BOND INVESTMENT FOR JUNE SHOWS UP WELL IN STATE

Though June investments in bonds in Nebraska were $1,883,229 short of May purchases, the fact that Nebraskans put $9,900,319 into government securities in June shows that people prefer to invest in these rather than in get-rich-quick schemes. Wayne county residents bought $44,161.15 in series "E" and $34,710 in series "F" and "G" bonds during June. Dixon county people placed $34,432.90 in "E" and $52,474 in "F" and "G" bonds the same month. Leland R. Hall, state director of bond sales for this state, is confident that Nebraskans know that every investment in a savings bond is a blow against inflation, helps keep the national debt widely spread, adds to the general welfare and security and increases assets for future prosperity.

Fewer Schools THE practical wisdom of maintaining fewer and larger and better rural schools is spreading. Consolidations are economical and enliven pupil and teacher interest. Just a few enrolled contribute less to the cause of education. Touching a revealing example, the Lincoln Journal comments editorially:

Anyone who is in quest of further information regarding the need of school re-districting in Nebraska may find it in Furnas county. There are ninety-four organized districts in that county. School will be held the coming autumn in but thirty-four of them, which means a little more than a third. The reasons given are depopulated districts, lack of teachers and a satisfactory arrangement of sending farm children to the town schools. Last year forty-two rural districts used bus service supplied either by the home district or those in town. Twenty-five rural schools have filled their teaching needs, but the others are diligently seeking instructors. This situation prevails in spite of the fact that salary levels are higher than last year, with beginners offered from $335 to $450 a month, with more experienced ones being paid as high as $175.

To Defeat Labor Law FORD and Chrysler automobile manufacturers have had to dismiss workers and slow up production on account of lack of supplies shut off by a strike in the plant of the Murray corporation which makes needed parts. Strikes in the Murray plant are attributed to a protest against the Taft-Hartley labor law. That is a hitherto unheard-of way to attempt defeat of a law. Courts are available. A law may be changed by congress and popular judgment so decree. Pressure on a country in the shape of strikes does not accord with democratic processes. The Norfolk Daily News comments:

The struggle thus becomes not so much one between employer and employe, as between the labor organizations and the federal government. The right of one party to an agreement to promise that the law passed by congress may be ignored or violated is questionable to say the least. Congress was acting in the name of the people, and in response to an election mandate, when it passed the Taft-Hartley law. Is it in accord with public policy to permit an employer to be coerced into promising that the law will not be enforced?

There is only one answer to that question. The law is the law. No one should be permitted to flout it whether employer or employe.

If the law is ill advised it should be repealed. Using a strike to nullify the law cannot be defended. Besides throwing thousands of men out of work, such methods foster contempt of law and order and the unions cannot afford to have that charged up against them. It isn't good policy.

While we shrink with horror from thought of being even remotely related to the prehistoric saber-toothed fossil dug out the earth near Cambridge, Neb., and reconstructed by ambitious university scientists, we may be encouraged by the thought of the progress made during intervening years. The university men think they have found something that has been missing. As a member of the rank and file, we would feel just as well satisfied not to trace relationship so far.

Every summer fear of damaging drouth takes hold and wrenches delicate nervous systems. Saturday night's Main street forum at this season considers the weather and crop conditions from every angle. Elements favorable for taking due care of the small grain harvest often neglect growing corn. Small grain is turning out better than expected. The past week people's thoughts have turned with eager expectancy to the corn in the hope that rain will descend in time to insure a maximum yield.

Senator Robt. Taft of Ohio has launched himself on a speaking tour of the country to ascertain if possible his chance for the presidential nomination next year. If he is favorably impressed, he will undoubtedly become an avowed candidate. If reactions prove contrary to his hopes, he will likely withdraw. If candor is an advantage, he has it. If people are found unfriendly to outspoken policies, they would logically be against the Ohio statesman. He is going to find out, if he can.

The latest from the agriculture department at Washington asks farmers to step up wheat production next year to meet mounting foreign demands. But the department also cautions against plowing up sodded ground—the source of erosion and dust storms.

High religious circles have taken hold of the problem of soil conservation. They charge neglect of the soil is sacrilegious. It is as much of an evil as other things commonly considered bad.

We note Egyptians still have the courage to smile. The picture of a meeting between Secretary Marshall and a native of Egypt is our proof.

PROBLEM FOR SCIENCE

Science is fashioning the universe to human desires and one of the latest discoveries is a method of making rain. In the southwest a few days ago a flier dropped dry ice from an airplane into clouds and the desired rain fell. One rancher wanted control that would produce rain for his corn but dry weather for his hay which was cut. Just how this is to be managed is still puzzling.

II veterans are now in colleges and universities, studying under the GI bill of rights. The estimated cost of the program for the fiscal year 1948 is $12,000,000.

A steamer, loaded with soap, will leave New York this week for the Philippine islands. This is taking place in spite of the fact that the islands have an abundant supply of coconut oil, essential to soap production.

The veterans' affairs committee of the house and senate reported two bills, during the 80th congress, which would in effect increase the subsistence allowances for World War II G.I.s, enrolled in an institution, under the servicemen's adjustment act of 1944 (the GI bill of rights).

However, a sharp difference is noted in the two measures—namely, that the house bill provides subsistence allowances for only married veterans and their dependents who are attending college. The committee report said: "It is felt that these persons who are undergoing apprentice training or other training on the job have the advantage of earnings plus subsistence allowance; a person enrolled in and pursuing any other course, on the other hand, who must devote his full time to classroom work and study is limited in the amount of outside work he can do."

The house bill provides that vets be paid a subsistence allowance of $65 per month if without a dependent or dependents, or $105 per month, if he has one dependent plus an additional $20 per month for the first child, and $15 for each additional child, including regular holidays and leave not exceeding thirty days in a calendar year. This would not change the allowances granted single veterans but would make substantial increases to veterans with dependents.

Meanwhile, the senate proposal says "that while (veterans) are enrolled in and pursuing a course of full-time institutional training under this part of (the GI bill of rights), such person, upon application to the administrator (appropriate veterans administration officer), shall be paid a subsistence allowance of $75 per month, if without a dependent or dependents, or $105 per month if he has one dependent, or $120 per month if he has more than one dependent, including regular holidays and leave not exceeding thirty days in a calendar year."

The committee reports on both measures cite the high cost of living and that "some additional assistance should be given to those most in need of it." The committees interpreted "those most in need of additional assistance" as veterans who are pursuing a full-time course of education in a recognized university, college or school.

One member of the house appropriations committee said he didn't feel former servicemen engaged in so-called "on-the-job-training" positions are entitled to subsistence instances. "He asserted that in certain instances employers hire veterans at a certain salary and then "reimburse" them of how much "they can get" from the federal government under the GI bill. "I found in Florida, a night club owner was employing ex-GIs as bar tenders and was advising them to apply for subsistence allowances under the GI bill of rights because the Veterans Administration would interpret bar tending as a certain type of training," the appropriations committee member stated.

Jack Morris, head of the civil aeronautics administration's aircraft division, is scheduled to inspect airports at Norfolk, Lincoln, Omaha and Scribner this week. The CAA official, who was scheduled to be the principal speaker at the Fremont municipal airport dedication ceremonies Sunday, will also investigate some of Nebraska's war-time army air field installations.

KARL STEFAN As Seen By During the final hours of the 80th congress, a spirited debate developed between congressional members and the state department over some of the department's foreign-aid program. This took place when the deficiencies subcommittee of the house appropriations committee reviewed state's $350,000,000 relief request for Poland, Italy, China, Hungary, Austria, Greece and the international city of Trieste. The committee asked the department to accept some language which would preclude giving further assistance to Hungary, Poland and other countries within the Russian orbit. The state department has resisted those suggestions. Under the program, tentative plans call for U. S. delivery of the following: Cereals, 61,600 metric tons, meats and fish, 7,725 metric tons; fats and oils, 3,650 metric tons; vegetables, 14,770 metric tons; dairy products, 20,260 metric tons; and fuel, 325,000 metric tons. Other materials include seeds, fertilizers, medical supplies and clothing. Most of these supplies will be turned over to the various governments and they in turn are expected to sell the same to wholesalers and retailers. These wholesalers and retailers are to sell the material and deposit the proceeds with local banks. It is deposited to the credit of that particular government which is supposed to allocate the money for the building of hospitals and general relief. Meanwhile, American representatives are to be authorized to go into the countries and see how the food stuffs and other materials are being distributed—a difficult task if a particular country is communist-dominated. Members of congress have learned, through UNRRA and other relief agencies, that material sent to Russian satellite nations is used for the benefit of only those people who play ball with the Red party. While on the subject of worldwide relief, it's newsworthy to note the special interest taken by representatives of the more than 50 foreign governments officially located in Washington in the proposed 30-30 per cent income tax reduction measure, vetoed by the president, overridden by the house and sustained in the senate. The proposed tax reduction bill would have out the American taxpayers liability by more than $4,000,000,000. By a strange coincidence this is the amount that has been set aside in a secret document to provide relief for 42 foreign governments. Representatives of these 42 governments claim to know almost to the dollar the amounts earmarked for their respective countries—something members of congress have been trying to learn since January. Want to buy a flagpole? They cost a lot more money than some of those in Nebraska—anyway one would think so looking over the war department's appropriations requests for the fiscal year 1948. The department says it will cost them $3,500 to construct a pole in Hawaii; $5,000 for one in Puerto Rico and $7,000 for a flag-holder in Alaska. When house appropriations committees were discussing United States food surpluses, it was revealed that we have about 30 to 60 thousand pounds of dried fruits in excess of our needs. The carry-over of canned fruit and vegetables in 1947 will be 113,000,000 cases, according to the same sources. Maurice Este, a native of Pender, Neb., has been named director of the international children's emergency relief fund. The organization expects to furnish aid in the form of food, clothing and medicine to the children in the war devastated areas. President Truman has signed a bill to create a joint congressional committee, composed of members of both parties, which will investigate all government departments and agencies as a means for increasing efficiency and cutting expenses. The veterans administration has reported that 1,200,000 World war

Rules Are Given As Aid to Safety

Safety rules that should be followed in operating a tractor are presented by the extension office as follows:

Be sure to see the gear shift is in neutral before cranking the engine.

Be sure to have hand or foot on the brake before backing tractor. Always disengage take-off before dismantling from tractor.

Always engage the clutch gently, especially when going up a hill or pulling out of a ditch.

When driving on highways, or to and from fields, be sure that both wheels are braked simultaneously when making an emergency stop.

Never ride on draw-bar of tractor or drawn implement. Always ride on seat or stand on platform of tractor.

Always hitch to draw-bar and never take up the slack chain with a jerk when hitched to stump or heavy load.

Be extra careful when working on hillsides. A wheel may drop into a hole or ditch causing tractor to overturn.

Always drive tractor at speeds slow enough to insure safety, especially over rough ground or near ditches.

Reduce speed before making a turn or applying brakes. The hazard of overturning the tractor increases four times when speed is doubled.

Never dismount from tractor when it is in motion. Wait until it stops.

Never permit persons other than driver to ride on tractor when it is in operation.

Do not put on or remove belt from belt pulley while the pulley is in motion.

Should motor overheat, be careful when refilling radiator.

Never stand between tractor and drawing implement when hitched. Use an iron hook to handle draw-bar.

Never refuel tractor while motor is running or extremely hot.

When tractor is attached to power implement, be sure that all power lines shielding is in place.

Omaha Market

Livestock values failed to keep pace with the soaring mercury Monday on the Omaha market, in the fat cattle division only those from $27.00 up holding steady. Quotable top remained above $32.00, but the day's best was $31.65 for steers, $28.50 for heifers. Under $27.00 trade was on a weak to 50 cents lower basis. Grass-fat Wyoming steers, however, set a new mark for westerns at $25.50. Cows were 25-50 cents or more off at $10.50-$18.50, and stockers and feeders weak to 25 cents lower, stock steers to $22.25, stock heifers to $21.25. Hogs, which reached $28.75 last week, were largely 25 to 75 cents lower Monday, with $28.00 the peak. Fat lamb reversed that trend with a 50-cent upturn that lifted them to $24.50, and ewes advanced 25 cents to score an $8.50 top.

Among shipments from this vicinity were the following: Antone Pflueger, steers at $30.00; Herman Eugholz, steers at $30.50; Mrs. Anna Stalp, steers at $32.25, the Wednesday top.

Fat steers, yearlings and heifers sold slow but at steady money on the Sioux City market Monday as the year's first sizable run of western range cattle appeared on the market. Fat steers and yearlings ranged from $20.00 to $32.00, with two loads of western grass steers at $27.00. Fed heifers cleared from $18.50 to $28.50. Cow trade was 50 cents lower, prices ranging from $10.50 to $21.00. Bulls were 50 cents off at $15.00. Stockers and feeders steady, others 50 cents lower, prices ranging from $15.00 to $23.65. Swine trade slow, uneven, slaughter classes steady to 25 cents lower, some heavy butchers and sows 50 cents off. Butchers sold from $21.50 to $22.50, stags $16.00 down, feeder pigs, $1.00 lower at $22.00 to $26.00. Fat lamb trade fairly active, steady, good and choice native spring lambs $24.00 to $24.50, less desirable kinds ranging down to $20.00. Slaughter ewes sold from $5.50 to $8.50. Breeding ewes from $8.00 to $9.50. Feeding lambs scarce, quoted steady.

Among shipments from this vicinity were the following: Herman Dinklage, steers at $30.00; Albers & Albers, steers at $29.00; Emil Rogers, sows at $20.75; M. P. Kavanaugh, steers at $26.40; Maurice Gustafson, sows at $22.50; Walter Strate, heifers at $27.00; Myron Waehner, heifers at $27.75; Don Beckenhauer, hogs at $27.50; Carl Frevert, steers at $28.25; Harry Hansen, hogs at $27.50.

START FLYING NOW!

"KEEP OUT" NEEDN'T MEAN YOU

If leaning on the airport fence is a habit with you, Mister, it's ten-to-one the "Keep out" sign won't always apply to you. Sooner or later, by taking just one simple step, you'll get your passport to that thrilling new world on the other side. Those fellows you're envying? You'll be over where they are now, and someone else will be over here, wistfully watching YOU. Learning to fly is simpler, less costly, than you think. If you qualify under the GI Bill of Rights, it involves no money — only a few hours' time. Why not stroll over to the Continental dealer's — right there at the airport where you are — and find out how little time and money it takes to learn to fly?

The Age of Private Flying is definitely here. Thousands of people — farmers, salesmen, business executives — who took up flying as a hobby, find that it pays out from the utility standpoint too. There are fast, safe, reliable planes for a wide range of specialized uses. And there's still time left, this season, to get your private pilot's license and derive utility — and fun — from the plane you rent or buy.

Gentlemen: I'd like to talk about this flying business. Have one of your men drop around and see me.

Governor Praises Norfolk Station

Northeast Nebraska's radio station, WJAG, Norfolk, was praised Saturday, July 26, by Governor Val Peterson for 25 years of outstanding broadcast service. WJAG received its first broadcasting license from the department of commerce July 26, 1922.

The Nebraska governor's telegram to Art Thomas, manager of WJAG, reads as follows: "Congratulations to WJAG on reaching five old age of 25. Your station has done an outstanding job in the past quarter of a century—through the fabulous 20's, the depression 30's, the war years and present time. Best wishes for your continued success. Val Peterson, governor."

WJAG was started as a hobby by Gene Huse, publisher of the Norfolk Daily News, and its first official program, a market and noon news broadcast, was made September 13, 1922, by Karl Stefan, now congressman from the Third district. Previously there had been considerable experimental broadcasting.

This was the first noon news broadcast period in the midwest and is still heard daily at 12:15 p. m. In October, 1922, Karl Stefan broadcast a play-by-play account of the world series, reconstructed from Associated Press reports, which is another WJAG "first". The station is now making plans for a series of anniversary programs, the dates to be announced later.

Discontinue Control On Supply of Sugar

Senator Hugh Butler, (R-Nebr.), in a statement today, hailed the final discontinuance of sugar rationing on industrial users in line with the suggestion he made recently to members of congressional appropriations committees. A few weeks ago, the senator made the public suggestion that all funds for administration and pay of clerks for the sugar rationing program be cut off, as a means of bringing the policy to an end. Monday, July 28, 1947, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson announced that the rationing on industrial users, such as candy-makers, soft-drink manufacturers, and bakers had been terminated immediately because no funds had been provided for enforcement.

In making his original suggestion, Senator Butler pointed out that congress had granted authority to continue with the rationing until October. "In my judgement, that extension of authority was a mistake, and congress ought to be frank enough to admit it," he had said. "Since it is almost too late to pass legislation to bring the program to an end, I suggest that we refuse to vote the necessary appropriations for it."

Upon receiving the news that the program had finally been terminated, Senator Butler pointed out that all war-time rationing controls had now been brought to an end by this congress, despite the fact that President Truman had urged continuation of the rationing program.

Pioneers Drop Tekamah Here

Break Losing Streak with Thrilling 3 to 2 Victory Sunday Evening.

Manager Jim Morrison's Wayne Pioneer league boys broke a four-game losing streak here Sunday evening by scoring an upset 3 to 2 victory over the strong Tekamah team.

The game, thrilling throughout its nine innings, was exceptionally well played and furnished plenty of good baseball for the large crowd of supporters.

Conklin, on the mound for the visitors, did an effective job, holding Wayne to three safe hits, but the local boys combined these with Tekamah errors and a few breaks to score all three runs.

The visitors found the slants of Kimmel for eight singles, but the Wayne hurler kept these so well scattered that rarely was he in trouble, and on these occasions heads-up baseball by his teammates brought matters around more to the liking of Wayne fans.

The visitors broke four innings of scoreless play to take the lead in the top of the 5th when Wachtler singled, went to second on an error, moved to third on a passed ball and crossed the plate on another passed ball.

Wayne came right back in its half of the 5th to tie things up. Weber, first up, reached first on an error. Ellyson, next up, laid down a sacrifice bunt to third. In an attempt to catch Weber, racing to third on the play, First-baseman Stanek threw wild, allowing Weber to score. Harder doubled sharply but died on second when Page and Otto whiffed.

Holding Tekamah scoreless in its half, Wayne scored two runs in the bottom of the 6th for what turned out to be the margin of victory. After Bahe had struck out, Jolee was given a free pass and went to third on Moyer's double to left field. Kimmel walked, filling the bases, and Weber struck out. With the bases loaded and two men down, Gerry Ellyson proved himself equal to the occasion by driving a sharp single over second to score Jolee and Moyer. Harder whiffed to end the inning.

Tekamah came up in the top of the 7th with grim determination and managed to out Wayne's margin to one run. Wolff first up, singled, stole second, waited there while Fitch fanned and LeMaster flied out to right, and finally scored on Conklin's single. Beard flied out to left to end all scoring.

Distribution of the World War Two victory medal and the American defense service medal in the Fifth area, which includes Nebraska and nearby states, starts after August 15. Victory medal is given for service between Pearl Harbor and December, 1946, inclusive. Defense service medal is for all members of the armed forces who served between September 8, 1939, and December 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor. Veterans are requested not to apply for these medals until the actual date of availability is announced later by Gen. Walton H. Walker, commanding Fifth army, 1660 east Hyde Park Boulevard, Chicago.

Disabilities that are not the result of, or have not been aggravated by, service in the armed forces may be treated only when hospital space is available and if the veteran signs an affidavit that he is unable to pay for private hospitalization. VA's chief medical responsibility is to provide treatment for veterans with service-connected disabilities. A veteran with a service incurred disability may be hospitalized, in an emergency, in a private hospital, at VA expense if no bed is available at the VA hospital or if distance would make it hazardous to transport him to the VA institution.

RILCO POST FREE MACHINE SHEDS

BUILT WITH RILCO RAFTERS MORE DURABLE

Here's the modern RILCO Machine Shed you've always wanted. Its interior is completely free of posts and braces giving you unobstructed floor space. It makes it easy to get your machinery in and out. Plenty of height for large implements. More protection for your machinery because this RILCO building is constructed to last.

RILCO Machine Sheds with their modern streamlined appearance are built with the famous engineered and fire-resistant RILCO Laminated Wood Rafters. These rafters are delivered to your farm ready for erection. Saves labor hours and material.

RILCO rafter arches are the strongest known type of framing. They build stronger structures, more wind-resistant structures. They are continuous framing members running from foundation to roof ridge, thus eliminating the jointing of side wall rafters which is the weakest part of ordinary construction.

RILCO rafters are securely anchored to sill with special RILCO angle irons, which are joined at ridge with RILCO metal ridge plates. You can obtain almost any floor size and height you want.

Come in and see us for more information. A RILCO Machine Shed will give many uses on your farm—it's the most practical utility building.

Recognizing the seriousness of traffic accidents, President Truman has conducted two traffic safety conferences and he has also asked states to assume responsibility for safety programs.

Gov. Val Peterson has organized a plan for Nebraska; State Engineer W. G. Scott not only has charge of engineering and traffic enforcement, but he is also entrusted with education of the public in regard to motor vehicle laws and regulations.

The aim is uniform national rules and well informed drivers. General rules follow:

Steps in parallel parking: Stop even with the car ahead and about a foot and a half from it; turn wheel sharp right and back slowly; straight toward car behind; when clear of car ahead turn wheels sharp left and back slowly to car behind; turn wheel sharp right and pull toward curb in center of parking space.

To make left turn: Well ahead of the turn, look for any following cars and move over close to center line, giving signal if needed for moving over; begin turn signal and start slowing down at least 100 feet from corner; end turn signal and look right and left before starting to make turn; enter street just to right of center; after completing turn, gradually move over to right; do not cut corner.

To make a right turn: Far before the corner, move over to the right side; begin turn signal and start slowing down at least 100 feet from corner; end turn signal and look both ways before starting to make a right turn; keep as close as possible to right; do not swing to left before or during the turn.

Right of way at intersections: Yield to cars in intersection; yield to car on right; yield right-of-way to pedestrians; watch for pedestrians between intersections.

Right of way at stop streets: When entering stop street, stop at sign and yield to cars approaching; when on stop street, yield to car which has stopped and is waiting to enter; when the other driver turns left, yield to car in intersection and signaling to turn; when you turn left, yield to cars approaching.

Do not overtake and pass at these locations: Hills, curves, railroads, intersections. You cannot see far enough ahead to overtake the car safely.

Rules for Swimmers. Swimming creates another of the nation's big hazards in summertime. County agents have been urged to pass on to all the safety rules and W. R. Harder brings these to the attention of the public.

Never dive into strange water. Know that the depth and bottom of pool or stream is safe. Swim only when accompanied by a good swimmer or life guard. After eating, two hours should elapse before swimming. Don't swim beyond your strength. Never kick a boat, and never call for help in the water unless you need it.

To make a water rescue use a boat, a pole, a rope or a life buoy. Make a swimming rescue as a last resort. Learn how to apply artificial respiration.

Lose to Geneva In Legion Play

Wakefield Nine in Baseball Play-off at Schuyler Thursday Night.

Geneva defeated Wakefield Junior Legion baseball team at Schuyler 4-0 Thursday evening to earn the right to play in state finals at David City the first of this week. Omaha Metz team also survived the play-off at Schuyler by winning over West Point 14-3. Grand Island defeated Lexington 5-3 and Hastings won from Scottsbluff 14-4 at Hastings.

In openings of the state event at David City Sunday Omaha Metz met Hastings and Grand Island met Geneva. In the Geneva-Wakefield game, Don Beihn, Geneva southpaw, tossed no-hit ball to halt the unbeaten Wakefield team. He and his mates had to depend on breaks because Bill Anderson also tossed outstanding ball for Wakefield.

Beihn finished with 16 strikeouts, walked two and hit two batters. Anderson allowed only four singles, struck out 14 and also walked two.

Geneva couldn't get a break until the sixth inning. The first run then was scored by a lad who fanned. Jack McCluskey whiffed but took first when Tom Swenson, substitute catcher, dropped the ball. He stole second and third and tallied after Fred Schlines dropped Beihn's hit.
