged Americans that "if we would change the face of the earth we must first change our own hearts. America's battle for liberty is right here at home."

Mr. Schroeder related the story of John Dunlap who went to a negro section in the deep south and saw morning glories covering an unpainted fence, roses twisted over a neglected and an old man in a rocking chair on the porch. The man complimented the colored lady on her home. "It ought to be fine," she responded. "I live here." Mr. Schroeder noted that this is the type of pride needed in the nation.

For the most part people should live in the communities in which they are born and bring recognition to these places. Mr. Schroeder told that when Wm. Allen White of Emporia, Kan., world famous editor, was receiving an honorary degree at a college he stood in line with another. Wanting to have a friendly conversation, Mr. White introduced himself and said, "I'm a small town editor from Emporia, Kan. My name is White." The man beside him replied, "I'm a small town doctor from Rochester, Minn., and my name is Mayo."

Each had made beautiful and worthwhile the small town in which he lived and the world has beaten pathways to their doors. "Pride of home, family, citizenship, race and religion are all immensely worthwhile."

It is the task of Americans to realize the true ideals of human life, the true organization of human society, the true democracy. "The good life and the just society—not the luxurious life or the powerful state. These are the goals toward which America must strive. We must unselfishly dedicate our souls to the principles of human liberty."

Mr. Schroeder stated that "we have the hope of realizing the four freedoms and must face the task of realizing them. We must show the world a nation which understands, values and practices the four freedoms. This is America's destiny. We shall rise above strife, narrowness and selfishness to serve mankind, our brothers, regardless of race or station." Every American traces his ancestry to some foreign land. "As a nation we owe our genius, our culture, our traditions to nations all over the world."

World federation is one of the most important issues facing mankind. Mr. Schroeder noted, "Peace, order and security in our communities are based on law. This is true in the state and in the nation. Why not among nations? All humans are citizens of a world community which requires laws and not treaties for its government."

Mr. Schroeder said he would change one word in the last two lines of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," making them read, "As he died to make men holy, let us live to make men free."

The speaker related the story of two knights who quarreled at a road sign which directed one with a gold shield to take one path and one with a silver shield to take another. They found that the shield was gold on one side and silver on the other. So it is with individuals, towns, states and na-

The primary this coming June 11 is election, as far as the United States Senator contest is concerned.

Senator Hugh Butler has made an excellent record. He has represented the people in the truest sense of the word. Agriculture, the service men and women, industry, labor, schools, the taxpayers—all have felt the benefit of his work in the halls of congress.

He has risen to the highest esteem of both Democrats and Republicans alike. He has been appointed to more of the important committees than has any other Nebraska senator in his first term.

Senator Butler is an honest-to-goodness Republican... standing steadfastly for the American way of life. He will lead the Republican party in Nebraska to certain victory next fall.

He is opposed for no reason except that another man wants his job. Senator Butler deserves a second term.
