Injury Is Minor In Plane Crash

L. L. Thompson Pilots Ship Which Is Destroyed Early Monday.

L. L. (Vern) Thompson escaped with a cut over the left eye and broken ribs Monday morning about 6:30 when the Wayne Air Service training plane which he was using on a solo flight crashed on a corn field hill at the Geo. Bartels farm one mile west and five and a half north of Wayne. The plane, which is a total loss, was not insured.

Mr. Thompson had been up about 15 minutes and was practicing "S" turns back and forth across a road. He was at an altitude of about 800 feet when the carburetor iced over because he did not have the carburetor heater on far enough.

Then when he found that he could not regain altitude he tried a wheel landing, misjudged the distance a few feet and hit the side of the hill. The plane bounced back into the air and landed 200 feet farther up the hill.

When the plane came down the second time, a wing tip, the tail and one wheel hit, tearing off part of a wing. Then the ship settled down, skidded and stopped. It did not turn over and did not catch fire.

Mr. Thompson believes that a down-ward landing would have proved successful, though he chose to turn so as not to go into the trees.

Mr. Thompson remained in the plane. He was cut when his head hit the instrument panel. He got out and walked to the Bartels house about 40 rods west. Mr. Bartels brought him to Wayne where he received hospital care. He was able to return home the same morning.

Wayne firemen responded after the crash Monday.

The plane was dismantled at the Bartels farm Monday afternoon. Mr. Thompson took flight instruction here during the war. He was in glider training and earned his student license then. He later received his private license in Texas.

Girders in Place For New Church

Cornerstone for Building Will Be Laid at Rites Planned Soon.

Steel girders for the new Re-deemer Lutheran church are in place and construction will proceed steadily now. Most of the materials are on hand. The cornerstone of the structure at 5th and Lincoln will be laid in about a month at a Sunday service.

The edifice is to be 37 by 100 feet. Split-face Ashler stone, a light colored stone with a rough surface, will be used for the walls. The trim is Indiana limestone, which is light grey. The clear story effect will be used on the interior with pillars about three feet from the walls. Radiant heating with pipes in the floor is planned.

Karl Otte is contractor. Many men of the congregation are helping with the work.

Present Pageant At College Soon

"Hands Across the Sea," a pageant written and directed by Mrs. Esther Dewitz Carlson, will be presented in the college Willow Bowl Friday, May 23, at 10:15. If the weather is bad, the festival will be in the college gymnasium. Students from the training school, rural school and college will participate. The choir, under the direction of Prof. Russel Anderson, and the college band, directed by Prof. John R. Keith, will present music for the festival.

AWARDS ARE MADE ON POPPY POSTERS

Wayne Legion Auxiliary gave two first prizes of $2 each in the poppy poster contest this spring. Jimmy Henejar earned the one for students of the 4th, 5th and 6th grades. Dwayne Atkins was winner in the 7th, 8th and 9th grades. Mrs. Ray Shalander, unit president, has sent these to the department at Lincoln for state competition.

LOOKING BACKWARD TITLE OF ARTICLE PICTURING FUTURE

"LOOKING Backward" is the title of a recent magazine article. It anticipates conditions in 1990 showing how the creeping paralysis of nationalization has destroyed individual initiative and private enterprise. Everything belonged to the state and everybody became a slave to the state. The federal debt piled higher and higher. Private capital disappeared. Everybody became dependent on the government. People lost heart. Human fiber became so feeble that no one seemed to care a darn. But the author did not leave readers in hopeless despair. He advised that revival of self-reliance would change the trend and restore citizen values that made America strong.

We are reminded that Edward Bellamy wrote a book of similar caption just before close of the last century. He took readers twenty years into the future, and pictured a socialistic state which he appeared to approve. It was before invention of the airplane, but he included air navigation in his story. He was a theorist, and evidently believed in wiping out the profit incentive.

On the contrary, author of the recent magazine article mentioned is plainly a sound economist, deploring what might happen to a nation that goes too far in government ownership and control.

Gives Education Credit As Basic

Dr. Victor West Delivers Address to Graduates At Baccalaureate.

Dr. Victor West talked on "Knowledge, Wisdom and Education" at baccalaureate services for Wayne high school seniors Sunday evening. He likened his topic to the senior class motto, "Knowledge comes; wisdom lingers."

"Of knowledge, wisdom and education, the greatest of these is education," stated Dr. West. "Without education, wisdom and knowledge would be hard to grasp. All the different degrees and types of knowledge keep coming our way and we let them enter our brains."

"The kind of wisdom that lingers down to the last finesse of beauty and grace depends upon and is woven out of the kind of knowledge admitted to our brain passages," the speaker continued. "Knowledge is acquaintance with fact, any kind of thread of which wisdom is woven."

The part that education plays in the role of life is tremendous. "Through education, we train, lead and draw out. Education trains your soul and mind better to analyze the knowledge you admit to your brain," stated Dr. West.

The speaker concluded by suggesting that individuals analyze American needs and opportunities and harness their talents to their exaltation.

Rev. T. J. C. Schuldt gave the invocation and Rev. O. B. Proett, the benediction. The girls' glee club and mixed chorus sang.

Commencement will be held Friday evening at 8.

Officers Elected By Service Group

Paul Mines and W. A. Lerner Are Chosen Saturday At Meeting Here.

Members of the newly created service committee, meeting in the service office Saturday evening, elected Paul Mines permanent chairman and Service Officer W. A. Lerner secretary-treasurer.

Jean Boyd, acting chairman during the organization, explained legislative bills 187 and 240 which pertain to the county service committee and office. The former makes it mandatory for counties to have service officers. The committee went on record in favor of increasing the salary of the local service officer to be commensurate with the amount paid in other counties of like size. The motion was presented to the county board for final action.

Gives Challenge To All Citizens

Dr. O. F. Moore, H. E. Siman Address Kiwanis Club Here Monday.

"To observe 'I Am An American' day, which was May 18, Wayne Kiwanians Monday heard Dr. O. F. Moore of the college staff speak on "The Challenge of Citizenship."

Though the challenge has many phases, Dr. Moore chose to speak on what education can do. Education, he stated, is basic in democracy. He defined democracy as a race between education and the chaos of ignorance. The challenge is addressed to school administrators, teachers, pupils and, in fact, to all citizens, for they pay the bills.

Some distinguishing qualities of good citizenship are honesty, fairness, regard for truth and the rights of others, and the right to become right. Differences in personal conduct are due to training and this training is the responsibility of the home, school, church and service clubs. The challenge is not only to one's self to watch his own conduct but also to help the conduct of others. "We truly are our brother's keeper, and we have the responsibility of good citizenship."

In closing, Dr. Moore quoted Teddy Roosevelt as follows: "Nothing can make good citizenship in men who have not in them courage, hardihood, decency, sanity, the spirit of truth telling and truth seeking, the spirit that dares and endures, the spirit that knows what it is to have a lofty ideal, and yet to endeavor to realize that ideal in practical fashion."

Dr. V. P. Morcy introduced Dr. Moore.

H. E. Siman, who introduced new members, Dr. Howard Tenper, Dr. Donovan Walters and Willard Wiltse, told that each of the 2,400 clubs in the United States and Canada, though following certain fundamentals, is a small democracy. He explained that following the Kiwanis ideals and serving prove the value of citizens, and these are aims of members. Objectives are permanent and basic. Mr. Siman stressed the one which deals with giving primacy to spiritual values. Objectives are not goals, year and Mr. Siman mentioned especially the one which emphasizes working for the betterment of each boy and girl as a potential citizen. Mr. Siman presented the three new members to Dave Theophilus, president.

The music committee sang "Nut-brown Maiden" and "Stars of the Summer Night."

Besides 56 members, Dr. G. E. Hartman was a guest of A. R. Ellis and Supt. E. N. Swett was a visiting Kiwanian.

Thirty Legionnaires from eight posts of District III met in Emerson Sunday when District Commander Casey Zacek of West Point presented Department Commander Dick Marvel, Assistant Department Adjutant Roy Lang and Department Activities and Publicity Officer Warren E. Bring Big Circus To Entertain All

CIRCUS DAYS HERE EARLY NEXT WEEK LARGE CROWD SURE

COMMITTEES in charge have been busy shaping plans for the Shrine circus which will be at the Wayne municipal auditorium for three days and nights next week beginning Monday. The group comes with a fine reputation. Wherever it has appeared it has more than met expectations. It is noted for close adherence to advertised performances. Thousands of tickets for free admissions during afternoons have been sent to school children and teachers in the outlying Wayne area. These are made possible by donations from local financial backers. It is hoped the crowds attending will be uniformly pleased, and that no accidents or disorder will mar the occasion.

The stage and part of the lower floor in the auditorium will be used for the 25 high class acts which make up this Shrine show. A 30-foot ring has been arranged on the main floor and eye-balls have been placed in the ceiling for the trapeze artists. Seating capacity has been increased by erection of bleachers.

Performing elephants, dogs and ponies, as well as tumblers, trapeze artists and riders, are featured. One of the most daring acts will be the slide of death in which a man will go down a 50-foot wire on his head. Another unusual stunt is done by one of the elephants that walks a suspended plank.

Young folks will be interested to know that each elephant consumes 125 pounds of hay, 50 gallons of water, six bushels of oats and six bushels of rye each day.

Tickets are on sale at Brown-McDonald, Griess' Rexall, Feiber Pharmacy, Fredrickson service station, Chamber of Commerce, Firestone store, Swans, Nuss' Ben Franklin, Larson's department and Frank's clothing. Reserved tickets may be purchased at the last five stores mentioned.

The circus unit, which has been together for the winter, comes here from Watertown, S. D. This will be the last showing before dispersal for the summer. Artists will join traveling circus groups for the summer. The elephants will be in Boston June 10 and other acts go elsewhere. Gil Gray, the manager, reports in Tulsa, Okla.

Is Badly Burned In Starting Fire

Mrs. Loyal Schuler of Near Laurel Is in Serious Condition Here.

Mrs. Loyal Schuler of near Laurel, the former Amy Whorlow of Wayne, was seriously burned on the face, chest, back and both arms Monday evening about 6:30 when kerosene exploded while she was starting a fire in the kitchen range. Her condition early Wednesday remained critical.

Mrs. Schuler was alone at the home about 15 miles northwest of Wayne. The blazing liquid set fire to her clothing. Mrs. Schuler pulled the burning garments off, then drove to the home of a neighbor about a half mile away. The neighbors got Mr. Schuler, who was doing field work, and they rushed Mrs. Schuler to a Wayne hospital for care.

The neighbors also went to the Schuler home and extinguished the blaze. A tile floor in the kitchen reduced the damage.

Mrs. Schuler's mother, Mrs. Cora Whorlow, and a brother, Kenneth Whorlow, are in Wayne.

Urging State's Reclamation Projects

NEBRASKA'S Senator Hugh Butler and Governor Val Peterson appeared last week before the senate committee on interior department appropriations to urge adequate financial support for proposed reclamation projects in this state. Both made plain that reclaiming land or insuring greater production was not a donation, but an investment that would increase farm wealth. Money spent in subsidies is a needless extravagance. Maintaining unnecessary bureaus and employing useless government help constitute wild waste. But putting money into a profitable venture is an act of practical wisdom. Senator Butler explained in the course of his statement:

"In connection with these requests for appropriations, I want to call to the committee's attention that the money thus made available is returned in full to the federal treasury. In fact, it really is returned several times over. The costs of construction of federal reclamation projects by law are returned to the treasury through contracts with the water users and from power revenues. In addition to those direct payments, the federal government receives from the projects revenue in the form of taxes that are several times as much as the original federal investment."

Governor Peterson suggested the state's crop uncertainties and needs in this:

"Most of the states in the Missouri basin are in a semi-arid climate where irrigation development has not been very extensive in the past. In Nebraska the annual precipitation averages approximately 20 inches per year. In years when the distribution of this rainfall is just right, we are able to produce good yields of most crops. Such years, however, are interspersed with drought years and consequently our harvests are uncertain. The margin between farm success or failure is often times the materialization or failure of one or two well-timed showers."

A move has been made by Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas to outlaw newspaper, magazine and radio liquor advertising. License and regulation were assumed more orderly and effective than prohibition. Selling legally rather than trying to outlaw the traffic was accepted as the lesser of two evils, believed to promote temperance instead of aggravate intemperance. That being the case, it would seem highly improper to urge increased liquor consumption through tempting parades in publications and over the air. The hope of proposed restrictive legislation would seem to lie in preventing impressionable youth from becoming ensnared.

Touching charges of snobbery among officers in the army and navy, we recall a young fellow was once traveling alone from Portland, Ore., to Omaha. In an adjoining Pullman seat was a navy officer bearing an abundance of gold braid. The young man felt lonely, eager for companionship, and he ventured to speak to the officer. The latter shrugged his shoulders, lifted his eyebrows, pitched his nasal appendage high and said nothing. Perhaps he suspected the heartsick chap was a designing rascal. The latter was convinced he had bumped into a real snob.

The proposed sales tax having been chucked through the transtorm, the unicameral has been invited to consider an income tax. A bill to that effect provides for two per cent on federal income tax payments. A survey of legislative members shows likely defeat for this measure. Then the lawmakers will tackle something else as a basis for required revenue. Whatever they do will invite kicks. If they adjourn without doing anything to finance upkeep and improvements they will precipitate a storm. They are truly between the devil and the deep blue sea.

Contracts have been let for regraveling highways leading to Wayne, and now bids are being invited to renew the blacktop north of here. The latter has been in bad shape for a long time. It is hoped an improved quality of blacktop will be prescribed, and that it will be ready for hard travel before another winter. Trucks bear heavily on highways, but they have become necessary, and must be accommodated. Separate roads for trucks would help, but that would be too costly for early realization.

William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to Russia and France, is convinced that the motives of soviet leaders are bad. He says in a contribution to the June Reader's Digest that "our only chance to avoid war with the soviet union is to organize the world's free peoples to resist soviet imperialism." Bullitt thinks the United States should help stop the march of communism in Greece and Turkey and France, thus to head off Stalin's ambition for world domination.

May is the month of rapidly changing elements. Increased warmth joins ample moisture in stimulating pastures and fields. The fragrance of flowers and new vegetation is in the air. The month makes the world look brighter and seem better. May is nearly as wonderful as June.

Bernard M. Baruch is quoted as saying: "We will find that work will solve many of the problems threatening security."

FARM INCOME

Report in a trade paper says the American farm population decreased from 30,600,000 in 1939 to 25,600,000 in 1946, whereas farm income increased from 12.3 per cent to 15 per cent of the national total during the time mentioned. Farmers are reported in possession of more cash than ever before. Experience following World War I has led them to avoid mortgaging farms to buy more land at high prices. But they are in need of improvements, and they are providing them as fast as they become available. And they are able to dish out the cash for everything they buy. While land prices are up, they are not likely to reach the dangerous boom stage that often brought severe losses twenty-five years ago.

matter was finally settled and the "ducks" were allowed to proceed to Uncle Sugar.

Why a new deal duck? Ole John Q. Taxpayer paid for the cablegear between the state department and the American representative in Australia.

Harold Holmquist of Oakland represented Nebraska at a national lumbermen's meeting here last week. Accompanied by his wife, Mr. Holmquist visited the White House, both houses of congress and several places of interest in Washington.

Representative A. L. Miller of Kimball was in the U. S. naval hospital here last week with a severe cold. "As assistant majority whip of the house and a member of the house public lands committee, the Nebraska congressman is quite an active solon during this session of congress."

A touch of Nebraska was viewed by Washington residents this week in a local theater where the movie, "The Egg and I," is now appearing. A miniature chicken coop in the theater lobby, contains three hens setting on eggs.

Several western states congressmen have been named to a special committee to investigate the box-car shortage in Nebraska and other states. It has been reported that a number of boxcars are "held-over" on the eastern seaboard because of better freight revenues.

UNHAPPY MIGRANTS

A staff correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, writing from San Francisco, says the flow of laborers into California is a reminder of conditions dramatized in John Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath" some years ago. More than 200 camped on a river bank in central California explained that they had journeyed there in answer to an advertisement for workers to pick 500 acres of peas. But it was found the crop was late and would not be ready to harvest for another month. In one camp, men refused to work for 30 cents per hour and pay $1.30 for board out of their $2.40 per day. Citrus workers have been laid off on account of rain after picking lemons one day. One contractor paid the expenses of 24 to return to New York. Transients lured by high expectations will have to live in considerable measure on climate and the hope that something will turn up.

There are 2,600,000 veterans training under the GI bill provisions. Of this number, 220,000 are taking training as disabled veterans under Public Law 16, and 2.4 million under the GI bill (PL 346).

The cost of peacetime universal military training as provided by H.R. 1988 and S. 651, now before congress, would be about 50 million dollars less a year than the nation now spends for movies. Mil D. Campbell, national defense director of the American Legion, declared. Universal military training as provided by these two bills would cost the government $625,000,000 a year.

Deaths of between 3,000 and 4,000 veterans of World War II are expected each month on the basis of the most recent mortality rates, and between 5,000 and 6,000 each month of veterans of World War I, the Veterans Administration announced this past week. Fifty years from now, in the year 2000, the average age of living World War II veterans will be between 75 and 80 years. The present average of World War I veterans is 54 years. During the next 15 months, separations from the armed forces will average 45,000 a month as compared with an average of 100,000 a month the first quarter of 1947. By June of this year, there will be a total of 14.4 million veterans of World War II and a total of 18.3 million veterans of all wars.

There is agitation among veterans that congress order the War Assets Administration liquidated at once, and return the sale of surplus property over to the army and navy or some other agency that can do a good job of it. It seems as if it is easier for the War Assets Administration to give something away than it is to sell something to a veteran.

Rep. Ruth Edith Nourse (r. Mass.) this week stated that the Veterans Administration estimated cost of new legislation is "fantastic." Mrs. Rogers told the House of Representatives that General Bradley takes the figures of his statisticians and that these amounts are "always high." She states that the VA has over-estimated the costs of veterans taking on-the-job training by $10,000,000. Mrs. Rogers stated that her own statisticians had worked on the figures which she quoted and that her remarks concerning this over-estimation were not "figments of her own imagination."

The number of veterans who applied for dental out-patient care in Nebraska for the month of March was 1307. This number has increased monthly, according to Dr. Gradoville, chief of the dental service in the sub-regional office in Omaha.

Q. May a veteran use his terminal leave bond as security for a loan?
A. No. Because such bonds are non-transferable and non-negotiable, and no one could transfer the bond to a bank or other lender on default, so naturally no lender will accept the bond as security.

One of our government bureaus to be created in the post-war era, is the office of technical services of the department of commerce. John C. Green, a World War Two navy veteran, serves as director of OTS and his agency is doing much toward acquainting American business with the latest scientific and technical information.

The director recently outlined the functions of his organization before a congressional committee. They are:

1. The direct informative link between the scientific discoveries flowing out of government research and the manufacturing industries which are eager to absorb and adapt them to immediate peacetime use.
2. Compile and furnish concise, straightforward answers to the practical, technical problems of the manufacturer.
3. Sponsor research which has been planned by industry, endorsed by industry, in laboratories selected by industry and with industrial participation.
4. Guide the inventor along channels leading to the most effective development of his ideas.
5. Inform the American inventor and engineer of the technical problems confronting the military and enlist his talents in the search for practical inventive solutions.
6. Select and collect the scientific "reparations" coming to the United States as a result of our defeat of the axis nations. After collection and shipment here, arrange the full and free dissemination of this captured science and technology.

Much information regarding scientific achievements of our former enemies has been obtained from "microfilm teams" sent into German industrial establishments where they photograph original documents and these pictures are made available to American business.

Many of the current advancements in plastics made by American industry came from information found by OTS workers in Germany. The motion picture com-

Now you can kill honeysuckle, posio ivy, whitetop, wild garlic, annual and perennial thistles, and most other weeds in pasture, without killing grass. Use one gallon of Weedone in 100 gallons of water, sprayed in a coarse, drenching spray, with pressure below 100 lbs. Spray early, before weeds go to seed. Repeat sprays are needed to control the tough, deep-rooting perennial weeds like Canada thistle. Weedone is easy to handle. Weedone is less poisonous to humans and animals than common salt. It does not permanently sterilize the soil; it does not corrode metal spray equipment; it is not a fire hazard.

Now you can kill honeysuckle, posio ivy, whitetop, wild garlic, annual and perennial thistles, and most other weeds in pasture, without killing grass. Use one gallon of Weedone in 100 gallons of water, sprayed in a coarse, drenching spray, with pressure below 100 lbs. Spray early, before weeds go to seed. Repeat sprays are needed to control the tough, deep-rooting perennial weeds like Canada thistle. Weedone is easy to handle. Weedone is less poisonous to humans and animals than common salt. It does not permanently sterilize the soil; it does not corrode metal spray equipment; it is not a fire hazard.

In Early Wayne Files.
From Wayne Herald for March 5 and 12, 1891: "The constant demand of the traveling public for a comfortable and at the same time an economical mode of traveling has led to the establishment of what is known as Pullman colonist sleepers." ... The New York Press, which prints 100,000 copies, is "the organ of no faction, pulls no wires, has no animosities to avenge." Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the Press. Welsh families which have bought land in Carroll field precinct and have arrived to establish homes are those of Griffith Williams, Wm. Jenkins, Mathias Jones, Owen Price, Wm. Roberts, John Price. Anton Jorgensen collected from Danes of the community $25 for relief of western sufferers.

Notes in Ponca Journal.
From Northern Nebraska Journal, Ponca, for May 12, 1887: The assessor is wearily going his rounds, trying to do his duty and to be there at meal time. A. H. Ellyson captured another 100-pound catfish. Weather is hot and dry and rain is needed for small grain. The acreage of corn increases each year and about three-fourths of the land is now in corn. A new railroad from Omaha to Yankton is almost assured. Three hundred came from Norway to settle with the Mormons in Utah. Texas has been having a bad drouth. A new railroad is to be built between Sioux Falls and Fort Dodge. It was 90 degrees in the shade. South Sioux City is now a town with 50 houses. The Norfolk Daily Gazette has been rejected by the Norfolk News. Railroad surveyors who came down the old grade through New castle are camping at Ponca. Discoveries of coal were made at Lyons. The same thing happened at Ponca a few years ago. Streets are being sprinkled, the service being paid for by private subscription. A town without a boom is unnatural. Willie Mikesell skims along on his new bicycle faster than the railroad train. Wakefield people are beginning to plan for establishing water works. Several new streets have been opened in Dakota City. Nelson's brick yard has 250,000 bricks in the kiln. A meeting was held in Wayne to discuss the possibility of having a railroad from Omaha to Yankton by way of Wayne. The city of Wayne decided to offer $35,000 to such an enterprise. Residents of Ponca should be most contented when they realize the beauty of the landscape, the sheltering hills, the beautiful foliage and fresh air.
D. Hurley was severely injured when he was thrown when his horse got into a slough. Sioux City voted to extend its limits to 48 square miles. Anna Bowman, 13, was killed by a gun that accidentally discharged in May, 1887. Lincoln has a new cracker factory, and that city plans to pave.

Weasel Kills Rats.
The weasel serves a good purpose in ridding premises of rats, according to Lloyd Longnecker, Isidor Kuhl of Sholes is using the weasel in this way very successfully in his elevator, Mr. Longnecker finds.

Library News

It Happened at the Library

I arrived at the library at opening time.
People were waiting by the door all in line.
All day they buzzed around me with questions so varied.
Up, down, ground and round, my beleaguered mind scurried.
I need some material on foreign relations.
Do you have a book of familiar quotations?
I want to read Smoky; is it always out?
Will you kindly tell me what Main Street is about?
My topic's inflation—the effect and the cause,
Where can I find something about Mendel's laws?
I'm in a hurry I'm going to be late.
In this book, tell me what is the copyright date?
Will you find me a picture of an evergreen tree?
I need an example of a good simile.
Must I pay for this book? The cause was our pup;
Before I could grab it, he got it chewed up!
Can you find me a favorite poem?
I'm writing a speech about school and the home.
For the last book you checked me I'm grateful to you.
It thought it so good I made Mom read it too.
Do you know the difference between sit and set?
I need Emily Post or some etiquette.
We're having a party and want some new games.
Bill Cody's checked out, do you have Jesse James?
Shakespeare I have to read—do you have him in here?
I want a book called The Last Frontier.
Does chromium begin with a "c" or a "k"?
Where can I find something about TVA?
A diagram please of the lungs of a frog.
Why can't I find this in the card catalog?
Sorry to disturb by talking so loud,
But could you find us a picture of a cumulus cloud?
Could you find me a book that my mother would like?
Most of the new ones make her so mad she could fight!
And I want to look for myself to read, too.
Do you have one under the desk that would do?
Without lull or surcease—the hours endless stream,
I cudgled my brain, tried hard not to scream.
When closing time had almost come
Most folks had departed. I was left all alone.

The books scattered round me were a vast disarray.
I began to restore them Dewey Decimal way.
In walked a lady, fatigued with much care.
Wearily she sighed as she dropped in a chair.
It's so peaceful in here, quiet orderly too.
But how do you stand it with nothing to do?

Do drop in and see if there is't something you would like to read, now that housecleaning is almost over and the garden is in. Maybe you would like to read "Kingsblood Royal" by Sinclair Lewis, the new Literary Guild book of the month. The children's department will be closed in the evenings after school is out. So remember, youngsters, to come in in the afternoons during the summer.

Crop Certification Plan Is Explained

Fourteen applications have been filed in Wayne county for field inspection of crops for certification to the Nebraska Crop Improvement association, College of Agriculture, Lincoln, state's County Agent Walter R. Harder. Mr. Harder urges all to get in applications not later than June 1. Included in the applications are: Carl Bronzynski and Elmer Nielson, Winside; Willard Maas, Hosblocker and Walter Strate, Hoskins; and Albert Watson, Wayne, Clinton oats; Kennard Hall and Walter Strate, Hoskins, E. P. Caauwe and Eddie Gathje, Wayne, and T. P. Roberts, Winside, Velvon 11 barley; Felix Dorcey, Wayne, Cedar oats; T. S. Hook, Wayne, and Franklin Rees, Randolph, broome.

Applications should be accompanied by documentary evidence, such as sales cards and certified tags to establish seed origin.
The following varieties are eligible for certification in Nebraska: Madrid, Evergreen and Spanish sweet clover; Nebred, Cheyenne and Pawnee winter wheat; Mida, Rival and Thatcher spring wheat; Spartan, Exond, Trebi, Beecher, Velsion 11, Reno and Ward barley; Otaw, Brunner, Clinton, Cedar, Osage and Trojan oats; Rosen and Balboa rye; Biwing flax; Lincoln broome grass.

In the case of Clinton oats, the seed source must have been verified either by having the bag inspected prior to planting or evidence must be on hand to show such seed came directly from the original owner to be acceptable for field certification.
Broome grass fields should be at least 25 rods from other broome unless the fields are of the same approved source. No noxious weeds should border any field for which application for field inspection is filed.
Isolation requirements for fields of small grains stipulate a definite division between fields such as a fence or not less than a five-foot margin. This is to avoid the possibility of mechanical mixing at harvest time.

Application forms and rules may be secured at County Agent Harder's office.
Go to Rochester.
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Masters went to Rochester Thursday when the former entered a hospital and underwent major surgery Monday. They will be gone three weeks.
Top Notchers Meet.
Top Notchers 4-H club met May 6 at Mary Hansen's. The club meets June 3 at Emil Svoboda's. If possible, calves will be tagged May 25. After they are tagged, all club members will meet at Mary Hansen's to judge baby heaves.
Team Travels Far.
Through an ad in the Herald last week Henry Willers of near Pilsen was able to locate a team which strayed away and which reached the Verne Troutman place near Winside. The horses had gone 11 miles.
Opportunity in Navy.
Opportunities for advancement in the navy were never better than now, according to Capt. Roy McGregor, Omaha, who has charge of recruiting for the Wayne area. Nearly half of the 500,000 in the regular navy complete their enlistments within a year, and this accelerates advancement for those who adjust to take their places.

Serving Your Interests by Improving Tavern Conditions
The beer industry, like every industry, is obligated to conduct itself in the public interest.
Brewers believe in strict enforcement of laws controlling the sale of their product. They want beer sold in surroundings as wholesome as the product to which they devote such scientific skill and care.
The Nebraska Committee, through its Self-Regulation program, is ever alert in suggesting to tavern owners ways of improving conditions in their places—of keeping well within the purposes of the law—of doing everything possible to retain the public good will.
These combined efforts, supplementing the work of the law enforcement agencies, have helped improve tavern conditions. Improper conduct in taverns has resulted in protests by citizens in less than 1% of all Nebraska towns.
Yes, Nebraska taverns truly operate in the public interest. In beer industry Self-Regulation, the public interest is always the controlling factor.

Memorial Day is the one holiday on which we pay tribute to all who have gone before and it is most fitting that we should honor these precious ones. It has been our privilege to erect many beautiful monuments that express the appreciation of the living for the memory of members of families who have departed. Gratefulness for our heritage is one of America's truly fine qualities. Let us always revere the fine qualities and faithful service of our ancestors.

Officials at the Lodi, Cal., grape and wine festival surveyed ruefully meager remnants of what had been their prize display. The display had been billed as the largest exhibit of grapes in the world, until a hilarious festival crowd swarmed over the guard-railing and helped itself almost down to the last grape. Eight husky policemen arrived too late to save the grapes from the crowd.

The little girl and the neighbor boy were playing in the parlor. The girl's mother was working in the kitchen. Soon there was a squeal. Johnny, through gaps in his front teeth, said proudly: "French fwied toast." The mother laughed politely, went back preparing Shrench shried toast.

Cuba is having a "terrible winter," according to the natives. Cubans are basking in sunshine and a balmy sea breeze, but that's just the trouble. "This has been the most terrible winter in years," a Cuban declared. "There has been no cold at all to make us feel fresh again. January was our only chance."

O. E. Schellberg of Omaha, noticed a shortage of eating utensils at his home. He reported to police that 68 pieces of silverware, including knives, forks and spoons were stolen from his home. Also missing, he reported, were four tablecloths, a woman's coat and an electric clock.

Renovate Pasture At Roy Neary Farm

Farmers interested in a new method of renovating bromo should watch a demonstration on the Roy Neary farm five miles west of Winside, states Herbert Kollmar, manager of the Wayne soil conservation district. Roy had about 65 acres of bromo which was about eight years old and showed signs of losing its vigor. It was evidently getting sod bound which is primarily a nitrogen deficiency.

Mr. Neary knew it was impossible to get nitrogen fertilizer. He was also anxious to keep water from running off the farm. He hired a new type of chiseling implement to do the job. It has nine pointed two-inch shovels spaced at one foot intervals. The finished job appears to tear up the sod quite badly, but closer observation reveals that a very good stand of bromo remains.

Since Mr. Neary wanted the pasture to hold more water, he had the entire job of 65 acres done on the contour. Frank Lansing and Lemoyne Cunningham of the Wayne county soil district surveyed the contour lines. The chisels cut the sod about four inches deep, leaving level water holding furrows all over the hills. Mr. Neary is very pleased with the job and says, "I believe it is just the thing for these older bromo pastures." He realizes it is still too early to evaluate final results, but his demonstration is important in determining the value of this type of chiseling on bromo pastures.
