

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, JULY 25, 1946.

NUMBER ELEVEN

Consolidation Talk Persists—Retiring President—Restricting Diet—Offering "Honor" As Proof—Being Independent.

County consolidation talk has brought a suggestion from Dr. John P. Senning, University of Nebraska political scientist. He says if the number were cut in two, following the lines of unicameral districts, a saving of three million dollars annually in property taxes could be effected.

But fewer and larger county units may be a long way off. While Dr. Senning voices the opinion of many that consolidation would be practical and economical, he thinks sentimental reasons may long postpone realization. His comments:

"While the operation of county government has remained essentially unchanged since their creation, the inhabitants have shown an increasing tendency to disregard these arbitrary boundaries. School districts and soil conservation districts, both of which transcend county lines, are evidence of this trend.

"Despite this tendency, the possibility of consolidating the number of Nebraska counties appears to be remote. Nebraskans have a fierce pride in their counties. County government in Nebraska is still the chief center of political life for the average citizen, and the county courthouse a symbol of that belief."

After Thirty-nine Years.

Climaxing thirty-nine years' school teaching and supervision with a college presidency, it is enough to make a fellow want to retire, as those familiar with the tasks involved would conclude. Dr. J. T. Anderson started at the bottom in the educational field, and that is where anyone should start in anything he undertakes. And it is prima facie that he scored high in progressive steps, or he would not have been selected for the presidency of the college in Wayne.

Smoothing the way for an army of students of varied temperaments is an exacting responsibility. Maintaining high standards in education and behavior requires sound judgment and utmost courage. It is impossible to please everybody all the time impossible to escape barbs of criticism. Running a college is the only thing we can think of that is harder than running a newspaper.

Dr. Anderson has given the presidency undivided attention and unequalled support. His successor will find equipment and methods eminently suited for the job ahead. Dr. Anderson has won many warm friendships, and he will retire amidst numerous and cordial well wishes.

As to Dr. Anderson's successor, he should be a man who is not only qualified in education and temperament, but one who is thoroughly familiar with Nebraska schools, comments an educator who is interested only in strong, capable leadership.

Buyers Revolt.

High meat prices in Omaha over last week-end led usual consumers into talking their stomachs out of desire for meat, and as a consequence dealers soon developed a sizeable surplus. So many decided they could get along without meat that stocks grew and grew. The backed-up "We're just out!" was supplanted by an eagerness to sell. However, dealers had scrapped the barrel so long in serving the public that they expressed relief in seeing available stocks pile up.

Russia's Honor, Bah!

A radio news commentator recently reported that Russian leaders backed up what they were pledging on "their honor." And "on their honor" would not mean a darned thing to persons who have followed Russia's maneuvering in diplomacy during the past year.

Earning One's Way.

Citizen pride and self-reliance suggest not wanting something another has earned. Citizen peace of mind suggests getting ahead on the strength of individual effort—an honest contribution to service—a fair return on an investment of muscle and brains. One cannot feel just right if he gains through cunning, or receives without giving. The social order involves reciprocal relationships, and if one is on the alert merely to profit by another's toil or genius, he rates as a parasite, and that is bad.

Each will have opportunity to learn the fundamentals of baseball and to join in wholesome sports. Some inter-team competition will be arranged later. The program is a father and son movement to keep the boys busy in worthwhile play that will teach them baseball and also good sportsmanship.

Fritz Dimmel of Winside, who has been secured as manager and director of the organization, will divide the boys into age and size groups. This will furnish competition among those of equal size and age, protect younger folks and give more personal attention. Any boys between 8 and 13 who have not yet joined the league are invited to do so.

The boys will spend two hours each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at the local ball park. Mr. Dimmel will be in charge of their training and he will be assisted by P. Pace and Geo. King.

Fathers of the boys met last Wednesday evening to discuss the project. They collected $166 at that time for necessary expenses. On a committee named to solicit funds for the team are Prof. W. A. Wollenhaupt, chairman and secretary, Robert Johnson, Burr Davis, Ray Ellis, Carl Nuss and Ed. Bahr.

TAG AUGUST 6 AS DAY TO VOTE FOR PARK IMPROVEMENT

THE bond proposition for improving Memorial park will be decided at a special election August 6. Voters are urged to remember the time and be on hand to cast their ballots. The park promises to serve as a recreational center for north-east Nebraska. Families who come for rest and recreation will benefit the town as well as themselves. The park will be a contribution to the physical and moral strength of young persons. Its recreational facilities will fashion fine character. Future citizens will need every possible ounce of stability. The park will be a signal help. It will emphasize the wholesome, strengthen resistance to evil temptations. The park will do for Wayne and the surrounding area what similar enterprises have done for other live communities. Looking ahead, no one is justified in being against it.

Recreation Park To Be Memorial

Residents to Vote August 6 On Issue of Bonds for Improving Site.

Development of the 60-acre tract a mile north of Wayne into a public recreation center as a memorial to World War veterans was promised a year last March after 80 public-spirited citizens donated funds to purchase the site which was decided by the city. In addition to receiving the land, the city was given the County club house and equipment valued at $2,000.

At suggestion of the Women's club, the Chamber of Commerce called together representatives of various organizations and it was decided that the plot be named Memorial park and that it be dedicated to all who served in the war. It was also decided that trees be planted as living memorials, each with a permanent marker bearing the name of one who served. More than 600 trees have been planted and all are growing around the park. Money is on hand for others which will be placed as soon as permanent plans for the park development are approved.

The golf course has been laid out by experts and has been seeded. Income from crops has eliminated any expense to the city.

The present need is for funds for providing other recreation facilities at the park. It is the aim that old and young from every home may enjoy the rest and fellowship afforded at such a center. And it is fitting that this park be dedicated to veterans who sacrificed much so that Americans might have these simple, worthwhile privileges.

Residents of Wayne will vote Tuesday, August 6, on issuing $25,000 in bonds to make this tribute to war personnel a reality.

Family Located in Germany After Hard Journey on Ocean

The terribly crowded conditions on ships taking families of Americans to Germany is described in letters written by Mrs. Wayne Walters to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Fuessler. Capt. and Mrs. Walters' little son, David, was ill with double pneumonia on the boat but has now recovered and the family is nicely located in Germany.

Just after the ship docked, Mrs. Walters placed a call to her husband and wrote while waiting for this to go through. The American army lines in the occupied zone are available free to families of army personnel.

The boat on which Mrs. Walters and son were to go sailed June 3 from New York. As the boat had 75 children under six years of age, a number had to wait for a sister ship. Mrs. Walters and son sailed June 7 on a boat carrying 187 children. In the small cabin in which the Wayne folks were quartered were three mothers and four children. Some rooms had 17 women and 16 children, and one had 30 mothers and children.

Mrs. Walters writes that the ship was so packed that it was almost impossible to get to any baggage. After the second day out, water was turned on only three times a day. Mrs. Walters fed David in the children's room and she missed her own breakfast so as to give him a bath. There were no port holes to allow fresh air and no fans were available. Air conditioning did not function and if it did go on, people would likely be struck with a blast of hot air and

Meaning of Flag Noted by Speaker

Dr. Gregory Rosemont Gives Message to Kiwanians At Monday Meeting.

"The Heritage of the Past for the Guidance of Today" is the subject of the address given for Kiwanians Monday by Dr. V. Gregory Rosemont, instructor in education this summer at Wayne college.

Dr. Rosemont, who was introduced by H. E. Loy, mentioned that the present is the time for serious thinking. Business men, teachers and others as leaders today will take steps which will determine the future. "We are now enjoying the wise choices of forefathers and paying for their mistakes," the speaker noted. One should be careful in selecting ideals, not choosing incidentals for essentials. Major issues should be the aim.

The reason that America is a magnet, attracting people from all the world, is that this nation's ideals are most outstanding. Dr. Rosemont, who is an American by adoption, finds that this nation's flag means much to him and it serves as a great inspiration. Democratic ideals are represented in the flag.

Red of the flag stands for sacrifice and courage. Forcathers showed these qualities in establishing this great nation. Courage permeates American ideals like the theme of a great opera, the speaker stated. American history proves that the men of this nation have faced wars, disasters and other trials with exceptional courage.

Dr. Rosemont complimented vel-

City of Portland Being Modernized

H. E. Mason of Portland, Ore., former Wayne resident, sent the Herald a copy of the Portland Journal which describes how the Journal plans to expand and improve its facilities. Mr. Mason states that this improvement is typical of many other projects in and around Portland which are planned. He says that "the old-timers are amazed. The defense workers have changed conditions; banks are loaded with money; new needs have developed and the dream of a nice, quiet, non-industrial city has vanished. Streets are too narrow; housing and office accommodations are not nearly adequate. Columbia river power will be cheaper than ever with the new dams completed. Housing projects are being developed. Vacant lots and acreages are being improved and two extensive home building corporations are at work, one on 2,000 homes and another on 1,200, the latter being Kaisers."

THE KNOT-HOLE

Vol. 8 Wayne, Neb., Thurs., July 25, 1946 No. 20

"How far is it to the next filling station?" the driver asked a farmer.

"Nigh onto two miles as the crow flies."

"Well, how far is it if the crow had to walk and roll a flat tire?"

There is nothing quite as comfortable as a house that is always at the same temperature, regardless of the weather outside.

You can have just that with a Will-Burt stoker. Every time the temperature goes down one degree your Will-Burt automatically starts up and keeps a constant temperature in your house.

Investigate the real advantages of stoker heat. Come in and let us show you the Will-Burt stoker.

Autos and trucks can now run on fuel made from wood. You may yet drive into a gas station and say, "Saw me off five gallons, please."

When you have a stoker in your furnace, your fire never goes out, nor are there any wide variations in temperature. The stoker timer keeps fire no matter how warm the weather may be while the thermostat keeps it from getting either too warm or too cool. Get the best in heat—stoker heat. Get the best in stokers—the Will-Burt.

Conductor: "Your fare, young lady." Young Lady: "You're nice looking yourself." P. S. She rode for free.

A stoker is very economical. To begin with, stoker coal is cheaper than the same kind of coal in other sizes. Get, too, a stoker gets the most heat out of the same coal than you can get by hand firing as it burns the volatile part of the coal that ordinarily forms soot and smoke. No wonder people think stoker heat is the cheapest kind of heat. It is!

A scientist says the mosquito can fly for fourteen hours without landing. The trick is to get them to do it.

The Will-Burt stoker costs you only $162.50 complete with all controls—not installed. If you do not want to install it yourself, we can arrange to have someone do it for you. Stop in today and look over the Will-Burt stoker. Get the best in heat and be more comfortable this next winter than you have ever been before.

When a gal is sixteen she's sweet and good looking. When she's twenty-five she has wrinkles. When she's thirty she has gray hair. When she's thirty-five she turns blonde and starts all over again.

Reaching the Source

THE New York Herald-Tribune comments on the policy of San Francisco courts in fastening responsibility on parents for child delinquency. The courts believe they are making headway by treating the trouble at its source. The Herald-Tribune says in part:

"The judges may order parents whose children are brought to court to attend a series of classes at the center. There informal lectures develop the philosophy of parental responsibility for children's habits and morals. The relations between parent and child are discussed and methods of dealing with children's personality quirks suggested. Instructors list city health, recreation and welfare facilities to which families may turn for aid."

"Most parents attend willingly; but absences are checked and must be made up before they are graduated and the family's case dismissed by the court. Occasionally the routine is varied for a foreign-born parent who may be sent to Americanization classes to learn the language and familiarize himself with American customs and ideals."

"The plan has had a high degree of success measured in the improved behavior of children from families referred to the guidance center and in a reduction of youthful lawlessness in the city. This strikes us as a sensible approach to an age-old problem and a decidedly practical supplemental plan for meeting the current wave of juvenile delinquency."

People Are Sane Enough

THE Saturday Evening Post strikes at commentators who pretend to know everything, but really know little for sure. People's votes give suspicion of isolationism, whereas in truth they are dissatisfied with faulty leadership and want to get rid of shacking and interfering bureaucracy. The Post concludes:

"What it comes down to is that most people want to liquidate the war and give peace and recovery a chance. They do not understand the news from Europe which suggests that we are ignorantly promoting a kind of class warfare that we repudiate at home. They are wearying of the idea that no enterprise must be undertaken until a thousand bureaucrats have conferred about it and killed it with priority orders and directives. They do not see how recovery can start until somebody in authority gives the word to 'let her roll.'"

"This may be all wrong, and the people may be as bad and reactionary-isolationist as the fluttering commentators fear they are. But if you want a guess, it is ours that the Century of the Common Man hasn't yet liquidated common sense."

Ruthless Russia

MR. BULLITT'S book, "The Great Globe Itself," as condensed in the Reader's Digest, shows the ruthlessness of Russia's rulers through the centuries. They cultivated elements of fear, terrorized defenseless subjects and killed without reason or regret.

The record shows little if any improvement under Stalin in humanitarian qualities. Evidently the soviet union wants to sovietize the rest of the world. It accepts help from the United States while trying to knife this country's form of government. Russia needs watching with sharp eyes of suspicion. But it should hesitate to draw this country into armed conflict before it ceases to be well prepared. It may have to be put where it belongs before it will consent to leave the United States and other nations alone.

Notwithstanding that Senator Burton K. Wheeler has been a pronounced isolationist, in conflict with President Truman's international policy, the latter endorsed him in the late Montana primary. If the president had had the courage to withhold his endorsement, he would have shown more of a semblance of consistency. If the Montana senator had been successful the president would still be inconsistent. Anyway, endorsements from outsiders, even a president, do not seem to help, even if they do not hurt.

The proposed constitutional amendment in Nebraska to reduce the power of labor union radicals in this state promises to receive large endorsement. Labor leaders have gone too far in trying to control the government and curtail people's just rights. The amendment to be voted on in November will, if successful, trim the sails of a group that is boldly attempting to run everybody and everything. The amendment will serve in the direction of permitting people to work without restrictions or interference.

It is a popular fashion to have night baseball games, but in order to have them fields must be well lighted. Most towns in the league to which Wayne belongs have lighted grounds and stage games at night. The result is said to be increased attendance. Wayne has been moving in the direction of due lights, but so far they have not been provided. If night games are an advantage, as believed, it would seem obstacles in the way of realization here should be kicked aside. Cost would be small.

Cutting out OPA ceilings and removing subsidies have increased some prices and left others undisturbed. Where prices have gone far beyond reason, consumers have quietly reduced consumption and taken the enthusiasm out of prospect for large profits. Many contend that buyers will regulate prices, and if so, the stopping of bureaucratic control affords large and satisfying compensation.

E. W. Rossiter, president of the Bank of Hartington, is rather despairing in his note of warning over waste and bungling in Washington. But he has reason to take heart in the coming elections. The clean-up will start November next, and it will be finished in 1948. Once aroused, the people of this country usually correct their previous mistakes.

Columnist Louis Bromfield stigmatizes New York City as the center of communist and other alien influences. Of course, New York City overflows with foreigners who came here to get away from injustice and intolerance, but who, ignorant and shortsighted, would impose on America what they managed to escape abroad.

Firm talk appears to be the only kind that moves Russia in the direction of sense and compromise. Apparently Russians do not understand until they have been given a swift diplomatic kick.

Numerous little countries are helping keep the world in a turmoil. As each one bobs up to raise the devil, it should be cooled off with a dash from the municipal hose.

MIDGET PLAYERS.

Another healthy development for Wayne's youngsters is seen in the organization of so-called "midget baseball players." Drawn into learning and enjoying the game, young boys are drawn away from loafing and mischief. They learn good sportsmanship, learn to be good losers, learn to treat fellows fairly and squarely. They also develop sound muscles and quick wits. We understand eighty lads, with the active cooperation of their fathers, are now enrolled in the local organization. The more, the better. The more boys who join the midget movement and are benefited by it, the greater will be the advantages to the rising generation and to the community generally. The midget organization to develop wholesome recreation looks like a genuine public benefit.

Carolyn Motter of Fremont, Mrs. Lillian A. Elliot of West Point, 1st Lt. Stanley H. Frost of Newman Grove and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mapes of Norfolk have visited the Third district office in the past week.

Father Jonitis, formerly of Stanton, now known as the "Desert Priest" of Tucson, Ariz., has been in Washington visiting relatives. He was prominent in American Legion circles in Nebraska.

The congress has passed two bills authorizing the coinage of fifty cent pieces—one in honor of Booker T. Washington and the other commemorating the 100th anniversary of the admission of Iowa to statehood. These coins will sell at a premium and the proceeds will be used to advance the interest of the colored race in one case, and in the other, to help in programs appropriate to the Iowa anniversary.

The 79th congress may adjourn around the first of August according to present predictions. Leaders believe that important business will be completed by that time. If something develops during the period between adjournment and January third, a special session can be called by the president.

The bill to reorganize and streamline congress is controversial at so many points that it is predicted the bill may not pass during this session. Most Nebraska members oppose the provision for increased salary and retirement benefits for congressmen.

Charwomen who clean congressional offices get ninety cents an hour. They used to get fifty cents an hour. Most of them go to work at 5 in the morning and quit at 8 a.m. and have time to appear on time for another job. Some of them make more money per day than their husbands.

Poland. Orders are also being accepted for the American occupation zone of Germany, except for the American sector of Berlin. It is anticipated that orders may soon also be accepted for Belgium and the French occupied zone of Germany.

Chris Abbott of Hyannis has been in Washington buying airplanes for the Prairie States Aviation Company. The company is said to do intrastate business in Nebraska, running three of four planes daily between Omaha and Scottsbluff, and is bidding for government mail contracts.

Great Britain's balance sheet with Uncle Sam shows $390,000,000 RFC loan; $3,750,000,000 trade loan; $25,000,000,000 lend-lease; $6,000,000,000 surplus property; $6,000,000,000 First World War debt. Her credits in the United States are reported to aggregate $300,000,000.

A number of ways and means committee members, both democrats and republicans, voted against the British loan. One reason is this committee must write another tax bill. These members predict higher income taxes and at least ten million new taxpayers on the rolls.

Uncle Sam runs a refugee camp in Mexico. More than 1,500 Poles who ran away from the communists are being fed and housed in the camp at American taxpayers' expense. Liquidation of the camp is planned, but the Poles don't know where to go. Most of them want to come to the United States. Only nine said they would go back to Poland.

Four hundred million dollars have been appropriated to help relief and rehabilitation work in enemy occupied countries. The money is being spent by the army. About thirteen million dollars of this amount are being used to make fertilizer in American plants that formerly made bombs and other munitions of war. Most of this fertilizer goes to Japan and Germany. Some of it is made in Nebraska. The army figures it is cheaper to send fertilizer to help grow food in those countries than it is to send all of the food.

The agriculture department said retail meat prices would be likely to get the down by fall to an average of 15 to 20 percent above former OPA ceilings if price controls are not re-established. Critics of the OPA have contended that black market prices of meats were in many cases as much as 50 per cent above ceilings in effect before the price agency expired June 30. Tending to bring prices down would be the increased marketings of cattle and hogs in the fall which normally reach a peak then.

In a report on the food supply situation, the department said also that suspended price controls would probably result in changes in the distribution of meats—from non-federally inspected plants to larger federally-inspected slaughterers, and from lower income families to higher income families.

One of the chief criticisms leveled at price controls on meat has been the contention that controls encouraged the diversion of meat animals from legitimate slaughterers to black market killers. The department said that if "uncertainties over price ceiling are cleared up, marketings of live stock and meats will be restored to a more nearly normal pattern" and that per capita supplies will again be large compared with pre-war averages but much less than demand.

Meantime the republican congressional food study committee issued a statement predicting that consumer meat supplies will be "plentiful" by the end of this week, with prices "about five cents above previous ceilings." The committee also saw a brighter outlook for milk and butter supplies, with "adequate supplies" of milk at retail price increases of 1 to 3 cents a quart, and "more butter" selling for about 15 to 19 cents above previous ceilings.

Elsewhere on the food front, the committee predicted: Fresh vegetables and fruits: Lower prices than under OPA, with far greater price allowances for quality.

Canned goods: No increase in price except to compensate for removal of subsidies. "With prospects of even lower prices soon on some items."

Bread: More bread on shelves as soon as wheat can be milled, at prices one to two cents a loaf higher.

The committee said its analysis was based on data obtained from the department of agriculture and food industry organizations.

A record corn crop and near record crops of wheat, oats, potatoes and rice were indicated by a government report which said this year's farm production outlook has seldom been surpassing. The condition of all crops on July 1 was the best in seven years except for 1942. The combined acreage of all crops has been exceeded since 1932 only in the last three years. Further, the indicated yields per acre of most crops are above average. The department said the production of feed grains may be the largest on record.

The United States Commercial Co., federal purchasing and sales agency, said 5370 bales of Japanese raw silk will be sold on the American market within a few days. The sale will constitute the first marketing of Japanese raw silk in the United States since before the outbreak of the Pacific war. The United States Commercial Co. said that late in June it had prepared a catalogue of the silk to be sold, now being classified by the United States Testing Co., Hoboken, N. J., had notified the trade and received sealed bids which were opened by the federal agency July 1. A Commercial Co. spokesman said awards to the successful bidders were expected to be announced soon. He would give no indication of the prices offered nor of those accepted. The sale of this first lot of Japanese silk, upward of 700,000 pounds, is in conformance with a policy announced by the United States Commercial Co. last April under which it undertook to import 10,000 bales of Japanese silk monthly for one year.

(Sioux City Journal) The Russians now wish to bar the Canadians from discussion of the question of control of the atomic bomb. First, thing we know they'll be wanting to take the matter out of our hands as well. The Canadians were associated with us in working out the problem of releasing atomic energy and employing it as a weapon. It would seem that they had a perfect right to enter into a discussion of what to do with it.

MIHAILOVIC.

Death of Gen. Draja Mihailovic before a firing squad at the instance of his Yugoslavia rival, Premier Tito, was accepted in many quarters as a terrible injustice. An Omaha man of Serbian birth expressed horror over railroading Mihailovic to his death. A look at the picture of the dead man helps convince one of his innocence of treason charges. The Sioux City Journal corroborates our reaction by a denunciation of Tito's brand of shame on the Yugoslav government. It summarizes in part: "Gen. Mihailovic did not have a fair trial. Justice was not done, even if he had been guilty as charged. The spirit of democracy always has demanded that every individual shall have his day in court. Had there been a disposition on the part of this patriot's persecutors to seek the truth and present it at the military trial they would have heard a group of United States army air corps men who were shot down in Yugoslavia by the Germans and whose lives were saved by the Chetniks under Gen. Mihailovic's command. They were eager to appear as witnesses, our state department requested that they be heard, but this was denied by order of Premier Tito who wanted his rival to die, shamed before his countrymen."
