Weddings

NEILSON-BADJE

Hoskins—The wedding of Maxine Neilson of Norfolk and Robert Badje of Columbus was solemnized at 2 o'clock Sunday at the Peace Reform church near Hoskins. Rev. C. H. Riedesel officiated at the double ring ritual. The bride is the older daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sofus Neilson of near Norfolk and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Badje of Fullerton. The church was decorated with huge baskets of lilac which carried out the bride's chosen colors of orchid and green. Proceeding the ceremony, Marjorie Marten sang "O Promise Me" and following the service she sang "Because." She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Andrew Anderson, who also played the wedding march. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory satin gown fashioned with a tight fitting bodice trimmed with a row of tiny, self-covered buttons down the back. The bodice had a yoke of sheer net from which a self-embroidered bertha extended over the shoulders. The sleeves were modified leg-a-mutton fashion. The full gathered skirt ended in a graceful train. The bride's borrowed article was a full-length veil of all silk net edged in medallions of lace and terminating in a large heart. The veil was held by a tiara of seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried an arm bouquet of white calla lilies tied with white satin ribbon.

As maid of honor, Faye Benzine of Norfolk, wore a floor-length gown accented with a matching headpiece and mitts. She carried a lace wrist basket of pink split carnations. The bridesmaid was Vayle Vonne Gerkins of Randolph. She wore a gown of orchid and white. Like that of Miss Benzine's, the headpiece and mitts also matched her gown. Yellow split carnations were in her lace wrist basket. Both attendants wore rhinestone chokers, gifts of the bride.

Jack Badje of Madison, a cousin of the bridegroom, was best man and Bill Neilson, the bride's brother was the other attendant. Fred and Adrian Mihulka, twin brothers who are friends of the bridegroom, served as ushers.

The mothers of the couple wore white cation corset gowns.

A reception for about 75 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony. The table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake on a large mirror and flanked by tall green tapers trimmed in orchid and set in crystal candelabra. Those assisting with the serving were Mrs. Fred Brumels, Mrs. Frank Marten and Mrs. Alton Fuhrman. Carolyn Neilson of Omaha the bride's aunt, poured. Ruby Dikeman of Creighton was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. Marvin Fuhrman had charge of the gifts.

Mrs. Badje has been employed at the National Bank of Norfolk. She was graduated from Norfolk high school in 1945. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Columbus high school and served in the coast guard for three years. Since his discharge, he has been employed by the Mihulka Motor Co., of Columbus.

After a short wedding trip to Denver, the young couple will make their home in Columbus, For when going away on their honeymoon they will choose a shell pink suit with navy accessories.

The veterans administration today pointed out that the 40,111 World War II veterans in Nebraska who have GI insurance can save themselves time, money and inconvenience by paying their premiums on an annual, semi-annual or quarterly basis rather than monthly.

The VA official also pointed out that less frequent posting of premiums would apparently cut down the huge volume of mail which must be acknowledged each month by the agency, and would thereby increase efficiency and reduce the cost of insurance operations.

Westmoreland said that only 27 per cent of the 13,370 who have converted the permanent plans of GI insurance remit monthly, whereas 82 per cent of the 26,741 carrying term insurance are paying their premiums by the month.

Any veteran can change his mode of premium payment on any premium due date, he added, and information can be obtained at the nearest VA office, or by writing the Insurance Service, VA Branch Office No. 8, Fort Snelling, St. Paul 11, Minnesota.

Freda Sund of North Platte spent the weekend with her parents, the Herman Sunds. Mr. and Mrs. Wally Sund, Odella Hassa and Mildred Mitchell were Sunday dinner guests.

Today's Top Investment

Looking for a good place to invest some surplus cash... an investment that will benefit you and your nation? Any person whose present day earnings are sufficient to provide for his needs and still leave him with some extra money will do well to invest in U. S. savings bonds during the Security Loan drive now in progress.

According to the savings bonds division of the U. S. treasury department, here are some of the reasons why these bonds are an especially good investment in these days of economic uncertainty:

"It should be the firm resolution of every American to do everything he can to preserve a stabilized economy. This is a goal you should set for yourself and tell your neighbors about. Each American has the obligation to himself and his country to participate in the Security Loan.

"United States savings bonds are securities bonds. The amount outstanding today—$52 billion—is a huge reserve of buying power, and every dollar added to this reserve is a dollar temporarily channeled away from the nation's market places. At the same time it is a dollar stored away, and these dollars... billions of them we have saved together... can help keep 'hard times' away from our door.

"The success of the Security Loan will mean that more Americans will own more of America... the economists call it 'spreading ownership of the securities on the national debt.' Americans who own these securities are more interested in their government, have an actual stake in how it is operated.

"Today—every security bond dollar built up in your treasury is used to pay off a dollar of the national debt that is potentially inflationary. This is wise debt management.

"Tomorrow—security bond dollars can be ready to help you buy the things you need."

The Herald reminds its readers that U. S. savings bonds are always a good investment... during the Security Loan drive, and after it is finished. Money invested in savings bonds is as safe and secure as our nation.

Newspaper headline: "Truman Bust to Missouri." We've heard it rumored that other parts of the nation are disappointed, too.

The Tension Increases

Everyone who keeps himself informed on current affairs is living under considerable tension. The international situation is enough to make anyone jumpy, and likely will continue to do so for a long time in the future. As if there weren't enough, the tension is being increased almost daily by such lamentable internal difficulties as labor strikes—both current and threatened.

The two most serious strikes now in progress—railroad and packing house workers—will not be solved by any action taken so far. Even though the government has assumed the burden of operating the railroads, the strike itself has not been settled. According to reports, many packing house workers want to return to their jobs, but dare not because they fear harm to themselves, their families and their homes. It has been proposed that the National Guard be called out to preserve order... to protect workers who want to work... but this, again, won't settle the strike.

The differences between management and labor can be worked out only by these two factions themselves.

The seemingly never ending succession of labor-management troubles is becoming intolerable to the people, and dangerous to the nation's health and economic welfare. If this strike situation continues it can lead only to economic difficulties from which it may take years to recover. Drastic legislation (which may come) is not the answer; it calls for understanding of the overall national picture, plus less selfishness and less stubbornness on the part of all factions involved.

IN BOOKLAND

by Mrs. F. A. Mildner, City Librarian

Mental Pictures
Last week the editorial column of this paper printed an article by a school teacher who spoke her mind about the attitudes toward her profession. She says that the teacher is cartooned as a sourpuss and portrayed as 'old maid.' She has a point, but she should complain. What if she were a librarian?

Even the movies are conniving to portray a librarian as something out of the Victorian era, all dried up, dusty and moldy as their idea of the books with which she works. Even one of my favorite heart throbs, Jimmy Stewart, in one of his late pictures plays the part of a lover who is thinking of what may happen to his sweetheart if he should leave her. He visualizes her as a little white haired, faded, bespectacled librarian, poked away and forgotten among her stacks of books. The implication is that no one ever looks at the books either. Imagine such a horrible fate! It is true, that I can't deny, that one can get white hair in the service, but it is like a professional which provides more interesting variety, where it is more necessary to be mentally alert, or where it is less possible to stagnate. Next time you think of a librarian try to change your mental picture. A doctor used to bring to mind a man in a black coat with a beard and a little black bag. Our mental picture of the doctor has changed, the mental picture of the teacher is changing and perhaps someday librarians will be thought of as human beings too. Who knows?

Personality and Your House
Does your house have it? If you don't know, come to the library and consult Emily Post on the subject because she has written a book about it. The book will show you how to make a type of personality express your personality in architecture, color schemes, choice of furnishings and accessories. If you wonder what Emily knows about this subject the book jacket tells us that Mrs. Post comes of a family of architects and has quite a reputation for her knowledge of color and interior arrangement.

Baseball
Joe DiMaggio has written a treasury of baseball lore and instruction for fans and players which he calls "Baseball for Everyone." With the baseball season off to such a good start in Wayne, some of the fans should be interested in this book.

Rental Shelf News
The two most important new novels on the rental shelf this week are "The Great Gatsby" by F. Scott Fitzgerald who wrote "Three O'Clock Dinner," and "The Strange Blooming" by Bellamy. The Pinckney book is odd, to say the very least. Those who go in for fantasy will like it but those who do not, had better leave it alone. The book by Bellamy is another triangle story with an unusual twist. This one is told from the man's point of view. He may have found it, but I wasn't quite sure about it when I read it.

Big Mystery News!
Amos Claycomb has come through in a big way and donated 22 new mystery books to the library. Three stories in each volume swell the total to 66. Can't we have fun during the summer? Thanks Mr. Claycomb.

More Milk Per Cow? Here's How! The number of dairy cows in the United States has increased only 1% since 1940. In the same eight years, a 10% increase in population has added about 12,000,000 more mouths to feed. These new American appetites need plenty of dairy products. Where are they coming from? More cows? Certainly that should mean more milk. But to bring more cows into production takes time—three years or more. The other solution is to increase the average production of milk and butterfat per cow. On many farms, dairy production has been increased without adding more cows. Here's how: 1. Improve your pastures. Dairy men have a saying—"Grow more grass and make more cash!" Good grass is your best and cheapest dairy feed. Lime and fertilizer. Control weeds by spraying and mowing. Reseed to improve grasses. These are all good pasture builders. 2. Handle your milk and cream efficiently. Mechanical separators reduce loss of butterfat and improve its quality. Give more careful attention to sanitation. Quick cooling and proper handling can help you sell milk and cream of better quality, for more profit. 3. Eliminate cattle pests. New sprays, like dices and DDT, used on the herd and in the barn, can rid your cows of grubs, practically eliminate pesky flies and lice. These pests rob America of an unbelievable amount of milk each year. Iowa alone sees the loss caused by heel flies and grubs at nearly 250 million pounds of milk in one year. 4. Control mastitis and Bang's disease. They are serious enemies of milk production. Complete control of them could increase the nation's milk supply 20% or more. That would be one quart every day for 30,000,000 people. 5. Check with your neighbors. See what they have done to increase their herd averages. You can also get help from your County Agent or your Vocational Agricultural teacher, your State College Experiment Station, or your State Veterinarian. Increase production with more milk per cow. And more milk per cow means more cash for you. Standardbred vs. Crossbred Chickens by R. George Jaap Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio. The relative merits of standardbred vs. crossbred chickens may be summed up in three words—not much difference. But this difference is more often in favor of the well-chosen crossbred. The advantages of a good crossbred are: faster growth and more eggs. However, many a slip can occur in crossbreeding standardbreds which will make them inferior, market-wise, to standardbreds. For example, to produce a suitable crossbred, both standardbred parental breeds must be of top quality. If standardbred parental breed is of poor quality, the resulting crossbred will be a poorer producer than the high-producing standardbred side of the family. The fact that crossbreds usually are darker-colored may be a market disadvantage. Many markets pay a premium for white-feathered chickens. White Plymouth Rocks are not suitable for crossbreeding. If they are crossed with New Hampshire, dark-colored chickens will often result. Therefore the premium for whites is lost. And the slightly faster growth rate of crossbreds may not make up this profit difference. In color of eggs, the crossbred producer is also at a marked disadvantage. Most egg-producing crossbreds lay colored eggs. Many markets pay more for white eggs. Therefore, the crossbred producer forfeits the profit on white eggs until crossbreds, which will consistently lay white eggs, are produced. In certain cases, crossbreds may develop a greater susceptibility to disease than the better parent. It is possible to develop crossbreds superior to the better standardbred strains. But determining the most suitable crossbreds is difficult because two different breeds are involved.

More Milk Per Cow? Here's How! "It takes a big engine to pull a HEAVY Load". This little engine is good for its purpose, but is not built to pull such a big load. The larger engine is designed to handle large loads—efficiently, economically and easily. Two-thirds of the livestock is produced west of the Mississippi River. Two-thirds of the meat is eaten east of the Mississippi. Bringing these two together is a job requiring a large engine. That's why the country needs nationwide meat packers like Swift & Company. For with processing plants located where most of the livestock is raised, we can help bridge the gap between western range and the kitchen range. It is an important job, and we're proud that we are able to handle a share of it. Martha Logan's Recipe for SUMMER SAUSAGE SCRAMBLE (Yield: 2 servings) 1 tablespoon butter 4 eggs 1/2 cup chopped summer sausage (cervelat) Melt butter in skillet. Add summer sausage and fry lightly. Beat eggs with milk and add, cooking gently, stirring carefully until just set (still moist). Serve immediately. OUR CITY COUSIN. "Look, City Cousin, as friend to friend, You milk a cow from the udder end!" SWIFT & COMPANY UNION STOCK YARDS CHICAGO 9, ILLINOIS. NUTRITION IS OUR BUSINESS—AND YOURS. Right eating adds life to your years—and years to your life. Soda Bill sez: "If you bark at people all day you'll be dog-tired by night. It's funny how opportunities look so much bigger going away than when coming." HAM & EGGS GO TOGETHER. Milk, cream, poultry and eggs brought producers a gross income of nearly 6 1/2 billion dollars last year. That's big business! Every family in the nation uses dairy and poultry products. These products are perishable. They have to be handled with care. It's a big job to process and distribute butter, cheese, ice cream, dressed poultry, and eggs in prime condition. It's a nationwide job—as broad and as long as America. We have nationwide refrigerating and meat distributing facilities to serve both producers and consumers. It is economical to use these same coolers, refrigerator cars and trucks for dairy and poultry products. The Swift salesman sells meat, poultry, eggs, cheese, butter and other products. In this way we can have one salesman for sixteen or more products, instead of sixteen salesmen each selling one product. The same goes for delivery, too. If you were in business marketing many different products to the same buyers, would you have one salesman for each product? You would have each salesman sell many of your products. That saves money, effort, travel and the buyers' time. That's our way, too. Vice-President, Swift & Company. Mr. Clark, "guest editor" this month, is Vice-President of Swift & Company in charge of the Dairy and Poultry Division.

... that YOU made possible!

100 years of service! We of the North Western are proud of this record; pleased to point to our growth from a few miles of strap-rail line with a single locomotive, to a 9,600-mile rail network serving nine states. But we know well that the real credit for our progress must go to you, the traveler, the shipper, the farmer... to the generations in your family and community who had faith in this railroad, who stood with us through hard times and good in the realization that community development and good transportation go hand in hand. So in marking our 100th birthday, our thanks are to you—whose vision and assistance have made this event possible.
