

Reactions to OPA Encouraging—Most Dealers Everywhere, Recognizing Inflation Perils, React Similarly—Wayne Interviews.

OPA or no OPA, there is an expressed determination among dealers everywhere not to raise retail prices arbitrarily.

Housing quarters are so scarce that the chance to put up rents is too strong for some landlords to resist.

Whatever may happen to the policy of price restraints, as ordered in Washington, the plan to deal fairly with the buying public and advance costs only in response to unavoidable production demands is reassuring.

George Sheaff, manager for the Brown-McDonald store, recognizing obligations to the public, makes this announcement: "Our pricing methods will continue unchanged, and we shall continue to follow past OPA procedure."

"Irrespective of what happens to OPA ceiling prices on food, Safeway Stores pledge the consumer that it will continue its policies of keeping food prices as low as possible."

"Safeway will continue to give the consumer the benefit of savings, resulting from its methods of doing business by pricing at the lowest possible figure that will yield a reasonable profit."

"Our company will continue to pay full, legitimate market prices to farmers and other producers of food products, and make available to all our customers the largest variety and supply of foods that it can obtain, but it will do no speculative hoarding."

"We cannot forecast the future of price control or the effect its reinstatement or abandonment may have on our wholesale costs."

"Wayne is a highly competitive market," said A. L. Swan, "and buyers have justly learned to have confidence in it."

"Our policy is to maintain our prices with no increases unless forced to do so by our suppliers," said L. W. McNatt, hardware.

Price Control

DEATH OF OPA and a struggle in congress to pass an acceptable substitute have held attention during the week. It is revealing to note in that connection result of a recent survey made by WJAG, Norfolk. Of 159 persons writing the station in regard to price control, 134, or 84 per cent, favored discontinuance of OPA. Those who expressed favor for partial control no doubt had in mind such helpless essentials as rent. In most other fields it is believed competition, self-restraint, careful buying, sense of individual responsibility will keep prices fairly within reason.

One congressman expresses confidence in the American people to regulate their affairs with less government interference. He thinks it is high time for people to rely more on themselves and less on government. He believes some hardships involved are justified by a retreat from Washington bureaus which have become more of a nuisance than a help.

In treating the OPA subject, Life magazine says: "Production is the answer to inflation and to a rising standard of living." People must use sound judgment in buying—not just get rid of surplus cash. If true, as reported from Washington, that forty per cent of the people are living from hand to mouth, some education is needed in the direction of frugality and conservation. Everybody should save something from fat earnings for the proverbial "rainy day."

Interviews on page one of today's Herald, revealing local price policies and expressing a determination to put shoulders against inflationary tendencies, no doubt are typical of a firm feeling generally prevalent in communities everywhere in the nation.

The average business man is a sensible fellow. He did his best to observe OPA rules—and there were plenty of them—and he is now doing his best to readjust to a new order with the public welfare in mind and without intention to grab undue profits. Whatever may happen to price control, as decided in Washington, business men everywhere will usually be found cooperating to safeguard the future.

Senator Theodore R. Bilbo's heavy vote in Mississippi is mainly traceable to his bold action in stirring up race prejudices. He openly defied the right of negroes to vote and many were defeated in attempts to do so. Bilbo rattles in the senate, and as he rattles he discredits himself and those who make public office for him possible. The World-Herald expresses relief in the fact that Bilbo carried only Mississippi.

Plans for northeast Nebraska's annual county fairs are reported going forward at this time. Wayne county's attractions for a big show have been purchased, and details of fair events will be announced in due time. The county's 4-H clubs and schools have been preparing through the year.

A report states that subsidies have cost the federal government $1,455,000,000 per year, and adds that the policy has reduced each person's grocery bill $12 annually. That is insignificant in an individual's eating expense, but the total deals a stagger-

WE NEED ECONOMICS.

(Norfolk Daily News) It is to be hoped that the reformers who propose to turn our high school curricula into bread and butter courses will keep their hands off the classes in economics.

What this country needs more than more automobiles, more refrigerators or more "spending power," is an electorate that understands the fundamentals of how business works. Time was when our statesmen could be trusted with the job of putting on the books laws relating to business. But that time has passed. At every election the voter is faced with decisions he must make at the polls involving the policies and regulations which will oil or clog the wheels of our industrial system.

The country's biggest need is people who are familiar with the laws of production and exchange of goods and the operation of our monetary system.

In his Sunday broadcast, Drew Pearson, trying to scare us into fits because of threatened legislation which may limit the life and activities of OPA and shear a little of his power from Chester Bowles, intimates that if Chester Bowles doesn't have his way, this country will go into an inflation like Hungary's. In Hungary a pack of cigars costs a billion pengos (a pengo at normal exchange being worth 20 cents).

Anyone schooled in the rudiments of economics knows that the kind of inflation OPA might pre-ing blow to the government's exchequer which is having tough going in attempts to balance the national budget. People are taxed to pay a subsidy which in turn trims a trifle off the grocery cost. Let each fellow pay his way and give the government a chance to get out of the red.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover stated in a recent interview that the nation "is facing a potential army of six million criminals." He evidently believes home delinquency is responsible for child delinquency and often for lives of crime. He comments: "Every home in America must become a sanctuary for good citizenship and not, as in many instances today, a breeding place for criminals."

Russia appears as contrary as a Missouri mule in the Paris conference's attempt to iron out differences and pave the way for permanent world peace. Undoubtedly the soviet union has no thirst for another war soon, but it wants to run the international show as far as it will be permitted to do so.

The Sioux City Journal reports that scientific findings single out Kansas as the state having the most tornadoes. That newspaper reluctantly gives Iowa second place. Where Nebraska ranks is not mentioned, though we doubt if it is far down the list.

Two encouraging reports soared the past week—the landlord who reduced rents on disappearance of OPA, and another apartment house owner who ruled against renters without children.

Sign of a new and healthier order is evident in more careful shopping. The customer is gradually getting out of the habit of grabbing what is wanted regardless of the cost mark.

It appears that Wahoo is going to vote on a proposition to issue $35,000 in bonds for a municipal swimming pool. That is the spirit of live, foreseeing communities.

More parking room would be available in the down-town district if spaces were repainted. Authorities should capture a supply of paint and do the job.

Victory Over Famine.

(Omaha World-Herald) On the day the Constitution was adopted by its framers, Benjamin Franklin made a speech to his fellow delegates. He made reference to a painting that hung behind the speaker's chair, a seascape with the sun hanging low over the water.

"Often in the vicissitudes of my hopes and fears," said the revered old gentleman, "I have wondered whether it were a rising or a setting sun. Today I know that it is a rising sun."

The other day another American elder statesman made a speech of like significance. Herbert Hoover, at the invitation of the Canadian government, addressed words of hope and victory not alone to his own countrymen but to the world.

The fight against famine, he said in effect, has been won. The threat of impending starvation which hung over the world only three months ago has been dispelled. There will be suffering, but no mass starvation save in those portions of interior China where the relief supplies cannot be transported.

There is still much to be done; we cannot let down for many months to come. But current food shipments, good harvests and brighter prospects in all food-producing countries have changed a crisis to a problem that can and will be solved.

Mr. Hoover sees the broad significance of the victory. There were some who believed that the recent war had burned out our spiritual as well as our material resources. There were those who said that the night of a fallen civilization was already upon us, and that there could be no recovery.

The victory over famine shows this is not so. The world has risen to answer the need and, as Mr. Hoover says, the months ahead "can bring the glow of a new hope for the dawn of a new era. . . . It (the victory over famine) marks the return of the lamp of compassion to the earth. And that is part of the moral and spiritual reconstruction of the world."

ENCOURAGING FREAKS

(Norfolk Daily News) George W. Olsen, the Lincoln Journal reminds us, is not the only eccentric who has utilized the facilities of the primary to run as a candidate for office. The paper recalls: "Back in 1912 Robert G. Ross, who listed himself as a sheep herder, and his home as Lexington, filed as a candidate for president on both tickets, the Democrats giving him 1,271 votes and the Republicans 605. In 1916 he was a Democrat only, and had the distinction of polling more votes in Gage county than Woodrow Wilson. In 1920 he switched to the Republican ticket and got 1,698 votes. In 1926 he was a Republican candidate for governor, getting 11,132 votes; in 1928 he polled 25,845 votes; in 1932 he had 5,684 supporters, and in 1938 his vote was 20,897. His last entry was in 1940. Ross worked in a livery stable in Lexington in later years, living in a one room house banked with earth, and the records show him to have been an old age pensioner. The only office to which he was ever elected was road overseer in a rural precinct in the nineties."

It must occur to a good many that a primary system which permits a George W. Olsen to take the Democratic nomination for governor away from a man like Pat Heaton, and enables a man like Robert G. Ross to roll up more than 25,000 votes, is something less than sacrosanct. But some persons hold that a system that encourages the Ross and Olsen candidates is of the very essence of democracy. It may be, if that's the brand of democracy they like.

JUST APPRAISAL.

No one can fool the public long if at all. People know if a fellow is shiftless and unreliable. They know if he can be depended on. They know if he is in the habit of not doing what he says he will do. They know if his word is good. One cannot do little mean things and conceal the fact. He cannot be ugly at home and all smiles to outsiders, and be sure he is playing a double role successfully. He cannot be a trickster and expect his neighbors not to find out. He cannot cheat or deceive even in a small way without destroying confidence. People are surprisingly unerring in appraisal of character and intentions. They know whether one rings true or not. No one can long mislead the public, nor influence popular judgment contrary to facts.

Local

Three hundred per cent increases on scarce items. Only in few instances where basic prices such as steel, textile and labor costs have risen, will there be slight increase forthcoming.

"OPA ceiling prices or lower will prevail in all Council Oak stores until replacement costs absolutely force us to raise them," says Ismael Hughes, manager of the Council Oak here. "This brief statement outlines the only policy Council Oak can follow during this period of confusion and indecision. We can only hope a workable solution will be adopted and legislated upon."

The above quotations represent a fair cross section of local policies. These and many not quoted are of one voice in holding the price line as far as possible.

TO MEET DEMANDS.

(Sioux City Journal) The wheat harvest is on and the yield is heavy, but demands from abroad in the famine areas are so strong that it is every American's duty to humanity to save all the bread possible to save human life. Let all of us be grateful for a good wheat crop and continue to conserve the grain which never was more needed.

Boycotting Democracy.

(Lincoln Journal) Americans who don't go to the polls are boycotting their own democracy. So said Will Hays in a lay sermon the other day. Only when the whole people become politically minded, he said cogently, can self government be translated into a living reality. Only if vast numbers of men and women, now indifferent, become politically conscious can the United States really function in the postwar world. He finds it not merely senseless but definitely wrong to leave politics in the hands of a relative few, and the height of stupidity to complain about politics and politicians.

Reiterating the recent discovery that freedom wasn't permanently won at Valley Forge, but must be conserved with diligence, "Deacon" Hays calls on Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public to shoulder their responsibilities now. He maintains that every citizen should join a political party, take a hand in selecting candidates, and make himself heard in the formulation of policies.

It all sounds elementary to the student and theorist, and the fact that these elementary functions have been neglected is a reproach to the American people. What Mr. Hays says isn't new. It gains force from the times—the confusion of public affairs, of the country's business, of the popular mind.

If democracy is to prove itself, the United States to maintain its place in the world, politics must cease to be the private property of a handful of professional politicians.

AGAINST.

The Saturday Evening Post deplures the fact that editors must be adversely critical of many things they think run athwart sound reconstruction. It says editors would gladly welcome and strongly approve giving him 1,271 votes and the Republicans 605. In 1916 he was a Democrat only, and had the distinction of polling more votes in Gage county than Woodrow Wilson. In 1920 he switched to the Republican ticket and got 1,698 votes. In 1926 he was a Republican candidate for governor, getting 11,132 votes; in 1928 he polled 25,845 votes; in 1932 he had 5,684 supporters, and in 1938 his vote was 20,897. His last entry was in 1940. Ross worked in a livery stable in Lexington in later years, living in a one room house banked with earth, and the records show him to have been an old age pensioner. The only office to which he was ever elected was road overseer in a rural precinct in the nineties.

FOR SAFETY.

(Omaha Journal-Stockman) Everyone has seen one or more cases where the occupants of a badly smashed automobile or airplane have walked away from an accident practically unhurt. How that can happen when other victims of seemingly less serious crashes are badly maimed or killed is a question to which doctors have given considerable study. Now, as a result of their findings, airplane and automobile makers are endeavoring to modify their designs and particularly the materials used in construction of their products in such a way as to offer the least possible chance for broken knees, crushed or impaled chests and fractured skulls—which are among the commonest forms of serious or fatal injuries. Steering wheels and instrument panels, against which accident victims may be thrown, are being constructed of more ductile materials and designed in such a way as to distribute more widely the energy of heavy "fatal" blows. Of course, safety authorities won't give up the idea of trying to make American drivers more careful and safety conscious, but just the same, there's comfort in the knowledge that the auto and airplane crashes which do occur may be robbed of some of their horrors.

THE HAPPY LANDLORD

(Omaha World-Herald) All landlords, apparently, are not the soursoups of poor jokes. In Cleveland, for example, there is a landlord, Henry N. Solomon, who loves children. Indeed, Mr. Solomon pays his apartment house tenants a bonus of $25 for every child born under his roof. For those occasional landlords who do qualify as soursoups, there is a lesson in the reason for Mr. Solomon's generosity. A news dispatch quotes him as saying that when he came to America from Europe, he had many doors slammed in his face because he and his wife had a small child. The experience did not embitter him. It merely made him resolve to treat people better if he ever owned an apartment house.

In these days of acute housing shortages, there is room for application of Mr. Solomon's philosophy. To turn a veteran away, for example, simply because he happens to have children, is inexcusable and, yes, un-American.

How Managed Economy Works.

(Omaha Journal-Stockman) Many housewives now spend most of their time in meat, bread and other lines almost begging for the necessities of life. Here is the actual experience of one housewife recently: Two hours and 45 minutes in the meat line (purchase, two pounds of ground meat, $1); one hour from store to store in search of sugar and toilet paper (purchase, nothing); 45 minutes in line for bread (purchase, 13-cent loaf); one hour 35 minutes in nylon line (sold out); two hours shopping for other scarce items (purchase, $1.50).

Adding up the day's shopping time it was found that more than eight hours were consumed to make a purchase of $2.63. This woman could earn 75 cents an hour if employed, and she can find employment almost anywhere. Value of time used in lines and traveling from store to store: $6. Total cost of the day to the family, $6 for time, plus $2.63 purchase, $8.63.

This is the way inflation is fought in this country. Multiply this experience by hundreds of thousands over the nation. While large numbers of women wait by the hour in lines before the stores of the big cities there actually is a shortage of workers in the factories that manufacture some of the scarce items.

The power lift that operates from the tractor exhaust is attached to the barrel to provide pressure in the barrel. A sprayer nozzle is attached at the rear end of the barrel and near the bottom so as to spray about one corn row width. Nissen plans to attach two or more nozzles to pipes leading to the barrel in order to increase the spraying capacity.

Convention Opens With Legion Ball

One of the feature attractions of the state American Legion convention to be held in Lincoln August 18 to 21 will be the commander's ball at the University of Nebraska coliseum Monday, August 19, with Henry Busse and his 19-piece orchestra supplying the music, according to an announcement made by E. J. Faulkner, general chairman of convention activities.

With an anticipated attendance of more than 25,000 Legionnaires from the 360 posts over the state, the ball has been limited to 3,000 couples. The 2,000 tickets reserved for outstate posts are now available. Posts should send orders immediately for the total number of tickets desired for their members in order to be sure to be able to attend this outstanding event.

Only Legionnaires are eligible to attend, and each person will be required to show a 1946 paid up Legion card together with admission ticket in order to participate. Perhaps the sweet muted music of Busse's trumpet is best remembered by middlewesterners during his many engagements at Chez Paree in Chicago, where the famous "Shuffle Rhythm" has held forth for many seasons. Featured singers with Busse this season are Dave Jenkins and a very sweet little canary, Betty Taylor.

Because of limited housing facilities, Legionnaires are urged to make their hotel reservations immediately if they have not already done so. Requests for reservations should be made direct to the hotel and not through the convention committee.

Geo. B. Cook, chairman of the housing committee, has suggested that outstate Legionnaires make contact with friends or relatives in Lincoln and arrange so far as possible to stay in private homes during the convention. "Every hotel facility in the city has been reserved for the Legion," said Cook, "but with the crowd we expect this will not be nearly adequate to house all those who wish to attend. We are asking Lincoln citizens to cooperate by opening their homes, but wherever possible Legionnaires should make definite arrangements for a place to stay in Lincoln before leaving home."

According to Cook, many posts have found it is very economical to charter a Pullman car which will be set on tracks in the railroad yards during the entire convention, simplifying the housing and transportation problem for the members of the post while in Lincoln.

Present plans call for an outstanding parade Tuesday, August 20, and the parade committee is awaiting word from many of the posts as to whether they will bring musical units for this event. All posts desiring to bring musical or parade units should communicate at once with Trev Gillaspie, c/o Woodmen Accident Co., so that plans may be completed for participation.

Unusual

The American Legion instituted its first all-women post at Philadelphia, but the women took the oath in civility. "We thought about wearing our uniforms," said Margaret M. Schafer, post chairman, "but for the sake of those who aren't the same size as they used to be, we decided on dresses."

Miss Grace Powers of Chicago, called a spade a spade, Miss Powers is director of the United Home Finding service. Commenting on the difficulty in finding foster homes for dependent children in the Chicago area, Miss Powers said: "Bridge-playing women fear the responsibility of caring for children would cut them out of their card playing."

The Junior Chamber of Commerce at Edinburg, Tex., is throwing a "lawn party" at the Hidalgo county courthouse, with a special reason. Those accepting invitations have been asked to bring lawnmowers, clippers and rakes. The courthouse lawn, it seems, is a bit shaggy.

Yell "red" around Police Sgt. John F. O'Connell's house and a crowd is sure to gather. Sgt. O'Connell, his wife and their eight children all have red hair. "When we're out in the car," says Sgt. O'Connell, "the other motorists look twice to make sure they're not seeing 10 stop lights."

When Mrs. Anna Lobl, former inmate of the Theresienstadt concentration camp in Czechoslovakia, arrived in New York, among the first words she learned were: "I am from Europe. Concentration camp. No stockings." By the time she reached Seattle she had seven pairs of stockings and a pound of butter. There was no explanation of how she got the butter.

Wayne Defeats Pierce Thursday

Pioneer Team Wins by 5-4
Count in 4th of July Game in Wayne.

Larry Retzlaff's home run with two on in the last of the 6th, bringing Wayne up to a 3-3 deadlock, provided the thrilling set-up which enabled his teammates to tally again later on, giving Wayne's Pioneer Nite League team a 5 to 4 margin over Pierce here last Thursday afternoon.

The largest crowd of the season was on hand to witness the special Fourth of July attraction. A number of Pierce followers were on hand to support their team.

Although Dickens, on the mound for Wayne, struck out only three opposing batters, he held the visitors to three safe blows, all of which helped bring in scores. Pierce's Johnson was nipped for 10 hits while whiffing seven.

Wayne opened the scoring in the bottom of the 3rd when Otto singled, advanced on Dickens' sacrifice, stole third, and scored on Benton's single.

Pierce came right back in the first of the 4th to push over three runs. Anderson singled and stole second. Ervin Retzlaff received a hard grounder to Larry Retzlaff, who muffed it, permitting two men to cross the plate and leaving the hitter safe at second. Delbert Otto singled, scoring Schwank.

The visitors ended their scoring in the 5th when Milton Retzlaff reached first on Otto's error, advanced on Johnson's sacrifice and

Wayne Topples Fremont Sunday

Two-Run Rally in Bottom of Ninth Gives Pioneer Team Thrilling 5 to 4 Victory.

The last half of the 9th inning, with two men out and the bottom of the batting order coming up, provided local baseball fans with the season's most thrilling climax here Sunday afternoon as Wayne's Pioneer League entry pushed over two scores to down the highly-favored Fremont nine by a 5-4 count.

Wayne jumped to a 3-0 advantage in the early innings of the game only to see the visitors score once in the top of the 8th and then come back in the first of the 9th for a three-run rally to take an important one-run lead.

After two scoreless innings, Wayne combined two hits and a walk in the last of the 3rd to score two runs after two were out. Benton reached first on a single and advanced when King received a base on balls. Both men scampered across the plate when Johnson sent a long triple down the right field foul line.

Page started the last of the 4th with a clean double to right, remained on second for two put-outs, and finally scored when Christensen threw wild to first on Van Auker's grounder to the pitcher.

For the next three innings only one man, Robert of Fremont, reached second base.

Petersen, second man up for Fremont in the top of the 8th, singled but was caught stealing second. Draemel followed with a clean double and crossed the plate on Robert's single.

Going into the first of the 9th, Haney was safe on Benton's error and moved to third on Moyer's double. L. Christensen wiffed for the first out. B. Christensen walked, filling the bases. Lauener struck out and things looked better for Wayne. But Fremont's Petersen sent a high fly to left field, Wayne's Peterson losing it in the sun, permitting three Fremonters to cross the plate. Draemel ended the rally by grounding to second.

Page, first up in Wayne's last chance, received a base on balls. Dickens went in as runner for Page. Peterson sacrificed, moving Dickens to second. Best grounded to the pitcher for the second out. Dickens going to third. Bahe was safe when Moyer, Fremont catcher, muffed the third strike and threw wild to first. On the play Dickens came in with the tying run. Lee Otto then proved himself the hero of the day by driving a clean double into right center, sending Bahe across the plate for the victory margin.

Bud Best, faced with his toughest assignment of the season, held the heavy Fremont hitters to three scattered blows for seven hard innings, but weakened under the strain in the last two frames. He allowed a total of seven hits and received seven strike outs. His teammates were equal to the occasion and turned in their best fielding display of the year.

L. Christensen held Wayne to five safeties, but each of these was instrumental in bringing in scores. He received five strike outs.

Farmers May Earn Payment on Crops

All Applications Are to Be Filed with Local AAA Committee Soon.

Farmers must notify the county AAA office if they desire to earn payments in addition to those approved prior to June 1. The application of sodium chlorate, harvest of alfalfa, alsike or red clover for seed, and the tillage of cropland for water conservation and weed control were not approved earlier. Any one who wishes to carry out one of these practices should request prior approval from the AAA committee.

The practices of building terraces and sod waterways, reseeding noncrop open pasture and construction of dams for livestock water can still be approved provided a farm plan was signed in 1946.

Harvesting alfalfa, alsike or red clover can be a payment of $3.50 per acre. Credit will not be given for more than 25 acres per farm. Additional poundage payments will be made on alfalfa, alsike and red clover on a clean seed basis when the seed is sold to a dealer before January 1, 1947. Rates of payment will be 7c per pound for alfalfa, 9c per pound for red clover, and 7c per pound for alsike. Payment on a poundage basis will not require prior approval of the county committee. A farmer can take advantage of this payment on a poundage basis even though he has not signed a farm plan.

Milestones of Progress

The Development of Wayne . . . The City Beautiful

The spirit of Wayne's far-seeing citizens is evidenced in the steady development of its municipal projects. As the city grew, the citizens of Wayne have asked for more adequate facilities to satisfy their educational, governmental, travel and entertainment needs, each time through a bond issue.

The city school, built more than 40 years ago, and more recently enlarged to accommodate Wayne's growing needs of its youth, is a monument to progress.

The city hall and fire station, built in 1911, has served this community for more than 35 years, and is a credit to the vision of our people.

The coming of the automobile, and more recently the airplane, gave rise to the need for paved streets and a modern airport. Wayne has more than eleven miles of paving, and an airport rated among the best in the state for a small city.

In the entertainment field, we have a fine auditorium, seating more than 1,500 people. Here are presented plays, musicales, banquets, dances, athletic contests, patriotic and religious services, to the delight of all in the whole north-east Nebraska area.

Now the citizens of Wayne are asking for extended recreational facilities in the completion of the Memorial Park. A special election has been called for August 6, when the people of Wayne may vote $35,000 for an improved park. We ask for your hearty support. A majority vote that day will favor continuance of proper growth and development.
