Jerry Stirtz's team is leading? Richard Berry's team in the arith-metic race. The 8th grade English class studied the writing of business let-ters. Students made practical use of this knowledge by writing to the 48 state departments requesting copies of state scals which will be used later in a history project. The 7th grade students made or-iginal designs for church windows using the Easter theme. "The Song of Hugh Glass" and "Treasure Island" are being stud-ied in the 8th and 7th grades re-spectively. g with Germany suggest issues without ire trouble. How to get along with Russia without irrendering more than safety and humane bjectives would advise is a big question r statesmen to decide. And settlement ithout coddling and without unreason-ble concessions would seem the more cer-ain way to preserve peace.

We still receive warnings against windlers who come to the surface to ply leverly fashioned frauds when money is Jentiful. People are busy trying to make the grade, from day to day. Their minds free aloof from hew and easier ways to be kinned. But in dealing with strangers ho may or may not be all right, it is a sund safeguard to sign no agreement not arefully read and fully understood. wording the sting of being fleeced is far ore agreeable than a train of unrequited regrets. Consciousness of being a sucker adds painfully to any material surrender. Most persons are honest and can be de-pended on. It is the occasional stranger with a slick tongue and many unreasonable promises, who needs to be watched and suspected.

Civilization in Georgia is looking up. Herman Talmadge who tried to usurp that state's governorship, following the death of his duly elected father, has been ruled out by the supreme court, and M. E. Thompson, lieutenant governor, succeeds to the executive place to which he was clearly entitled. Talmadge retired quiet-ly with the statement that he would carry the matter to the people. And if the lat-ter have any sense they will catch Tal-madge in a huge wave of disapproval and sweep him for a statement of the statement the oblivion.

As spring appears, piles of rubbish de-mand attention. Streets and alleys heed cleaning. Every form of filth should be disposed of ahead of the fly season. Un-welcome rodents should be discouraged by cleanliness. A clean town, free from dis-ease-breeding accumulations, will insure better health and will enable strangers to receive more favorable impressions. Then, in due time, will come the making of gar-dens, and a productive gardlen in this year of high living costs will be a source of re-lief as it was during the war.

After recounting the war. After recounting the calamities in-volved in the aftermath of the war, the Omaha Journal-Stockman says: "No, we don't regard the situation as hopeless. We do have faith in the physical and spir-itual resources of an aroused people. But the danger is that they won't be fully aroused until they are desperate. As never before, the country needs, not parti-san, not political, but character leader-ship. We pray it may soon come."

We who are against socialism and gov-ernment ownership with the individual's identity all but blotted out, will be inclined to accept past months of unprecedentedly wicked weather in England as a sort of retributive reaction.

ATTE HERALD, WAYNE, NEE LONG SESSION A late Lincoln report says the unicameral will not be able to adjourn before May 25 or June 1. Numerous important bills are yet to be disposed of. Twenty-eight were scheduled for hearing this week. Among them are income and sales tax bills. It is proposed to have all legislative action on all mea-sures reported out of commit-tices without resorting to a sift-ing committee. That course will be nore thorough and satisfac-ticy if members can persuade themselves to hang on that logislative action on all mea-singly experience the yearning to farget law-making and ligckle waiting home tasks incident to getting ready for another grow-ing season. More taxes to take cipre of enlarged costs dannot be safely avoided, and the form they take will find disturbing opposition. Freedom from taxes is a happy thought if one may band himself to run-down state baildings, reasonable demands without extravagance.

Protest Use of Cars. From Wayne Herald for March 31, 1904: A mass meeting was called in Wayne to protest against the reckless use of automobiles. Resolutions passed call for prosethe reckless use of automobiles. Resolutions passed call for prose-cution of drivers who endanger the lives and properties of others on the highways by trightening horses. One farmer who had experienced travel by oxfe and who now en-joys the luxury of a horse and buggy said he did not want this pleasure taken away by such new-fangled contrivances.
