

Lists Questions To Be Asked At Registration

Lincoln—'What every young man 18 through 25 should know when he goes to register,' according to Brig. Gen. Guy N. Henninger, state selective service director, 'should include a number of items of information about himself. It will save the time of the registrant and of the clerk if the young man jots down the answers prior to his interview at the registration place and has them ready to submit.'

The registration card is made up with numbered spaces, and the answers to the following questions will supply the information for the spaces thus numbered. Henninger explained:

QUESTION 1 concerns the registrant's full name, second name, his place of residence. The place of residence he gives in answer to this question will determine the local board that has jurisdiction over his case. Third, the clerk will want to know his mailing address.

Fourth, the registration should have the name and address of some person who will always know his whereabouts, wife, parent, or close relative. Fifth, date of birth, place of birth, the town and state or county and state, is sufficient information.

QUESTION 7 concerns the registrant's occupation. Eight, the firm or individual by whom employed, and No. 9, the nature of the business, identified by the name and location of the producer. Question 10 asks for the place of employment or business.

Question 11 applies only to those who registered in 1940 and during World War II, according to Henninger. The registrant will be required to give the name of the selective service board with which he registered at that time. Question 12 asks, 'Were you ever rejected for service in the armed forces, and, if so, when?'

Question 13 applies to marital status. The clerk will want to know if the registrant is single, married, living with wife, divorced, separated, or a widower. He will also want to know if the registrant is a father.

QUESTION 14 is in reference to active duty with the armed forces of the United States or in the United States National Guard since September 1940. Henninger said veterans will be required to state their branch of service, date of entry in the service, name of last organization and date of separation. Question 15 applies to persons who are members of reserve components of the armed forces. Reserves and National Guardsmen will be required to give their branch of the armed forces, service or serial number, date of entry, grade and organization.

The clerk will do all the writing involved in filling out the registration card except for the space where the registrant is required to sign, according to the general, who added that the clerk will also want the old 'hardy' answers on the registration card, height, weight, color of eyes, color of hair, complexion and race.

Blaze Destroys Barn at Altona

Last week's severe electrical storms, described by some residents as the most intense ever experienced in this area, caused three farm fires and kept Wayne, Wisner and Pilger firemen on an almost constant alert as calls came in for assistance.

Last night's fire occurred Saturday evening when the large barn on the G. H. Hofius farm in Altona was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. No livestock was in the barn at the time, but a large quantity of ground feed and hay was destroyed.

Both the Wayne and Wisner fire departments sped to the blaze, but were unable to save the flaming structure. They confined their efforts largely to protecting nearby buildings, and were assisted by a bucket brigade of neighboring farmers and others.

A STRONG WIND blew sparks which threatened the Hofius home, the Trinity Lutheran parochial school, and the church across the road. The building was covered by insurance but the contents were not. The other two fires were caused by lightning bolts last week Tuesday evening.

ONE BLAZE, reported in The Herald last week, destroyed a barn on the Don Quinn farm 11 miles southwest of Wayne. The local fire trucks were unable to reach the farm because a bridge approach was washed out, but several firemen got to the blaze in jeeps.

At about the same time, lightning struck the house on the Raymond Johnson farm, occupied by the Lester Bodenstein family, northwest of Wisner. The house and contents were destroyed in the resulting blaze. The Bodenstein family was in a cave at the time, having sought safety from the severe storm.

PILGER AND WISNER fire departments were called, but could not get to the farm because of impassable roads. Mrs. Bodenstein and children are staying temporarily with her parents, the V. G. McFaddens in Sholes, according to The Herald's Sholes correspondent. Mr. Bodenstein is at the farm.

Fined in County Court Glen Thompson was fined $10 and costs in county court Tuesday on a charge of intoxication.

Proposed School Buildings Rejected By Fire Marshal

The Sholes school was destroyed by fire last spring, and in a recent election voters of the district narrowly defeated a proposed bond issue for the construction of a new building.

City School to Open on Aug. 30; Faculty Complete

With the announcement this week of the appointment of Fred Rickers as principal of Wayne high school, the Wayne high school teaching staff was completed for the 1948-49 school year.

Rickers has taught in the Wayne schools since 1944 and was assistant principal last year. He was awarded his instructor and assistant-coach at Wayne high school when he first came here, but he changed his teaching field to science in 1946.

SUPERINTENDENT Stuart Baller said that Rickers had several times been offered the principalship of Wayne high but had always declined. He preferred to teach. This spring he again refused the offer but said that he would accept the position if a satisfactory man could not be found. During the summer three outstanding men in the field were willing to accept the principalship, but they refused to come to Wayne when housing could not be located for them.

Rickers was then approached upon his return from California and accepted the position. He is a graduate of Peru State Teachers college and was first a school instructor and then superintendent of schools at Blue Springs before coming to Wayne.

TWO OTHER new teachers announced by Baller are Mrs. Joseph McMullen, who will teach fifth grade and art, and Beulah Bornhoff, high school instructor in mathematics and history.

Mrs. McMullen attended Peru State Teachers college and taught at Tecumseh for the past two years. She has a major in art, and for the first time in several years art will be offered in the grades.

Miss Bornhoff is the daughter of the George Bornhoffs of Wayne and a graduate of Wayne State Teachers college. She has had 13 years teaching experience, including the past four years in Ogallala. The superintendent of schools at Ogallala notified Wayne school authorities that Miss Bornhoff "is one of the finest teachers I have been my privilege to know."

BALLER SAID that this had been the hardest year in his experience to fill the district with well-qualified teachers. He stated: "I feel that our teaching staff is equal to that of any other year since I have been with the Wayne schools. If not in some respects a better one." He said he was looking with confidence to a school year with such a fine teaching staff.

Other members of the Wayne schools teaching staff for 1948-49 are: Mrs. Jeannette Giese, kindergarten; Roxanna Britzman, first grade; Mrs. Etta Jenkins Fisher, second grade; Hazel Lewis, third grade and music; Margaret Woods, fourth grade; Eleanor Edwards, sixth grade; Mrs. Violet Rickers, seventh grade; Mrs. Lucille Temper, eighth grade; George Bailey, director of health, physical education and music; Beulah Bornhoff, instructor in biology and girls' physical education; Edgar Lee, instructor in manual arts and assistant coach; Mrs. Mary Witt, instructor in home economics; Vernelle Meusborn, commerce; John Alden Lewis, science, mathematics and car driving; Ruth Ross, English and dramatics; A. ### Entries Pour in For Corn Contest; Huge Yields Seen

Lincoln—Orders for entry blanks in the 1948 Nebraska 10-acre corn yield contest are considerably ahead of previous years because of the bright prospects for high production.

D. L. Gross, University of Nebraska extension agronomist and contest committee chairman, says the number of 100-bushel yields may establish a record this year. He points out that stands of corn are excellent and plant growth is much above normal and "it appears that Nebraska may produce the greatest crop in its history."

BUT, GROSS SAYS, in former years, the yields will be an expression of soil fertility levels. No amount of moisture and good growing weather he cautions, can overcome low fertility conditions. The purpose of the contest is to determine what it takes to produce high yields.

As in former years, the award meetings of the contest will be held in January. The results of the contest will be given, winners presented and the production methods outlined.

AWARD MEETINGS will be held in Wayne, Ord, Columbus, Holdrege, Nebraska City and McCook. The Wayne meeting, to be held in conjunction with All Farmers day, will be for the Northeast Nebraska district.

Our little summer school has started and will continue during the month. Two sisters of the Franciscan order from Milwaukee are in charge. May we cherish the hope that the parents will be faithful in sending their children each day for the religious instructions that are so necessary if we are to build the moral life of the fine men and women of the nation. Secular education is good and desirable but unless both the mental and physical life of the individual is built up, we are liable to have a very undesirable citizen, for without the knowledge of God and His moral law, there is nothing to restrain the man or woman in time of temptation. The mere knowledge of secular subjects will not do it. So help us plant the seed of God's love and a reverence for His law in the hearts of your children. The epistle for Sunday: Galatians 5:16-24. The gospel: Matthew 6:24-33.

In Old Nebraska

By James C. Olson Supt., State Historical Society

Old and decrepit "U" Hall, the first building ever erected on the University of Nebraska's campus, is being torn down this month to make way for a modern engineering building. Rather, what's left of it is being torn down. The two upper stories and bell tower were razed in 1925, and recent generations of students have known only the crumbling, flat-topped, one-story structure standing among the trees of the old campus like the base of a toppled monument in some ancient cemetery.

The building saw its first student generation in the fall of 1871. A photo in the files of the State Historical Society, taken that year, shows it a gaunt, ugly structure incongruously rising out of the open prairie. It stood at the north end of Lincoln's 11th street, dominating the skyline of the raw, new capital city.

In his first report to the Board of Regents, made in 1872, Chancellor Allen Bagley noted, "some difficulty has been experienced in making the roof impervious to rain." This difficulty has continued to be experienced, and buckets to catch water were standard equipment of the departments using the building for many years.

Another perennial difficulty was that of heating the building. In the early days, the classrooms, and chapel were heated by stoves. This system worked fairly well for the classrooms, but it never was satisfactory for the chapel. Further describing the chapel, one historian of the university has said: "With its wealth of bleak walls, its stained and perilous ceiling, a more uninspiring room cannot well be imagined."

Actually the building was condemned as physically unfit from its very beginning, and it had to undergo extensive repairs. The original foundation of soft brown sandstone was replaced with a limestone foundation. In its later years the building was held together by steel cables.

The rickety nature of the original building long delayed appropriations for addition construction on the University campus. In the first place, it absorbed a great deal of money in repairs. In the second place, many departments which for those who wanted to remove the institution from Lincoln.

Hence, in 1886, when a second building was constructed, University Hall was filled to overflowing with faculty, students, and equipment. Many departments which now occupy an entire building were then housed in one tiny room.

It was steady on fat cattle and fat lambs and higher again on hogs Monday at Omaha, but the real fireworks turned up in the stocker and feeder divisions. Feeder steers, Nebraska 3's weighing 1176, stamped to a record $32.50, highest for feeder cattle in Omaha market history.

Other feeder steers sold at $27 to $30.50, grassfat steers for slaughter to $31, yearling stock to $28, quotable to $29 or better. Wyoming steer calves hit $31, the heifer end $29.50. Trade trend in stockers and feeders was steady to strong, some sales 50c up.

Subsistence Deadline Is Sept. 1 for Vets

Lincoln—Nebraska veterans training under the GI bill who are eligible for increased subsistence benefits from the veterans administration were reminded today by VA of an important deadline established by recent law.

Ashley Westmoreland, Lincoln regional office manager, said the deadline pertains to those World War II veterans with more than one dependent who are taking part-time training at school or those affected by the new income "ceiling" in such pursuits as on-the-job training. These veterans must submit proof of the additional dependency by Sept. 1 in order to receive the increased pay retroactively to April 1.

It will not be necessary, Westmoreland said, for veterans with no dependents or only one dependent as of April 1, 1948, to contact the VA because the required information is already on file. Retroactive pay increases will go automatically to these veterans if they are entitled by law to receive them.

FIELD CUTTERS

Make your feeding operation safe by getting 700 pounds or more gain per acre. (That was last year's experience on corn making 30 bu. per acre) 30 acres of corn through a field cutter will put on as-much gain as 90 acres of husked corn, and cost you less than husking and handling the 30 acres. SKYLINE is the only machine that gives you a field cutter, a hay chopper, and a portable self-powered grinder in one unit! It's not a case of can you afford one—it's a case of can you afford to do without one if you knew the whole story. Let us refer to some of our owners.

Attention: Football Candidates and Parents—

Football practice will begin Monday, August 23, at 2:30 p.m. All high school boys will be welcomed to try out for the team. All candidates who can possibly do so are urged to be present at that time. Uniforms will be issued on Saturday, Aug. 21, from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m., and on Monday, Aug. 23, from 9:00 to 12:00 in the morning. All candidates are asked to have their equipment checked out before Monday afternoon.

All candidates for the team should start training now. The following are some general suggestions:

1. Use of tobacco and alcohol prohibited.
2. Eat at meal time only and eat anything that agrees with you.
3. Start a regular bed-time schedule. During football season, all candidates are expected to be in bed by 10:00 p.m.

The parent's cooperation in the above suggestions will be greatly appreciated. Here's to a good school year and a successful football season.

FREE ATTRACTIONS

Mable and Pinkey Barnes

Mable and Pinkey Barnes have been with some of the best rodeos in the country, and lately have been in some of the best night clubs and hotels with Rex, their clever, well trained horse. The Barnes do trick riding, trick roping, whip popping and catching—all on the race track.

The Maureen Troupe

The Maureens have a dandy tumbling and balancing act, building pyramids of four and five people. Their work is woven into a very clever routine. The costumes they display are very beautiful and put them in a class by themselves. This act comes on for a second turn of thrills and comedy.

Maureen and Moore

This good looking team, lady and man, do a fine act of juggling and globe rolling. The man also goes in for some clever tumbling.

Doris and Kenny Brothers

If you want to see one of the best horizontal bar acts in the show business you want to see Kenny Brothers and Doris. The brothers are tops on the bars, with their somersaults from bar to bar, and both of them doing giant swings over and under the bars. One of the brothers goes in for comedy. He keeps you laughing from the time the act opens until they have finished. Doris is a pretty, blonde girl who comes in for her share of the honors. The Kennys do a second turn in hand-to-hand balancing. They walk up and down stairs on their hands, carrying one of their partners around their waist.

Bert MoLay Turner

Bert comes from the old school of clowns and knows every trick. His juggling act is well received. He will also clown the grandstand while the stands are filling up.

The Big Livestock Parade at 1:30 Friday Is One of Our Super Attractions. See It!

18-year-olds May Enlist for One Year

Omaha—A limited number of 18-year-olds in this area may still take advantage of the one-year enlistment period offered under the draft.

Major Earl Longacre, jr., executive officer of the Nebraska-Iowa Army and Air Force recruiting district stated today, "Obviously the information that the one-year enlistment is available on a quota basis has discouraged many 18-year-olds from applying. Consequently, there still remain a few openings in the August quota."

An 18-year-old who goes his name on the list as a recruiting station is eligible for the one-year term even though he reaches his 19th birthday before he is called.

Major Longacre added:

Soil in Shape for Grassed Waterways

Allen—According to Clark Moore, Dixon county soil conservation technician, recent rains have placed the soil in excellent condition for preparation of grassed waterways and terrace outlets. The necessary steps to be taken in the preparation of a grassed waterway are:

1. Prepare the ground by plowing or blading in the ditch or gully. Leave it saucer shaped.
2. Spread manure.
3. Pack either with packer, disc or by driving rubber tired tractor up and down the waterway.
4. Broadcast or drill 30 pounds of bromo grass per acre. The area seeded should be two rods wide.
5. Pack either with packer, disc or rubber tired tractor.
6. Spread on a mulch of corn cobs, manure or straw.
7. Pack again by following a zig-zag course up and down the waterway to prevent any straight course for water to follow.

Accidents Cause $14,000 Loss in First Half Year

Lincoln—Wayne county's estimated economic loss for the first six months of 1948 has just been released by the Nebraska Safety Council.

According to the report, injuries and accidents on this county's streets and highways have cost the citizens $14,060. This was figured on the current accident experience of 15 personal injuries and 26 property damage accidents for the first half of the year.

These figures show a marked decrease from 1947 when the economic loss for the county in the same period was $36,060 which included one fatality, 21 personal injuries and 25 property damage accidents.

THESE FIGURES represent the minimum of accident experience in the county since they are only the accidents reported to the accident records bureau of the Department of Roads and Irrigation.

On the state level, the accident experience has increased, however, the number of fatalities and the resulting economic loss have decreased 28 percent and 6 percent respectively.

The total economic loss to the state for this period was $5,093,560 as compared with $5,397,280 for the same period last year.

NEBRASKA had 106 fatalities for the first six months of 1948 as compared to 145 for the same period in 1947. Injuries resulting from traffic accidents increased from 2626 for 1947 to 2914 for 1948. Property damage accidents for the same two periods were 6407 for 1947 and 7737 for 1948.

'Deficit' or 'Surplus'?

The current budget squabble, with President Truman forecasting a deficit next year (because congress reduced income taxes) and the republican members of congress equally certain there will be a huge surplus, breeds nothing but confusion as far as the average citizen is concerned. He is grateful for the tax reduction, but he doesn't want the federal government to operate on a deficit basis. And confronted with such widely divergent opinions on the future "deficit" or "surplus" status of the federal treasury, he doesn't know what to believe.

But the average citizen is also pretty certain that increasing taxes again is not the way to prevent another deficit. He has another idea in mind: ECONOMY in government.

If the president is right about his deficit forecast, then let him, as the head of the administration, take immediate steps to cut down on government spending, and reduce rather than continue to increase the government payroll. When private business finds expenses getting out of hand, it institutes economies, or it goes bankrupt. When the government can't make financial ends meet, it pays no attention to the many economies it could institute. Instead, it yelps for more money to make up the deficit.

There need not be a deficit and, barring some catastrophe such as another war, there need not be an increase in taxes to prevent that deficit. But there must be a concerted effort to operate the government on a business-like basis if a balanced budget is to be maintained.

Should Release 'Spy Records'?

The congressional "spy investigation" proves...

1. That communist spies have managed to infiltrate into high places in our government, and have had access to important government secrets.

2. That the president is not exactly acting for the best interests of the nation in withholding records of FBI investigations of these spies from congressional scrutiny.

3. That you don't have to buy a dime novel if you like spy thrillers... just follow the activities of congressional investigators for real life spy stories.

Withholding the records of loyalty investigations to protect innocent persons may be a laudable goal, but it certainly does not leave the public with any assurance that those who have been guilty of passing on government secrets to Russia are no longer in a position to continue their treasonable acts.

It would seem that congress could be trusted to have discretion enough to protect innocent persons while exposing the activities of those who have worked, not for the United States, but for a foreign nation.

Another Machine Breaks Up

Strong political machines have long been a powerful factor in American elections, but to every such machine eventually comes the day when the voters rise up and destroy them.

Latest "has been" political machine is controlled by "Boss" Crump of Tennessee. In the recent Tennessee election, Crump's candidates took a sound beating as voters who want good government reached the end of their patience with Crump's dictatorial policies.

Many other political machines, some of them extremely powerful, are still in existence in our larger cities, but there are indications that many of them are faltering. Voters throughout the United States will perform a great public service if they follow the lead of Tennessee by helping these machines on their way to disintegration.

Support Prices

Omaha Journal-Stockman: On the one hand, the administration is pounding food prices, and, on the other, supporting and even boosting food prices. It can't be right on both counts! A grain trade comment with respect to wheat points out:

"Frenzied government buying of wheat in a desperate attempt to bolster prices must be approached with some degree of cynicism in view of administration attack on high consumer prices. The two operations are incompatible with each other and since they must be lacking in one end, either there is no real interest in reducing consumer prices or else the support operations in wheat are just temporary reassurances."

The original wheat export goal of 800,000,000 bushels has been increased to 450,000,000 bushels, with no very definite idea of where this quantity of wheat is to be shipped. But grains are not the only products involved. The Secretary of Agriculture has twice cut the sugar quotas, by a total of 800,000 tons, artificially tightening the market and boosting prices to consumers, till public sentiment forced a restoration of a quarter of the cut. The prices of potatoes and eggs are now being pegged at great expense to the government, and during the past year prices of many products have been held up by government purchases, among them being peanuts, turkeys, grapefruit juice, honey, tobacco, wool, flaxseed, rosin, turpentine, linseed oil and tung oil. Now farmers are being asked to cut winter wheat acreage by eight per cent in the hope of avoiding some of the support expense.

In the political pot being brewed, cost of living is the prime ingredient. It will feature the campaign, it may even influence votes, but most of the people will not be fooled; for they will realize that the cost of living only reflects the general price condition prevailing in this country, and that it can't come down till everything else comes down, too.

Life is Full of Surprises

Yes sir! Life is full of surprises and they happen even at the library. At library meetings we hear a great deal about publicity and we come home and work our fool heads off concocting schemes to bring the people to the libraries and the libraries to the people, and this is what happens more than half of the time; Nice big chunks of publicity in the papers, congratulatory comment from fellow staff members and warm approval from the library board—and absolutely no discernible effect upon the people aimed at.

Then along comes a totally unexpected, unsolicited gift from an organization, stimulated by someone interested in the library who is not in any way connected with the staff or board and he does more in a minute than you have accomplished in months.

It practically leaves you zigzagging in your tracks. I know because it happened last week when John Kyl came into the library with a recording machine and a couple of new records and said, "This is yours, bought for you by the Chamber of Commerce." While I was still trying to get my breath, he explained that the Chamber of Commerce was organized to help the people and organizations of the town and this was their first contribution to the library. I nodded dumbly, thinking all the while that that had been my idea for years and had always wondered why no one ever did anything about it.

So now we are going to have music at the library and are wildly excited over the prospect of building up a collection of records. This takes so much money that unless there are others in the town who can help us with the contributions it may be a long while before our aims are realized. In time we could rent out records as we do books and make the collection practically self supporting. How about it, are you interested?

In Old Nebraska

By James C. Olson
Supt., State Historical Society

In this political year of 1948, it is interesting to look back to the organization of political parties in Nebraska.

For about five years after the creation of Nebraska territory, there was no formal political party contest. Inasmuch as the Democratic Party was in power nationally, all of the appointive territorial officers were members of that party. A majority of the residents probably were, also.

Prior to 1859, however, territorial elections were fought along sectional rather than party lines. There was a bitter rivalry between the counties north of the Platte and those south of it, and this rivalry was a basic factor in territorial politics.

In August of 1859, though, both Democrats and Republicans held nominating conventions. The Democrats met at Plattsmouth on the 18th and the Republicans at Bellevue on the 24th. The Republican party had only been in existence nationally about five years, and the Nebraska Republicans did not use the name in 1859. Instead, they called themselves the Peoples Party. The leadership of the Peoples Party, however, became the leadership of the territorial Republican Party and this has been the case usually looked upon as the first of the GOP in Nebraska.

The election of 1860 marks the first real contest in Nebraska between Democrats and Republicans as such. There was a great deal of confusion in Democratic ranks because of the presence of the two Democratic candidates, Senator Stephen A. Douglas of Illinois, who might be referred to as the father of Nebraska territory, was the regular party candidate. The southerners, though, had bolted and had put up a candidate of their own, John C. Breckinridge of Kentucky.

In the territory of Nebraska the principal contest was between J. Sterling Morton and Samuel G. Daily for the position of delegate to Congress. The race was close, and as was so frequently the case in connection with territorial elections, the result was contested. Both sides charged fraud, and both probably were right. Daily finally was seated although Morton probably had a plurality of the legally cast and legally counted ballots. An interesting feature of early territorial politics was the role played by the newspapers. Almost every newspaper in the territory was a pronounced partisan organ. Moreover, the editors didn't bother to confine their political views to the editorial page. Political news was reported in the same partisan manner in which editorials were written.

Indeed, it frequently is difficult to tell that stories in the various early papers are reporting the same political meeting.

Wayne Slips 6-5 Win Over Blair in Slug-Fest Sunday Night

Wayne ball club ended their Pioneer league season at Blair on Sunday evening winning an eleven-inning slugfest 6-5. For the first time this year the local boys hammered the ball all over the lot gathering 14 hits of which four were triples and two were two-baggers. Wren led in hitting honors pounding out a triple, a double and two singles in five times up. Maurie Hicks, hurling for the local team kept the Blair hits nicely scattered allowing eight hits while striking out eight and walking five. Ralshack for Blair struck out three and walked one.

Wayne scored one run in the first inning as Stebbins, first up, hit the first pitch for a triple. Bahe lined out to the pitcher. Weekes flied to short-stop, Giresch singled scoring Stebbins, later to be thrown out second to first. In the fifth Wayne scored once on a walk and three hits. A double play out short further scoring. In the sixth they scored two runs when Gimino singled, Gibben tripled and Abboud singled. They added another run in the ninth as Wren tripled to deep center and scored on Hicks' fly to right field. In the top of the eleventh Wayne scored the winning run on a single by Abboud and doubles by Wren and Hicks.

Blair scored one run in the first inning on a hit, a walk and an error. In the sixth they scored once on two hits and a walk. In the eighth two more runs were added on three hits and a walk. The game was tied up in the ninth when Blair scored once on two consecutive errors and a hit.

Wayne Defeated 6-0 by Pender Last Thursday Evening

Wayne ball club journeyed to Pender last Thursday evening and lost a 6-1 game to that club. A five-run third inning proved to be the downfall of the local club. Kummel on the mound for Wayne pitched a fine ball for Wayne in his last league game. Repschlager was ineffective for the Pender club scattering six hits.

Pender threatened to score in the first inning on three hits but beautiful fielding by the local team's part out of all runs. Wayne scored their one run in the top of the third on Wren's hit, a sacrifice and a fly ball.

Pender scored five runs in their half of the third when Powley led off with a single. Repschlager flied out to short. Johnson was safe on an error by the short-stop, which should have resulted in a double-play. Bull then singled scoring a run. Kroger was hit by a pitched ball. Blachford flied out to right field. Another run scoring. Tighe singled and was caught off first ending the inning. Pender scored once in the seventh on two hits and an error.

All-Star Game Draws Record Crowd at Schuyler

The All-Star game turned out to be the most successful promotion in league history; that is, to everybody but the North All-Stars, who took an inglorious 9 to 1 licking. The game attracted the biggest crowd ever to land the fine Schuyler ball park; paid attendance was about 2000, and the total gate was $1301.40, which, less expenses of $308 (taxes, baseballs, lights, advertising and labor), left a net of $993.40 to be turned into the league treasury for future disposition by league directors. The game was strictly Doc Tomes' "baby," the league president made all arrangements, and to him goes the credit. Special praise, too, to the Schuyler boys for their smooth handling of the contest.

The South crew demonstrated a clean-cut superiority in all departments of play, and we do mean all departments. North pitchers were handicapped by inept and sloppy fielding, while the South situation was just the opposite. One gent in the South line-up stood head and shoulders above all the rest, fiery George Gribble, the Fremont shortstop. George banged out two important hits, but it was his defensive play that was the real highlight of the game. Playing the entire game, Gribble handled all the chances, many of them hard shots, without the semblance of an error, to throttle the most Northern threats single-handed.

It's been generally recognized that the Southern division enjoys greater strength this season, but the difference is not as great as the All-Star result would indicate. For one thing, the North line-up was short several leading players. Missing for one reason or another, were Schroer and Kimmel, the two top pitchers in the poll. Infielders Hal Lewis and Elmer Grant and catcher Rocky Payne also brilliant seasoned athletes. In contrast, every single one of the top South stars was on the firing line with the single exception of Eddie Stanek and with Quack Hiller, Fred Lewis and Elmer Grant and catcher Rocky Payne also brilliant seasoned athletes.

West Point Edges 3-2 Victory in Close Game With Wayne

Wayne was defeated by West Point Friday evening in a well played game on the West Point diamond by a 3-2 score. Chauncey Scott for Wayne hurled nice ball allowing eight hits and issuing one intentional pass. Eynon, Sorenson and Wagner comprised the West Point pitching staff.

Wayne scored their two runs in eighth on a hit, two successive walks, a fly ball and an error.

West Point scored two runs in the first inning on a single, a triple and a single. Scott pitched a fine ball from start on holding the West Point team scoreless until the last of the ninth when Wayne and two hits scored the winning run.

LEAGUE PLAY BEGINS

With the regular season completed except for a few scattered postponed games, interest is now focused on the championship play-off series between Pender and Fremont, champions of the Northern and Southern divisions of the league. This series, a best three of five affair, will begin at Pender on Thursday night, Aug. 15, and will be played on Sunday, Aug. 22, and Tuesday, Aug. 24. Fourth game if necessary will be at Fremont on Thursday, Aug. 26, and the fifth contest, if required, will be played on Sunday, Aug. 29. The site to be agreed upon by the two contending clubs.

Regular season lineups must be used except that each team will have the privilege of adding two pitchers from clubs in their own division of the league. These pitchers must be used only as pitchers, cannot be used to play any other position.

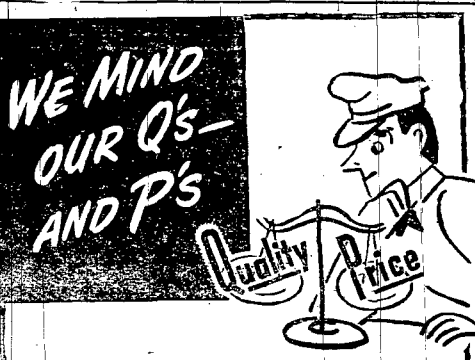

The two clubs have not met during the season, and with the outstanding record piled up by both clubs, a red hot series is anticipated. Fremont, Southern division champ, won 17 victories in the 20 game regular schedule, with Eddie Stanek leading the heavy end of the pitching load. It is expected that Stanek will continue to do the honors for Fremont, with probably Paul Hiller of Schuyler, Fremont's prominent assistance. The two clubs are both led by Malchuk, Gribble, Parsons and Dracmel is rated one of the best ever seen in the Pioneer Nite; all four are hitting well over 300.

Pender with 19 wins in 20 league starts is a consistent, business-like club, featuring a rock-ribbed defense. Elmer Repschlager and Angelo Ossino have handled the pitching and for this series may have the additional help of Ed Wagner, tough West Point hurler. Leading hitters are Third Baseman Johnson, both clutching near the 400 mark, with Outfielder Ned Tighe another dangerous threat.

Only sure thing about this series is that the Pender and Fremont ball parks will be jammed to the rafters for the games.

Lloyd Mueckling, 28, of Emerson was killed last Tuesday when he fell from a run-away car on an Emerson street.

To our way of thinking, the man who arranged the alphabet put P and Q in the wrong order.

At least we figure that Quality ought to come ahead of Price—though we're well aware of the latter's importance.

So you find us always trying to strike the proper balance between doing a good job and doing an economical one. We try to give you the parts and materials you really need, the time it takes to do things right—and still not waste any of your hard-earned money.

That may not make us the cheapest place in town to buy good service—but we think it makes us the most satisfactory in the long run. Maybe somebody else can shade our costs but we'll guarantee you'll get no better value anywhere, or spend your money more wisely.

The reason we are interested in both Quality and economical Price is because we intend to do our best to grow with this community as your Buick Dealer. We must depend on you being highly satisfied with our service to make that come true—not merely satisfied for today or tomorrow but satisfied as a continuing Buick owner.

We believe you will agree with us that Q comes before P in the service alphabet—come on in and let's talk it over.

Speed up Baling with the New OLIVER '88' and Automatic-Hydraulic Thresher

Here's a great time-saving combination!

The remarkable direct drive power take-off of the big new 3.4 plow Oliver '88' tractor is one of the greatest booms to baling. To "ease" the baler's load or clear the machine, just step on the clutch of your '88'—the Oliver power take-off keeps on running! Let out the clutch and you're on your way again. No time wasted by declutching, gear shifting, and re-clutching!

Come in and check the high-tonnage features of the Oliver-Arbor Automatic-Hydraulic Thresher Pick-up Baler, too. Neat, firm, sliced bales that come apart in good-sized sections are produced.

You can get almost any combination of ground speed and draw-bar pull you want. With its 6-forward-speed transmission, 6-cylinder engine and Fuel Miser governor, you can fit the tractor to the load—and use only the fuel that's needed to do the work.

There are many other valuable, money-saving farm features, plus a choice of three great engines for the fuel you prefer, including a farm-engineered diesel that will be available later... interchangeable cast and stamped steel wheels and basic interchangeability of mounted tools with other Row Crop models.
