STATE PRESIDENT—

the meeting. She asked that both sides of all issues be presented. Each branch has unique personality, and Mrs. Thies urged the development of this. She mentioned that the primary election race between Senator Hugh Butler and Gov. Dwight Griswold had attracted much notice in Washington. Other events in this state are drawing attention to Nebraska's individuality.

AAUW needs to build from the bottom up, recognizing individual talents and using them as the basis, Mrs. Thies stated. Christ recognized the individual when He said, "The kingdom of God is within you."

Personalities are most interesting to observe, Mrs. Thies found. She described various ones at the convention as Mrs. Eager Beaver, Mrs. Steamroller and Mrs. Ultimate.

The speaker thinks that the fellowship alone justifies AAUW. In Washington she heard young women from Norway and Holland who had been brought here by AAUW to complete doctor's degrees. Each had helped in the underground and had other distinctions.

Mrs. Thies presented a plan to represent each chapter with a special display at the national meeting in Dallas, Tex., next April.

Miss Ruth Paden presented the speaker. Miss Paden is state chairman and plans to meet with Mrs. Thies and others in Grand Island next Saturday for a board session.

YWCA held a candlelight recognition service for all members Wednesday, October 23. Margaret Macklin, Jean Peters and Virginia Harms participated in the service. Connie Johnson assisted at the piano. Former Wayne Educator Writes

Early in the century, later teaching history and government in the Chadron college, writes the Omaha World-Herald in opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment to raise $8,000,000 for school purposes. He thinks passage of the amendment would be a "long step in the direction of centralized control."

Mr. Wilson says "if funds for the support of public schools are supplied primarily through local taxation local controls will exist. If a large part of these funds is furnished by the state, a large part of the control of these schools will be exercised by the state."

"But the restless forces that constantly antagonize constitutional democracy are at work on every hand. Now education is not merely an intellectual commodity to be dispensed. The educational process under normal conditions is vibrant with life and one phase of that life should consist of those elements that have been the essence of what has given vitality to the American people as a nation."

"If in years to come our schools are to fulfill the great purpose for which they exist they must remain in essential ways neighborhood, or community institutions with an intimate and cordial relationship existing between them and the taxpayers and the parents."

"One of the reasons why the proposed amendment should be voted down is because its implications point directly to school conditions essentially different in some respects from those just mentioned. We do not want to open the door for the development of a bureaucratic school system."

Mirrors are no doubt useful in finding and removing defects, but they are often over-worked. The vain young man and woman consult it frequently to see if they still look all right, or if touches could be applied here and there to effect improvement. An older glances into a mirror as he passes to bolster his opinion that he is really not aging in appearance as years would suggest. To some a look into a mirror is humiliating. It reveals too many furrows. Mirrors should not be abolished, but they should not be too conveniently placed.

President Truman did well in trying to quiet war fears. He says they have been exaggerated. Russia's conduct appears bellicose at times, modified at other times by the firm policy of the state department. We think the soviet union will not go far in the direction of war if it understands, as it doubtless does, the force of which the United States is capable. Prospect of power of arms is about the only argument Russia's leaders understand.

Victory for the proposed constitutional amendment to limit the power of labor union leadership in Nebraska will justly resent obstructive strikes that have swept the nation. It will serve notice on the world that this state will guarantee the right to work without the permission of any organized group. Union bellwethers have gone too far in making demands. They need the checking influence proposed in Nebraska.

Life magazine joins other prophets in seeing victories for republicans in the forthcoming congressional elections, and adds that, according to tradition, such successes mean success for the same political party in the presidential election two years hence. But Life warns that rare statesmanship will be required to get the country out of a bad economic pickle and on a foundation for healthy and lasting recovery.

John L. Lewis, coal czar, has dug out what he thinks is a reason to justify a widespread strike threat. On the verge of winter, a fuel shortage would come at a time when the public would suffer most. It is hoped a law with sufficient teeth may be found to head off the burly boss' plan. A prolonged coal strike would tie up many industries and stop essential production.

Senator Hugh Butler, Congressman Karl Stefan and Val Peterson for governor have repeatedly evidenced their firm stand for genuine Americanism and their unflagging zeal in behalf of the welfare of Nebraska. Wayne county voters will serve themselves best by joining other counties in piling up an overwhelming majority for each one of them.

When times are flush and plenty of money is available for travel, El Dorados appear and are often sought. Pastures are no greener elsewhere, but distance lends enchantment and uneasy persons with extra cash want to find out, and they usually do.

Children are wonderfully imitative, and if they are told the right things and are afforded right examples, they will behave wholesomely. They learn by imitating their elders, and thus heavy responsibility rests on the latter.

Handling ceiling prices on meats and other food products is transferred from OPA to the buying public. The latter is making headway in restoring the old reliable law of supply and demand.

The public was saved from gruesome pictures of the executed nazi criminals. The masses are in need of something more conducive to mental health.

APING DIOCLETIAN.

The Norfolk Daily News says the Roman empire had something similar to the OPA in 300 A. D., and in time it blew up as it is now blowing up. Emperor Diocletian was on the throne, and he put into practice a lot of fantastic schemes. He wrecked American economics under the new deal. Diocletian failed in trying to defeat the law of supply and demand. The News' comments: "Diocletian had other interesting plans of which our new deal seems a reflection. He put on an extensive building program, to give work to the idle, distributed corn to the people with lavish hand, and set in motion the forces of inflation which he tried afterward to check by his scheme to abolish the law of supply and demand. He had his troubles, his Tafts and Wherrys who said it wouldn't work and it didn't, though he tried to enforce it with severe punishment of violators."

BRIDE'S GOWN.

The Saturday Evening Post has discovered through the experience of a Rugby, North Dakota, newspaper the indispensability of a detailed description of a bride's gown. How members of a wedding party are dressed for the ceremony seems trivial to many, but as revealed, it is important to principals and to many friends. "Some editors," says the Post, "have even timidly thought about reforming the society news by leaving out any mention of the bridal garb." But the North Dakota editor says it won't work. He explains: "Some time ago our society editor talked me into the idea that we should have wedding accounts without all the fadful of who wore what. With some misgivings, I consented. But beginning this week we are again doing them as of old. My sincere apologies to all the gals who got married during the blackout. Clothes are important to women, and certainly what they wear on their wedding day is doubly so."

Wedding Service Is Held Sunday

Miss Ardyce Mittelstaedt Is Bride of W. M. Wright At Local Church.

Miss Ardyce Mittelstaedt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C.

Mittelstaedt, and Mervin F. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wright of Norfolk, were united in marriage Sunday evening at Trinity Lutheran church with Rev. W. F. Sprengler officiating at the double-ring ceremony.

Miss Irma Zimmerman of Stanton, played the wedding marches and accompanied Miss Donna Bruggeman and Mrs. Wayne Pho-mas who sang "The Lord is my Shepherd" and "Oh Perfect Love." The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in the gown worn by her maternal grandmother at her marriage October 27, 1898. The dress, designed and made by the bride of 48 years ago, was made of white organdy fashioned with a fitted basque high neckline, leg-o-mutton sleeves, a flounce on the hemline of the full gathered skirt which ended in a slight train. Her fingertip veil, edged with lace, ended in a long train. It was held in place by a beaded tiara. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and carried a white handkerchief which was carried by her grandmother at her marriage. She wore a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. George Crosley of Omaha, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She was dressed in white dotted Swiss formal and carried a colonial bouquet of blue and white baby mums.

Miss Jeanette Mittelstaedt, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Mrs. Chas. Kanter, jr., of Pierce, served as bridesmaid. Each wore formal white organdy made with sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. They carried colonial bouquets of blue and white baby mums.

Miss Wilma Schultz and Miss Ruth Timperley of Norfolk, lighted the candles. Both wore formal of blue handkerchief linen made with short sleeves and sweetheart necklines. Their corsages were pink carnations.

Chas. Kanter, jr., of Pierce, and Edgar Lecker of Norfolk, served as ushers. Miss Donna Bruggeman was in charge of the church register and the guest book. She wore a blue formal and a corsage of pink carnations.

George J. Reeg of Madison attended the bridegroom.

Miss Marlene Gutzman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gutzman of Norfolk, served as flower girl. She wore a white organdy formal made like that of the bride. She carried a basket of white and blue mums and white daisies. Gary Asmus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Asmus, carried the rings in a white pompon. He wore a white gabardine suit and boutonniere of white baby mums.

The bride attended parochial and public school and was graduated as valedictorian in 1944. She attended Norfolk Junior college. She has been employed the past 18 months by a wholesale firm in Norfolk.

The bridegroom was graduated from Battle Creek high school and served with the armed forces. He was overseas a year and received an honorable discharge in January. He is employed by a wholesale company in Norfolk.

The couple left for a short trip. The bride's going-away costume was a medium blue suit with black accessories. She wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Gives Instruction To Club Leaders

Lesson on Christmas Plans
Is Conducted Thursday
By Mrs. Ella Cram.

"If you drive tomorrow depends on how you drive today," is the warning given by Sgt. O. H. Witt of the Nebraska highway patrol, who addressed Wayne Women's club Friday afternoon in the club rooms.

Sgt. Witt opened his message by complimenting the women on planning a safety program for he feels that such meetings help promote the care that is so important on highways. The traffic problem is a big and important one, Sgt. Witt explained, stating that traffic fatalities are increasing in all states. Nebraska has had a 41 per cent increase in traffic deaths over last year. At the present rate of increase, stated Sgt. Witt, a year's traffic toll will take the lives of as many people as live in the city of New Orleans and will result in injuries to as many as reside in Detroit. It will be as though all people west of the Rockies were sent to hospitals in one year, if the rate continues for five years.

What is the cause of the increase of traffic accidents? Sgt. Witt explained that most of them depend upon the one behind the wheel. It is mainly carelessness.

The officer told that all accidents in which damage amounts to $50 or more must be reported to the state for investigation.

Carelessness of drivers is first all due to speed. Many excel the limit and do so on roads that are often poor. The second cause is that too many drivers use the wrong side of the road. The third cause is that the one at the wheel is under the influence of alcohol. This cause has diminished from fifth to third place in a short time.

Sgt. Witt told that a meeting is planned at Lincoln this week to consider allowing patrolmen to give chemical tests for intoxication at the scene of the accident so that evidence will be more complete.

The fourth chief cause of accidents is failure to observe signs.

The remedy is to follow the three E's—education, engineering and enforcement. Schools have safety programs in grades but this instruction is lacking in high school where students do the actual driving.

Nebraska has 88 highway patrolmen with 50 on the road and others in offices, radio work and drivers' license services. "Most states have larger forces. We are spending pennies for prevention and losing dollars in accidents," stated Sgt. Witt.

The officer showed a motion picture, "Teach Them to Drive," which he recommends for all students and drivers.

Mrs. R. B. Standley presented the speaker.

Miss Marilyn Standley sang "Obstination" by H. de Fontenailles, and "Leave Me in Sorrow," by G. F. Handel. Miss MariBelle James was accompanist.

On the serving committee were Mrs. Don Wightman, Mrs. Eva Ash, Mrs. A. J. Atkins, Mrs. James Allen, Mrs. F. L. Blair, Mrs. J. O. Bridgman, Mrs. G. L. Campbell, Mrs. H. J. Feller, Mrs. H. B. Jones, Mrs. J. G. Miller and Mrs. R. M. Carbart.

The Wayne county leaders' training meeting on the Christmas buffet meal was held at Winside M. E. church parlors last Thursday with 31 leaders and other members attending. Mrs. Ella Cram, state extension agent from Tekamah, gave the lesson. The leaders were given suggestions and assistance in preparing an attractive and delicious meal for special occasions. The suggestions were used in the buffet meal held at the noon hour by the leaders. Leaders were furnished recipes for dishes which were prepared and served at their own training meeting conducted by Mrs. Cram. They will later give a demonstration on the buffet meal to their own club members and in most cases assist in the actual serving of the meal.

Mrs. Cram discussed and gave instructions on how to make holiday table decorations and holiday food gifts. The leaders also received recipes on spaghetti casserole and gingerbread. The seven basic foods for a balanced diet were discussed with an illustrated pamphlet.

Happy Workers club, a project club before the war, was represented at the training meeting, and the women plan to re-enroll for the coming year. The club members had been doing Red Cross work during the war. This club has 24 members living in the neighborhood 15 miles west of Wayne on or near highway 98.

The next leaders' training meeting will probably be held January 16. The demonstration on family economics will be given by Mrs. Cram. This lesson will involve a study of family legal problems that are common to the average rural and urban families. The leaders will secure enough material for two club meetings. They will receive some instructions in preparing certain legal documents or forms.

A fourth leaders' training meeting will be held the latter part of March at which time the demonstrations on kitchen improvements will be given.

Former project clubs, new clubs of seven or more women or other organized women's clubs desiring to participate in the project work in order to secure the above demonstrations should call or write County Agent Walter R. Harder or the county chairman, Mrs. Lloyd Behmer, Hoskins. Additional information may also be secured from any project club president or the project club members themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Brown and family of Smithland, Ia., and Mr. and Mrs. Clair Theophilus of Carroll, were Sunday dinner guests in the Dave Theophilus home.

guests of the BPW club November 12.

The next regular club meeting is November 15 at 8 p. m. when faculties of the college and city schools, ministers and wives, BPW members, AAUW and husbands of Women's club members will be guests. Silas G. Kessler of the First Presbyterian church, Hastings, will speak.

A wedding was solemnized Sunday, October 27, when Miss Virginia Troutman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clint Troutman, and Leo Nelson, son of Mrs. Bertha Nelson, were united in marriage. The date made the wedding anniversary of the bride's parents. The ceremony took place at 2:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Troutman. Rev. A. E. Fowler of Norfolk and Rev. Mrs. C. T. Dillon, pastor of Winside Methodist church, officiated in the presence of 70 guests, using the double-ring ceremony. Sacred music was played softly during the ceremony by Miss Shirley Christofferson of Norfolk, cousin of the bride.

At the opening strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin," the ministers took their places before the improvised arch which was banked on each side by ferns and baskets of chrysanthemums.

The bride and bridegroom were preceded by their attendants, Mrs. Max Lamson of Laurel, sister of the bride, and Nels Nelson, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride was attired in a brown wool crepe suit with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of pink carnations. Her matron of honor wore a lime colored suit with yellow accessories and a corsage of yellow mums.

The bridegroom wore a brown pin-stripe suit and the best man wore an Oxford grey suit. Each had a white boutonniere.

After the ceremony, Mendelssohn's recessional was played while the bride and bridegroom received congratulations.

The bride's mother wore a black gablet suit with a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception was held after the ceremony. Refreshments were served from a table carrying out the bride's chosen colors of pink and white. The table was centered with a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake which was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom ornament. Lighted white tapers tied with pink and white tulle completed the decorations.

A MESSAGE OF INTEREST

to all who await deliveries of new Chevrolets

We want you to know that everything possible is being done to speed deliveries to you; but production still lags far behind schedule—even though Chevrolet has built more cars and trucks than any other manufacturer from January through September 1946

WE REALIZE how eagerly you are awaiting delivery of the new Chevrolet you have ordered from us, and we want to pass on to you the latest information received from the Chevrolet Motor Division, even though that information isn't too encouraging at this time.

It is true that Chevrolet leads all other manufacturers in total production of passenger cars and trucks from January through September 1946, despite the fact that Chevrolet was out of production entirely during the first three months of this year. It is also true that Chevrolet has continued to maintain its lead in total production during the third quarter of 1946. And yet production is still running far below desired levels, with the result that Chevrolet's output of cars and trucks through September 1946 was only 38.7% of the number produced during the corresponding period of 1941.

This means it may take many months for the Chevrolet Motor Division to reach peak production of new Chevrolets—even longer to fill the unprecedented demand for this product of BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST—and, for the present at least, "there just aren't enough Chevrolets to go around," much as we wish there were.

However, we want you to know that new Chevrolets are leaving the plants in the largest numbers possible today. The Chevrolet Motor Division tells us it is doing everything it can, in the face of continued suppliers' strikes, material shortages and manpower problems, to step up shipments to us and to all dealers, in accordance with a predetermined distribution plan assuring each dealer of his fair allotment, based on 1941 passenger car sales. And we, in turn, are doing our best to deliver new Chevrolets to our customers as rapidly as they are received and in the fairest possible way. We are too appreciative of your loyalty and goodwill—to too grateful for your patience and understanding—to do anything less than continue to serve you to the very best of our ability.

KEEP YOUR PRESENT CAR RUNNING

Meanwhile, the most important car of all to you is the car you are driving now. May we suggest that you keep it in top running condition until you secure delivery of your new Chevrolet, by bringing it to us for skilled service now and at regular intervals. Remember—cold weather is hardest on old cars. Please see us for a complete check-up today... And, again, thank you!

REPORT TO THE 16TH LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT AS TO WHERE YOUR NEXT LEGISLATOR SHOULD BE CHOSEN FROM:

George Washington was not the father of children but he was the Father of His Country and he was a good Legislator.

He left his farm and went to war in his country's time of need.

That is the way he "helped pay his rent" for living in this great country of ours.

VOTERS: WHAT DO YOU THINK?

I have told you of our need for more Secondary or Farm-to-Market Roads;

I have told you of our need for a more adequate school system, and

I have told you that we need more Rural Electrification to help keep our boys and girls on the farm.

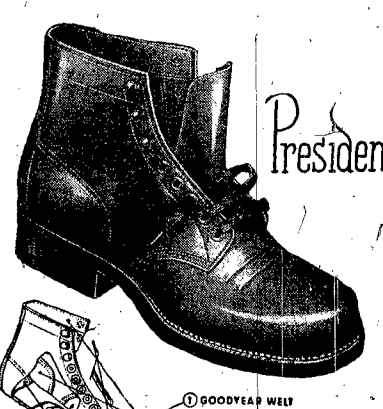

As your Legislator, I will work for all things that make for Good Government.

Tekamah Tigers Defeat Wayne

Wayne City School Resumes Monday After Vacation For Convention.

Tekamah's Tigers outlasted Wayne's Blue Devils Wednesday night at the college field to gain a 13-6 decision in a closely-played football game.

Tekamah threatened early in the first period but had two drives nullified by penalties. Meanwhile, Wayne capitalized on its only second period opportunity, recovering a Tekamah fumble and driving 30 yards to the one-yard line from which point Don Tietgen scored the touchdown. The conversion failed.

Tekamah tied the contest with a second quarter 60-yard sustained drive. Quarterback Bill Bolt scored on an end run with just ten seconds left in the half.

With a revamped line-up, the Wayne Hugh boys played courageous ball but could not halt the heavier Tekamah club. Halfback Quick scored the second Tiger touchdown on an off-tackle cut-back and Anderson converted to make the final count 13-6.

The young Blue Devils showed an improved game, giving promise of better things ahead. The sportsmanship displayed by the boys and the fans was again gratifying.

Library News

It isn't the speeches, fine as they may be, that make a good convention. It isn't the banquets, even if good food does help. It is the interchange of ideas by the people attending. Your librarian came back from the state meeting in Omaha, having heard many fine talks and having partaken of perhaps too much fine food, but the food for thought as a result of talking over mutual problems and methods of doing things in libraries of other towns should be of help in making our library a better one.

One of the ideas borrowed from another librarian is that of a shelf for books for young people. We are already putting this idea into practice. The young readers who have just outgrown the children's department and yet are at the in-between age, not quite old enough for most adult books, have long been a problem in most libraries. There are books written for them, but they are hard for the reader to find and often the librarian herself has to do a little hunting to find the proper books when they are on the shelves with all the others. This new shelf is in the southeast alcove as you come in the front door of the main reading room. There is also a special bulletin board for the display of book jackets for new books which will be placed on this shelf from time to time. The new ones this very week are "Green Grass of Wyoming" by Mary O'Hara, who wrote "My Friend Flicka," "The Assassin" by Hildegarde Teiffert, an adventure story of the war days, and "Driftwood Valley" by Stanwell Fletcher, a biography of life in the North Woods. It is hoped that this shelf will fill a long felt need among our readers.

New adult fiction this week includes "Mortgage on Life" by Vici Baum, "Return to Jalna" by De la Roche, "You Leave Me Cold" by Rogers, and "One Alone" by Van Siller. The last two are mysteries.

On Playing the Fiddle Badly

—with nothing more exciting than old songs, and a glass of moderate beer or cider. From where I sit, it's a heap more important to be a poor fiddle player, than not to play at all. More important to be a part of the American scene—with its community music, home entertainment, friendly glass of beer—than to hold out for professional perfection. (Besides, I like to play the fiddle—even badly!)

Why I Am For the School Amendment:

- It provides state support with local control. It broadens the tax base. The new taxes will be replacement taxes. It recognizes the education of each child as a unique responsibility. It recognizes the small school as an essential part of Nebraska's school system. It helps equalize the educational opportunity for Nebraska boys and girls. It guarantees a minimum of school support that can't be diverted to other things.

Sincerely yours, Stuart Baller
