The Travelers have appeared in every eastern state this season from Maine to Florida and have won 107 and lost 11 up until March 15 and still have sixteen games to play before arriving in Wayne.

For side splitting laughs, rapid fire passing, spectacular dribbling and some of the greatest ball handling you have ever seen, don't miss this outstanding attraction.

"sawap." They say sharks swallow this fish which is covered with spikes. Then it swells up and injures the shark. I bought it for less than $2. Friends all admired it and I wondered if I could get it home. They offered me so much more after we had been in Havana, for they were priced there at $25. I decided I could manage to get it home if it were so valuable.

We took a ride in the country and found the people very friendly. In the city it is entirely different. Crime, robbery and immorality are common. Illegitimacy runs as high as 90 per cent. A lady whose English husband had died said that native nurses and doctors are very efficient. Jamaican Masons took care of all details of the funeral.

And to Haiti—the Black Republic—land of voodooism and superstition. The French were driven out long ago, but their evidence is still left in the French colonial customs and language found there, some what modified by the strange, mysterious atmosphere so characteristic of the country. In the still of tropical nights one can hear the tom-toms beating their queer rhythmic bark in the hills.

Back in the history of the country is the name Henry Christophe, a slave who became emperor of the island. His palace was located high in the mountains.

Tourists of the island were arranged for us. I, being late, had a station wagon with driver and guide all by myself. The guide was French-Spanish, a writer of Haitian history and a Methodist minister.

We stopped first at a cathedral which had golden altars where the priests gave sacraments. We saw government buildings, museum paintings and marble statuary, and the government palace.

We went to Mt. Sans La Tonnelle, which has an altitude of 5000 feet. We stepped on the mountain road to take motion pictures of the tall poinsettia trees lining the road.

We stopped at thatched bamboo huts where women were "voodoo" dancing, accompanied by boys beating huge tom-toms. We gave Cloves are a vital part of every circus, and the big Corn-Belt Circus that comes to the Wayne auditorium for a three-day stand starting Monday, April 5, boasts of some of America's famous clowns. More than 30 big circus features are included in the two-hour show. Matinee daily at 2:30; evening shows at 8:15.

coms to most of the boys to have their cocks light so I could take motion pictures.

At the hotel on the top of Mt. Kensouff we heard a native orchestra.

Later we stopped at an open native market where one wouldn't care to buy.

A "Surprise" My guide was American educated. He told me he had a "surprise" for me. He wished to take me to his home to meet his wife and family. He said that never before in his seven years as a guide had he done this. His house was French colonial and had a garden. Children dressed in costume for me to take their pictures.

We visited a ham curing conservatory. There were huge brass kettles in which the cured hams were bubbling, and a cluster of dried bladders hung on a tree to hold meat sauces.

I was late for buffet service. Lobster and shrimp salads, cold turkey, ham, ice creams and the like. The steward served me on deck.

In the afternoon I hired a native Haitian to take me to shop. I was glad to have him with me as seller of all articles crowded about and in his language he would send them away.

On the way back to the ship a native stopped me and said, "I stole this diamond ring and wish to get it out of the country. You can buy it at your price." Having been in jail in South America, I didn't want to take a chance on being in a Haitian jail for having stolen property in my possession.

Haiti is noted for its mahogany. Native boys came out to our ship in boats bringing handmade mahogany trunks, tables, and other articles. They sent them up to us on the ship in huge baskets. I bought trays, bottles, and a few other things.

Next—Havana Then to Havana, Cuba the Paris of the western world. As we entered the harbor we passed the Morro Castle, an old fort.

We went to the capital building. The senate chambers are carved mahogany with gold leaf. In the French room there are carved mahogany tables topped with various colored marble tops. The tables are covered with gold leaf, there are gold hangings and gold-framed pictures on the walls.

At a liquor factory we saw huge oaken barrels, some holding 700 gallons. There were also smaller sizes. Some wines there were aged as long as 26 years. We were taken to long tables covered with different wines and liquors. Several were new in the past two years: banana, pineapple, creme of wine glasses, from the filling with a cork kind. I didn't wish to imbibe too much. After all, "I came to see."

Then to the tropical gardens. They were breathtaking. We saw a monkey tree with pods that looked exactly like the monkey for which the tree was named. The guide gave me one but I was unable to bring it into the U. S. as all plants and fruits are prohibited.

We visited a cemetery where all the markers are of white marble. It is owned by Catholics and all creeds are required to bury their dead there. Bodies are placed in the graves and left for three years with limestone over them. Then the bones are placed in marble boxes and placed in a small crypt in a white marble tomb.

Sees Cigar Factory At a tobacco factory we saw hand made cigars being manufactured. They sell there for about 26 cents each. Girls smooth out leaves, removing the coarse fibers and stems, form the filling with a rubber band to hold it in place. Care is being taken not to leave the band in the cigar since rubber and tobacco burning would not taste so well. A single leaf is wrapped around the filling and circular pieces of paper cover each end. The workers are paid by the number of cigars made per day, which is few. This accounts for the high cost of the product.

There was an alligator shoe and bag factory where all articles are made by hand.

We ate at the famous Paris cafe. I had the favorite dish—chicken with rice. Pimento and wine cover the whole. It took about an hour to prepare, and was brought to the table in a pot from where we were served in large bowls. The rice was colored a deep yellow by a Cuban bean. It was delicious. We also had gulfed crackers. It cost about $3.

A night in Havana was one of my greatest delights. We dressed formally and took a limousine first to the Hiti. Then to beautiful Casino, with its elaborate lounges, bars and game rooms where guests were playing roulette, wheels of chance and other forms of gambling. I didn't indulge—made money by not playing.

Then to the Sans Souci night club under the brilliant moon and stars. There was a Cuban orchestra and floor show which included Cuban duo dancing in national costume, Spanish duo dancing—the girl dressed in black lace and marabou, and elaborate ball-room dancing.

End of a Wonderful Day Next to the Casa Blanca night club, with orchestra and dancing. There were two singers, a Cuban lady and gentleman. A girl in Cuban costume portrayed the rumba.

We got back to the ship at 2 a.m. and called it a wonderful day—and evening.

In the morning, six of us from the ship hired a cab to stop. We went to the National hotel, the most beautiful one in the city. We went to Chinatown to the shops. I bought a French perfume, a new one named "Tonight or Never" some name. I also got an alligator bag and some jewelry.

We had lunch at La Zaragocinas. Our dessert was coconut ice cream served in a coconut shell. The meal was $3 as usual.

In the afternoon I hired a cab to take me over the city to take motion pictures. The ship left at 4:00, and I had just 15 minutes to spare.

Our last night at sea was marked by the captain's dinner. His bride accompanied me. This was their honeymoon trip. The dinner was a gala affair—we dressed formally and there were flowers, balloons and noise-makers to make it a success. Wine was served and the menu was typical of all our menus: soup, foie gras, consommé, fillet grouper, one-half fried chicken, potato chateau, green peas, fruit salad, Martina Washington pie, demi tasse, salted nuts and mints.

A talent program was scheduled, but as no one seemed to participate, the officers and stewards performed.

Heavy Fog Coming into Jacksonville the fog was thick. Fog horns awakened me at 4 a.m. The fogged hazy could scarcely be seen. We were going slowly to avoid a rock island, lest the ship be wrecked.

I took the last plane out to Chicago at 4 a.m. I was grounded because of storms. I arrived in Chicago in a snowstorm—quite different from the tropic island temperature.

For a perfect ending to my wonderful cruise, I was on the "Welcome Traveller" program in Chicago. There were 700 guests in the audience and I was chosen to be on the program. I was presented with silver fox furs, French kid gloves and silver earrings and pins. Jim Adams, master of ceremonies said: "After this 'Welcome Traveller' will be called 'Welcome Trapper'."

KARL STEFAN As Seen By CONGRESS

Battle Cry More information on the communist coup in Czechoslovakia was supplied your representative last week by Dr. Juraj Slavik, Czech ambassador to the U. S. before the Red axe fell on Prague.

Slavik confirmed reports that many high Czech officials have escaped and now are refugees. Some have made their way to England and others are on the way. He indicated that a Czech refugee organization may be formed with headquarters in this country.

Your representative later learned that other top Czech officials are expected to resign. Some of their names will surprise even the communists. Unofficial sources also believe that "President" Tieska now is a political prisoner, and that some recent statements from Prague purporting to quote him are pure Red propaganda.

Through a man who cannot now be named, Jan Masarik, son of the so beloved Masarik's founder, sent word that another Czech official, Czechoslovakia (quoting him) were communist falsehoods. The message reached the U. S. the day before his death.

Slavik said Red control of the Department of Interior which controls the national police, made the power grab easy.

Slavik also reminds us that liberty's flag has been torn down before in Czechoslovakia but it never has been destroyed. The struggle for freedom has for centuries been the heritage of every Czech. When the marionettes of Moscow danced on their strings in the streets of Prague, some observers thought they heard the death-rattle of Czech democracy. They should listen again.

It was the beginning of a battle cry. Turkey and the Reds To Slavik's remarks, Brig. Gen. Logan McBride, chief of the American military mission to Turkey, added these (quotations):

Communism in Turkey is outlawed, and the Turks are united against Russia. McBride believes that additional military aid to Turkey is imperative to prevent a Red grab of the Dardanelles. McBride is a former Elgin, Neb., resident and was scheduled to return to Turkey last weekend after a brief Washington stay.

Briefs The House committee on agriculture has okayed a bill to set up a research center on an island near the U. S. to perfect a vaccine for the foot-and-mouth disease. Efforts to wipe out the malady in Mexican herds have not been successful, but attempts continue to keep the disease confined to the buffer zone 250 miles from this nation's border.

The national birth rate last year was higher than at any time since records began in 1915. The death rate was only slightly above the record low of 1946 and infant mortality dropped to a new low.

Mrs. Standley on Easter Program Of Woman's Club

"Fruits of the Master" was the subject of the Easter program presented for Wayne Woman's club Friday by Mrs. R. B. Standley. Qualities which one desires and only obtainable from the Master, Mrs. Standley stated are wisdom, confidence, culture, faith, wealth, courage, life and love. Wisdom is from above and leads to kindness and humility. Only the wise have control and guard their tongues and are temperate in all things. Wisdom is more valuable than gold, Mrs. Standley said. Confidence is to trust people, to lift them up and not set them down, as practiced in the life of Jesus. Though He had no houses or lands, Jesus had culture and saved values in everything, she continued.

Faith, said Mrs. Standley, is neither popular nor plentiful. Faith removes mountains of the heart and hard Scientists go to scientists for facts. Why not go to the author of faith for faith? Man needs faith as a basis for living. Many individual problems could be cured today through faith. "We should meditate and think of God often."

Wealth Not Spiritual Wealth, the speaker noted, is not a spiritual quality. Jesus approved of the right use of money but not its misuse. "Freely receive and freely give." The economic machine is failing today. Many souls are sick and income cannot cure them.

Courage is necessary to overcome fear. Many fears never materialize, Mrs. Standley read a veteran's letter showing the spirit of a youth who conquered his fear of death. With the same courage shown in peacetime, much could be accomplished.

Life is a mystery from birth to death. The important factor is not that one lives but how he lives. "Give service. Life must register improvement." Love is needed in the world today, the speaker said. Love is the basis of everything. It lightens burdens and dispels hate. In concluding, Mrs. Standley urged each to bear his own cross.

Mrs. Victor West, who had devotions, read the Easter message from St. Mark. She noted that the resurrection established hope that has grown through the years. In relating the Easter story, Mrs. West mentioned that crucifixion took place on the dogwood tree which grew tall and straight. Legend tells that since the dogwood has grown crooked and gnarled and that its white flowers are a reminder of the cross and crown of thorns. She closed with a poem, "In Remembrance," by Jeannette Edwards.

Speakers were introduced by Lettie Scott.

Program to Include Song

William Byers, presented by Mrs. Russell Anderson and accompanied by Constance Johnson, sang, "The Palm" and "The Lord's Prayer."

ing, Mrs. H. J. Fisher, Mrs. T. T. Jones, Mrs. Robbie W. Levy, Mrs. S. A. Ludwig, Mrs. S. E. Samuelson, Mrs. David Theophilus, Mrs. Don Wightman and Mrs. Esther Rice.

in performance and economy . . .
in ruggedness and reliability!

- 1 In the world's champion Chevrolet engine, the valves are located in the head of the cylinder, directly over the pistons. Hence the name, Valve-in-Head.
- 2 Valve-in-Head design provides faster intake of fuel mixture, and quicker and more complete exhaust of burned gases. . . all of which contributes to better performance and economy.
- 3 Valve-in-Head design also permits a more compact combustion chamber. . . this, together with Chevrolet's "Blue Flame" combustion, means more living power for the pistons—less heat loss—and maximum economy.

Valve-in-Head engines are inherently easier to cool; and Chevrolet's individual cooling of cylinders prevents waste of power—promotes efficient operation; prolongs engine life.

Automotive experts and millions of motorists agree: Valve-in-Head is far ahead because it gives an outstanding combination of performance, endurance, dependability and economy. . . Chevrolet—master builder of this master motor—has proved this by producing more than 20 million Valve-in-Head engines during the past thirty-seven years—engines which hold the distinction of having delivered more billions of miles of satisfaction, to more owners, over a longer period, than any other power-plant built today! Chevrolet's World's Champion Valve-in-Head engine is another powerful reason why CHEVROLET AND ONLY CHEVROLET IS FIRST . . . another convincing proof that only Chevrolet gives BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST!

CHEVROLET and ONLY CHEVROLET IS FIRST!

Action Must Not Be Delayed

Even if the president's message to congress last week was not strong enough, as some leading legislators complained, it did serve to warn the man in the street of the seriousness of the international situation and of this nation's military weakness.

Out here in the middle west it is difficult to accurately assess the dangers confronting our peace and security, but without a doubt, immediate action of some type is necessary. Further evidence that this is so was given Monday by Chairman Guernsey of the senate armed services committee after a meeting with Secretary of State Marshall, Defense Secretary Forrester and Army Secretary Royal.

Apparently, then, the situation is dangerous enough to warrant immediate congressional consideration and action. It may be fatal to be too late this time.

Along this line, it is difficult for us to understand the position of Senator Taft, a leading republican candidate for the presidency. Taft, a solid, honest and forthright man, said after Truman's congressional message that he did not believe war is in the picture.

Despite his sincerity and ability, the senator seems to possess neither the foresight nor the understanding of foreign affairs so desperately needed by the man who occupies the presidential chair.

$1 Per Day Per Person

According to Pathfinder, the cost of U. S. government today is more than $1 per day for every person in the nation, while the pre-war cost was 30 cents per person per day. That is a staggering increase.

Thus, it was heartening Monday when the news came that congressional action had practically assured an income tax reduction of $4,800,000,000 this year. But it looked good only at first glance.

When you think it over a minute, you realize that four billion fewer dollars won't make much of a dent in the per capita per day cost. There won't be any truly substantial cuts in the high tax situation until our government cuts down on waste and extravagance in its own operation.

No Coercion Here

According to Congressman Karl Stefan's weekly news letter, "Representative Karl Mundt of South Dakota notes that Alaska and Hawaii are staging intensive lobbying campaigns for statehood. Mundt points out that such activities make up a practical and convincing antidote for soviet propaganda. Says he: 'While territories are begging to become members of this commonwealth of states, the countries near Russia are trying frantically to avoid being coerced into becoming members of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.'"

It is significant, too, that no pressure has been brought to bear on either Alaska or Hawaii by the United States; in fact, we've been reticent about taking the steps preliminary to admitting these two territories to statehood. If Alaska and Hawaii eventually do become our 49th and 50th states, it will be because THEY wanted it, and not because WE forced them to join us.

IN BOOKLAND

Mrs. F. A. Mildner City Librarian

When I'm a grown up lady, I know just what I'll be. The lady who's librarian, in a big library. I'll find the books for people. Then stamp them with the date, and I'll collect fine money. When books are brought in late. I'll always know just what books. The people want to read. Then I'll tell children stories. And have much fun indeed!

The above poem is dedicated to all of my loyal little patrons who like to play "library" at home.

earnestly hope that they will always think that a library is fun.

An interesting history of the best sellers of the United States, from 1662, when the best seller of the day was a book called, The Day of Doom, written by Rev. Wigglesworth, down to the present time, has been written by Frank A. J. Taylor. The book features a picture of the reading preferences of the population over this period of time, and it is interesting to note the changes in reading habits as historical events influenced their thinking.

Thornton Wilder, author of The Bridge of San Luis Rey and Our Town, has written a new novel called The Idiot, March 25. The book is about the title it is a story about Julius Caesar. Through imaginary letters and documents, which are cunningly revealing and follow a narrative pattern, all Rome comes crowding through the pages of the book.

Mrs. Roy Corryell will draw pictures for the children at Story Hour this Saturday and there will be special Easter treats for them. We hope to have a good crowd as it will be the last Story Hour of the winter series.

Insist On Clean Records In Beer Relicensing

It is well to keep in mind that only past good performance entitles an applicant to a beer-selling license.

The brewing industry realizes that its effort to keep beer retailing on a high plane can be made fully effective only when the privilege of selling beer is given to those who will not abuse the privilege.

A retailer whose past performance shows he has a lack of proper regard for the public interest — who carelessly or deliberately violates the laws and general rules of good conduct — has proved himself unworthy of a license. He should be replaced by a reputable citizen who has the proper attitude and ability.

Should you know of a tavern-keeper in your community who does not measure up to his responsibilities, now is the time to act. Report it fully to your local licensing officials.

Kaiser-Frazer Introduces Four New 1948 Models

- The 1948 KAISER
- The 1948 KAISER CUSTOM
- The 1948 FRAZER
- The 1948 FRAZER MANHATTAN

AT NO INCREASE IN PRICE!

While Other New Car Prices Are Advancing

HERE'S WHY Kaiser-Frazer can make this announcement while other new car prices spiral upward. Kaiser-Frazer controls its own supply of many basic raw materials . . . has its own engine plant, foundry and steel mill. Materials from these sources funnel into new and modern Willow Run — the largest automobile manufacturing plant in the world under one roof.

Unfinished steel goes in one end of this great plant and comes out a quality automobile, ready to be driven away. All this is accomplished in a matter of hours, and with the economy of Kaiser-Frazer straight-line production. This is an achievement of men who are injecting new methods and ideas into an old industry.

In the new 1948 Kaiser, Frazer, Kaiser Custom, and Frazer Manhattan you get all the features that others have attempted to copy since Kaiser-Frazer design was introduced in 1947.

So far no one has been able to more than approximate the graceful exterior body lines. No one has come near matching the roadability . . . the ride resulting from seats cradled between the front and rear wheels, such wide seats with both elbow and shoulder room. And none have the style features, the wide choice of colors and fabrics.

You get all this plus the many refinements made possible by years-ahead engineering and design. And, of course, all 1948 Kaiser or Frazer cars have the new Goodyear 24-pound pressure Super-Cushion tires that make bumps something you see but never feel.

Enjoy a ride today in America's newest new cars — the 1948 cars that have not gone up in price!

Wherever you drive, wherever you go, "round the corner, down the street, there is a Kaiser-Frazer dealer ready to serve you with genuine factory parts and approved service.

Gardening

It pays to plant a home garden. Even a small garden in town, if properly managed, can furnish $50 to $75 worth of vegetables. A larger farm garden can provide even more. But a word of caution. Don't become over ambitious. It is better to plant less and take good care of it. Your reward will be a bigger and better harvest. Vegetables right out of the garden make meals look better, taste better, and afford more. But a word of caution. Don't become over ambitious. It is better to plant less and take good care of it. Your reward will be a bigger and better harvest. Vegetables right out of the garden make meals look better, taste better, and afford more. But a word of caution. Don't become over ambitious. It is better to plant less and take good care of it. Your reward will be a bigger and better harvest. Vegetables right out of the garden make meals look better, taste better, and afford more.

The planting of more gardens in town as well as the farm areas is urged to help relieve the commercial market and world shortages. Nebraska are asked to help by planting varieties of vegetables that have been tried and are recommended for planting in Nebraska, by preserving vegetables for use in winter and using as many fresh as possible; and by using recommended practices of culture, disease and insect control.

Planting Calendar
Don't plant too early or too late. Seeds or plants put in too early may be damaged by frosts or have their growth stunted by cold. Put in too late, they do not have time to produce profitably or may be slowed down by summer heat and lack of moisture.

The average date of the last killing frost in Wayne is around May 21.

Hardy vegetables as broccoli, cabbage, onions, radishes, rutabagas, peas, spinach, turnips and potatoes can be planted two to four weeks before the frost date and many means to be given profitable crops.

The half-hardy vegetables as beets, carrots, chard, lettuce and parsnips can withstand only light frosts and therefore should be planted about the frost date.

The tender vegetables are injured by light frosts and their seeds do not germinate well in very cold ground.

Seeds such as snap beans, sweet corn, okra and New Zealand spinach should be planted 10 days to three weeks after the frost date.

The very tender vegetables are the last to plant. They need warm soil and warm air. Plant only after warm weather comes, usually three weeks after the frost date, cucumber, eggplant, lima beans, melons, peppers, sweet potatoes and squash.

Tender plants and tomatoes, eggplant and pepper should not go into the garden until all danger of frost is past.

Varieties
With some vegetables, differences between varieties are very slight, in others, it is very important to select the variety with care. It pays to depend upon proved tested varieties rather than new and untried or freakish sorts. Often a different variety is recommended for freezing than for canning. Extension circular No. 1211, Nebraska Farm Vegetable Gardens has a list of vegetable varieties adapted to Nebraska conditions. A great deal of testing has been carried on with new varieties of tomatoes for Nebraska and their culture. This information is available by writing or calling the county agricultural extension office.

The U. S. department of agriculture has found that some seed dealers are selling old seed carried over from previous seasons. The label on seed packages must state the date for which the germination test is effective. Thus by reading the label one can tell if the seed has been tested for germination within the required 6 months period.

Seed Treatment
It is now possible to buy pelleted seeds which are coated with two or more layers of protective fungicide chemical and plant food. The chemicals dissolve when the seeds are planted and the young seedling is assured of having both food and protection from harmful soil diseases from the start. The cost per packet is slightly higher.

The smaller vegetable seeds may be treated at home for "damping off" with copper oxide dust or Semesan. The directions recommended by the manufacturers should be followed.

Potato scab and black scurf may be controlled by seed treatment. When small quantities are to be planted, the simplest method is to dissolve one of the mercury compounds like Semesan-Bel in solution. For large quantities, hot water and dip the potatoes in this formaldehyde treatment is recommended. These methods of seed treatment are described in extension circular 1204.
