May Ask Bond Issue for Wayne Public Library

Library Board Considers Repairs And an Addition

The city library board and representatives of community and civic groups last Wednesday evening discussed the possibility of submitting a library repair and modernization bond issue to the voters at the municipal election in April.

The Wayne library, built in 1912, has fallen into a serious state of disrepair and no longer is large enough to provide adequate library services to the community.

MRS. MILDNER also proposed the construction of a 26x26 addition to the west side of the building, explaining that the library now has 10 times as many books as it did in 1912...

A COMMITTEE was appointed to investigate probable costs of a repair and enlarging program, and planned to submit its report at another meeting last night (Wednesday).

The proposed addition would include a room upstairs for book stacks, giving additional space for the reading room, a storage room and a storeroom and meeting room in the basement.

The attorney general's office Tuesday told Mrs. Mildner that it could find nothing in the statutes which would prevent a library bond issue...

Bulldozers at Work

Cold weather and drifting snow continue to hamper the efforts of snow removal crews in their ceaseless battle to open rural roads in the Wayne area.

Some help has come into this county in the form of government bulldozers. Three have been working in the Winside-Hoskins vicinity since last week.

Another bulldozer was to be dispatched to the Carroll area Tuesday, following the addition of Wayne county to the state disaster area in a weekend declaration by the governor.

Army bulldozers in the Winside area are working in Commissioner William J. Misfeldt's third district.

Another appeal for heavy equipment was sent to state headquarters Tuesday. County officials have found that available snow fighting machinery, even with the bulldozers now operating in the area, is not able to move enough snow fast enough.

The disaster committee and county officials had high praise for farmers in the vicinity of Sholes and other sections of Sherman and Garfield precincts.

Every effort is being made to speed relief work in that area. Many farmers in that section have been unable to leave their places since the Dec. 29 blizzard, and some have been snowbound even longer.

Snow fighters in Garfield and Sherman report that drifts are deeper and harder than anything they have encountered in Nebraska.

Meanwhile, the emergency committee has reserved the services of Les Swinney, Wayne bulldozer operator, to help farmers open roads to haystacks and feedlots.

Farmers who can't afford to pay for aerial or other emergency service should apply to the Red Cross, which has a disaster fund available, said the committee.

Betty Jane Irving, Red Cross area director stationed in Norfolk during the emergency, has made routine field trips by helicopter to check on the work of emergency committees in northeastern Nebraska.

Announce Awards For Local Dairymen

Several northeastern Nebraska dairymen this week were named to receive awards from the Nebraska State Dairymen's association in recognition of producers whose herds have met certain production standards in regular dairy herd improvement associations.

All herd records have been verified by the bureau of dairy industry, which made the final tabulations. Awards were made on the following basis:

Gold medals to herds of from 8 to 19 cows averaging 450 lbs. or more butterfat per year, and to herds of 20 cows and over averaging 425 lbs. or more.

Bronze medals to herds of from 8 to 19 cows averaging 350 to 399 lbs. of butterfat per year, and to herds of 20 or more cows averaging 325 to 374 lbs.

Certificates to owners of herds with an average production of over 300 lbs. of butterfat, but less than the required minimum for medals. Winners in this area are:

Gunnar Swanson, Laurel, gold medal. Swanson's herd of 14 registered Brown Swiss averaged 11,116 lbs. of milk per cow during the year with a butterfat average of 458 lbs.

William E. Von Seggern, Wayne, gold medal. Von Seggern has a herd of 27 registered Holsteins. These cows averaged 2,627 lbs. of milk and 450 lbs. of butterfat.

Ballad Singer In Concert Here Monday Evening

Richard Dyer-Bennet, known as the 20th century minstrel, will appear at the Wayne college auditorium at 8 p.m. next Monday under the auspices of the college's special programs committee.

Dyer-Bennet, now on his fourth concert tour, has a repertoire which includes Elizabethan ballads, early American folk ditties, sea chanteys, Australian bush songs and compositions in seven languages. He accompanies his concert-trained tenor voice with a guitar.

The New York Times recently wrote of a Dyer-Bennet concert, "Mr. Dyer-Bennet's art is essentially that of a ballad singer, a combination of music, declamation and acting, yet done in his own distinctive style. The racy, tangy, pawky, and occasionally grisly humor would have delighted the Elizabethans, as it did last night's audience."

The special programs committee said the concert is open to the public.

University Seeks Data on Storm's Effect on Cattle

The University of Nebraska has issued a request for information on the effect the severe winter has had on cattle in the "blizzard area," according to County Agent Don Warner. Questions the university is asking follow:

1. To what extent do cattle use snow for water when they are without water for any length of time?
2. How do cattle respond to various kinds of feed after being without it for known periods?
3. How long have cattle been known to go without feed or water and recover when fed?
4. What age groups of cattle have suffered most?
5. How serious and under what conditions have sore feet developed?
6. To what extent have cattle been known to do anything for themselves, such as seeking food or shelter?

Warner said that observations on these points should be specific and should be maintained from now until the cattle go on pasture this spring. Farmers interested in providing the information may obtain further details from Warner.

Omaha—Two of the Nebraska farmers who made the air tour of Europe early this winter will be members of the panels which will discuss vital livestock farming issues at the first annual National Pasture-Forage Livestock Conference in Omaha on March 10.

They are Albert Watson, who has done a highly successful job of soil improvement, pasture development and livestock production on his farm north of Wayne, and Ralph Raikes, hog producer, cattle feeder, dairyman and practical soil conservationist of Ashland.

Watson will appear on the forenoon panel, which, under the chairmanship of Dean H. Kildner of Iowa State college, will discuss the utilization of grass and forage in modern animal agriculture.

The fire department was called to Dr. Roy Matson's office Sunday afternoon to extinguish a blaze believed to have started in an antique organ which was stored in one of the back rooms. About $200 damage was done to the building, which belongs to Mrs. G. J. Hess.

Local Holstein High Producer

Oakdale Johanna Inka Pansy, a 4-year-old Holstein cow owned by William E. Von Seggern, completed her 365-day lactation with 21,862 pounds 3.7 per cent milk, 823.9 pounds butterfat. This is about four times above the state average. Harold F. Eggert, Northeast Nebraska Dairy Herd Improvement association supervisor, made the report.

Blue Devils Down Undefeated Laurel

Wayne's high school Blue Devils snapped Laurel's 17-game win streak Tuesday night on the Wayne floor with a close 36 to 34 win.

A free throw by the Wayhites started the scoring melee. Laurel's Bears quickly came back to dump in two field goals and a gift toss to take over the lead.

Tietgen and Fisher never found the correct aim until late in the second quarter and then surged to a 21 to 16 half-time lead.

Cramer left the game during the second quarter of play with five fouls marked up against him.

Both teams battled it out in the final two periods of play with Wayne managing to hold a slight edge over the Bears.

With one minute of play remaining the score stood 36 to 32. A bucket by Curtis and a gift toss brought the Laureletes up to within winning distance.

A fast 20-second hope shot fell short for the Bears, and Wayne came out the victor.

Tietgen for Wayne with 13 and Brockmoller of Laurel with 11 points were high scorers.

An overtime period was necessary for the Laurel second team to overcome the smaller but game junior Blue Devils 43 to 39 in the evening's opener.

Atkins and Proett did a good job of ball handling in the fast and furious play and in dumping in points for Wayne. Birdsell was high man for Wayne with 10 points as Wacker of Laurel collected 12 points for the winners.

Wayne's high school game is this Friday at the Wayne auditorium when West Point's eagles will attempt to upset the Blue Devils.

Triple Header Slated Friday

Friday night at Wayne city auditorium features a double header when two Wayne cage teams battle two foreign foes.

First game of the evening starts at 6:40 p.m. when Coach Irv Miller's West Point eagles will tackle the Wayne high Blue Devils.

Chadron State Teachers college and Wayne's Wildcats furnish the twosome necessary for the second clash of the evening in the first game of the two games between Chadron and Wayne Friday and Saturday nights.

Hoopmen from West Point have had a successful season to date and are classified as strong contenders in class B competition.

College play has been considerably hampered due to weather conditions. Chadron Eagles shortened their flight rather abruptly two weeks ago when enroute to Fremont to play Midland college. Blizzards conditions forced them to stop at Kearney, and so a Friday and Saturday game was placed between the Kearney Antiques and Chadron Eagles, with Chadron the victor.

Plenty of action is assured for both night's cage activities.

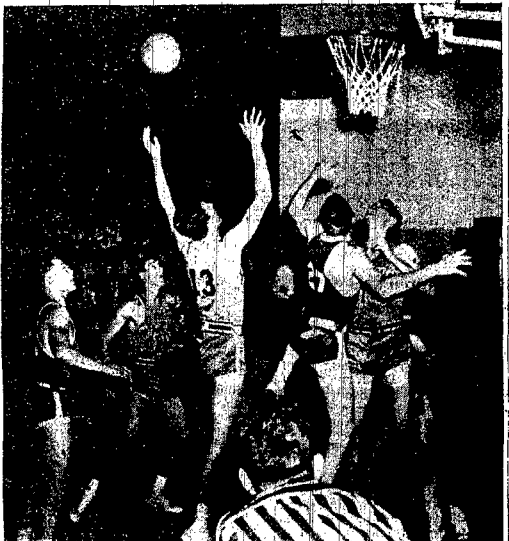

Washington, D. C. is often called The City of Magnificent Distances.

Rabbits Eating Trees in Wayne
Who has more fun than rabbits? Whether they were just having fun, or were honestly hungry, the George Hughes' can't appreciate the damage they have done to fruit and shade trees at their home in the northwest part of town. While scampering over the "mountainous" drifts up there, they have stopped long enough to chew the bark from nearly every tree.

Each day, as the snow melts, the bark is exposed a little farther to the ravages of these little beasts who gorge themselves while the rest of us are sound asleep.

Boy Scouts Celebrate Birthday

This is Boy Scout week, marking the 39th anniversary of the Boy Scout movement in the United States.

Millions of boys have been helped along the road to better citizenship through their affiliation with the Boy Scout program. Its influence has been of tremendous benefit to many youngsters here as long as there are men who will give their time to Scout leadership.

But, even though the Scout program is open to all boys, local leaders estimate that only half the eligible boys in Wayne are actually in Scout work. Some of those who are not Boy Scouts probably would benefit the most from its wholesome influences.

As the Boy Scout movement celebrates its 39th birthday, it has chosen "Adventure—That's Scouting" as its theme. But more than that, Scouting develops citizenship and character. It builds boys into better men.

Wayne's Boy Scouts are active, and local leaders should be commended for their unselfish work with the lads. One local scoutmaster, A. F. Gulliver, has been a Scout leader for more than 25 years. Without such men, a well integrated Boy Scout program could not exist.

In Wayne the Boy Scout movement needs but one thing—a better representation of the eligible boys. Scouting is for every boy within the prescribed age limits—and every eligible boy should be a member of one of the local troops.

When Neighborliness Counts

This has been a rigorous winter—perhaps the most severe in the history of Nebraska. It has produced unparalleled hardships and suffering, and as always happens when true emergencies occur, many heroic acts have been performed by "ordinary" men.

It has been severe in the Wayne area, too, although by no means as catastrophic as in the western part of the state. But there have been numerous local emergencies, many of them unknown to most of us, in which "good neighbors" have come to the aid of individuals who seriously needed help.

Sometimes it requires a critical situation to bring out the best in men, and a trying winter such as this has been proved that most people will forget their own troubles, and undergo severe physical hardships, to help others stricken by sickness, death and other unforeseen emergencies.

When the Mail Fails

Omaha Journal-Stockman: When snow-bound, the importance of the daily mail becomes pronounced. Despite the radio, the mail is still essential, to bring a letter from friends, to complete a business transaction, to deliver the "daily."

Here are a few notes on early day mail, as compiled by the State Historical Society of Missouri:

A letter from the east in Kentucky was a rare pleasure, postage was 25 to 75 cents a letter, delivery hit and miss. If a settler sent or received two or three letters during the year he considered himself fortunate.

Mail service from St. Louis to Philadelphia, the only mail line from 1804 to 1823, took one to three months. A St. Genevieve editor complained that "it takes 14 days to three weeks to get mail from St. Charles, a distance of 80 miles." Many letters came into the Show-Me state by travelers or explorers, generally addressed to some one in "Hoone's Lick country." Such letters were stuck up on the wall of a bar-room or log tavern in hopes they would be claimed. Any letter unclaimed for several months was considered a dead letter and settlers nearby, anxious to get news from home, eagerly took turns reading it.

IN BOOKLAND

by Mrs. F. A. Mildner, City Librarian

A daily definition which I came across this week said that a library was a place where only low conversation was allowed. We may have low conversation around the library but there has been nothing low about our spirits since the Friends of the Library has been organized. We have had two meetings and some plans have been made which we hope can be carried out with the cooperation of everyone in town. We know that it will take a great deal of work and the earnest desire of everyone before these plans can be realized. The first burst of enthusiasm is heartening and now we hope that everyone will stay in and pitch to the end and help us win the game.

It happened in a hospital library! A patient said to the young woman at the desk, "You don't seem to me like a librarian." She was puzzled and asked, "Why not?" This was his reply: "Well most librarians seem to be people who never die!"

There are probably several morals to this story. One of them is that the women who took over the jobs originally are getting along in years and no one can be found to take their place because of the increased work and low pay. Another might be that some of the women doing the work get old before their time from overwork. If you don't believe this try it some time. I will invite you to come in and follow me around for a week and I am positive I can convince you.

There are some new books you don't want to miss if you can find them in Southern Cross by Bridg Knight is an excellent story of South Africa. The locale doesn't make the story interesting however. It is the people in it who are typical from people anywhere. High Towers by Costain is the usual high standard historical novel and I Heard Adventure Calling is a better than average Emilie Loring. Pass This Book is our first sports book on hockey and the younger generation is going to like this one.

Even we have a weather story. We had books flown in to the library this week. They came 20 miles by plane and more were carried back to the farms.

Russell Stover, who claims to have invented the Eskimo Pie in Nebraska, is on a government commission to stockpile critical materials in short supply for future emergency. Stover tells friends he started the Eskimo Pie business with a capital of $1700 and in less than three months was offered $100,000 for it. He now is a prominent candy manufacturer with headquarters at Kansas City.

Members of the Nebraska delegation have been invited by General Guy Henninger to attend the Nebraska National Guard's military ball in Lincoln, for which the National Guard here is furnishing a name band, a floor show and arranging a coast-to-coast broadcast. The event is scheduled for April 16.

Due to be published early in February is a book by Bess Furman, Washington newspaperwoman who formerly lived in Kearney. We are told that Miss Furman's book, entitled "Washington By-line," will report her experiences as a reporter here for the past 20 years. She now is with the Washington Bureau of the New York Times.

Nebraska members are busy answering many questions about the blizzards in our state. This office has been working many days to secure slow removal equipment for our district. We have been in close touch with the weather bureau and other authorities in order that people in the third district may be given ample warning against possible future floods. We are told that if heavy rains come and if the snow melts very quickly, the danger of floods may be serious.

Fred Towers, who was secretary to the late Robert Todd Lincoln, son of the great emancipator, Abraham Lincoln, visited recently with the third district member. He reminded us that Robert Todd Lincoln was the only one of the four sons of the Civil War president to live to be over 21 years of age.

Half of the majority members on the House committee on appropriations are from the south. The committee has been streamlined and the nine subcommittees are sitting simultaneously in order to get the 1950 fiscal year appropriations out of the way in the rapid time. The third district member retains his position as ranking minority member on the subcommittee for the departments of state, commerce, justice and the federal judiciary.

A recent caller at this congressional office was Dr. Peter Zenkl, former mayor of Prague, Czechoslovakia, who spent six years in concentration camps at Dachau and Buchenwald and for six months was imprisoned by communists in Czechoslovakia. He escaped four months ago in the American tank. The third district member says he is "amazed" at the indifference of Americans regarding the march of communism.

B. R. Anderson of Ogallala, chairman of the Nebraska REA association who recently met with the Nebraska delegation, states that Nebraska power is very short and that REA extensions depend upon more steam plants and more wire. Even the new steam plant being constructed at Bellevue will not give the state the electric energy it now needs, according to Anderson. A number of Nebraska REA men have been in New York attending REA meetings and will be guests of the Nebraska delegation when they come through Washington on their way home.

Nebraska will have approximately 100,000 REA consumers when present loan applications are taken care of, according to William J. Neal, deputy administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration. Neal, who met with the Nebraska congressional delegation a few days ago, reported that applications are still pending for REA loans totaling $18,000,000 in Nebraska.

REA asked for $350,000,000 for the next fiscal year, but the president's budget recommendation cut $50,000,000 off that figure. Effort will be made by friends of REA to restore the president's cut.

Extension of service to un electrified farms has been delayed by shortages of electrical conductor and of power, but Neal said many cooperatives in the past few days have entered into contracts with a metal company which will make badly needed aluminum available. He predicted the power supply in Nebraska will be increased, particularly from new sources such as the Ft. Randall and Missouri development projects.

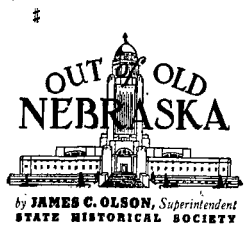

United States court officials have notified this office that there are 31,220 federal parolees, of which Nebraska's total is 116. Our state has one federal parole officer and one clerk. According to the court officials, there is a decline in federal crime, but that 17,000 prisoners are in the 26 federal prisons and camps.

The alien property custodian reports that Uncle Sam still operates 90 foreign businesses valued at more than $220,000,000. American citizens have had $1,000,000 against these businesses, most of which were once owned by nationals of Germany and Japan.

of the department of justice, the government is planning to acquire 50,000 tracts of land in all parts of the country, including lands connected with flood control and other projects. In this category are the land needed for the Ft. Peck transmission line, which it is estimated will cost $75,000, and the Omaha post office site, estimated at $300,000.

Municipal owners of public airports which were temporarily used by the armed forces are now authorized by law to claim compensation for rehabilitation and repair. A half-dozen such claims, amounting to a million dollars, have been approved by one department and about 100 other claims are pending, making the total around 10 million dollars. Even if the army merely repairs the airport and contributes damage to runways, structure, drainage and fences, claims to the extent of such damage are authorized by the act.

The present "DP" law is to be amended in this congress in an effort to bring 400,000 displaced persons to the United States. Only 3500 of the 205,000 who are allowed to come in under the law passed by the 80th congress have arrived on these shores.

The sod house frontier of old Nebraska will be brought to life among the sky scrapers of the world's largest city this week when selections from the State Historical Society's famous S. D. Butcher collection of photographs go on display at the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. They will remain in New York until May 1 as part of an exhibition of news photographs taken during the century from 1849 to 1949.

The fame of the Butcher photographs is indeed widespread. For example, Edward Steichen, director of photography for the Museum of Modern Art, mentioned in his letter of inquiry about the photographs that his attention had first been called to them by Carl Sandburg, whose "enthusiasm about them was unbridled."

So it goes. I suppose we receive more calls from distant places about the Butcher photos, than any other item in our collections. During a varied, interesting life in Nebraska, S. D. Butcher tried his hand at homesteading, school teaching, oil drilling and photography. As a photographer, he travelled about Nebraska with a horse and buggy during the late 1880s, and 1890s, and the first decade of the 20th century.

He took photographs of farm and ranch scenes, and village streets, but his specialty was the sod house in which so many Nebraska pioneers lived. A favorite pose consisted of the family lined up in front of the house, displaying its finery and all of its prize possessions.

One result of Butcher's activity was his "Pioneer History of Custer County," illustrated with his photographs. This is one of the liveliest and most interesting county histories I have ever seen, even though the facts may need a little checking occasionally.

An even more important result is the vast collection of negatives, given the State Historical Society some years ago. Most of these are the old glass negatives, very fragile and difficult to handle. They are worth care in handling, though, for they provide a faithful photographic record of pioneer life in Nebraska, and they comprise the nation's outstanding collection of sod house photographs.

Wayne Staters Win and Lose

Weekend games for Wayne State's Wildcats showed a 50-50 draw as York college fell before Wayne's last half attack 67 to 49 Friday night, and Kearney's Antelopes outran the Cats 54 to 45 Saturday night at Kearney.

York men gave chase to the Wayne cagers during the entire game, but found the height of the Wayneites overpowering as game time progressed.

Holbrook, York center hit consistently to lead the losers with 17 points while Al Bane, dropped 18 points for the Cats.

In Saturday's tracas with Kearney, high scorer Korte set some type of record by chalking up 24 points, with 14 of them coming from the free throw line.

Again the first half was close, but the Antelopes capitalized on second half play to pull away from Coach Meek's men and find a substantial lead until the final whistle.

Stirtz Team Trips Wakefield Towners

Stirtz Buick cagers established themselves as top contenders from northeast Nebraska in the AAU race by defeating Wakefield's town basketballers 65 to 46 in a polo benefit game Thursday night in the Wayne auditorium.

Wakefield threatened the Wayne team at no time as Strahan, Dale and Sund kept a steady flow of points pouring through the net.

Brownlee of Wakefield led his teammates in the scoring bracket with 11 points.

Scoring was divided evenly among the starting line-up for the Stirtz men as Strahan, Dale and Sund netted 17, 16 and 15 points respectively, with guards Bane, Bird and Derry each collecting 8.

Attempts are being made to arrange a game between Stirtz basketballers and the Lincoln Nut House, last year's entry in the national AAU tourney at Denver.

Omaha Five Drops Guardian Angels

West Point-Omaha's undefeated Holy Name basketball quintet marked another milestone Friday night, Feb. 4, by downing Guardian Angels of West Point, 45 to 36.

The Omaha boys were pushed hard throughout the game by Coach Eddie Nitz's men, and pulled their 12th straight victory out of the bag the hard way.

A good game all the way and close to the final quarter when Bobby Decker, Omaha ace, succeeded in pulling his team ahead of the West Point five.

Half-time reading was 20 to 19 with Holy Name in the lead. Dan Loisel stood out in play for the Guardian Angels.

Wayne High Whips Pilger

Pilger's center Oik, held Wayne's usual high scorer, Don Tietgen, down to two field goals for the evening, while Jack Fisher gave the Blue Devils their scoring punch by piling in 11 points.

SCORING for the Wayne basketballers was distributed more evenly than usual with nine players cashing in on the final tally of 47 points.

Starting lineup for Wayne was Fisher, Meyer, Tietgen, Cramer and Dion.

Asch and Oik of Pilger vied closely for scoring honors with 9 and 8 points respectively.

Wayne fans will be able to see the Blue Devils in action again this Friday night when Coach Bailey's five meet West Point in a play-off at the city auditorium.

Allen Eagles Take Newcastle Win

Allen-An intersession score of 25 to 17 with Newcastle's basketballers on top failed to daunt Allen's Eagles Friday night as they went on to take a 44 to 35 decision from the Newcastle five.

Prep Panthers Down Osmond

A long trip to Osmond Friday night proved successful for Wayne Prep's cagers as both Prep teams bested their rivals, 43 to 24 for the varsity and 42 to 10 in the reserve game.

Osmond's Bob Wortman, six feet six inch center, was unable to get off to a scoring spree during the good defensive play of Thompson.

A slow first quarter gave way to little more action during the second, and a 7 to 14 intermission score was on the board.

Bahe and Samuelson started hitting the Panthers to pull the Prep team to a safe lead that was maintained to the final whistle.

Wortman dumped in 7 tallies for the losers while Samuelson and Bahe collected 14 and 13 points respectively for the Wayne team.

Down to two field goals for the evening, while Jack Fisher gave the Blue Devils their scoring punch by piling in 11 points.

Coach Emery and his squad leave Omaha Saturday evening, Feb. 12 and return to Omaha Sunday night, Feb. 13, from their 8,500 mile trip.

PERSONS MAKING the trip are: Coach Emery; Lee Ross, 125; Cliff Sovereign, 130; Ray Hartnett, 165; Chris Jensen, 175; Art Jensen, heavyweight; and Ken Frazier, 155.

Laurel Continues Victory Binge

Laurel-Coach Keith Gilliland's Laurel Bears boosted their number of wins up two more last week for a total of 13 games won with no losses. Plainview and Overt were the latest victims of the Bear onslaught.

In Monday night's game with the Plainview Pirates, the Laurels came from behind a first quarter deficit to ring up a 46 to 34 win over the Pirates in the game at Plainview.

Curtis stayed out front with amount of scoring by dropping in 20 points for the winners as teammate Garrison followed with 12 tallies. Hoffman and Stueckrath scored and 9 points respectively for the Pirates.

In first round play of the Cedar county tournament Tuesday, Feb. 1, Laurel's Bears zipped past Overt's basketballers with a ram-paging 46 to 7 victory.

A 9 to 1 first quarter score rapidly changed into a tall 17 to 2 half-time ramage as the Overt team

Woodruffs Enjoy Family Reunion In Long Beach

A reunion of 30 relatives of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Woodruff (nee Gloria Gildersleeve), pioneers of northeast Nebraska, was held at the Colorado Lagoon clubhouse in Long Beach, Calif., on Sunday, Jan. 16, writes Laura Lyons of that city.

Five of their children and their families were present: Bert Woodruff of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Woodruff of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Gladys Dennis (LeRoy) of Long Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Palmer (Ada) who had driven out from Grandville, Mich., to spend the winter with their eight brothers and sisters.

Mrs. Julius Olson (Dora) was absent owing to the serious illness of her husband in a Tucson, Ariz., hospital. OTHERS ATTENDING, according to Miss Lyons, were Mr. and Mrs. Abram Gildersleeve of Council Bluffs, Ia., Wilma Gildersleeve of Hollywood, who is secretary to the president of the University of California in Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Fordshaw (nee Mabel Gildersleeve) of Bellflower, the late Laura Gildersleeve's husband, Tom Knott, and his son and family of Peninsula, Ronald Reed and son of El Cerrito, Ariz., and Mrs. Lloyd Woodruff and Robin of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Vern East of Enclinitas and Barbara Bessire Wiegard of Capistrano.

The Woodruffs moved to Wayne in 1882 but soon decided to locate in the little town of Claremont, 19 miles to the northwest. That townsite was changed to the railroad junction and named Laurel. Mr. Woodruff had a store there for over a quarter of a century and Charles later took it over," said Miss Lyons.

MISS LYONS enclosed a clipping from the Long Beach Press-Telegram telling of the work of Dr. J. T. Anderson as director of the veterans' guidance center of Compton college in Long Beach. Dr. Anderson was the former president of the Nebraska State Teachers college in Wayne.

The author quoted Dr. Anderson as saying: "Too many want to be college boys, to get a technical work. Aero-technical engineering and flying are very popular, but these fields are flooded with applicants. Publicity, publishing, commercial art, law, medicine, pharmacy and dentistry positions are much desired. Few wish to become teachers or preachers."

The clipping showed a picture of Dr. Anderson at work in the psychometric laboratory of the guidance center.

"IT HARDLY seems possible that it was 30 years last week since my father and I came for the first time. We never did get over thrill of green grass, flowers and trees as we entered San Bernardino that sunny morning. I am sure the weather has been very different the month as you are aware. Much damage was done to the citrus fruit, vegetables and flowers."

"I was glad The Herald arrived on time Monday morning."

"It was a pleasure to hear Harold Fair's lovely voice over Horace Heidt's program Sunday evening."

"WE ARE GOING to have the privilege of hearing Kirby Page, noted author, world traveler and social evangelist, speak at the First Methodist church this evening. At the dinner meeting he will discuss 'Can Military Weapons Defend Us?' and his second lecture will be 'What Does God Want Us to Do About Russia?'" He is coming under the auspices of the dramatic church.

Miss Lyons closed with best wishes to everyone.

County Soil District Receives Few Trees

The Wayne county soil district reports that it is receiving a limited number of trees for distribution to district cooperators.

Farms for which the district has received tree orders include those of Owen Jones, Lloyd Morris, Bob Grafias, Raymond Jenkins, Albert Iselson and Lynn Roberts of Carroll, Ray Smith and Otto Peters of Sholes, Glenn Wade, Harold Wade and Kenneth Werner of Winside, William Dettloff and Jack Jackson of Hoskins and Gerhard Grimm of Wayne.

Some of these farmers are also receiving Clarke McNary seedling trees through the county agent's office.

Interest on Bonds Totals Millions

Omaha Nebraskans are drawing interest at the rate of more than seven and one-half millions of dollars a year on their investment in United States series "E" savings bonds, the treasury department announced Wednesday, outstanding being at an all-time high of 264 millions of dollars on Jan. 1, with the prospect of reaching a substantially greater total during the first quarter of the new year.

Leland R. Hall, state director for Nebraska of the treasury bond division, pointed out that with purchases of series "E," "F" and "G" bonds reaching post-war peaks, the percentage of "E" bonds sold had climbed steadily from 95 per cent of total sales in 1946 to 65 per cent in 1948.

"Increasing personal savings in Nebraska reflect the national trend noted early in 1948 by the federal reserve board. Nebraskans are not only piling up a cushion against possible harder times," he said, "but they are also laying by the money for home, gadget and college educations that will help materially in giving the state a stable and prosperous economy in the years to come."

A cubic foot of gold weighs 1200 pounds.

Showplace of Coleridge Burns

Fire destroyed the house occupied by Supt. J. E. Dalton and family and the Jasper Dennis family in Coleridge last week Wednesday. Most of the household goods and personal belongings of the Daltons were saved but nothing belonging to the Dennises.

The house was at one time known as the "showplace of Coleridge" and was built by Dr. C. T. Lynam, former Wayne doctor, in 1876. The school board purchased the property last fall as a residence for the superintendent.

This was the second tragedy for the Dennis family in a short time, as Mrs. Dennis died after a long illness the previous week.

Safety Council Says Mid-Winter Checkups Needed

Lincoln—Give your driving habits and your car a mid-winter checkup now, to be sure you get through the year's most hazardous season safely.

That was the warning issued today by Horace Crosby, president of the Nebraska Safety Council. "Winter is far from over," the state official advised. "It will do motorists well to check on the condition of vital equipment, such as equalizer brakes, anti-skid chains, lights, defrosters and windshield wipers."

AT THE SAME time, he pointed out, that as our blocked roads are opened, driving conditions will be hazardous and drivers will do well to review their safety practices, since "know-how" behind the wheel often means the difference between life and death on packed snow or ice.

"Guard against rear-end collisions by lengthening distance between your car and the vehicle ahead," the official admonished. "DON'T DEPEND on any tire tread for adequate protection on packed snow or ice. Visibility at intersections and curves will be limited due to snow drifts so beware of the possibility of accidents at these locations by slowing down in advance and approaching such spots cautiously. Braking distances without tire chains on snow or ice are 3 to 12 times greater than on dry pavement. Make gradual starts and stops, and avoid any sudden changes in direction or rate of travel," Crosby concluded.

Conservation and Fertilizer Said to Work Together

Some farmers are thinking the use of commercial fertilizer may make it unnecessary to come to conservation farming practices. But soil conservation authorities say common sense will tell them that fertilizer applied on rolling upland washes away as fast as the soil.

Herb Kollmorgen, of the local soil conservation office, says that the use of commercial fertilizer and soil conservation practices should go together. Fertilizers are essential in rebuilding the soil fertility in many fields. Lack of protective measures to keep the fertilizer on the farm will make its use more costly.

Lack of knowledge of its proper use can also be costly. It is expensive to apply $6 to $10 worth of fertilizer per acre and then have it washed away in several years. It is also expensive to apply nutrients your soil does not need.

The county agent, soil conservation office, or some fertilizer dealers can give you the latest information on the proper use of fertilizer. The Wayne county soil district will give you assistance on the use of fertilizers as well as effective and necessary conservation practices. Wishful thinking will not replace eroded soil or fertilizer.

Urge Farmers to Check Seed Oats

Seed analysts of the Nebraska Crop-Improvement association are urging farmers to check the germination of their seed oats before planting this spring.

Many of the newer varieties of oats do not ripen as uniformly as those grown in the past, they have found. They are finding quite a number of oat samples which do not germinate well and some that do not germinate at all.

Any farmer or county wishing to have seed sent to the laboratory for testing may submit samples to the county agent who will forward them to the testing station.

THANKS

I want to take this opportunity to thank all my customers of the past year, especially those who wrote letters, made telephone calls and sent orders straight to the company when I did not get to call on them.

We have a vitamin feed, powdered or pellet, costing 3¢ cents per steer per day, which on several feed yard tests here in Nebraska have yielded gains of 2.68 to 3 pounds daily.

We have 2-4D in either 70% powdered or 40% liquid in either amine salt or ester base for April 1st delivery. Our price has been lowered 25%, so old customers get your order in first. I am allowed to sell only $5,000 worth at this new price.

If you're satisfied, tell your neighbors; if not, tell us. Satisfaction is our greatest aim.

For any information on ways to stretch your feeding dollars for livestock or poultry, see or write—
