Woodson was introduced by Dr. J. T. Anderson who welcomed all guests and introduced some of the visitors, among them Val Peterson, republican nominee for governor, Dr. Calvin McKimm of Fresno, Cal., visiting instructor at University of Nebraska this summer, Mrs. Adele Eddy Skinner of California, Mrs. Netha Pedersen of Oceanside, Cal., County Judge Richard Hess of Hartington, C. H. Briggs who formerly taught here, and Hugo Srb who is secretary of the legislative council in Lincoln, Miss Elsie Piper, former dean of women here, and her sister, Miss Jennie Piper of Lincoln, were present.

Dr. Anderson spoke of the college as a bulwark to young folks who train to serve in business, politics, the professions or in other lines. The greatest possibilities of the school lie ahead. He urged all to recall the sacrifices of those who were in the war and to rededicate themselves to bringing peace and satisfaction to all mankind.

Supt. Hugh Lim of Laurel, who presided, announced four life memberships in the alumni association, those of Dr. Esther Maclean of Omaha, Miss Clara Gittman, Miss Ardath Conn and Rollie W. Lee. Prof. John R. Keith, just back after serving with the Red Cross in the Pacific, directed the band in the national anthem for opening of the program. Rev. H. G. Knaub of Winside, gave the invocation and the band led the assemblage in singing "Alma Mater."

Training school children, directed by Mrs. Esther Carlson, climbed to places on a large framework to appear in a living flag. Claude Harber led in the pledge of allegiance, and Julian Porgerson, with band accompaniment, sang "Old Glory."

The male quartet, composed of James Anderson, Heblan Von Seggern, Morris Sandahl and Kenneth Ganselom, accompanied by Prof. Russell Anderson, sang. Reenact Iwo Jima. Prof. F. G. Dale read the names of the 34 who gave their lives in the war. At conclusion, Mrs. Margaret McDonald Hasebrook of West Point, sang "Taps" while Dick Peterson, Paul Cook, Palmer Root, Thomas Mitchell and Robert Dalton reenacted the flag raising scene on Iwo Jima. The five are veterans. Rev. Knaub pronounced the benediction.

Water softener is still available. This is just a reminder to those who have run out of soft water. A cistern full of soft water can still be had with just 85c worth of softener. Lime for garden use can be had in any amount. Why not a 10 pound bag to have on hand at all times? At the first appearance of a new crop of bugs put on a little lime. It will do the business fast. HEALTH HINTS FOR LIVESTOCK PREPARED BY AMERICAN FOUNDATION FOR ANIMAL HEALTH

NEW SHEEP DISEASE NEEDS WATCHING

A relatively "recent" disease of sheep—listerellosis—is posing a potential threat to the sheep industry in this country.

The disease was first clearly identified here about twenty years ago. Since that time, although it has not caused losses on a par with the major sheep diseases, listerellosis has broken out in several new areas and the losses in each outbreak have been very severe.

A typical case of listerellosis.

Listerellosis is sometimes known among sheep raisers as "circling" disease, because the gorm damages the brain and causes the sheep to walk in circles, or to stagger, push their heads into fences, or fall to their knees. It may also cause inflammation of the eye, and it sometimes causes ewes to lose their lambs. Sick animals frequently become completely paralyzed before death.

Thus far, no effective vaccine has been developed for controlling outbreaks of listerellosis. If an outbreak of the disease is suspected, the first control step is to obtain an immediate diagnosis by a veterinarian. This is essential because listerellosis resembles several other sheep infections, and laboratory diagnosis may be needed to determine the exact germ responsible for the illness.

Sick animals should be isolated from the rest of the flock, and every possible sanitary measure should be taken, to help save the rest of the animals from exposure.

Farm Safety Week Will Be Observed

Farm Safety week, coming up July 21 to 27, is a timely reminder to farmers that electricity can cause plenty of damage if it escapes from the wires.

Electricity will work 24 hours a day with perfect safety if one takes a few simple precautions. Use fuses of the proper size. Don't overload extension cords. Remember that metal sockets are dangerous around farm buildings.

The Late Primary
A good many pre-primary speculations were knocked in the head by the final count. The vote was far bigger than expected. Interest was sharpened by the senatorial and gubernatorial contests.

Some figure introduction of Harold Stassen, former Minnesota governor, to boost the Griswold candidacy, hurt rather than helped the Nebraska executive's campaign for the senatorship. However that may be, it is apparent that voters, familiar with Senator Butler's record, did not agree that he was a cold nationalist.

For governor, Val Peterson landed the nomination as expected. He overcame stiff opposition, but he reaped gratifying totals in both rural and city communities. He won leadership at all points in doubt, and forged farther ahead than expected at places where he was certain to score majorities.

Before the primary some doubt was expressed as to feasibility of endorsements by state conventions. But such endorsements carried weight, as proved by the outcome. All endorsed candidates won. As tested in the initial experience, the convention helped satisfy voters' minds in selecting nominees. Convention endorsements will be considered more important in the future.

Primary returns did not reveal as many democrats as usual. Without contests within their own ranks, many became republicans at least for the occasion to help candidate friends in the opposition camp. Nebraska democracy is evidently out of accord with the party's eastern variety, and the latter will have to do some changing before arousing sizable support here.

Differences TOUCHING points of ideological disagreements as indicated by Russia on the one hand and America on the other, the World-Herald quotes this from Anne O'Hare McCormick, New York Times writer: "Although we all live in one world, we do

Congress

Washington, D. C. June 13, 1946

Emil Placek of Wahoo, spent several days in Washington on the procurement of priorities on materials for construction of farm buildings and prefabricated houses.

Tom Aron of Crete, has been in Washington for conferences with representatives of the department of agriculture—the soil conservation service in particular—concerning preliminary survey of a soil conservation project along the upper Blue river. River and New-ward residents in Saline and New-ward counties want systematized soil conservation practices to control water run-off and hold soil instead of the flood control dam presently proposed by army engineers. Their argument is that soil conservation practices conserve and create the value of the land, whereas the flood control dam will cause inundation of a large area of fertile land.

The Nebraska 4-H clubbers are, part of the national 4-H club encampment which occurred in Washington from June 11 to 18. not live in one time, and that is why the attempt to divide the world again into segments is causing unbearable tension.

"The jangle you hear is not so much national anthems out of tune as clocks out of time. The primeval tom-tom still beats while the atom bomb ticks. "Russia is still straddling the centuries, in victory more than ever pounding backward to Peter the Great and racing at the same time to overtake Henry Ford and Henry Kaiser before she has caught up with Thomas Jefferson. The clocks of Europe are turning back and the clocks of Asia are turning forward. And there are places where time stands still because the night does not lift and there is no tomorrow."

Numerous and ineffectual government units in Europe remind one of Sancho Panza's caps. The squire of Don-Quixote was ordered to make so many caps from available material that none was worth anything. Europe has so many little governments that none functions successfully. All often clash over trivial disagreements. There is now renewed talk of a United States of Europe. Peoples involved would quarrel and perhaps declare war occasionally, but in time they would see the wisdom of oneness and cooperation. Perhaps after a long series of years one common language could be developed. That would aid understanding and promote national team work.

It was proposed at a meeting of United Nations representatives in New York last week that secrets of atomic energy be released to trusted compeers, that atomic bombs on hand be destroyed and their manufacture be stopped. Understanding for joint action to outlaw war, enforce peace and punish violators is proposed. Movement in that direction will be applauded everywhere. Use of atomic energy in peaceful pursuits rather than to exterminate humanity meets universal favor. But from our niche of perhaps over-caution we would keep under cover in the United States some of the vital facts involved in making lethal atomic bombs.

Dr. H. C. Filley, professor of rural economics at the University of Nebraska, said in a recent speech that if the OPA is continued consumers will pay high prices for inferior products, whereas if it is junked they will pay high prices for superior goods. His conclusion is that prices will be high anyway. The contention by many is that dismissal of OPA would stimulate production and increase the marketing of essentials. Higher prices and wage increases will in time be followed by a flattening out process. Then many will wonder what became of their earnings and regret that they did not hang on to more of them.

The threatened maritime strike was settled just one minute before it was to start. Why not have settled sooner and lifted the burden earlier? Why harrow millions directly and indirectly involved with strikes or threats of strikes that must be disposed of by compromise? Getting together and reaching agreements without punishing workers and the general public would greatly modify present-day problems.

Provisions of the Case bill which President Truman vetoed, are not nearly so drastic as those proposed in handling labor in his recent speech referring to the late railway tie-up. What is the matter with the president's consistency? Hasn't he the courage to tell radical labor leaders where to go?

Bitter feeling manifested lately in U. S. supreme court circles suggests that some resignations would be in order.

A late picture of the president showed him laughing. We are glad he is still able to do it.

Ron, Crete, and Capt. Don Riordan, Norfolk, were recent visitors at the Third district office.

Millions of dollars worth of gems and rare works of art brought here by army people from Germany have caused much excitement in Washington. Wives of high ranking army officers who used to brag about golden knives, spoons and other things brought back by their husbands, have suddenly quit talking.

The president vetoed the Case labor disputes bill. The house of representatives voted 253-135 to override the veto, but that heavy majority was five votes short of the necessary two-thirds majority to pass the bill, the objections of the president to the contrary notwithstanding. The house is now holding up the president's temporary emergency labor disputes bill pending a jelling of public opinion. One tentative plan is to tack the provisions of the Case bill on to the president's emergency bill if there is favorable public interest in that maneuver.

The proposed British loan is scheduled for house attention, possibly within a week. Many conferences have been held by proponents and opponents. One of the late rumors in congressional corridors is that if the loan is made as tentatively negotiated, income taxes may increase 20 per cent. About 60 members of the house have subscribed to a resolution to proclaim a "Veterans and Old Age Day" when and if the house approves the pending British loan.

VERBIAGE.

When the lawyers get around to the task of simplifying court procedure, as urged by Chief Justice Simmons of the Nebraska supreme court, they ought to take in hand the crying need of cutting out verbiage in their legal papers. If they would go directly to the point, avoiding repetitions and saying exactly what they mean, they could make themselves more clearly understood. Too much circumlocution bogs the reader and increases the difficulty of grasping the idea. Unnecessary "for-saids" get in the way. Too many other words burden phrasing and cloud sense to the average reader. No good reason for doing so is apparent. Lawyers may well adopt latest literary style which is to express thoughts in the fewest possible words. None should be wasted. If long-winded forms are essential to legality, essentials should be changed. That would be a relief.

A recent report of the bureau of the budget shows that there are 23,009 people on the federal payroll who devote their full time to getting out propaganda, and 22,769 other people on the federal payroll who devote part of their time to this work. The cost to taxpayers is estimated at $75,000,000 per year. This money is spent by the government departments and agencies to convince you, the American taxpayer, that the bureaucrats in Washington are efficient, and to sell you on the need for a bigger and better federal bureaucracy. Judging from the amount of mail each member of congress received during the debate on the OPA extension, these government propaganda experts did a good job of selling the people of America on the need for continuing them in office. Representative Ellis of West Virginia, summed up the government propaganda question when he said on the floor of the house: "No doubt you will be surprised to learn that the various agencies of the government spend a total of $300,000,000 annually on propaganda in making good things look bad, and bad things look good, as it suits their fancy, all done to advance a political philosophy and to perpetuate themselves in office."

Comptroller General Lindsay Warren is authority for the statement that there are 29 government agencies lending U. S. funds, 34 buying land, 16 in wildlife preservation, 10 in federal construction, 12 in home and community planning, 10 in materials and construction, 28 in welfare matters, 14 in forestry matters, 9 in credit and finance, 4 in bank examination, and 65 in gathering statistics.

What to do about Palestine is as much of a problem now as it has been since the days of the Crusaders, several hundred years ago. Following the first World war, the treaty makers turned Palestine over to Britain under a mandate. It was proposed that it should become a national home for the Jews. Under the Balfour proclamation, there were to be several thousand Jews permitted to locate annually in Palestine. The movement went on for several years, aided by generous private funds provided from our own country and European nations. The newcomers to Palestine soon developed agriculture and industry and have been doing well. The governor of the country is appointed by the British government, and is in rather complete control.

Then came the protest of the Arab nations against further Jewish immigration. The British stopped all but a limited number of new immigrants. The Arabs in the adjoining countries are opposed to reopening Palestine to the Jews, while hundreds of thousands in Europe are demanding that the bars be raised, at least sufficiently to permit 100,000 Jews to enter Palestine annually. Recently our state department entered negotiations with Britain to permit 100,000 Jewish people in the stricken countries of Europe to move to Palestine. The Arabs have pro-

Trimming OPA, as proposed by the United States senate, had the enthusiastic approval of Nebraska livestock growers in session at Omaha last week. Predictions were made by leaders that if the senate action became law there would be more beef in July and August and more pork in November, with supplies stepped up considerably next year. Harry Coffey, president of the Union Stock Yards, Omaha, expressed the belief that production would improve gradually, some time being required to get cattle back into feed lots. He added that the proposed law would put an end to the black market. Stock growers were gratified to know congress is awakening to an unfortunate situation, brought about, as he believed, by too much power in the hands of the OPA. Main pressure to keep the OPA in its present form is understood to come from labor organizations.

tested the action of our government. In the past couple of decades the richest oil deposits in the world have been discovered in Arabia, Iran and Iraq. British and American oil companies hold most of the oil concessions in the Arab countries. While withholding action upon admitting 100,000 Jews to Palestine, Britain now propounds a new question to our government. It asks whether or not our country will furnish troops, arms, planes and all else necessary to maintain peace between the Arabs and Jews in Palestine if the immigration shall be permitted. Nobody knows how large an army we might be called upon to furnish to help police Palestine and keep peace there. The answer of our department of state has not been published.

Pioneer Team Drops 7 to 4
Game at Fremont; Big Six
Loses to Emerson, 5 to 1.

Wayne's baseball activities last Sunday resulted in defeat for both local teams. The Big Six team, host to Emerson in the afternoon, lost by a 5-1 count. The Pioneer team, playing at Fremont in a night game, dropped a 7-1 decision to the league leaders.

Wayne's Pioneer team tangles with Wahoo at the Wayne diamond next Sunday afternoon, while the Big Six team goes to Carroll for its game.

Fremont 7, Wayne 4.

Loose fielding was the prime factor accounting for the score in the Pioneer league tilt. Kasten, Fremont's hurler, allowed six Wayne hits, but managed to keep those scattered throughout most of the game. His only tough spot was in the 8th when Wayne combined three hits with two errors for four runs, its only scores of the game.

Three Wayne pitchers held the heavy bats of Fremont to seven safeties, three in the opening frame, bringing in one run. Erratic support, however, consistently placed Fremont batters on base and kept Wayne's moundmen in danger throughout the game.

Fremont started its scoring in the bottom half of the opening frame. Hits by Christensen, Petersen and Robart, a sacrifice by Launer and an error by King, brought Christensen across the plate. The 4th inning brought another run for Fremont when Robart opened with a double, and scored on Zakovec's sacrifice to Best.

Fremont's big inning came the last of the 5th. Launer was safe on an error by Van Auker and advanced to second when Benton erred on Peterson's ground ball. Draemel walked filling the bases. Robert was safe on a fielder's choice which caught Draemel at second. The attempted double play was slow and Page's wild throw to home enabled Launer to score. Al. Bahe dropped Sager's fly to right field, allowing Peterson and Robart to scamper across the plate. Zakovec fled out to Bahe. Meyer came up with a single, the only hit of the inning. Kaster grounded to Otto, forcing Sager at 3rd for the final out.

Two runs in the 6th brought a close to Fremont's scoring. Christensen opened with a single and advanced when Launer walked. Peterson grounded to Otto, forcing Launer at 2nd. Draemel was safe on Page's error. Bahe muffed Robart's fly to right, letting Christensen and Peterson score.

Wayne's fireworks in the top of the 8th came after Best had struck out. Benton singled and was advanced by Otto's single. Johnson whiffed for the second out. Kaster nicked Retzlaff with a fast one, filling the bases. Page's high fly to deep short was bobbled by Zakovec long enough to permit three runners to cross the plate. King's double sent Page over for the final tally, and Dickens whiffed to ETT tally. Dickens struck out to end things for Wayne.

Wayne's Big Six team took a 5-1 defeat from Emerson's strong entry in a game played at Wayne in Sunday's heat.

Emerson worked a hit and run play in the 2nd inning to score the first run. H. Heckens reached first on an error and came in from third when Schindler hit a slow roller to third. In the 6th inning, three hits by Kuhl, H. Heckens and Sherlock gave Emerson two more tallies. In the 9th, triples by Sherlock and Belt, aided by a couple of errors, gave the visitors their two runs.

Greenbacks came floating down "from nowhere" into fishing boats moored at Garibaldi, Ore. No one knows where the money came from. A short time before a plane had passed overhead. Tom Hess, a commercial fisherman, said he was eating lunch on deck when the bills dropped before him. He grabbed $16.

To Policeman James McNicholas of Philadelphia, the number 13 is lucky. Mr. McNicholas, whose name has 13 letters, comes from a family of 13. He is attached to the 13th police district and he has worn his present badge, No. 13, for 13 years. "And I've been luckier the past 13 years since I've worn this badge," he says, "than I was previously."

It wasn't the loss of her $1,350 mink coat or of her husband's $50 watch which upset Mrs. Betty Port of Chicago, Ill. It was the bottle of Moment Supreme perfume valued at $85 and sent from a friend in Paris. It was taken by burglars who ransacked her apartment.

Rev. deFreese participated in a symposium entitled "Jesus My Truth My Way." Rev. deFreese also took part in group discussions of departments of the Sunday school, being in charge of the adult department. Rev. Knauth reported on the work of the parish educational committee.

Assistant Fire Chief Bernard Swanson and former Fire Chief C. J. Beatty of Jamestown, Fire Chief Donald Sales, Lakewood, and Geo. Blackstone, Lakewood, chief of the fire department of Bard college. They were returning from a fire chiefs' convention.

Dana G. Horning, 50, of Watertown Center, N. Y., wound up in a hospital with a broken wrist when his daughter and son-in-law started out on their wedding trip. Unaware that he was standing on a line of tin cans attached to the car of the bridal couple, Mr. Horning went down for the count when the vehicle started.

Mrs. Addie Livesay, Centralia, Ill., a church organist who pulls the stops as efficiently as she did when she was an organist in Chicago a half century ago, still swings out "a little" with jazz at 84. But of boogie woogie, Mrs. Livesay, who still teaches piano and organ pupils, says: "I can't play it at all."

John Moynihan, lock-up keeper at the Chicago town hall police station, was puzzled as he watched Midnight, the 7-year-old station cat, leap madly around the square room. "It looks like the end for Midnight," Mr. Moynihan told Detective Peter Harlib. Detective Harlib found Midnight had been herding around a box of snuff a policeman had dropped.

Claude Berger, 64, Seattle, lost his speech and hearing during an attack of scarlet fever three years ago. Recently he had a fall while stacking boxes and his hearing and speech miraculously came back. Those around him were so startled to hear him talk they were "speechless."

Police Chief Samuel E. Cooper, 79, Chestertown, Md., was supposed to have retired after 52 years as head of the Chestertown force, but the city fathers persuaded him to remain in office a little longer. His job was to supervise traffic during the visit of President Truman who was to receive an honorary degree at Washington college. Mr. Cooper had the same job in 1933 when the late President Roosevelt visited there.

If finding four-leaf clovers means good luck, Farmer George Crate, Farmer City, Ill., is going to have lots of it. After he found 40 four-leaf clovers, one five-leaf and one six-leaf on his farm he took the batch over to show neighbor farmers, Frank Schooley and Virgil Sheldon, in case there were any who doubted his pickings. Mr. Crate said four-leaf clovers generally are found in pairs, so he's going to look around for the other five and six-leaves.

At Portland, Ore., Mrs. Josephine McLoughlin broke her leg on the way home from a prayer meeting. Hospital attendants said the 62-year-old woman fell off a bicycle. She and her husband had been "riding double."

Detectives Wm. O'Malley and Gerhard Voith of Chicago, started chasing a man they spotted rolling a large rubber tire from a warehouse in the early morning hours. They gained ground as the man with the heavy tire had trouble keeping a grip on it. The chase ended when he bumped into a telephone pole and knocked himself out and also lost a couple of teeth. The officers booked the bruised man, Edward Dunne, 45, on charges of burglary and violation of parole.

Joseph Zamboski, Baltimore, Md., says he was driving his car, and fast when a Virginia state trooper waved him down and said sarcastically: "Let me see your pilot's license." Mr. Zamboski, a pilot, pulled out his airplane papers. The officer laughed and let him go with a warning to slow down on the ground.

If you want a line on some new books come into the library and look at the poster in the hall. The book jackets there are changed frequently but this week you may find Gather Ye Rosebuds by Janette Nolan which is a gay new novel of American yesterdays and fine light summer reading. Broken Melody by Ronald Kidbride is another one on display and it is a story of a struggling young composer in Los Angeles. This story has already been bought by a film company. You will find William Saroyan's new book, The Adventure of Wesley Jackson and it is written with all the wisdom, humor and passion of Saroyan's earlier books such as The Human Comedy.

Are you feeling a bit ambitious this summer? If so, you will enjoy looking over a new book by Mary Brooks Picken called Sewing For the Home. This book tells you how you can be your own decorator and there are many colored pictures of beautifully decorated rooms. Not only do you look at the pictures but detailed instructions telling just how to achieve the results shown in the pictures are given. It is by far the best book of this type we have come across.

We have just received a new biography by Margery Miller which is the life of Joe Louis. It is an exciting saga from the day when the young Alabama cotton picker determined to win the battle against poverty, through the days of his ever-increasing reputation as the Brown Bomber, to the day when he joined the army. Sergeant Louis knew barren, hungry children, early disappointments and heartache, bitter defeat at the height of his fame, but these experiences molded the champion into a man as well as an athlete. Joe Louis' American is a rare story which words can tell, but not improve.

Story hour will be held on Thursday afternoon as usual.

HEALTH HINTS FOR LIVESTOCK

SLEEPING SICKNESS OUTLOOK DOUBTFUL

As we come into the season for mosquitoes, bugs, and other insects, thousands of horse owners again begin to ask themselves the question—"What are the chances for horses sleeping sickness this year, and will MY horse be safe?" Unfortunately, that is a question that no one is able to answer, because sleeping sickness is now one of the most unpredictable diseases known to veterinary science.

However, we are learning more about this baffling and costly disease as time goes on. For one thing, we know that it can be carried not only by mosquitoes, but also by mites, birds, ticks, and numerous forms of insects. We know that birds act as reservoirs for the virus from year to year (and some authorities say that chickens may do the same). And, most seriously, the virus of horse sleeping sickness can also kill human beings. In fact, the human cases of this disease now run into the thousands, and there have been many deaths from it.

Instead of just one type of sleeping sickness virus, as at first supposed, veterinarians have now isolated FOUR types—the Eastern strain, the Western, the St. Louis, and the Venezuela. Thus the problem is further complicated.

The best defense against the disease is to have all horses immunized in the spring, before the insect season begins. If the vaccination is done properly, the horses can go on working without layoff—and the immunity is usually good for the entire season. It should be pointed out, however, that sleeping sickness vaccination requires a special intra-dermal method, involving special techniques and skill, and must be done properly if firm immunity is to be established.

Winside Department --- Wayne Herald

BY MISS EMELYN GRIFFITH

Wedding Service Performed Here

Miss Arlene Petersen Bride Of Clarence Pfeiffer at Trinity Church.

Trinity Lutheran church in Winside, was the scene of a pretty wedding Sunday evening at 8 when Miss Arlene Petersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Petersen of near Winside, became the bride of Clarence Pfeiffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Pfeiffer of Hoskins. Rev. H. G. Knaub officiated at the double-ring service performed in the presence of relatives and friends.

Seven-branch candelabra with white lighted tapers, baskets of blue and white delphiniums, daisies and other flowers decorated the church.

Mrs. Donald Gillespie sang "O Promise Me" before the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" after the ceremony. She was accompanied by Miss Alma Lautenbach, who played the wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white organza floor-length gown over taffeta trimmed in silk net embroidery. The dress was fashioned with sweetheart neckline, full skirt and three-quarter length sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from a beaded coronet. She wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a lavender and white orchid in a prayer book, tied with white streamers.

Mrs. Walter Fleer, jr., friend of the bride, who served as matron of honor, wore blue organza over taffeta. Miss Mary Lea Jensen, cousin of the bride, wore blue net over taffeta. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

Judy Weible, niece of the bridegroom, and Janet Petersen, sister of the bride, served as flower girls. They wore blue dresses of silk ninon and carried white baskets with blue and white flowers.

The bridegroom and his attendant, Harold Ritze, is cousin, wore dark suits with white carnation boutonnieres. Usual were LeRoy Petersen, brother of the bride, and Ervin Pfeiffer, cousin of the bridegroom. They wore dark suits with white carnations.

Both Mrs. Pfeiffer and the bridegroom wore dresses with the bridegroom's name on the left breast. Mrs. Mary Pfeiffer, mother of the bride, wore a reception with the bridegroom's name on the left breast.

Earl Wade served waitresses with Miss Leona Letman of Norfolk, Miss Arlene Roloff of Wayne, Miss Ruth Pfeiffer of Altona, and Miss Marjorie Fleer of Hoskins. A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom and decorated in blue and white, centered the bridal table. Vases of blue and white flowers and blue and white candles decorated other tables. Shirley Krueger and Lois Kramer had charge of the guest book.

The bride was graduated from Winside high school and attended Wayne college before teaching in rural schools in Wayne county the past three and a half years. The bridegroom attended Winside high school. He was recently discharged after being in service three and a half years, serving one year in the China-Burma-India theatre.

After a trip to Lake Okoboji, the young folks will return to live with Mr. Pfeiffer's folks on a farm near Hoskins.

Guests from out of town here for the occasion included Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Scheer, James and Carolyn

It's just plain horse sense

Here's a picture of cooperation. Each horse enjoys a soft head rest, each gets the benefit of the other's "fly swatter". A lot of extra comfort at no extra trouble.

The same idea steps up the usefulness of a party line. Say that everybody resolves to keep calls short . . . to allow reasonable intervals between calls . . . to hang up quietly when others are found talking . . . to yield the right-of-way to anyone with an emergency call—these things are mutually helpful to all users, everybody gets more benefit from the line.
