Extension Notes

By Don Warner, County Agent

Fertilizers

The age of commercial fertilizers and fertilizer salesmen has arrived and the time has come for Wayne county farmers to take stock of their soil resources, their system of farming, and enlighten themselves on the uses and needs of commercial fertilizers.

Needs

In a soil survey of Wayne county conducted by the United States department of agriculture bureau of soils published in 1919, this statement appears: "The cropping systems employed in this county are in general not well designed to maintain the productivity of the soil. There is a general need for growing legumes more extensively in the rotation and for more attention to systems of green manuring to increase organic-matter supply. Although good yields of crops are obtained under the prevailing methods, the average production is below that which might reasonably be expected from soils so high in productivity and so well suited to such crops as alfalfa and clover." Although this survey was made in 1917, this statement is still true today.

The plant food that most of our soils are low in, is nitrogen. Plants utilize more nitrogen in the process of growing and producing a crop than any of the other plant foods. Phosphates are second in demand by our crops. Phosphorus exists in several forms in the soil, however it can be utilized by the plant only in the phosphate and P2O5 form. For this reason, a soil test showing the total phosphorus in the soil does not indicate the amount of phosphorus available to the plant.

There is no known deficiency of potash in this area. Likewise, manganese, magnesium, boron and other trace minerals have been found to be lacking in this area. Almost all Wayne county soil has adequate calcium, making liming unnecessary, except on the very sandy soils. The best way of finding out if you need potash is to experiment on your own farm, using straight nitrogen and phosphate plots on fields that have been cropped differently, then compare these plots with a check plot where no fertilizer has been added. The county extension service, in cooperation with the Wayne county soil conservation district, will put a minimum of six of these fertilizer tests on different crops in the county this year.

Analysis
All fertilizers are sold with an analysis given. Examples of fertilizer analysis are 10-20-0; 4-16-0; 32-0-0; 0-18-0. In each case the first number represents the number of pounds of nitrate that fertilizer has in 100 pounds, the second number represents the pounds of phosphoric acid (P2O5), in 100 pounds and the third number, the pounds of potash.

Ordinarily high analysis fertilizers cost the least. Always buy fertilizer on a cost per unit of plant food nutrition. Phosphoric acid, (P2O5) should cost around 9 cents a pound which would make 0-18-0 cost $32.40 per ton (18 x .09 x 20) and nitrate (N03) should cost around 12 1/2 cents per pound, which would make 32-0-0 cost $80.00 per ton (32 x .125 x 20).

Fertilizers should not be used indiscriminately. Commercial fertilizers should be worked into a general soil fertility program for your farm. Commercial fertilizers do not add humus to the soil, therefore they can not replace crop residue, legumes or manure in a soil fertility maintenance program. Legumes can produce more nitrogen and do it more effectively than you can afford to add by means of commercial fertilizers. Nitrogen fertilizers are recommended for bromegrass and small grains or corn where legumes are not part of the rotation. Nitrates should be applied at a rate of 40 pounds of nitrate per acre, which would mean 123 pounds of 32-0-0 per acre to give 40 pounds of nitrogen. Phosphates are recommended for alfalfa and occasionally for small grains and corn if the phosphorus is depleted. Phosphates

Inter-County Group Planned

An inter-county federation of club women will be organized this Thursday, March 11, when representatives of women's clubs and project groups from Cedar, Knox, Pierce and Wayne counties meet at the Woman's club room here.

Women of Cedar, Knox, Wayne Counties had a tri-county group some years ago and the aim is to revive and enlarge this organization.

Registration takes place at 9:30 and a morning meeting is called for 10:30. Plate lunch will be served at 12:00. The business session and a program will follow.

President of third district, has project, urging them to call her for luncheon reservations at once.

Mrs. R. W. Casper, first vice president of third district, has project, urging them to call her for luncheon reservations at once.

Tells How AAA Helps Farmers

Many farmers of Wayne county are getting help from the agricultural conservation program to improve their soil. This spring, according to Thomas P. Roberts, chairman of the county agricultural conservation committee.

This help is offered, he explains, since green manure and cover crops are an important means for protecting, restoring and improving soils. Program assistance is offered for planting and turning under cover crops as green manure. Legume cover crops have a special value because they add nitrogen as well as organic matter to the soil.

The chairman points out that in most parts of the country which have been under continuous cultivation, the amount of organic matter in the soil has greatly declined. He cites tests in Kansas to illustrate the point. The organic matter in five different soil types that had been in sod averaged 108,050 pounds to the acre, as compared with 69,500 pounds in soils that had been in cultivated crops for most of the 30-year period.

Different methods are used in various parts of the country to replace the organic matter of soils, the chairman explains. In the south and other sections where soils wash during the winter, cover crops grow through winter months and are turned under as green manure in the spring. In the colder portions of the country legumes—such as the clovers—and other crops are planted in the spring and turned under later the same year or the following year.

Organic matter helps hold and build up the soil in a number of ways, the chairman explains. It improves "tilth," helps protect soil from wind and water and improves water-holding capacity.

Wakefield Noses Out Oakland in Class C Playoff

The Wakefield Trojans brought home their 21st straight victory Friday night after the class C playoff game with Oakland at Lyons. The final score read 31-28.

At the half Wakefield led their opponents 13-12. Erickson was high man for the victors with 15 points. Schlines, guard, played an outstanding game and proved himself star of the match.

Wakefield was handicapped in this game in that they had to play against Oakland's zone defense on a small, crowded floor.

A large number of fans from Wakefield accompanied the team to the playoff game to cheer them on. This win entitled the Trojans to

Wildcat Sluggers Hammer Out Win Over Creighton U

Creighton university boxers were singing "You can have 'em, we don't want 'em, they're too tough for us," when they left the Wayne State gymnasium Monday night after the Wildcat pugilists had won all but one of eight encounters in the squared circle.

An enthusiastic crowd of fight fans voiced approval of the evening fight card as the Wayne State team scored one knockout, three technical knockouts and four victories by virtue of the opinions of two judges and the referee.

The score was lopsided, but the Omaha men were game fighters who gave their rugged Wildcat opponents plenty of trouble throughout the evening.

The fistie display opened with a TKO when Louis Lyons, Wayne State from Peru, South America, showed Dave Boyce of Creighton how fists are flung south of the equator. Lyons, in the 125-pound class, scored a quick victory, taking his opponent in 1 minute and 50 seconds of the first round.

Also in the 125-pound class, Leonard Rouse of Wayne earned a decision over Rodney Reynolds of the Bluejays. The fight went the three-round distance.

Waynes only setback of the evening was the third fight in which Gene Driscoll of Creighton outpointed Chuck Wightman. The boys weighed in at 135 pounds.

Fighting in the 115-pound division, Keith Bought of Wayne got the decision over Wayne Unzicker.

March No. 5, a 155-pound event, saw John Sherlock decision Bernard McCarville of Creighton. This was a close match and might easily have been decided the other way.

In another bout for 155-pounders, Orville Hassler got himself out of serious trouble by knocking out Duane Eberhart, aggressive Creighton fighter, in the third round.

The slugfest of the evening was the 165-pound match between Chris (Killer) Jensen of Wayne and Robert Kerrigan of the Bluejays. Both men threw caution out of the ring and waded into each other with everything they had. Both fighters absorbed considerable punishment, but Jensen managed to outlast a worthy opponent, scoring a TKO after 44 seconds of the second round.

The fight card closed with a heavyweight event in which Art Jensen of the Wildcats punched out a TKO over Mike McGooch of Creighton after 20 seconds of the third round had elapsed.

The teams were coached by Don Emery for the Wildcats and Frank Hagan for the Bluejays.

Officials were: Gerry Ellyson, Wakefield, referee; Dean Schram, Wayne, and O. D. Salley, Wakefield, judges; Si Strahan and Lee Clopper, timers.

MEET THE MAN SENATOR ROBERT A. (Bob) TAFT

Whether He is "Senator", "Nominee" or "Mr. President", Taft Would Like To Remain Plain "Bob"

You meet Bob Taft for the first time, and you come away surprised.

You are surprised because—despite his brilliance of mind—you find him plain and comfortable. Like a pair of old shoes. And like good shoes, Bob Taft wears well. The longer you're with him, the deeper is your affection for this great but engaging and down-to-earth American.

What you had thought was coldness in his makeup turns out to be only shyness. Even this, you find, gives way quickly to a quiet, easy warmth. You know that politics is a glad-handing art, yet you realize that Bob Taft could never become a back-slapper. And this dignity, you feel, belongs in the White House.

To countless friends throughout the nation this thoughtful candidate is just plain "Bob". And as you talk with him you sense immediately that that's the way he wants it to be... as Senator, Nominee or President.

Taft's Friends Love Him for What He Is; Even His Enemies Respect His Ability.

No one, not even his many nervous enemies here and abroad, dares challenge Bob Taft's determination and ability to think problems through... intelligently, thoroughly, honestly and without prejudice... before taking his stand on public issues.

LIFE Magazine, February 9, 1948, testifies that his 95 colleagues in the U. S. Senate agree on one thing: "When Bob Taft says something, he knows". And Americans, even political bosses, respect the man who knows.

Again, according to LIFE, his vast number of friends, agree: "His guide is his conscience, directed by reason." That is high praise, and deserved by his record.

But beyond this man's intellect and integrity, what are the characteristics that make him the hope and the champion of practical-minded American voters? If you could meet Bob Taft personally, we think you would say there are four:

NOMINATE A VOTE-GETTER! THIS IS BOB TAFT'S RECORD

Most people agree that Bob Taft is the best qualified man for President. Fewer know that his record at the polls indicates he would be the easiest man to elect!

Taft entered politics in 1921, and HE HAS NEVER LOST AN ELECTION!

In 1928, Franklin D. Roosevelt twice campaigned personally in Ohio against Taft's candidacy for the U. S. Senate. Yet Taft smothered his popular New Deal opponent, Senator Robert Bulkley, by 170,597 votes!

In 1934, PAC-CIO threw everything it had against Bob Taft. The Federal payroll was loaded. Yet Taft won by 17,740 votes! In the other industrial states of New York, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Illinois, G.O.P. candidates were defeated.

So remember this on April 13th—VICTORY IS BOB TAFT'S HABIT!

Bob Taft Is MODEST — His quiet industry, his willingness to listen, his thoughtful spirit of cooperation—these are the traits of a humble man. In no sense an egotist, Taft has a level head that is indifferent to flattery. His personality — like his policies — is fundamental, simple, clear.

Bob Taft Is COURAGEOUS — He has never backed away from any issue, regardless of political risk. Taft is no dodger, no alibier, no retractor of statements. Among those who know the strength of Taft's moral drive are labor racketeers, in his Taft-Hartley Act; professional militarists, in his stand against Universal Military Training; and New Deal bureaucrats, in his blasting of OPA.

Bob Taft Is FEARED — The firm resolve on this man's face is not a pose, and there are many who know it and are bitter against him. Communist, political racketeer — whether national or international — Wall Street monopolists and Washington bureaucrats alike dread the thought of Bob Taft in the White House.

Bob Taft Is LOVED — Not only his myriad, personal friends, but all those who look to Taft to lead the country back to common sense, dignity and individual liberties express their complete devotion. Lovers of truth, intelligence, humanity and a fighting heart are the disciples of Candidate Taft.

Taft is a Family-Man, A Church-Man, A Man of Simple Tastes at Home, On His 60-Acre Ohio Farm

Bob Taft does not claim to be a farmer, although he farms 60 acres of rich Ohio Valley soil.

Here, with his captivating wife, Martha, he finds occasional relaxation and opportunity to study in a simple, fragrant, quiet pattern of life.

Here, he is the family-man, the church-man the proud and happy grandfather.

But even here, beneath his congenial composure a relentless sense of duty gnaws at Bob Taft, the Man, to lead America back into the sun, with Bob Taft, the President, as flag-bearer.

"Good" Grass Isn't Good Enough!

The output of our grasslands can be doubled! Top experts of the U. S. Department of Agriculture will tell you that. So will many a far-sighted rancher and farmer out of his actual experience. So will students and teachers of land management everywhere... In that bright possibility of range and pasture improvement lies one principal hope for more food for a hungry world. Not only more food, but better food. For proper grassland management will improve the fertility of the land, and the nutritive value of the foods coming off it. It will save the land, too, protecting the precious layer of topsoil from blowing away or washing off to sea. And it will increase the amount and value of hay for feed-crop or winter feeding.

The way is wide open for you to improve your grass. Strong and willing allies stand ready to help you. For advice and active help in planning your own grass-management program, there's your County Agent... For technical, practical help in putting your program into operation, call on the Soil Conservation Service technician who lives in your district... And for information on newest experimental developments, call on your State Agricultural College or experiment station.

The program of good management for your grassland which you work out together will probably consist of some—or perhaps all—of the following practices. If you're in the range country: (1) Livestock numbers balanced to the amount of grass you can produce. (2) A rotation schedule of seasonal grazing. (3) Water located conveniently. (4) Elimination of excessive brush. (5) Wider distribution of salt to prevent overgrazing near salt sources. (6) Re-seeding of over-used or abandoned range. (7) Introduction of improved native grasses and adapted new grasses. (8) Irrigation. (9) Protection against wind and water erosion. If you're in farm pasture land: (1) Liming. (2) Fertilization. (3) Seeding with pasture mixtures which stretch the grazing season at both ends. (4) Weed control by mowing or chemicals. (5) Rotation grazing. (6) Avoidance of over-grazing. (7) Irrigation.

We of Swift & Company have the same deep, basic interest that you have in range and pasture improvement. More and better grass is to our interest as it is to yours—and to the nation's. That's why we urge you to act, if you have not already done so, to increase the productivity of your grasslands.

Martha Logan's Recipe for SPRINGTIME PORK AND VEAL

Save More Spring Pigs
by C. M. Vestal, Purdue University.

Surveys indicate that one out of every three pigs farrowed dies before weaning age. These death losses are one of the biggest leaks in the hog business. They can be reduced during the cold spring months by the use of electric brooders in individual farrowing houses or pens of a central house. A three-year study and observation of 105 litters showed that an average of one and one-half more pigs was saved per litter when electric brooders were used in individual farrowing houses. The death loss from chilling was 10 per cent in the unheated houses against 2.2 per cent in those equipped with heated brooders. These losses in the houses without heat increased when the weather became colder. Outdoor temperature, however, had little if any effect on death losses when the electric brooders were used.

The electrically heated pig brooder, either homemade or a factory-made type, proved to be the most practical method of supplying heat. The brooder provides a small area in the pen or house which can be heated economically. The simplest type of brooder is a 150-watt reflector flood lamp suspended over a protected area for the pigs in a corner of the pen or house. Installation and use of electric pig brooders require the necessary careful handling of electricity. Details for the construction of a pig brooder usually may be obtained from county agents or Agricultural Experiment Stations.

"Weigh 'em to Swift!"

The pen gate opens and cattle crowd into the alley, headed for the scales. A cry rings out, "Weigh 'em to Swift!" Another lot of livestock has been sold to Swift & Company. That deal is a miniature of the business relationship between livestock producers and meat packers.

When this lot of steers was "finished," the producer sent them to the stockyards, convinced to a commission firm. In the yards, livestock buyers came to look and make their competitive bids. Competition is always keen because 26,000 meat packers and other commercial slaughterers in the United States are active in livestock buying. Each buyer knows that unless he bids "the going price" for the animals he wants, some competitor will get them. Also, he knows that if he bids too high his company will take a loss.

Thus competition and the law of supply and demand set the price all along the line. This lot of steers went to Swift & Company because the Swift buyer offered more than other buyers. And the price he paid was based on the amount of what the meat, hides, glands and other by-products would be worth, to Swift & Company.

The story at the head of this page is about farmers and ranchers making the most of their grasslands. By good planning, managing well, and operating efficiently, they can grow more grass, produce more food for the world, and make more money. While writing that story, I was struck by a similarity in the Swift business. For it is careful planning and efficient operation that keep us in business, too. Like you with your grassland, we've got to make the most of what we have. We've got to practice efficiency. We, also, must cut costs, operate with economy. Not only the important economy of finding uses and markets for every possible by-product, but economy and efficiency all along the line.

Maybe you saw Swift's recent financial report for 1947. It showed that we earned $22,334,977 after provision of $12,000,000 for high cost additions to fixed assets. This earning represented one cent out of our average dollar of sales. That one cent was earned in large part by the savings we made. The operating figures of our business prove that statement. They show where the savings came from. New methods of doing things which save time and cost. Modern equipment replacing old, worn equipment. Better ways discovered by Swift research to produce, use and handle Swift products. A small saving here... another there... Little economies pyramiding into big economies. Until, added together, the savings which we made last year in the actual day-by-day operation of the Swift business amounted to a considerable part of our earnings. Careful planning, good management and efficient operation are "musts" in our business as in yours. "Little things" can often add up to the difference between a profit and a loss.
