

Committee to Be Installed at West Point — Governor Runs into Trying Task— Ford's Action — Oregon Recollection — Pulling Back.

According to the Republican, the city council of West Point has requested the mayor to name a special planning commission to study the needs of the community in sanitation, recreation, beautification and other phases that will improve the city.

The idea is to adopt the good and cast off the undesirable or unnecessary, avoiding duplications and obstructive conflicts. A planning committee composed of representative citizens has been urged in Wayne for some time.

Involving Board of Control. In the break between the penitentiary and the board of control, resulting in charges against the latter of misappropriating state property, Gov. Val Peterson ran head-on into an extraordinary problem. But his course in handling the regrettable matter rings true to the open-and-above-board spirit of rural Nebraska where the new executive originated.

The governor is not currying favor nor trucking to any group. He is not angling for future votes. He just has a fine sense of public duty, and he is scrupulously following it. And it is our guess that popular support will tag his footsteps and reward his service.

Price Reduction. The Ford Motor Company's recent car price reduction is a blow at threatened inflation. It is an example of price leveling that will contribute to economic stability. Eager effort to hog too much profit in any line simply spurs the price spiral with danger of collapse. The Ford action allays fears. Perhaps other industrialists will catch up with him.

Land of Wonders. Granting government land to soldiers in the Tule lake area in Klamath county, Oregon, as set forth by pictures in a current magazine, is a reminder of the scene of the Modoc Indian uprising in the early seventies. Not far from Tule lake winds Lost river. White encroachment in that section caused the Indians to go on the warpath. The Modocs resented being pushed out. Soldiers arrived and proceeded to quell the disturbance. The Reds, under Capt. Jack, took refuge in caves along Lost river, but they finally yielded to superior force. Capt. Jack and four confederates were later hanged at Fort Klamath. Survivors of the revolt were moved to Oklahoma.

Tule lake, which has been drained and converted to agriculture, was one of many lakes in the neighborhood. Nature was lavish in water, rich soil and excellent timber. Mount Shasta lifts its head above the clouds in one direction and Mount Pitt in another. Farther on is the famous Crater lake. Oddly, Lost river travels 100 miles, and its mouth is only eight miles from its source. It is from that stream the Klamath Indians spear out wagon loads of fish every year to dry for food.

Inhabitants of drained Tule lake will find plenty of natural wonders. They will also capture plenty of profit by applying water to the volcanic soil.

Simulating Reluctance. Sometimes persons asked for news act like the girl who wishes to appear reluctant when marriage is proposed. She expects and wants to be asked, but thinks the proper order is to simulate indifference or unwillingness. The person who stalls with news is even more aggravating. That individual exhausts patience unnecessarily. Pulling back on coveted service increases a reporter's task.

May Reserve Trees For Service Group. Order for Spring Planting Of Memorials Will Be Placed Soon. To date, about 440 trees have been reserved as memorials at the park north of Wayne for service men and women. Trees not yet planted will be placed early this spring. Since orders for these must go in soon, it is urged that any others who wish to plant memorial trees contact Mrs. Chris Tietgen at once. The fee of $2 pays for the tree, any replacement and marking.

Wayne county had more than 140 in service so the committee believes that more will wish to have memorial trees planted.

Mrs. Tietgen has the record of reservations and will notify any who wish to know whether or not their relatives and friends have trees reserved for them.

NUMBER THIRTY-SEVEN

INCOME TAX SIEGE NOW ON, KEEPS UP UNTIL MARCH 15

PAYING federal taxes — income and social security — starts this month and continues until March 15. The winter months are thus enlivened by filling in government forms. Anyone who happens to be conversant with the intricacies of the task can find ready employment from persons who have become familiar with things other than government statistics in order to make a living. The expert is likely to find deductible items that the greenhorn would not see. If one deducts more than the law allows the form will in time be returned for correction. If one does not deduct as much as facts warrant we cannot see how the federal department would, in the absence of detailed information, be able to discover and return the excess. The best policy is to hire competent assistance to make certain no mistakes are made. After March 15, when the tax load will be eased, attention may be switched to spring improvements, worrying about the weather and getting ready for another harvest.

HIGH PRICES RULE AT NUMEROUS FARM SALES BEING HELD

FARM chattel sales are reported meeting highest expectations — often exceeding such expectations. Demand for things offered — livestock and implements — is pressing, and purchasers have the cash to pay for what they need. If anyone wants to retire, move elsewhere or change his occupation, now is the time to do it. Sales will keep up until March 1, and then moving will take place. Relocating imposes a trying burden. It is not easy to leave accustomed neighborhoods. It takes time to settle in a new environment and cultivate new friendships. But every year the ordeal is experienced, and this year perhaps more than ever the countryside will be astir with many changes. Fair weather for the annual moving period is hoped for, but is no strong omen as anticipated in connection with the bold and often blustery month of March.

Morning Blaze Damages Home

Property of Reed Estate Near Winside Occupied By Harold Griggs.

The residence on the C. W. Reed estate land a mile and a half north of Winside, occupied by the Harold Griggs family, was badly damaged Monday morning by fire that started from a stove in the wash house. The wash house, kitchen and roof of the house were destroyed, and the property was damaged by smoke and water. It was necessary to chop holes in the roof to extinguish the blaze in the upper part of the house. The loss is heavy but insurance is carried on it. All furniture belonging to the Griggs family was moved to safety.

Mrs. Griggs had started a fire in the wash house stove about 9 in preparation for washing. She stepped into the house a few minutes and when she returned she found that wind had whipped the fire out of control and the building was ablaze. It was reported the family could not get help over the telephone, and their car failed to start. Men shelling corn with Rasmus Rasmussen about a half mile north saw the fire and rushed to the scene and also called the department. Neighbors started a bucket brigade to try to control the fire until help came. Winside, Carroll and Wayne firemen responded. It was nearly noon before the blaze was extinguished in all parts of the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Griggs and son and daughter, who moved to the Reed farm a year ago from near Belden, moved Monday to the Winside house which Jas. C. Jensen bought from the Mrs. Hettie Wilson estate. The property was to be vacant until the Jensens move in the spring.

It is expected that the house will be repaired or rebuilt soon.

Hearing Device Is Added Here

New Audiometer Will Help Detect Disability for Students of Area.

An audiometer for use in the public health program sponsored by the Kaogg foundation and the state of Nebraska has been added to equipment at Wayne State Teachers College. Any diagnosis of hearing defects, will be turned over to properly qualified physicians.

The audiometer will be used not only for college and training school students but for all pupils of northeast Nebraska. The device will record the variation in intensity of different tones which an individual is able to hear. It detects word deafness.

Vernon E. Hungate of the state department of public instruction supervises the health project, and Dr. H. E. Peterka of the college staff is supervisor in this area.

Tests Are Taken By Wayne Seniors

Bill Heine and Dick Powers Apply for Education Course in Service.

The new naval reserve officers' training corps and naval aviation college program examinations, given at Norfolk Saturday, were taken by Bill Heine and Dick Powers, Wayne high school seniors.

The program, created by an act of congress last August, provides instruction to 14,000 high school seniors, and college students of 1947. Cost of tuition, fees and texts is provided, also uniforms and $600 a year for incidental expenses. Young men chosen take four years of college in one of 52 accredited schools. They may select most of their course with a requirement of a minimum in mathematics and science. They spend two summers on cruises during summers of their college work.

Upon graduation from college, the young men must accept a commission as ensign in the navy or second lieutenant in the marine corps if either is offered to them. They are required to serve 15 months to two years after their college work and they then may apply for a permanent commission if they wish. If they do not sign up for a service career they will be placed in the reserves.

High Costs SHOWING the way costs of government have mounted, Congressman Karl Stefan writes: "The department of agriculture is asking congress to appropriate $1,167,447,318 for its activities during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1947. When the late J. Sterling Morton of Nebraska became secretary of agriculture in 1892, his appropriation for the entire department for a full fiscal year amounted to just a little over $3,500,000. When the department of agriculture was created in 1882, its year's appropriation was exactly $1,800. Soil conservation payments and sugar subsidy for the next fiscal year will amount to $355,000,000."

The congressman adds these facts on the growth of the capital city: "The seat of government of the United States was established in Washington in 1800. When the second session of the sixth congress assembled here, there were very few dwellings. The people complained about poor roads in those early days. The record shows that one clerk traveled from Philadelphia to Washington by stage. It took him nine days to reach the city. The regular stage schedule in those days was two days."

"In 1800, 14,000 people lived in the District of Columbia. Washington's present population is 900,000. The metropolitan area consisting of the District of Columbia and Maryland and Virginia suburbs, has a population exceeding 1,300,000."

The governorship row in Georgia is shameful. Ellis Arnall, retiring executive, resigned after holding on several days to await appearance of a duly qualified successor. It would be assumed outside of Georgia that the properly elected lieutenant governor would fill the vacancy caused by the death of Gene Talmadge. But the latter's son was chosen by the legislature to take the place of his late father, and he proceeded forcibly to gain possession. The courts of the state will no doubt be called on to decide. Choleric young Talmadge has declared himself against ever permitting a Negro to vote in the state. And from this distance it looks as though Georgia were sympathetic with the idea which is in conflict with the federal constitution and with generally acknowledged human rights.

A proposed constitutional change to merge state schools under one head with one board has been introduced in the legislature. It will be discussed pro and con before final action to submit or not to submit to voters. It is argued the step would serve economy, relieve an over-crowded university and furnish more students to outlying schools. On the other hand, centralization with too little personal supervision will be charged. Whatever becomes of the proposition, it may be inducements in curriculum stimulus, would make opportunities in the four colleges equal to those available in the university, and so divide student groups and increase enrollments without congestion.

The not distant future promises to reveal practical headway in this state in two essentials—reclamation and conservation. Use of the Missouri river for irrigation and power is given the impetus of influential leadership. A sensible Missouri river project will be a safeguard against drought and will guarantee an abundance of cheap power. Preserving the rich top soil is another steadily advancing movement that insures inestimable benefits. Altogether, Nebraska agriculture is to be made more productive and more certain. Careless regard for soil values and taking chances on sufficient moisture are to be minimized.

Doubtless the suspicion that smoking cigarettes in bed has caused hotel fires of late has led to a bill in the Nebraska unicameral outlawing such practice. Forgetting to extinguish a cigarette before going to sleep would seem to invite great peril. Hotel men should be for the measure, and others would appear to have no good reason to be against it.

An argument is advanced that secrets of the atomic bomb should be released to quiet suspicions of other nations. Others reason that vital facts must be kept concealed until governments establish good faith beyond question. Even then we would maintain secrecy to prevent treachery which is too common for safety.

Soon the time will come to hold conventions and caucuses preliminary to the annual municipal and school election. If there is any dissatisfaction over the way public affairs are handled, the preliminaries afford an opportunity for expression. Kick ahead of the election, not afterwards.

Louis Bromfield, columnist, rubs Henry Wallace out as a practical leader of American thought, chucking him into the communist group and leaving him hopelessly there. According to Bromfield, there is no chance for Henry ever to become a useful figure in this country's public life.

LOOKING UP. "Ideas Have Legs," a book by an English author, stresses the need of getting nearer supernatural influences to check materialistic tendencies and to enrich spiritual values. Dictatorships, whether stemming from communism or fascism, breed materialism and cold indifference to considerations beyond the earth. Autocratic power opposes Christianity — tries to take precious hope out of people's lives. Hitler was an enemy of the church and everything it stands for. He tried to crush belief in survival. He blasted hope as far as he was able to do so. But he came to the end of his hope, and as he and the evil things he stood for passed out ignominiously, the affairs of the soul were given a decided uplift. The world has been shocked into sharpened appreciation of the divine source and of final destiny. The book mentioned believes a period of greater attention to life's higher essentials is dawning.

Fuhrman, Mr. and Mrs. Marotz.

RIGHT TO STRIKE. The right to strike is treated in a recent Christian Science Monitor editorial. As pointed out, there are limits to any right that infringes on the popular welfare. One person may quit his job without disturbing orderly processes. When thousands quit simultaneously with the avowed purpose of forcing concessions without weighing consequences to channels of public service, the idea of "voluntary servitude" loses its application. Not only does a striker refuse to produce, but he prevents others from producing. This is unfair to willing workers and to the innocent public which is made to suffer. It is up to congress to stop strikes and compel settlements in line with fairness to all involved. As emphasized by the Monitor, the public deserves protection. "It can rightly demand," says that publication, "that those engaged in essential services agree to arbitrate their differences — and accept the result — or get out of those industries. In return, it should provide special safeguards — such as the guarantee of wages and working conditions at least equal to the average in the same community."

Beer Retailing Attains Higher Standards

When the Soil Conservation specialist goes to a farm he goes as a friend, and often makes helpful suggestions.

Nebraska beer retailers also have a "helpful advisor"—the Nebraska Committee of the U. S. Brewers Foundation. This agency works constantly to help retailers avoid law violations and had practices which are against the public interest. They are helped to be a credit to themselves, to the beer industry and to the community.

When conditions in a tavern are found to be unsatisfactory a Nebraska Committee caution usually brings a quick correction. If some persist in bad practices the Committee submits the facts to legal authorities for action.

Self-regulation thus keeps Nebraska taverns operating in the public interest.

Vet's Corner

The 1946 service office resume for Wayne county released by W. A. Lerner reveals a total traffic of 3,078 veterans of both wars and included are 56 non-veterans.

These individuals were assisted with 62 different types of problems. The largest number of contacts was made during the month of September, when a total of 348 veterans visited the office following Mr. Lerner's absence of three weeks during the month of August when he was in the veterans' hospital in Lincoln.

A total of 249 telephone inquiries were also received during the past year. In addition to the Wayne county veteran population the office rendered assistance to veterans enrolled in Wayne State Teachers College and veterans of Thurston county whose county does not have a service officer.

Dixon county veterans also used the Wayne service office several months prior to the date that Lawrence Collins was appointed service officer at Ponca.

The largest back widow pension collected amounted to $1,150.00. Wayne county had but five veterans drawing benefits of the commonly called 52-20 club. This one is indeed remarkable for Wayne county.

Mr. Lerner served as volunteer representative of the United States employment service in Norfolk, securing 102 part time and full time jobs for veterans, including veterans enrolled in the on-the-job training program.

A total of 113 veterans drew self-employment compensation benefits for farming or business beginning April, 1946.

Mr. Lerner reports that he received splendid cooperation from the United States employment service and VA offices in Norfolk.

Since the VA established a local service under the direction of Dr. H. Griffin, chief, for college veterans at Wayne State Teachers College in the field of counseling and guidance, the veteran student contacts pertaining to schooling have lessened the past two months.

Both the state service office and VA offices in Lincoln rendered invaluable assistance throughout the year despite the overload of correspondence in these main offices.

A breakdown showing the most numerous contacts during the year reveals these statistics: Terminal leave applications, 446; placement of vet on-the-job training, (business firms and farms), 68; insurance reinstatements and conversions, 153; pensions, 27; sugar ration, all types, individual and institutional, 81; hospitalization, 30; job inquiries (full and part time) veterans, 241; job inquiries, (non-veterans) 26; job placements, full or part time, includes seasonal, 102; job placements, non-veterans, 10; self employment compensation (inquiries and placements), 231; out patient treatment, dental and service connected, 46; surplus commodities, inquiries, WAA forms issued, 68; loans, all types, inquiries, 90; unemployment compensation, inquiries, 41; flight training, inquiries, local training at Wayne Air Service, 54.

At present 105 veterans attend Wayne State Teachers College, various universities, colleges and flight training at local airport.

Although Wayne county had but five veterans drawing unemployment compensation and 113 farming veterans receiving benefits of self-employment in comparison to 147, which is the average of the seven counties serviced by the United States employment service office in Norfolk beginning last April, the monetary benefits to veterans total approximately $300,000 for the year 1946.

The Norfolk U. S. employment service, headed by Walter Stefan, and veterans' administration office, in charge of Robert Hudson, deserve much credit for assisting Service Officer W. A. Lerner in getting approval on claims and in helping veterans in other ways.

End of hostilities is proclaimed by president. This surprise measure according to the Veterans Administration has some immediate effects on the eligibility for a number of veterans' benefits. Most of Rights to limit the time during which veterans may begin and finish drawing their benefits.

Most vitally effected, the agency said, are former servicemen eligible for subsistence allowances while they are enrolled in educational or on-the-job training programs. The training must begin within four years from the December 31 date and end within nine years.

Almost half a million veterans filed applications with Veterans Administration during the 30 months of 1946 ending October 31 to convert their GI insurance to permanent policies.

At present an increased number of veterans are applying for dental care. Pending applications for dental care under the Veterans Administration have increased from 107,000 at the end of last July to 207,000 at the end of November.

With 13,030,000 male veterans discharged in the past 16 months, almost 12,000,000 of them are employed, in training or in school or college, the labor department said last week. A survey shows that 700,000 veterans are unemployed and 550,000 are listed as on vacation, unable to work or retired.

The study was made by Robert C. Goodwin, director of the United States employment service, and Perry Faulkner, chief of the veterans' employment service. There are 1,100,000 male veterans of World War II enrolled in educational institutions.

According to the figures available from the bureau of labor statistics, the cost of living has hit an all-time high, exceeding by 1.5 per cent the last previous record reached in mid-1920 following World War I. The November index shows an increase of 51.7 per cent over the 1935-39 pro-war average, and 2.2 more than October. Doubtless the December figures will show a small temporary new all-time ceiling.

Around 65,000 veterans are applying monthly for admission to Veterans Administration hospitals or homes.

More than 40,000 veterans are operating their own businesses with GI loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration.

Construction is underway for nearly $37,000,000 in contract awards for new Veterans Administration hospitals or for additions to existing hospitals.

Terminal leave bonds roll out. The total going to former GI's now reaches about $12,500,000 per day. The amount of cash sent out daily is $345,000. Payments have been accelerated since October. Some 12,000,000 former soldiers, sailors and marines are expected to claim a share of the $2,418,000,000 voted by the last congress. Rep. Dwight L. Rogers of Florida has indicated that he planned to introduce a bill in the new congress to make GI terminal leave payable immediately in cash. His bill is No. 2 on record with the clerk of the house.

Q. I was discharged from the service last month, but do not recall how far in advance I have paid my National Service Life Insurance premiums. Are the rates the same for term insurance after discharge?

A. The date through which you have paid your NSLI is indicated on the reverse side of your army discharge, if an army veteran. Your insurance premium is the same amount it was while you were on active duty. You should send your premiums to the Veterans Administration collection subdivision, 346 Broadway, New York, N. Y. Upon receipt of the initial premium, the New York office will advise you to make further payments through the VA regional office in your area.

"THE WINDJAMMER" Starring "Bazooka" BOB BURNS

To be shown here on JOHN DEERE DAY...

Free to farmers, in this and neighboring communities, is the big John Deere Day Program to be held at Gay Theatre, Wayne, Friday, January 31, 1:30 p. m.

This year's John Deere Day program will provide a full measure of top-notch entertainment every farmer and his family will long remember.

The main attraction is a 55-minute Hollywood feature, "The Windjammer," which stars "Bazooka" Bob Burns, famous radio and screen comedian. The "rib-tickling" story is built around a windy character, Bob Newton by name, who claims to be able to make animals talk. His experiences, and those of his charming daughter, in filming a talking animal picture in Hollywood will be enjoyed by everyone.

In the supporting cast are such well-known artists as Gale Robbins, Scott Elliott, Keuneph MacDonald, Ida Moore, Eddie Kane, Dan Duncan and Sam Flint.

FOUR OTHER ALL-TALKING PICTURES
In addition to "The Windjammer," four other new, all-talking pictures will be shown. They include "Headliners in Tractor Value"—the story of the new John Deere Models 'A' and 'B' Tractors for 1947... "New Power for the Smaller Farm"—an important announcement of a new tractor with a complete line of integral equipment for the small acreage farmer... "Conservation Farming with Regular Equipment"—an educational picture on how to keep your soil "at home" with the equipment you have on your own farm... and "New Pages in John Deere Progress"—a news reel on newly developed John Deere integral and drawn machines for 1947.

B. J. Brandstetter & Son cordially invite every farm family in this area to come to this big farmer's day program. They promise a good time to everyone who comes.

Admission to the John Deere Day Program is by ticket only. Any farmer who has not received tickets can get them free by inquiring at the store before the day of the show.
