

Men Hunt Deer in Colorado's High Rockies — Tragedy in 1862 — Killing Frost a Year Ago — Good Neighbor Policy.

Four Wayne hunters, Henry E. Ley, J. N. Einung, C. C. Stirtz and Chris Tietgen, took advantage of Colorado's open deer season recently, and each was rewarded with one animal. Deer were reported not so numerous as usual in the territory visited on account of comparatively mild weather permitting them to remain among high and inaccessible mountain peaks. Snow fell every day where the men hunted, but it was not disagreeable.

The Wayne hunters were 75 miles from Denver at an altitude varying from 9,000 to 11,000 feet. Each paid $10 per day for food, a tent and a horse. The high and rarefied air soon taught the hunters to slow down. Five days were spent on the hunting ground, and the men say the wonderful scenery would have justified the experience even if they had not seen any deer. About 100 miles away a terrific blizzard descended on the Rockies, and the Wayne hunters, fearful of what might happen, cut one day off their intended stay.

A good grade of pine timber was found in the hunting area, and the fact that sawmills have not engaged in converting it into lumber, is believed due to distance to market over an exceedingly rough stretch of the Rockies. This virgin forest—state trees of excellent quality—has never been damaged by fires.

When the deer appeared, the Wayne men very naturally became excited, but managed to retain the poise necessary for accurate marksmanship, as results testified. The four deer were shared with other hunters who were not so fortunate.

Indians in Old Days.

Death of members of the Wisconsin family at the hands of Sioux Indian savages in 1862, was no doubt the cause of a reported Indian uprising that scared settlers living between Niobrara and Poncha. They hurried from their homes and sought safety in large centers.

Three Wisconsin children were left at home near the present site of Wynot while their mother went to St. James to buy supplies. Their father was in the army. Indians broke into the Wisconsin cabin and killed the two boys. A girl escaped and was discovered by settlers who had been aroused by reports of trouble with the red skins. On her return, the mother was unrecognizably shocked. Settlers helped the stricken family, and Mr. Wisconsin soon returned from army service, and he swore vengeance on members of the Sioux tribe.

Perhaps Indians were sometimes imposed upon by individuals, but it appears to this writer that the government has been considerate and generous. If the country had been left to the roving aborigines, little or no development would be in prospect. The government often allotted them best of lands. It has seemed to us the Indians had little real ground for complaint, and no reason to go on the warpath to stop the inevitable trends of civilization.

Fortunately Indians changed for the better many years ago. They have become educated, and descendants are now found in professional and business activities. They have served with honor in the country's armed forces. They have usually become good and useful citizens.

Mild October.

According to Herald files, the first killing frost a year ago arrived October 11, and was welcomed as beneficial to matured corn and husking facility. Soaking rains the early part of the month made encouraging contributions to the soil. The past October has been exceptionally mild. Some rain has fallen, but the ground could use more to advantage. Recalling the past, real winter with snow and biting cold could start from now on without violating the traditions of this latitude in this season.

Reciprocal.

The Good Neighbor policy appeared evident this month between Wayne State college and Midland college at Fremont. A Fremont girl, Miss Jean McIlharran, was crowned queen at the Wayne school October 11, and Miss Louisa Pfeuffer of Wayne, was crowned queen at Midland festivities October 18. And both students proved deserving. Miss Pfeuffer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Pfeuffer of Wayne.

Union Gospel Series Opens Here Sunday

Dr. John Zoller Coming to Wayne

(Sponsored by 12 churches representing six denominations, a series of union revival services will open at 8 p. m., Sunday, November 2, at the Wayne city auditorium under the leadership of Dr. John E. Zoller, widely known evangelist.

The gospel series will continue through November 22. There will be services every night except Saturday during this three-week period. Dr. R. R. Brown, pastor of the Omaha Gospel Tabernacle and WOV radio congregation, was scheduled to spearhead the revival series by addressing a pre-campaign rally at the city auditorium at 8 p. m., Wednesday, October 29. Previous rallies have been conducted in Concord, Dixon, Pilger, Carroll, Winside, Allen and Laurel.

Rev. Paul Nelson of Concord, chairman of the steering committee in charge of the meetings, said that Dr. Zoller "is one of America's foremost evangelists. He is one of a circle of 32 leading revivalists throughout the country who have associated themselves for a national spiritual awakening. They are of different denominations, but of one heart and mind. Their group name is significant of their purpose—Christ for America."

Rev. Nelson continued, "If the reports from other campaigns are indicative of what northeast Nebraska will do, Wayne's municipal auditorium will be filled and crowded out. It is believed these Nebraska communities shall respond fully as well, and give the evangelist, Dr. John E. Zoller, a great audience."

Dr. Zoller has just concluded a successful Christ for Greater Peoria campaign in that Illinois city, where he preached to thousands at the Shrine mosque. Hundreds surrendered to Christ. Thirty churches banded together in support of Dr. Zoller. They wrote, "Thousands are attending. . . Why such large crowds? . . . Certainly it is not for entertainment or diversion."

"The young people have flocked to their meetings recently held in Birmingham, Ala., Bremerton, Wash., and other cities. Chelsea Stockwell, the dynamic young musician, knows the art of leading youth—and all ages—in old-time gospel singing. His song services are songstems magnetic and inspiring. The crowds come back for more."

In conclusion, Rev. Nelson said, "Rally services, prayer meetings, house-to-house visitation, mailing cards, telephone calls and other means are invoked to rally the people for God and these meetings. Resultant enthusiasm is rising daily, promising the largest revival gatherings of a generation."

W. H. O'GARA'S NEW BOOK EMPHASIZES BLIZZARD OF 1868

W. H. O'GARA who moved to Lincoln from Laurel after having served in the state legislature sixteen years, is the author of a recently issued book with the memorable blizzard of 1868, as the central theme. It is really a story of the hardships and triumphs of the early settlers of Nebraska. It reflects outstanding heroism in meeting the mid-west's worst storm. Mr. O'Gara who was a Wayne visitor last Friday, reminds us that this county had no timber in pioneer days and that settlers experienced serious disadvantages in lack of wood to burn and no native lumber with which to build. Thus, on the start settlers turned to siew grass for fuel and made houses from sod. But this county made up in absence of timber by uniformly rich, productive soil. And not many years passed before farmsteads were dotted with groves, and were able to supply every need. Mr. O'Gara's book which is both a story of the blizzard and a history of pioneer achievement, is gaining in merited popularity.

Dead Limb Falls To Cause Injury

Paul Magdanz suffered severe head, shoulder and back bruises Monday morning about 8:30 when a dead limb on a tree which he was pushing with a bulldozer fell and struck him while he was working near the Henry Doring place east and a half mile south, four east and a half south of Wayne.

Mr. Magdanz was brought to a local hospital where he regained consciousness about 11 o'clock the same morning. X-rays revealed no broken bones and he was dismissed Tuesday to go to the home of a brother-in-law, Wm. Schnoor.

Mr. Magdanz and Commissioner Emil F. Meyer were working near the Doring farm to remove some trees along the road. Mr. Magdanz was driving the bulldozer. He started to push a big tree with the equipment and the impact broke a dead limb about 10 feet long and 10 inches in diameter. The branch fell and struck Mr. Magdanz on the head, causing him to slump forward and to be pinned beneath the branch. Mr. Magdanz threw the clutch and Mr. Meyer, who was nearby, turned off the motor. The exhaust pipe on the bulldozer fortunately broke the fall of the limb.

Mr. Doring and Pete Nelson, who were working with a tractor on the Doring place, helped release the young man. Mr. Meyer then went to John Lutt's and called an ambulance.

Community Property Law Explained by Accountant

"Community property as it affects income tax" was the theme of the address given for Kiwanians Monday by John O'Malley of Omaha, public accountant and attorney.

The new community or joint property law which went into effect September 7 defines property owned half and half by a man and wife as including property owned by either party before marriage, after marriage and after September 7. All such property is now shared 50-50. The law does not apply to people residing in other states, but it does affect property in other states that is owned by Nebraskans.

Regarding salary, Mr. O'Malley explained that under the law such income earned by the husband belongs 50 per cent to him and 50 per cent to his wife. A bonus is also divided equally. Dividends and interest earned after September 7 are divisible equally. This does not apply to such earnings before that date.

Income from business is joint property since the law went into effect. It was suggested that people close their books September 6 and start anew with the new law. Net income earned after September 7 is divided.

Regarding rental from property, only income from property in Nebraska is divided. Mr. O'Malley stated. Income from work done be-

Memorial Park Tribute to War Heroes Sought

Program Favored On Decoration Day

The possibility of erecting a suitable memorial to the dead of World War II near the entrance to the park north of town and dedicating this at special services on Decoration day was presented to the Wayne Woman's club Friday. Tribute to all who served has been provided in trees and in an honor roll which will be erected later.

The Woman's club voted unanimously in favor of the proposal. The EPW club also took favorable action. The two groups propose furnishing the money for the memorial, and the project is reported to have the backing of the Chamber of Commerce, Legion and Auxiliary.

One suggestion is to erect a flag staff topped with the likeness of an eagle with outspread wings, the wings bearing the names of those who made the supreme sacrifice.

Mrs. S. A. Lutgen was appointed to accompany the club president, Mrs. F. S. Morgan, to the city council to present the proposed plan.

FEW OUTSIDERS IN WAYNE COUNTY FOR PHEASANT SEASON

THE law governing the open pheasant season this year did not whet the hunting appetite. Permission to hunt only during afternoons and fewer birds at large than usual tended to put a crimp in the sport. A limit of two birds did not excite usual interest, although that number might be more than a thinned bird population would afford. Contrasting the difference between interest now and a year ago is shown by a report from County Clerk C. A. Bard who handles the game license business. In 1946 he issued 45 non-resident licenses and this year only three. Last year resident licenses numbered 185, and this year 119. Thus, comparatively few outside pheasant hunters were attracted here by the open season which began October 18 and ended October 27.

A request that the city take steps to provide a swimming pool in Wayne was presented to officials by four members of the Mothers' club, Mrs. Warren Bilson, Ms. Mike Karel, Mrs. Joe Gifford and Mrs. Bus Strahan. No action was taken Tuesday evening.

It was decided to work over the Wayne sign at the junction of highways 275 and 15 south of town to use reflector paint instead of electric lights. This will make the sign visible at night when the light of cars is thrown onto it.

Power District Building Ready For Its Footing

Push Structure Early in Spring

Third and Logan street site for the new office building for Wayne County Rural Public Power district building has been cleared, footing and foundation lines laid, steel staked and Manager R. D. Slagle hopes that pouring of concrete can progress this week. Construction of the superstructure of the new $55,000 office building will be pushed to completion in the spring as fast as materials are available. The structure is financed by a loan from Washington, this to be repaid from earnings.

The building measures 75 feet on the west front and 105 on the south facing, though the structure is narrower at the center and 62 feet at the east. The one-story modern building will be of brick, probably in color. Footings are heavy enough to carry a second story, if one should be necessary, and the only basement will be under the loading docks at the northeast corner. The roof will be a steel deck and the only wood will be the doors. Lots of windows are planned, especially on the west, and the building will be an outstanding example of the convenience, comfort and beauty afforded by electricity.

The lobby on the west will open to a directors' room and demonstration kitchen to the southwest and a general office to the north. Supplies will be kept in a room at the northwest corner. A vault will be just east of the supply room.

In the narrow center of the building will be engineer's and meter rooms at the north side of the east-west hall and furnace room lockers and rest rooms to the south. The building widens on the east, providing for a loading dock at the northeast and garage with facilities for six cars at the southeast.

Gas will be used to heat the building, and the structure will be air conditioned. Frank Thielman is contractor in charge.

Clergymen in Dixon County Study Soil

Dixon county clergymen studied soil conservation practices in that county last week when they were taken on a conducted tour arranged by Howard Gillaspie, Dixon county agent. Special soils men and technicians aided in showing the uses of grass for waterways, and the study of soil and soil properties, soil management and tillage practices.

Farms visited included that of Mrs. Leona Birt, operated by LaVern Fredrickson, near Wakefield, and the E. G. Lundahl farm near Allen, both of which follow planned soil conservation practices.

Clark Moore, Dixon county soil technician, and James Allen, soil analyst serving northeast Nebraska, aided in explaining conservation work. Wallace Buck of Wayne, northeast Nebraska soil conservationist, pointed out the need for various kinds of practices.

Dr. Guy Cutshall Addresses State College Students

In addressing Wayne college students Tuesday, Dr. E. Guy Cutshall, nationally known lecturer, described the new frontier in America as the element that sleeps in the daytime and robs, prowls and kills at night. One of every four belongs to this group, the speaker asserted.

Dr. Cutshall divided Americans into two classes, those who have enough moral and spiritual "vitamins" to rise above evil and those who do not. For every eight billion dollars going to gambling, one billion goes to bootlegging and four billion for education.

America needs a new doctrine of tolerance, the speaker claims. People should not let these evils go by but should be tolerant, not narrow and intolerant. One should tolerate the things that reason tolerates but not those which reason does not tolerate.

"Civilization is eating up its culture," Dr. Cutshall charged. If Europe had all that she has destroyed in 144 wars since 1580 she would be able to feed the world instead of having the world feed her.

Alcohol is "choosy," stated Dr. Cutshall. Instead of going to less important parts of the body, it goes to the brain cells, the finest part, and in doing so it dulls and brings out animal memories. The next 25 years will, he stated, determine whether or not the world will descend to animal memories or will gain a world consciousness.

Dr. Cutshall believes in giving people the facts about alcohol and allowing them to decide for themselves the right course to take.

Dr. M. H. Hanawalt introduced the speaker. Harold Osborn made the announcements. The male quartet, Robert Hadley, Dean Rowe, Donald Boagous and Dick Banister, sang.

Broncos Nick Wayne, 9 to 6

Wayne State's Wildcats looked as though they were off to the races for a few minutes last Friday night when they scored a touchdown on the opening play of the game, but the Hastings Broncos made a strong comeback and won the game, 9 to 6.

The game, played on the local college field, opened with Wayne taking the kick-off. Then, on the initial play, the Wildcats caught Hastings asleep as Jim Anderson tossed a pass to Strahan, who ambled 80 yards to a touchdown. The try for conversion failed.

The momentarily baffled Broncos made a quick recovery from the surprise Wildcat attack and scored a touchdown of their own a few plays later after working the ball near the Wayne goal with a couple of razzle dazzle plays. From this point Werner bulled his way over for the Hastings counter. The attempted place-kick for the extra point fizzled.

The quarter ended with the score knotted at 6-6.

In the second period Hastings started off for scoring territory and halted the Wildcats' dug in and halted the Broncos on Wayne's 15-yard strike. Then, on the fourth down, Doncheski dropped back and place-kicked the ball between the uprights for a field goal which gave the Broncos all the margin they needed to win the game.

The second half was scoreless, and neither team threatened seriously. Injuries removed several Wayne regulars from the line-up, including Anderson, leader of the Wildcat aerial attack.

Wildcats who saw action included Strahan, Harder, Wenbourne, Clapper, Johnson, Morrison, Peterson, Anderson, Borg, Bate, Cunningham, Morriz, Wilverton, Ferguson, Meyer, Lee, Otto, Sailors, Metz, Dornier and Arnold.

Wildcats Prepare For Grid Contest At Kearney State

Exhibiting lots of zip and drive, Wayne State's Wildcats buckled down to their roughest practice session of the season Monday in a determined campaign to win the Kearney State eleven in a game set for Friday night, October 31.

The abbreviated 1947 schedule will come to a close next week-end for the Wildcats when they meet the highly touted Chadron State eleven on the Wayne college field Friday, November 7.

The Chadron game is a night game arranged so that as many Wayne townspeople and supporters as possible may be on hand to see the Wildcats' closing game.

Team spirit on the Hill is running high and the Wildcats are being pegged to drop Kearney.

Support spirit is also running high for the team. At the college's convocation Tuesday, arrangements were made to send a busload of students to Kearney along with several carloads of Wildcat fans.

Gives Suggestions Before Committee

Albert Watson, Wayne county farmer, appeared upon invitation before a Congressional committee in Sioux City Monday to present his suggestions on the existing farm problems and conditions.

Congressman Hope of Kansas was head of the committee.

Mr. Watson stated, in connection with Secretary Anderson's long-range farm program, "This would be a poor time to try out any radical changes. Let us leave it about as it is, smoothing out some of its imperfections and building upon past experiences." He believes that the over-lapping functions of the AAA and soil conservation districts should be eliminated by forming two distinct programs.

In conclusion the speaker warned that all changes in the existing farm program should be made slowly. He also commended the federal government for their assistance in providing for REA, which has proven to be highly beneficial to the farmer.

News Notes: Hon. Paul Cunningham, Iowa, chairman of the House committee on roads, will visit Nebraska's Third district this month to discuss farm-to-market roads...

Front Washington: William Benton, who recently resigned as assistant secretary of state, telephoned this office that he has been asked by President Truman to head the UNESCO conference in Mexico next month.

House appropriations committee members are asked to study the budget for the fiscal year 1949. The new fiscal year under which the government operates begins on July 1, 1948. Early predictions are that the president may ask for a budget of nearly 40 billion dollars to run the government.

Farm Bulletins: About seventy thousand box holders will be mailed farm bulletins from the Third district office soon. Requests for these bulletins should be sent to either the Norfolk or Washington offices.

Airports: The Fairmont airport, with five large hangars, has been turned over to the state by Uncle Sam. It will be leased to an operator who will conduct a GI school. The Scribner air base, which is closed is being offered to the state. It may be used by the Nebraska CAP as a training headquarters.

Comhuskers Abroad: The state department has informed this office that ten Nebraskans are serving with the Dwight Griswold mission in Greece, in addition to Chief Griswold and Deputy Leo Cochran. Two are from the Third district: Harold F. Holtz of Wayne, assistant chief of reconstruction; and Kenneth McGill, Tekamah, reports analyst.

Others are Ann R. Cerovski, Omaha, clerk; Arthur R. Dolson, reconstruction chief; Patricia O. Jensen, research assistant; and Laurell L. Seranton, agricultural adviser, all of Lincoln; Kathryn Duerfeldt, secretary and John R. Snyder, animal husbandry, both of Gordon; Kenneth R. Keller, press officer; Gothenburg; and Robert A. Radford, engineer.

Useless bridges: Recent Nebraska floods caused several state rivers to change channels, which sometimes resulted in rendering bridges useless. Your Third district representative, in response to many inquiries, conferred last week with Brig. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, the Missouri river division engineer, and Hon. Albert Engel, Michigan, chairman of the House committee on civil functions of the war department. Both Pick and Engel reported that no federal funds are available or authorized to construct bridges over newly created river channels.

Radar: Radar equipment at the Norfolk municipal airport will soon be helping the army. The chief of the Kansas City regional weather bureau recently informed your representative that Norfolk will be asked to use its radar facilities to furnish the U. S. army air forces with weather data and storm information.

Women: When the second session of the 80th Congress opens, six major bills of particular interest to women will be taken up. These include House and Senate resolutions providing for a Women's Equal Rights Amendments to the constitution, and a bill to establish a commission to make a study of the legal status of women. There are seven female members of the House of Representatives in the 80th Congress.

BEAR TALKS: A capable and qualified Washington observer of the international scene recently sent this interesting story of Russian propaganda tactics. The soviet attitude toward the Marshall plan closely conforms with that nation's usual psychological warfare pattern, the writer maintains, and uses this illustration: During the war, he recalls, the Russians used to scream that they hated the way the Germans did some certain thing. That would keep the Germans solidly behind whatever activity the Russians were protesting. Whereas, were the soviet propaganda agencies to voice approval of such activities, the Germans would abandon them and attempt other methods.

"Take the famous Polish martyrs incident," he writes. "Several Polish officers had been taken prisoners by the Reds during their joint invasion of Poland with the Nazis. The Polish officers 'disappeared,' and the next thing we heard was that the Russians were frantically replying to Nazi charges that they had killed the Polish officers and buried them in shallow graves near Smolensk. The puzzling note is that no such German accusations were heard by our monitors. 'The Russians knew the Poles would protest loudly about it. That was Moscow's excuse to break with the London Polish government and set up the Lullin government, a Red puppet.' The writer then points out that current Russian opposition to the Marshall plan may be merely employment of the same kind of tactics to get this country to weaken its economy by pouring huge amounts of money and material into Europe.

TURKEY DAY: A constituent writes: "Would it be all right to sell poultry to republicans for Thursday consumption, or should we send a request to the president to have Thanksgiving day on Wednesday this year?" The Luckman Citizens' Food Committee informs this office that poultryless Thursday will not be observed when they fall on national holidays. Instead, the American people will be asked to give up their fowl on the Mondays preceding such holidays.

SURPLUS: Much of the surplus property now being disposed of by Uncle Sam undoubtedly would be needed should another emergency arise. Your representative believes that much of this material could wisely be stockpiled instead of sold. Even if outmoded, it would serve a stop-gap purpose until production stepped-up to emergency demands. As one example, much equipment at the Fairmont, Neb., airport is slated to go on the War Assets Administration sales block. This base was used for three years by the army air forces, and now is the property of the state of Nebraska. The runways and hangar will be leased to private operators. The government reserves the right to take over the base in case of emergency, in which event the field would have to be re-equipped with many of the items now being sold by the WAA.

RISE EXPORTS: In 1945-46, according to Department of Commerce figures, this nation exported six billion, three hundred million dollars worth of goods more than it imported. The figures are mounting. In 1946-47, our estimated exports exceeded imports by nearly eight billion dollars.

CAPITOL TALK: Washington rumors are that war with Russia is at least a possibility. Experts report that Russia will turn out as many as 44,000 military planes this year, compared with our 1,350. The Reds give top priority and unlimited resources to the development of atomic weapons. However, U. S. detection devices will know the minute an atomic bomb is tested.

Should Fumigate To Kill Insects

Shelled corn and some barley in this section have been damaged by weevil and other insects, according to County Agent Walter R. Harder who urges farmers to be careful with stored grains. Fumigation is the only practical way to stop damage after grain has become infested in farm storage. County Agent Harder says. Two fumigants are commonly used in Nebraska, a three to one mixture of ethylene dichloride and carbon tetrachloride; and carbon sulphide.

Entomologists recommend the ethylene dichloride and carbon tetrachloride combination as most suitable for the treatment of farm stored grain. The method is effective, reasonable in cost, non-inflammable and does not have an adverse effect on the milling quality of grain if used correctly. There are also a number of commercial preparations containing one or the other of the fumigants, or combination of them. These may be used safely and effectively.

Empty bins to be used for corn storage this fall should be thoroughly cleaned of any remaining grain before adding new grain states Harder, as the old grain may be infested with various grain insects.

Art Instructor Speaks to Club

"The Paintings of Michael Angelo" was the subject of the message brought to Wayne Woman's club at the club rooms Friday by Miss Jessie Stephen of the Wayne State college art department.

Michael Angelo was an Italian sculptor, painter and architect, Miss Stephen stated, but he preferred painting. His first art work was in sculpturing figures and this use of figures carried into his painting.

The Sistine chapel at the Vatican in Rome, decorated with frescoes by Michael Angelo, presents some of the artist's best work. The ceiling and panel over the altar bear his paintings. The chapel is 132 feet by 44 feet with curved ceiling which is 68 feet from the floor at the highest point.

The ceiling illustrates stories of the Old Testament and the nine panels present the prophets and pagans. The ceiling decoration contains 300 figures, all pictures of people and most of them in action. Paintings are in water colors on fresh plaster in rather dull shades, ranging from grey to rust.

The first three panels depict the origin of the world; second three show the origin of mankind, the fall of man and expulsion from the Garden of Eden; and the third present the origin of sin, the flood and Noah's sacrifice. Around the nine panels are 20 youths who represent various phases of mankind. One was destroyed by an explosion. On the sides are the seven prophets and five pagans. The picture of Christ is in the triangle.

The painter worked four years on the ceiling. In all his painting he used models for his figures. The work is regarded as the greatest ever produced by one artist.

Miss Stephen illustrated her message with original prints.

The speaker was introduced by Miss Lettie Scott.

Harlan Von Seggern, accompanied by Prof. Russel Anderson, sang "Asleep in the Deep," "Gypsy Love Song" and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

Miss Faye Brittain was serving chairman and was assisted by Mrs. Eva Ash, Mrs. Fred Bilson, Mrs. C. M. Craven, Mrs. F. G. Dale, Mrs. L. A. Fenske, Mrs. J. T. Gillespie, Mrs. H. H. Tells of Schools And Housing Units Provided in Tokyo

"School" bells rang in Tokyo September 29 as children of all Allied personnel pulled on their raincoats, picked up their books and met the bus at the nearest corner to be on hand at their first class at 9 o'clock. Mrs. H. B. Lane, the former Jean Mines of Wayne, writes to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mines, that school is down at the bottom of the hill from their home and all the buses go by their corner. Little Tommy Lane enjoys seeing the little folks off to school and he wants to go. Children must be 4½ before they start.

"All the elementary school age children in Tokyo go to the new Washington Heights school. The junior high and high school children go to the American school which was established before war."

About 25 buses go all over Tokyo and pick up the children. Just how the little beginners know which bus to get on to go home with Japanese drivers is a puzzle to Mrs. Lane. About 20 new teachers arrived from the United States to staff the school at Washington Heights.

Besides using more than 1,000

Japanese homes, the Americans now have six housing projects in Tokyo, Mrs. Lane writes. Lt. Col. and Mrs. Lane and son live in Washington Heights which has housing units, theatre, chapel, post exchange and other facilities.

Mrs. Lane says that the houses at Washington Heights are heated much like those in California. A big floor furnace is in the downstairs living room, gas space heaters in the bedrooms and electric heat in the baths. The system is much better than in Japanese houses where none of the furnaces seem to work well and people rely on electric floor heaters which are not enough.

The Lanes drove out to Camp Drake, the large cavalry post 16 miles from Tokyo. Grant Heights, the newest housing project for dependents, is near Drake. It will have 2,400 units in comparison with 825 at Washington Heights. Grant will have central steam heat. The first 250 units will be ready in November. "Our rent hotels are jammed with new arrivals of the post. It seems to me," writes Mrs. Lane, "that this providing of housing in a foreign country is one of the biggest things any bunch of men could have the nerve to tackle. I have all the respect in the world for the army engineers. They even have to build a four-lane highway to the main highway."

The young matron tells that the Japanese are hungry and they utilize all scraps which are discarded by Americans.

Chrysanthemums and dahlias are gorgeous in Tokyo at this time of year.

Lt. Col. Lane is the briefer of the chief of staff in Tokyo. He reads a vast amount of material and selects salient information for high officials. He likes his new work very much.

Truman B. Moore, 80, former Randolph resident died in Pierce.

Represents County At Meeting in City

More than 75 county commanders were in Omaha Friday, October 17, to attend the meeting of the Nebraska Division of the American Cancer society. Mrs. F. S. Morgan representing Wayne county. The program emphasized two points: That public education can help prevent needless deaths from cancer, and that county chapters are essential in the cancer control program.

The organization consists of the field army which supervises the educational program and the group that raises funds for the work, both approved by the American Medical Association.

Mrs. Thomas L. Houlton of Omaha, state field army commander, was in charge. Dr. W. S. Petty, state health department director, Dr. Herbert H. Davis, chairman of the executive committee, Dr. James F. Kelly of Omaha, Dr. H. G. Bogert of Denver, regional commander, E. W. Bird of Portland, region field representative, and Dr. Howard B. Hunt of Omaha, secretary of the Nebraska division, gave addresses. Dr. Kelly was the banquet speaker. Films shown included "The Traitor Within" and "The Battle Against Cancer."

Hollywood Inquiry

The government's inquiry into the Hollywood motion picture colony on charges of communist infiltration has furnished front page stories the past week. Most members of the colony are found eminently loyal to the ideals of democracy and are as anxious as the government to ascertain the truth.

Public opinion here would not be disposed to sympathize with any of the motion picture personnel exposed as reds as a result of this house investigation. The American people could be depended upon to condemn anyone in the motion picture business who has enjoyed a huge income while serving the evil purposes of a foreign government obsessed with the idea of carrying out a world revolution.

Urging Early Retirement

The Christian Science Monitor is critical of the labor union convention's move to reduce the retirement age from 65 to 55 under the social security law. The Monitor mentions meeting problems of possible depression as the purpose. But it counters with words of caution. It says some of the world's most valuable workers are past 55.

The United States, because of increased longevity, is becoming 'a nation of elders,' as Dr. N. W. Shock of the United States Public Health Service puts it. In 1850, 12.4 per cent of the population were 45 or older; in 1940, 26.3. By 1980, statisticians predict the percentage will reach 50. Can the United States establish a program which might, in effect, pension half its people?

Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio has announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for president.

nomination for president. At this writing, Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, is the only other avowed candidate. Senator Taft is rated at the top in republican leadership. He will be helped on the one hand and hindered on the other by the Taft-Hartley labor law. It was no doubt a necessary piece of regulatory legislation, but many union leaders don't like it.

A special session of congress, ordered by President Truman to open November 17, will consider problems of foreign aid, and figure out ways to head off high prices and stop rising inflation. House and senate members who have visited Europe, or who have circulated among home constituents, will reconvene with enriched experience. They will have a clearer understanding of conditions and needs. They will not be so inclined to soft-pedal local and foreign duties. They may be expected to act resolutely as well as carefully. They may be expected to serve generously without yielding to waste.

Some members of congress have expressed an intention to support a measure to cut the income tax. A step in that direction was taken the past year, but was defeated by a presidential veto. An attempt to override it failed. Producers figure they are required to turn over too much of their earnings to the government. The high tax is discouraging. It is believed modified demands would increase production, and that reduced government expenses, including fewer burdensome bureaus, would permit taxpayer relief.

The latest Gallup poll, to test the president's popularity among democrats, showed somewhat of an increase in party strength. A survey last year was not so favorable. It is not conceivable at this juncture that the democratic presidential nomination could be wrested away from him. His election will depend on the train of events between now and November next year.

Treating the subject of keeping older well, the state department of health says "some folks are old at 60, others mentally and physically alert at 80." It adds that length of life is largely influenced by the condition of one's arteries.

A united assault on rats is scheduled to take place at Schuyler November 1, as reported by the Sun of that town. It is expected to make the town an uncomfortable abode for rodents. Rats are costly, besides being loathsome nuisances.

-E. W. H.

STATE DINNERS Food scarcity and high prices have prompted the president to cut out numerous state dinners. His action is in keeping with the food-saving program. The Atlanta Journal comments in part: "The White House is wise in cutting down. In President Truman's move to eliminate state functions from his busy calendar, however, there is an element of humor which will not escape other Americans who appear the tuxedo and the hand roll."

Thomas, all of Newcastle, James and Thomas Hansen of Hartington, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Flier. Mr. and Mrs. Lou Lutt were there that evening.

Honored on Anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Don DiMaggio were honored on their wedding anniversary Sunday evening last week when guests in their home were Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Damme, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Damme, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Damme and Ben Damme.

Miss Anna Marie Gasser of Ponca, and Albert Nieman of Winnebago, were married October 19 in Ponca.

A REMINDER The absurd idea that the soviet union saved New York from destruction during the late war was suggested by the Daily Worker, communist newspaper, as reported in an Omaha World Herald editorial. Also is quoted a reminder by the Columbus, Ohio, Dispatch that the United States furnished five or six million men and 12 1/2 billions in lend-lease to save the Russians.

If the United States had not gone to the rescue of an attacked Europe, including the Soviet union, one may easily imagine what might have happened. The allies fought desperately to win, but American men and resources, generously and freely provided, deserve merited credit.

Library News

"Books are made of facts and dreams. Of men's hopes and all his fears. Of love's desires and statesmen's schemes. And the experience of all the years."

The above poem appeared on a program of the Midwest Book Reviewers' Guild, held in Omaha October 14 and 15 which your librarian attended. There she heard about the new books for 1948 which were discussed by Dr. Paul Butler, book editor of the New York Mirror. We are sure it will help immensely in the selection of books for you to read this coming year. Two books were reviewed at this meeting, namely, The Moneyman by Thomas Costain and The Bright Promise by Richard Sherman. Both of these books are in the Wayne Library and if you have not read them we can highly recommend them. Another famous person was on the program at this meeting. He was Tom Duncan, author of the new best seller and Book of the Month, Gus The Great. Gus is a great guy, the book is a great book and the author is a nice fellow, who deserves all the luck he has had in having his book selected by the Book of the Month and having had it bought by the movies. You will have to read Gus The Great. We have it but you may have to wait your turn. Our copy is autographed by the author which makes it something special.

Another meeting attended by your librarian was the State Library Association meeting. There were displays of books there from all the large publishing houses in the United States and many new books selected for our Wayne fall and winter reading. One which is certain to be intriguing is, I Remember Distinctly, a family album of the American People in the years of Peace to Pearl Harbor. It is full of pictures with a running comment by Frederick Allen, author of Only Yesterday. Next week we will have many more to tell you about.

Trojan Victors Over West Point

Wakefield Trojans added another victory to their record Wednesday afternoon by downing West Point Cadets 19 to 0 here. This gives the local boys four wins against two losses.

All of the scores were made during the second quarter of the game. Left half, Dick Pospisil, went 40 yards for the first touchdown on a drive through the line and cut back to the sidelines. A few minutes later quarterback Bill Anderson passed to end, Harold Tell for 50 yards and another score. To make this period an even heavier counter, Pospisil went over from the two yard line for pay dirt.

During the third quarter, Tell went 43 yards to the goal line, only to be called back because of a penalty on the play.

There's plenty of "fit" in Chevrolet's eye-catching, eye-stopping Body by Fisher. Swift, racy lines and contours that are up-to-the-minute in style! You'll find these bodies only on Chevrolet and higher-priced cars.

When this car heads out of town and onto a rough road it seems to "take or both pavement" right along with it; for it has the famous Kross-Action Gliding Ride, and this, too, is found only in Chevrolet and higher-priced cars.

Here are top and liveliness that few cars of any price can equal . . . power and dependability known the world over . . . all stemming from Chevrolet's World's Champion Valve-in-Head Engine which has delivered more miles for more owners than any other engine built today!

Natural Gas Supplies are Adequate ... but STEEL IS SHORT!

you want Natural Gas for heating your home or use in your business and can't get it right now ... message is for you.

There is enough Natural Gas in the gas fields. There is no shortage of Natural Gas. We have it, and we most certainly would like to sell more of it. Selling gas is our business.

The point is: WE HAVE SUFFICIENT GAS BUT WE CAN'T GET IT TO YOU!

Why? Because Natural Gas is brought to your community through great pipes laid underground. It must be pumped hundreds of miles by huge compressor stations. These pipes and pumps are made of steel and iron ... and steel and iron are short, very short!

wide. Its influence spreads to every community and every citizen in this country ... in one way or another.

We wish we could give you a definite answer. Frankly, we don't know, because it is not within our control. But this we do know:

- 1. Despite difficulties we have succeeded in increasing the capacity of our pipe line system from 243 million cubic feet per day in 1945 to 325 million cubic feet per day at present; and by the end of this year, work in progress is expected to provide a further increase to 390 million cubic feet per day. 2. Applications have been filed for and plans have been made to boost the system capacity to 580 million cubic feet per day. Pipe and compressors for this program have been ordered for months and completion of these additions will depend on how soon we can get the pipe, machinery and other materials. 3. As additional capacity is added, it will be distributed as equitably as possible among the communities served by Northern. 4. Our entire organization will continue to exert every effort toward expansion and nothing will be spared to bring you more Natural Gas as fast as conditions permit.

Northern Natural Gas Company, which supplies the gas for resale by the local Gas Utility in your community, provides the Natural Gas supply for 233 cities and towns in seven states with a population of more than two million people. The accompanying map of Northern's main pipe lines is presented to give the reader a general idea of the extent of the service area of the Company.

FOR LACK OF STEEL... "For lack of steel, freight-car building is slowed, pipe lines are not built as fast as needed. For lack of such transport, coal cannot move just enough, and shortages of oil and natural gas are threatening. Steel shortages hold down auto production and farm machinery output. So the supply of autos lags far behind demand. And the world-wide shortage of farm machinery contributes to food scarcity and high prices. Steel enters into production of nearly everything, directly or indirectly." -from The United States News, October 3, 1947.

A second elevator was also protected. Besides the two buildings, all the machinery for making flour, 1,600 sacks of flour, 500 bushels of wheat, 500 bushels of corn and 600 bushels of rye were destroyed.
