RIB ROAST SAFEWAY MEATS are trimmed before weighing SO YOU SAVE MONEY You get more good-eating meat for your money when you buy trimmed-before-weighing meats. The illustra-tion at right shows you how Safeway trims rib roast before it is displayed for sale. Result: you pay only for por-tion that will eat just right...not for excess bone, waste and fat. Safeway regularly trims its meats this mon-ey-saving way-each cut according to its own special requirements.

But products at the refinery are of little value until they are brought to the community of the car and truck operator, the home-owner and the farmer. is the principal function of the independent Oil Jobber. We 700 independent Oil Jobbers of Nebraska select the petroleum products of choice from refiners at far distant places and bring them to your community. Is, lubricents, tires, batteries, etc., are baught in a free, open and competitive rest so that you may have the best. Some independent Oil Jobbers sell hier products under the brand name of the mufacturer. Others sell under their own, of "private" brands. Some operated a individuals, others are partnerships. Some are or-ginized as associations, others as corporations. But, we all have one point in common; we are owner-operated! Wayne County in Spotlight

Wayne County in Spotlight If Wayne county and appear to be boast-ing a little bit this week, it is not without tood reason . . . they're intensely proud of he record set last week at the Ak-Sar-Ben how by two Wayne county 4-H boys-forman Willers and Gene Perry. In naming Willers' Hereford steer as wand champion over all breeds and plac-ag Perry's Hereford third, the judge com-acide, who chose Perry's steer as grand hampion Hereford and gave Willers' dalf he peserve championship. It may have seemed a rather stunning hout face-tut no matter; these were OP animals, and they were exhibited by Yayne county boys, both of whom must el very iproud of their accomplianmeats. Hats off to Norman Willers and Gene erry! Perry!

Campaign of Fear

President Truman has been criticized uply for conducting a "campaign of r." It is pointed out that he seeks to intill in the voters a fear that catastrophe to he nation surely will follow a republican e halton surely whit bolow a represen-ctory. It is true that this is a time for fear, but it along the lines the president preaches. The delicate international situation is ough to make anyone uneasy, but no one ed have fear of a republican victory. Governor Dewey is as much at Ameri-ig as anyone, and so are other republidan addiates. We are confident that if Mr. www becomes the next president, as the method of the inext president, as

Dewey becomes the next president, las eems likely, neither the internal nor the nternational situation will become worse. n fact, a fresh approach may do much to efter both situations.

Not Exactly a Friend

Recent statements by Senator Chan irney of South Dakota and former Post-aster General James A. Farley urging at an understanding be reached with en. Francisco Franco of Spain, prompts the Sioux City Journal to issue this timely reminder:

minder: "Gen. Franco was notorious and infamous during the recent world war. He was sympathetic with the aims of both Adolf Hitler and Ben-ito Mussolini, as documented evi-dence proves. The mere fact that to tak soviet bloc in eastern Europe does not offset the additional one that the Franco brand of dictator-ship still is offensive in freedom and independence for human beings."

Experience has shown that any trust placed in a dictator usually is misplaced Tranco, by his lactions in the past, has indi-ated little desire to be a friend of the de-nocracies; it hardly seems wise now to eek his rather dubious friendship.

Are Writers or Readers To Blame?

One for the Methodists and One for the Bajtists The Victory of Paul Kent by Garth Hale is a story about a Methodist minister. Just out of th seminary, he had been selected to fill a vacancy is one of the finest Methodist churches in the middl west. As any methodist minister will tell you thi could only happen in a book, because (they don' start at the top, but spend their best years out on ittle country circuits. There is a murder in th start at the top, but spead their best years out on little country circuits. There is a mumber in the story and the minister is faced with a differina be-cause he has some evidence obtained through a con-fession made to him. Was it his civic duly to see that justice was done, or was it his moral duty as a spiritual counselor to respect the sacred confidence given him? How he solved the first great crisis of his ministry gives suspense and excitement to the story. The book is not particularly well written, it is over-dramatic with the infinister a little more godlike than human at times].
