District Lodges Of Eastern Star Come to Wayne Honor Officials Next Wednesday

The story of Leland Herman's success in raising and showing purebred cattle is stimulating. He has made exhibits and won distinction at national and international livestock shows.

Leland's father, the late Walter Herman, was so much of a family leader that he was given the Skelly award some years ago.

It is evident that hard work coupled with sound judgment has been and still is the Herman family's background for steady progress and outstanding results.

Before House Committee. The house agriculture committee, investigating farm production at a meeting in Sioux City last week, found no farm witnesses in favor of maintaining unreasonably high prices.

Witnesses generally seemed to favor a farm program planned and run by farmers. One speaker declared that land grant colleges should confine their activities to research and "stay out of the administrative field."

Deserve Rewards. Newspaper carrier boys in towns and cities deserve reciprocal courtesies from the numberless families they serve.

Substantial gifts as well as kindly words warm their hearts as the elements often chill their hands and faces.

It is recalled that many business and professional men got their start carrying papers, and they are usually proud of the experience.

In early days a local poet was employed to write a poem appropriate to the carrier task, and boys distributed copies of it among newspaper recipients on New Year's day.

Killed in Crash. Death of three top Oregon state officials in an airplane accident is among shocking reports of the past week.

The country around Klamath Falls and Lakeview, near the summit of the Cascades, is mountainous with forests, lakes and racing streams.

A Hopeful Sign. Room in the world may be found for every nationality, church creed and political bias if there were less selfishness and more of an inclination to practice the Golden Rule.

The special evangelistic meetings sponsored by 12 churches representing six denominations opened Sunday evening at the Wayne municipal auditorium.

"A spiritual awakening is absolutely necessary in America if we are to survive as a nation," said Dr. Zoller.

"Eight million Americans are not members of any church," he said. "The voting power of the nation is now in the hands of non-Christian people."

"Only eight percent of the people go to church on a Sunday morning and two percent on a Sunday night," Sunday has become a holiday instead of a holy day.

"People's Nerves. In a current magazine article people's nerves are taken in hand in the evident hope of straightening them out and making them less sensitive to the world's unhappy plight."

Community Day Service Is Friday. World Community day will be observed by the Methodist, Presbyterian, St. Paul, Lutheran, Reformed, Lutheran and Baptist churches when union services will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2:30 in the Baptist church.

Organize Drive To Raise Funds For Band Suits Mothers of Pupils Help in Campaign

Already a highly rated musical organization, Wayne public school's band soon will appear as snappy as its music sounds.

Newest fund raising campaigns were announced this week by the mothers of the band members, who will seek to raise $1,000 through contributions from residents in Wayne and surrounding community.

Eighty suits, costing $50 each, are required to outfit the band. Half of this $4,000 total is to be reached through the efforts of the band mothers.

In presenting their case for the $1,000 they hope to raise by contributions, the band mothers said that any sum any individual is able to give will be gratefully received, but pointed out that large donations will be needed.

Degree of Honor Meets in Wayne

Degree of Honor district convention was held Wednesday, November 3, in Wayne with Bloomfield, Wausa, Madison, Norfolk and Scribner lodges guests of Wayne group.

Mrs. Anna Woolley of St. Paul, Minn., national second vice president, and Mrs. Lou Belle Spear of Scribner, state president, conducted school of instruction at 2 at the Woman's club room and spoke at the evening meeting at 8 in the auditorium.

Dean Clarence McGinn gave the welcome in the evening and a Madison member responded. Madison women, with Mrs. Margaret Test captain, presented an exhibition drill in the evening.

A banquet was held at 6:30 for members of the lodge.

Mr. Herman left Thursday to be present for the show. Roland Krieger of Wisner went earlier with the stock.

In the National Polled Hereford show in Baton Rouge, La., last year Mr. Herman had the champion sale bull which brought $5,500. He also took stock to the same show in Atlanta, Ga. in 1944 and had second prize senior yearling bull there.

Mr. Herman's three Hereford steers earned championship for group of three at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago a year ago.

The purebred cattle business looks good, according to Mr. Herman. The national report shows that high class animals are selling for an average of $35 to $40 higher this year than last.

The young stock man, twice winner of grand championship on his baby heaves at Omaha Ak-Sar-Ben, started his interest in registered cattle when in the 4-H business. He raised his first registered cattle in 1941 and has enlarged his herd since until he now has 100 in his purebred herd.

He also has 120 steers on feed. Mr. Herman has 200 tons of silage ready for the cattle and his corn is averaging 30 bushels to the acre.

Leland's father, the late Walter Herman, was also prominent in the livestock industry. He fed many cattle and his attainment was recognized by the Skelly Company in its agriculture achievement award a few years ago.

Senator Norris Schroeder of Hoskins, is one of the four directors named by the National Reclamation association at its annual convention in Phoenix, Ariz., last Wednesday.

DOCTORS USUALLY OWNED FIRST CARS BROUGHT TO TOWN

WHEN automobiles were introduced in the early years of the century, doctors were usually the first owners. That was true in Wayne. The doctor who broke the ice in car use here, terrorized horses on the road.

Animals were frightened by the noise and smoke. Cattle in pastures and pigs in yards scrambled for safety. Farmers driving to town to market produce or buy supplies had to stop to hold their horses when they heard the doctor coming.

People protested and asked to have automobiles outlawed. Finally a public meeting was held to draft resolutions to present to the legislature. The doctors could not stop the automobile business, but they did enact regulatory laws.

Operation of cars grew, and in due time even those who protested, became owners. The doctor who caused the local trouble kept track of complaints, and at last had the satisfaction of seeing all drive the new means of transportation.

Animals became accustomed to the horseless vehicle, and conflict that broke loose in the beginning, disappeared. No one in this day figures he can go anywhere without an automobile.

Paul's Teachings Chosen by Pastor As Guide in Life. "For me to live Christ," one of the sayings of Apostle Paul, is the life motto sincerely followed by Rev. P. Pearson of Wayne, retired Lutheran pastor, who was 91 years old November 5.

Even though not now active in his profession, Rev. Pearson keeps contented and happy by maintaining activity. He follows his religious study for his own benefit and pleasure and he is always willing to assist in services whenever he can.

The family held a celebration for Rev. Pearson's 90th birthday, but the pastor planned that this year's anniversary should be quiet.

Peter Pearson was born in Norra Stroot, Skane, Sweden, November 5, 1856. He came to America in 1880 and arrived Good Friday, March 27, at Gibson City, Ill., where he was employed on a farm.

In 1888 he married Miss Emma Nelson of Chicago, and three years later the family moved to Chicago.

Value of Industrial Arts Is Noted by Speaker Here. Industrial arts as a means of keeping young folks busy and reducing juvenile delinquency was recommended by Prof. Raymond Schreiner in addressing Kiwanis Monday.

Prof. Schreiner commended the veterans for their fine attitude and good work.

The college shop was set up in 1908 by E. J. Huntmer and the fact that the wood tools are still in use testifies to their good care through 40 years.

Prof. Schreiner told that first year work offers general mechanics, general shop and essentials of wood work; second year, furniture construction, use of power machines, home planning; architectural drawing, making home blueprints, general metals, sheet metal, forge and welding work; third year, advanced construction, machine wood work, methods of fitting, metal work, precision work and art metal; fourth year, wood finishing, upholstery, reconditioning of furniture, care of furniture and practice teaching.

Chadron Meets Wildcats Friday

State Aiming to Win Grid Finale

Undaunted by an up-and-down campaign in the Nebraska College conference, Wayne State ends its 1947 football season on home territory Friday night, November 7, when it meets the Eagles from Chadron State.

Wayne has played heads-up ball against heavier and more experienced elevens in the conference, somewhat of a national record established by the team when it backed up three tie games at the end of the season. Included in the ties was a 13-13 tie with Nebraska Wesleyan. Wayne's defensive stands have been outstanding as the comparatively light line withstood the power heavier opposition. Offensively, Wayne lost a heart-breaker to Kearney State November 1 when the Antelopes scored twice on breaks. The Wayne Wildcats outplayed and outgained Kearney in every department.

Coach Don Eberly has had to dig deep into his reserves as a result of injuries suffered by his regulars. Dick Peterson, dependable end, Jim Anderson, quarterback and field general, and Al Bahe, fastest back on the squad, have had to remain inactive the last two weeks.

The replacements, though, have proven capable and Wayne will be loaded next fall with experienced lettermen. Only four members of the squad are playing their last season with the Wildcats. "Big Mo" Cunningham, Anthony, Ja. Dick Peterson, Norfolk, Lee Otto, Pierce, and Mason Moritz. Stanton, will suit for the last time Friday night.

Wayne has developed an offensive that promises to upset the Chadron team Friday. It's been the Wildcat brand of football all season that has made the Nebraska College conference the hottest race in the country.

Probable starting lineup for Wayne Friday night will be: Strahan, C.; Johnson, R.; Wenbourne, G.; Harder, C.; Arnold, R.; Morrison, J.; Otto, R.; Anderson, G.; Borg, H.; Bahe, R.; and Cunningham, H.

The Wildcats are so determined to win their final game that they've invited all the dads of the football players to Wayne for the game and a dinner.

Prep Loses Final Football Game To Hooper 31 to 18

Wayne Prep football team suffered its first loss in five games at the hands of Hooper, 31-18, last Friday at the college field. The field was very wet because of rain the day before and all that morning, and there were many fumbles.

Although Prep was never in the lead, they trailed by only one point once in the third quarter. Hooper was out in front, 13-0, when the first period ended, but Wayne then staged a rally when Hardey ran a kickoff back all the way for a touchdown. The half ended with the score, 13-6.

With only three minutes of the second half gone, Hardey again scored for Prep, on a reverse. That made it 13-12. Then Hooper began to show its power and pushed over three quick touchdowns.

Wayne made one last bid in the final quarter, when Hardey threw a long pass to Hall, who went 50 yards to finish the scoring.

This was the last game of the season for Wayne Prep. The season's record is four won and three lost.

Wayne Scores Upset Victory

Blue Devils Blank Hartington, 14 to 0

Wayne High's Blue Devil grid-ders shaped one of the football season's biggest upsets Monday afternoon, downing the once-beaten Hartington club, 14 to 0.

The victory was a decisive one, with Wayne gaining 10 first downs to three for Hartington. A third Wayne scoring threat was cooled by a holding penalty deep in Purple territory.

Jim Sund, sophomore halfback, and Norman Mabon, senior full-back, divided scoring with seven points each. Jim Killion's punting kept the locals out of trouble on two occasions.

On defense, the Devils played hard-driving ball. Kurt Otto, Marvin Dranselka and Don Sulthies repeatedly drove through to spill Hartington runners for losses. The pass defense of Sievers, Sund and Dion held the vaunted Hartington passing attack in tow.

Wayne plays West Point on the college field Friday afternoon as feature attraction of the school's Color Day. The Color Day Queen will be announced at the grid contest.

CONCORD NEWS

By Mrs. E. J. Hughes

Marry at Rites Held in Concord Church Saturday

Miss Ruby Fredrickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Fredrickson of Concord, and James Ingeman Pedersen, son of the late Ole Pedersen of Laurel, were married at Concord Lutheran church in Concord Saturday afternoon, November 1, at 4. Rev. J. E. Sutherland performed the single ring ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends.

The altar was decorated with baskets of white chrysanthemums and ferns.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a turquoise velvet street-length dress with matching crownless hat and shoulder veil. She carried a nosegay bouquet of white roses with white streamers.

Her sister, Miss Fanny Fredrickson, who attended her, wore a rust velvet dress with hat to match trimmed in turquoise ribbon. Her nosegay bouquet was of white pompons with turquoise streamers.

Mr. Pedersen was attended by Neal Feiber of Laurel. The men wore conventional dark suits and white carnation boutonnières. Marvin and Clifford Fredrickson, mothers of the bride, served as ushers.

Before the ceremony, Arnold Peterson of Omaha, cousin of the bride, sang "Because" and "O Perfect Love." At the close of the service sang Maiotte's "Lord's Prayer."

Miss Elaine Dahlgren, student at Luther college, played the wedding marches and soft music during the service.

A wedding dinner for the bridal party and immediate family was served at Hotel Morrison in Wayne after the ceremony.

Mrs. Pedersen is a graduate of Concord high school and Wayne State college. She taught public school music in Nebraska, Illinois and Iowa schools. She served with Red Cross in the Pacific theatre during the war and for the past two years has been employed in Chicago, first on the national girl scout staff and most recently as recreational director for nurses at St. Luke's hospital.

Mr. Pedersen is a graduate of Laurel high school and attended the University of Nebraska for three years. Before entering service he was employed in the county clerk's office at Hartington and since his return from overseas he has been rural mail carrier at Laurel where the couple will make their home.

For going away the bride chose light brown suit and corsage of Talsman roses. Mr. and Mrs. Pedersen left after the dinner for a 10-day trip to Colorado Springs, Colo.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Neal Feiber and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Maxon and family of Laurel, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Meyer of Wisner, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Peterson of Omaha, and Miss Elaine Dahlgren of Wahoo.

Wedding Service Held in Indiana In Early October

In an impressive candlelight service at the Coatesville, Ind., Baptist church Saturday evening, October 11, at 6:30, Miss Evelyn Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Day, became the bride of Guy Lawyer, son of Mrs. Adeline Lawyer of Humansville, Mo. The vows were solemnized by the Rev. Mr. William Grepp of Wolf Lake, before an arrangement of palms, seven-branch candelabra and blue and gold fall flowers. The double ring ceremony was used.

Proceeding the ceremony, Miss Marjorie Hawes of New Holland, Ill., played a variety of sacred melodies. Miss Norma Sybert of Altoona, Pa., sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." They were attired in blue formals and wore corsages of yellow flowers.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore white tulle gown fashioned with sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice, full length pointed sleeves and a full skirt with train. The full length tulle veil fell from a crown of pearls, which matched the necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible from which fell a spray of white, blue and gold ribbons.

Mrs. Leo Ball, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She wore a blue, full-length net formal and carried an old fashioned bouquet of yellow fall flowers.

Mr. Lawyer and his attendant wore conventional dark suits. The latter, Robert E. Day, brother of the bride, is a student at the University of Nebraska.

Ushers were Clarence Lawyer of Indianapolis and Elza Lawyer of Danville, Ind., brothers of the bridegroom.

The mothers of the young couple wore dark fall dresses and yellow rose corsages.

While kneeling for the prayer of dedication, the pianist played "Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us," and while the couple retired to the vestibule to receive congratulations, the hymn, "Where He Leads Me I Will Follow" was played.

At the close of the service the young folks left the church and made their way to the library assembly room where the reception was held. The room was decorated in blue and gold. Miss Hawes presided at the piano during the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawyer left for a short wedding trip to the Ozarks. They will make their home in Indianapolis where Mr. Lawyer will continue his training for the ministry. He was graduated in August 1947, from the Moody Bible Institute.

was active in support of bigger and stronger fighting ships, stressing preparedness as the way to keep out of armed conflict. On Navy day this year, President Truman emphasized the preparedness plan as a means to insure peace. President Theodore Roosevelt is said to have been spurred by navy needs made evident during the Spanish-American war. Following the brief and successful war with Spain, the United States turned increased attention to building an invincible navy.

Butter and chickens have attained high social or business standing far above their rating in the early days. Time was when butter was chucked into barrels or jars to bring to town. Now it is usually brought to market in the shape of cream and handled by experts under strict regulations. In the old days, chickens were often neglected, and they looked discouraged. Now they receive the best of care, and they look and act healthy. They are a valuable source of farm-income.

Halloween here was generally free from disorder or property damage. There have been times when this could not have been said. The schools took the lead in appropriate activities for children, and parties were held to enliven their experience. It would free all youthful minds of impish tendencies to sponsor an attractive public performance for children on Halloween night. The Chamber of Commerce could well be the promoting force.

In a California town, Halloween night, children followed the custom of ringing doorbells and asking for treats, but they explained that the treats were to be in the shape of food for shipment to the needy of Europe. The children had undoubtedly been taught the value of doing for others. They will be benefited far more by the consciousness of contributing to relief than by following a purely self-seeking idea.

Russian leaders employ dark and deceptive means to satisfy an insatiable thirst for world power. They say and do what they think will attain their desired ends without regard to facts or reason. They want to run the world, but they should be convinced, if possible, they can't do it. They should have the sense to avoid open conflict. By such avoidance they will fare better.

At Lincoln last week, Philip La Follette, three times governor of Wisconsin, came out strongly for Gen. Douglas MacArthur for president. The former governor pointed approvingly to the general's record in Japan, and thinks he would measure up as well in a larger executive field. There appears no dearth of republican candidates.

End of restrictions on installment buying may ease acquisition of needed things by persons who wish to buy from current earnings. But the liberal policy should not be misused. It could absorb all one earns and leave nothing for the savings account.

UPHILL TASK.
Writing for the Saturday Evening Post, Dr. John Bartley, dean of the school of education, Leland Stanford, Jr., university, California, explains why school superintendents have a hard, thankless job. They try to serve disagreeing groups and often a divided board. The article concludes: "Unless the pressures we have described are relieved, the old-fashioned, honest nonpolitical, well trained school superintendent will soon be as extinct as the dodo."

Library News

Now is the time for each of us to remember we are the "people." We make public opinion. We are isolationist or internationalist, and as we think, so we want our representatives to act. This makes it important for us to know the facts, to read both sides. The public library urges you to use its books and magazines, to become better informed citizens, and to discuss what you read with your friends. You will find magazines in the library which deal with both sides of every question. Read them both to be informed for as the inscription above the Chicago public library reads, "Read not to believe or disbelieve, but to weigh and consider." These are certainly times to weigh and consider and not have people who sit in the seats of the mighty dictate what the American people should think.

William L. Shirer's new book, End of a Berlin Diary, gives us some things to weigh and consider. It is a continuation and conclusion of Berlin Diary and puts into final perspective many mysteries on which the fate of the world hinged, and at which the best of correspondents, until wars end, could only guess.

For young people or those planning their future we have a new set of books for vocational guidance. These books are very complete and well done with practical suggestions and many pictures. They may be just what you are looking for if you want some information on a particular line of work. We also have some new books on Modern Problems which are nicely illustrated and will make splendid reference material. The series is called Building America.

All of our new books are not fiction for we have such titles as A Certain Rich Man by Vincent Sheean, Take Three Doctors by Seifert, The Lardners and The Laurelwoods by Sheila Kay-Smith. Also, Nothing So Strange by James Hilton, Edna's Fruit Hat and Other Stories by Pudding.

ney and a Gardner mystery, The Case of the Lazy Lover.

The Story of the FBI will interest many readers for the pictures if nothing else.

Another book we must mention this week is Tonybee's Study of History. If you are a student of history you have been waiting for this book. It is a great book, of which it may be said that if every person in the United States would read it, or was even capable of reading it, our problems would be solved, for we would have a true understanding of the world. Unfortunately relatively few will read it and even fewer will be capable of understanding it. That is the great tragedy of our present plight. Perhaps that is too pessimistic an attitude when the book is one of the best sellers of non-fiction in some cities. But it is a case of statistics being misleading for a fiction book called Forever Amber has and is outselling it by millions of copies. Perhaps there is a connection between what people read and their national history. If so, we are glad that in the year 1947 a book like A Study of History was published, even though it was outsold by almost any fiction.

Ludwig Bauer Dies At Randolph Home

University Man To Give Address

Dr. K. O. Broady, Lincoln, chairman of the board of university publications, will be the principal speaker Monday evening, November 10, when parents of the children of Wayne city schools will visit the school and its teachers in order to become acquainted with the work being carried on there. This program is in connection with American Education week.

Having been sent by the war department to Austria the past summer as an independent observer of Austrian education, Dr. Broady visited schools of all levels from the university to the first grade, and even those engaging in adult and vocational education.

In his address it is expected that Dr. Broady will acquaint Wayne parents somewhat with conditions existing in Austrian schools.

Dr. Broady is the author of a number of books, articles, and monographs, and has assisted with the editing of general study and instructional series. Subjects included among these are school provision for individual differences; enriched school building; and practical economics in school administration.

National Politics

Both major party national conventions will be held in Philadelphia next year, the republicans June 21 and the democrats early in July. The Norfolk Daily News mentions that democrats have met only once in national convention in the south, bulwark of party strength. That was at Houston, Texas, in 1928, when Alfred E. Smith was nominated. The News suggests better politics in holding conventions in doubtful states. It adds that "next year will be one of the few election years in recent times in which at least one major convention wasn't held in Chicago."

A resolution presented to the democratic national committee, considering the convention site, and condemning the republican-controlled congress on charge of playing partisan politics, was ruled out as likely to be adversely influential in coming legislation. Denouncing the opposition from each side may be modified until the campaign opens and gets into full swing. Then no doubt plenty in that direction will happen.

What's the Matter?

Colorado teachers fell down regretfully in a recent history test. The following World-Herald editorial explains:
"A few days ago Denver's Rocky Mountain News asked about a hundred Colorado elementary and high school teachers a few questions. Examples: 'Who killed Lincoln? What is the Monroe Doctrine?' The teachers' average grade (below passing) was 67."

Some believed that Aaron Burr assassinated Lincoln, that Washington wrote the Declaration of Independence, that the Civil War lasted 10 years. The toughest question turned out to be: 'Who married Pocahontas?'

SOME HOPES.

Plenty of moisture has fallen lately to put the ground in good shape. It encourages prospects. A killing frost the past week facilitates corn picking. Now, with approach of the Christmas season—the season of peace and good will—what a cheering realization would be freedom from war threats, freedom from national animosities, freedom from automobile and airplane tragedies and freedom from crimes and individual hatreds! Absence of the things mentioned would be a wonderful contribution to the world's peace of mind. It would lend emphasis to more of the values considered worth while. It would make observance of civilization's greatest birthday more appropriate and more joyful.

WE'VE GOT IT... BUT WE CAN'T GET IT TO YOU

Sure, we have the gas for that new furnace you've been dreaming about. And believe us, there's nothing we'd like better than delivering it to you. That's our business— selling gas. The more we sell, the happier we are.

But gas can't be delivered in boxes, nor by parcel post. To deliver gas we need great pipes of steel, or iron, to withstand high pressures, huge steel pumps to supply those pressures.

There's the rub—there isn't steel for pipes to get that extra gas to you for more house heating. There will be gas for other household needs—for automatic refrigeration, automatic hot water heating and automatic cooking. We want to sell you this ideal fuel for all your needs.

It may seem like a long time to wait before you install that new gas house-heating equipment—but, brother, it's worth it!

To the Tavern Keeper Who Can't Say "No!"

If you lack the courage to say "NO" when customers ask you to violate the law and the rules of good conduct, you are too timid for your own good. Your fellow citizens will condemn you as a law violator and this Committee will not defend you in the Court of Public Opinion.

The result of educational work by this Committee has been highly gratifying. Those who know — those who patronize the taverns of Nebraska — will attest to the fact that law observance has reached a high level in this state.

Most tavernkeepers have learned to say "NO" when customers ask them to "break the rules." The friends of beer have learned NOT to ask tavernkeepers to violate their good conduct pledges.

It is the purpose of this Committee that there shall be constant and continued improvement.
