College 3-Week Summer Term Opens Aug. 6

Enrollment Now Over 300 Mark; Record Is Seen

Wayne State Teachers college looks forward to a record-breaking three-week session at the northeastern Nebraska college from Aug. 6 to 24 as pre-registrations have already passed the 250 mark.

An additional hundred are expected to enroll on or before the official registration dates, Aug. 5, 6 and 8, to eclipse the 1948 mark of 279 students.

HIGH SCHOOL musicians will take over the campus for the fifth annual music camp from Aug. 7 to 14. Already 112 have pre-registered for the camp to pass last year's mark of 105.

COURSES BEING offered in the 1949 three-week session include: Teaching of reading for the upper elementary grades; community resources in the educational program; workshop in remedial speech; workshop in conservation education; improvement of teaching arithmetic in the elementary school; and educational tests and measurements.

G. L. Campbell of Wayne will join the college faculty temporarily to teach the community resources class for the short session. He earned a master's degree from the University of Nebraska last summer and has been teaching in Plainview. He formerly instructed at Wayne city school.

Oats Yield Light... But Quality Good

Reports on the oats harvest in the county indicate a good quality crop with a yield somewhat below normal.

Combining is well underway and thrashing has started in most parts of the county. Rains Monday and Tuesday have slowed up the harvest, particularly in the Carroll vicinity.

Biggest yield reported is that of Herman Fuoss, who farms the John Beckman land north of Wayne. On the portion of an 18-acre field threshed so far, oats are running 73 bushels to the acre.

Prospects continue bright. Grass-hoppers are extremely bad in parts of the county, but spraying has brought effective results in many cases.

Draft Agers Must Register

Lincoln—Calling attention to the fact that failure to register is a violation of law and makes the delinquent liable to penalty, Brig. Gen. Guy N. Henninger, Nebraska state director of selective service, today outlined registration requirements under the selective service act of 1948, which he believes are not thoroughly understood by the general public.

"The obligation to register," General Henninger said, "is a continuing obligation and must be fulfilled regardless of whether men are being inducted into the armed forces under the selective service act. The obligation to register is imposed by the act on every male in the United States, citizen or resident, between the ages of 18 and 26, with only the general exemption of men on active duty with the armed forces and certain aliens."

THE YOUNG MAN who becomes 18 is required to register at a local board office within five days of the date of his 18th birthday.

Non-citizens entering the United States for the first time are required to register at a local board office within six months following the date of their entry.

The maximum penalty for violation of any of the provisions of the selective service act of 1948, the general pointed out, is five years in prison or a fine of $10,000 or both.

Questioned concerning the man who did not register during the designated registration days—Aug. 30 to Sept. 18, 1948—because he was then on active duty in the armed forces, General Henninger explained that he is required to register within 30 days of the time he was separated from the armed forces.

"ANY PERSON who changes from a status which did not require his registration to a status which does require it must register promptly to be within the law," General Henninger said, adding that those who were out of the country on the registration days following the date they reenter the United States, which includes Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Makes Survey Of Ponca Park

Ponca—Lawrence Enersen, landscape architect and engineer of Lincoln, recently inspected Ponca state park, making a preliminary survey to be used in preparing a detailed master plan for the future development and improvement of the park.

The 1949 legislature granted a special appropriation of $12,600 to be used for special development purposes at the park. The funds will be used as follows: $1600 for the master plan of development, $2000 for a new well and pump, $1000 for playground equipment, and $8000 for additional rental cabins and building improvement.

THE MASTER PLAN now being prepared by Enersen for the park commission is a long range development program for this park. It will include scenic and landscaping development of the area, the location and plan for a swimming pool, additional group camp buildings and facilities, recreational grounds, rental cabins and other types of improvements.

ENERSEN EXPECTS to complete the master plan by September. This plan will then be followed by the park commission in making future improvements as funds made available by the legislature.

In addition to the special appropriation of $12,600, a regular maintenance budget of $9120 has been granted the park for the fiscal year July 1, 1949 to July 1, 1950.

Brenna Go-Getters

A picnic was held in Bressler park July 20 for members and families of the Brenna Go-Getters. A judging contest is planned for the next meeting at the Heinemann home which will be held Aug. 2. Each member will bring a calf if at all possible.—Lois Langemeier, reporter.

Over Quota in Sale of Bonds

Wayne county has reached 149 percent of its quota in the U.S. savings bonds opportunity drive, reports W. C. Coryell, chairman of the county savings bonds committee. The county's quota was $134,000.
 With a week's sales still to be reported, Nebraska has topped its $18,320,000 quota by more than 3 1/2 million dollars, according to Wade R. Martin, recently appointed state chairman of the savings bonds committee. Seventy-two of the state's 93 counties have overachieved their quotas from 101 to 379 percent, he said. The state average is at 119 percent with the prospect that final accounting will push it higher.
 Reports from northeastern Nebraska counties follow:

National Duroc Congress Slated To Open Friday

Lincoln—Leading swine specialists and judges from 15 different states will demonstrate just what "type" of hog will prove most profitable to the hog raiser at the National Duroc congress, to be held in Lincoln July 29 and 30. Visitors will learn by actually seeing, by questioning, and by an actual demonstration of cut-out values of market barrows they have previously judged on foot.
 This will be an event where theory is thrown out the window in favor of actual proof through demonstration with everyone present participating in the discussions of the type conference, making their own placings in the judging contest, and rating a class of market barrows on foot and observing their evaluations match up with the actual cut-out values of the top 10 barrows of the class.
 The ladies, too, will have the chance for active participation with a baked foods contest, a cooking school and special prizes in the judging contest.
 Everyone interested in pork production is invited to attend this national event sponsored jointly by the United Duroc Record association and the University of Nebraska in the interest of more profitable pork production. The entire program will be held in the 4-11 building at the state fair grounds in Lincoln.

Your life is not worth living unless you think it is.
The vacation Bible schools in our community have added more than we realize to real community life. They build young lives into right thinking and living, and give added zest to Christian living.
A number of our boys are at Camp Merrill, near Fullerton, this week. That our Bible school pastor is there also, teaching two classes each day.

In Old Nebraska
By James C. Olson
Supt., State Historical Society

One of the casualties of the conflagration of 1945 was a rare and unique sketch of a pioneer trading post at Scotts Bluff, done in 1851 by a German artist named Heinrich Baldwin Moellhausen. Fortunately, however, Dr. Robert Taft of the University of Kansas, a well-known authority on early western artists, secured a photograph of the sketch in 1939. That photograph appears on the cover of Nebraska History for June.

The German title of the sketch is "Fort Roupideau, Scott Bluffs." The "fort" was one of the trading posts maintained in the Scotts Bluff region during the days of the overland migration by an enterprising Frenchman named Robidoux. It probably is the oldest structure in the North Platte valley of which we have any photographic remains.

THE SOMEWHAT bizarre story of Robidoux and his trading posts is told in the June issue of Nebraska History by Merrill J. Mattes of Omaha, one of our outstanding writers on western history. The colorful career of Moellhausen is treated by Dr. Taft in The Kansas History Quarterly for August 1948.

Thus are brought to light and placed in proper historical perspective two shadowy figures out of Nebraska's past, and the trading post Robidoux was well-known to the many thousands who crossed Nebraska on their way to Oregon and California. His various trading posts were important stopping places for those making their way west and many of our pioneer Robidoux, his Sioux spouse, and his many dusky progeny.

They also mention his exorbitant prices. Apparently Robidoux was a pioneer profiteer, using his strategic position to gouge the traveling public for all the traffic could bear.

MOELLHAUSEN, the artist who provided a sketch of Robidoux's post, came in contact with our early trader while on a tour of the west with Prince Paul of Wurtemberg, who like numerous other young bloods of European royal families, was seeking diversion and adventure in the American wilderness.

Originally Prince Paul's trip of 1851 was planned to include a tour of the Rocky Mountains, but so many difficulties were encountered that the Prince decided to turn back at Fort Laramie. On the return trip Moellhausen was abandoned by Prince Paul along the Big Blue, and spent most of the winter in a lonely camp in what is now Gage county. After a series of adventures, including encounters with unfriendly Indians, wolf packs and starvation, the unfortunate artist was rescued by a band of friendly Otos and returned to the civilization of the Missouri river settlements.

U. S. Navy Now Has openings For Men 17 to 31

Young men between the ages of 17 and 31 are now being accepted for immediate enlistment in the navy. It was disclosed today by Hopper, in charge of the Norfolk recruiting station, that the Norfolk recruiting station does not have a waiting list, which was a handicap to men desiring to enlist a few months ago. Men now applying for enlistment who are found physically and mentally qualified through preliminary screening tests at the Norfolk station, will be accepted for immediate enlistments. Transportation will be furnished them to the main recruiting station in Omaha, where they will undergo a complete and detailed physical examination by a navy doctor.

If they pass this examination they will be sworn in and furnished transportation on a Pullman sleeper or train to the U. S. naval training center, San Diego, Calif., the same day.

The Norfolk station has a quota of one airman and six seamen applicants for this month.

Hopper said that his quota is larger at present than at any time since October of last year.

The recruiting station is located in Room 303 in the post office building, Norfolk.

The colors most legible at the greatest distance are yellow on black.

1949 corn belt prospects are the best ever known. Not many cattle have been contracted from ranchers. Anthony, Dearborn, Johnson and Cobey gears and boxes. December corn prices around $1.20. Looks like $18.00 cattle next winter. Don't hold your fed cattle too long. Reduce your cost on your fall feeders $4.00 per hundred by using a Sky-line field cutter for 6 weeks. Plant a little squaw corn next year and add another month's cheap feed. Elevators, good ones, priced right as rain. Spring pigs—biggest crop in history except during war. Fall crop expected to be big, too. Beat it by marketing one out of five bred sows and sell spring pigs at 225 lbs. We have cornpickers on hand now but the late buyer is going to be found waiting. THE WAYNE HERALD

Twenty-seven students enrolled in a student driver training course were required to have at least two years of actual driving. Teachers college this summer under the supervision of Raymond Schreiner.

It was taught in a new, dual control, 1949 Ford sedan furnished through the courtesy of Meyer's Garage, Wayne.

The student driver training class is divided into two main parts: 35 hours of classroom objectives and 20 hours of behind the wheel instruction, consisting of 15 hours of actual driving.

Students who entered this course were required to have at least two years of actual driving, or to have driven at least 20,000 miles. In addition to these requirements the student must have taught one or more persons to drive an automobile. Tests must be passed, and all students must have a vehicle operator's license.

All students who successfully complete the course are recommended to the state department of public instruction for a certificate valid for teaching the course of driver education, provided they have a valid teacher's certificate. This certificate is valid in any state if the student has a teaching certificate in the state in which he desires to teach the course.

The text used in the course is called Sportsmanlike Driving, published by the American Automobile association, and is divided into four parts: The Driver and the Pedestrian, Sound Driving Practices, How to Drive and The Advancement of the Motor Age.

Vocal Concert This Evening

Tonight (Thursday) Robert Hansen, former Wayne Stator, and Verna Lou Wilson, senior at the college, will present a vocal recital at the college auditorium starting at 8:00. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Hansen and Leatha Harbaugh.

Mr. Hansen, who is now working at KTRI, Sioux City, was formerly of Emerson. Miss Wilson is the niece of Deahn Grove of Wayne.

Besides solos, Mr. Hansen, baritone, and Miss Wilson, soprano, will sing two duets.

To Discuss Hog Surplus Problem

The hog surplus problem will be the principal topic of discussion at the joint meeting of Dixon and Wayne county feeders associations Thursday night at the city auditorium. Don Warner will call the meeting to order at 8:30.

Morris Gustafson, past president of the Dixon group, will lead the discussions. Lawrence Fischer and Clarence Schroeder, presidents of the Dixon and Wayne organizations, also will have parts in the program.

Similar meetings are being held whenever feeders are organized and those in charge urge anyone interested in feeding problems to attend. The meeting is not limited to association members.

John Brown, the American abolitionist, was the father of 20 children.

Announce Farm Safety Contest For FFA Boys

Omaha — Nineteen thousand farm people—men, women and children—will be killed in accidents this year, according to figures put out by the National Safety Council. Broken down by states, these figures show that one out of every four Nebraska farm dwellers will be hurt accidentally during the year.

To help combat this great toll on the farm, the Omaha Chamber of Commerce is cooperating in a farm safety program with the state vocational agriculture department and the Future Farmers of American chapters in Nebraska.

BRUCE RUSSELL, newly appointed chairman of the Omaha Chamber's agriculture committee, said that "based on the greatly increased number of farm accidents due to mechanization, greater emphasis should be placed on a farm safety program. The place to start is with the farm youth," he added. "It's a natural program for the FFA because its members are the future farmers of this country."

Russell said the junior farmer committee of the Chamber will award three plaques and seven certificates to FFA chapters in the state doing the most outstanding job in farm safety.

HOWARD DEEMS, state FFA advisor, said the farm safety programs would include: (1) surveys of home farms for safety hazards, (2) successful operation of bulletin boards on farm safety, and (3) meetings devoted to farm safety. He said award winners would be selected by the state FFA president with the help of the state advisor.

4-H Association Camp Activity At Ponca Park

The northeast Nebraska 4-H camp association recently completed its 1949 camping activity at the Ponca state park. Howard Gillaspie, Dixon county agent and chairman of the association, was host to the campers.

Robert Weir, Cedar county agent, was program leader. He was assisted by Mr. Lomax, state extension forester, Dick Kucha, Gwyn Mouson and Marilyn Bottger of the state office.

Lomax had several classes of insect and bug study and Earl Maxwell, state forester, led the campers through the woods on early morning bird hikes. Other activities included handcraft classes and a talent night stunt program.

Mess policeman was Roland Montiehl, assistant Dixon county agent. Dale Luther and Charlene Egert of Cedar county were in charge of barracks.

Other association officers helping with the camp were Russell Stewart, Knox county agent and Vania Burbach, Cedar county home agent.

At Sioux City Market

Sioux City — Recent livestock shipments to the Sioux City market included the following from northeastern Nebraska:

Dixon County—Ed Uhl, 20 steers, wt. 801, $24; 4 wt. 732, $22.

Robert A. Anderson, 29 hogs, wt. 249, $22.25; 4 sows, wt. 373, $16.75.

Charles Kinney, Jr., 25 steers, wt. 860, $25.75.

Henry Erwin, 35 steers, wt. 1084, $25.50; 5 wt. 983, $23.

Henry Tarnow, 21 hogs, wt. 396, $15.25; 1, wt. 460, $9.

Wayne County—Fred W. Johnson, 17 steers, wt. 1283, $25.75.

Henry Schroeder, 4 steers, wt. 952, $24.50; 1 heifer, wt. 758, $23.50.

Walter Strate, 27 heifers, wt. 719, $24.50.

Edgar Marotz, 44 sows, wt. 367, $16.50.

Slaughter steers and heifers sold steady to cents lower Monday with those grading medium and lower off most. Most good steers and yearlings sold from $26.50 with high good and choice $26.75 to $27. Medium shortfeds sold between $21.50 and $24.50. Medium and good heifers brought $21 to $25.50 with choice to $26.25. Cows sold weak to 50 cents lower, common and medium $13 to $16.50, good $17 to $18, few to $19, canners and cutters $13 to $15. Bulls sold steady, sausage kinds $20.50 down, beef kinds $18.50 down.

Stockers and feeders sold fully steady with medium and good stock steers $18.50 to $21.50 and several loads to $22.50. Feeding heifers ranged up to $21.

In the hog division, butchers and sows steady to 25 cents higher. Butchers bulked at $16 to $22.25 and sows $13.75 to $19.

Spring lambs looked 50 cents high with choice quotable to $24, medium and good $21.75 to $22.75. Killer ewes were 25 to 30 cents higher at $9.75 down. Feeder lambs sold up to $23 and good breeding ewes were quotable to $14.

At Omaha Market

Omaha — Recent shipments to the Omaha market included Herman Heinemann of Dixon county, 25 steers, wt. 1153, $26.40; and Adolph Bergt & Son, Cuming county, 22 steers, wt. 1020, $24.50.

Stocker and feeder cattle and calves Monday at Omaha totalled over 3,000, a new high for the season, and sold strong to 25 cents higher to feature trade. Most sales ranged from $20 to $23, with Nebraska's $22.50 and Wyoming $24. Fat cattle, meanwhile, sold unevenly steady to 50 cents and more lower, best going on top yearlings.

Light steers sold to $27.50, heifers to $26.25, and mixed yearlings to $26.25. Bulk of slaughter cattle sold at $24 to $26, with plain "grassy" kinds down to $16. Cows sold 25 to 50 cents and more off, canners and cutters $11 to $14, beef to $17.50. Bulls broke as much as a dollar, bolognas stopped at $20. Vealers bulked at $21 to $24.

In swine trade, sows over 350 pounds finished 25 to 50 cents higher, but lighter sows, along with butchers, were steady to 25 cents off, butchers $19.50 to $22, sows $14 to $18.50, 600-pounders $13.50. Slags brought $10 to $13.

Fat lambs gained a quarter, lifting fed Californias to $24 and $24.25, and native lambs to $23.25 and $23.75. Slaughter ewes held at $6 to $9.50. Feeder lambs sold steady to 75 cents higher, $18 to $22, the latter for five loads of 75 to 78-pound Idaho. Idaho breeding ewes went out at $11.

No. 20 in a Series— KNOW YOUR FACULTY

This column features a short story each week on one of the faculty members of Wayne State Teachers college, in the hope that townspeople and college instructors may become better acquainted.

"It is possible for one to write as recreation just as it is possible to read for recreation," says Prof. J. Q. Owen, instructor of English composition and English literature at Wayne State Teachers college. Besides these courses Prof. Owen is faculty sponsor of the college year book (Spizz).
Mr. Owen believes that more people should try the experience of making their own stories. "Pleasure can be gleaned from writing; one can just write for creative and constructive pleasure."
Mr. Owen received his A.B. degree from Illinois Wesleyan at Bloomington, and from Wisconsin university he obtained his A.M. degree. He has completed all the course of study but the thesis from Minnesota U. for his doctorate.

BEFORE COMING to Wayne he taught at Michigan State college, Colorado State college, Montana State college, Dakota Wesleyan U. and Minnesota university. He has been in Wayne since 1928.

Mr. Owen, whose home was originally at Tuscola, Ill., has two daughters, and two grandsons. One of his daughters lives in Colorado, the other in David City, Nebr.

AMONG HIS interesting hobbies is his woodworking shop in the basement of his home. He has turned out cedar chests and all sorts of wood objects. He now maintains a small printing press in his basement which he calls his "present hobby." The Owens have traveled by car all over the United States.

In relating his popular methods of teaching, Mr. Owen believes that emphasizing literary values is the most important, so as to sharpen one's awareness. He believes that poetry is an excellent example of this.

THE VALUES he plays up are the vision of the ideal, the need to understand ourselves and others better, the necessity to find emotion-stirring benefits from literature. "There is much gratification of the commonplace which has its place in everyone's life," Mr. Owen maintains a 2,000-book library.

Mr. Owen likes the town of Wayne as a place in which to live; he has always preferred small towns. He likes the fact that "as you walk down the street you see the same faces instead of strange ones."

Lutheran Groups Meet in August At Midland College

Fremont—Scores of Lutheran laymen, church workers and members of the Women's Missionary society representing all counties within the Nebraska synod, United Lutheran Church in America, are expected to attend joint inspirational and training sessions of the church on the campus of Midland college, Fremont, Aug. 6-12.

The occasion will be the 27th annual Midland summer assembly for church workers, concurrently with the 69th annual convention of the Women's Missionary society of the Synod of Nebraska. Mrs. John H. Sherry, Wayne, is secretary of the Missionary society's education department.

The delegates will be welcomed at Fremont by Rev. Theodore J. C. Schultdt of Fremont, president of the Nebraska synod; by Rev. William P. Hieronymus, president of Midland college; and by Rev. E. Bryan Kiesler, president of Central (formerly Western) Theological seminary, Fremont.

"WHERE QUALITY IS NO ACCIDENT"

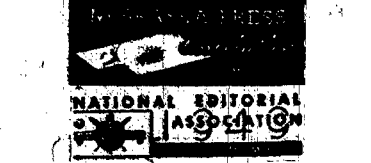

The Wayne Herald
Serving Northeast Nebraska's Great Farming Area

110 Main St. Wayne, Nebr. Phone 130

Established in 1875 as weekly newspaper published every Thursday by Karl P. Schwartz and Mark A. Cramer, and entered at the post office at Wayne, Nebraska, as second class mail matter. Official newspaper of the City of Wayne, the County of Wayne and the State of Nebraska.

Karl P. Schwartz, publisher and manager

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
In Wayne, Elmer, Cedar, Dixon, Thurston, Cummins, Stanton and Madison counties: $3.00 per year, $1.50 for six months, $1.00 for three months. Outside counties: $3.50 per year, $2.00 for six months, $1.25 for three months. Single copies, 10c.

Important Dates Coming Up

From time to time we like to remind Herald readers that something is always going on in Wayne. And now, as the fall season approaches, Wayne has scheduled an interesting and worthwhile calendar of events.

Northeastern Nebraska dairymen will be interested in the Brown Swiss canton show on Aug. 6 in Wayne. About 50 choice animals will be exhibited and judged.

Baseball fans will come to Wayne Aug. 14, 15 and 16 for the state finals of the Legion's Midget baseball program.

Parents of school children will find values aplenty in Wayne stores during "back-to-school" days, Aug. 18, 19 and 20.

On Sept. 1, the Chamber of Commerce will sponsor its fall non-profit dairy calf sale. This popular Wayne event has succeeded in bringing many choice dairy calves into northeastern Nebraska.

Fall merchandise will go on display throughout the city at the annual fall opening on Sept. 8.

Another big event will be the Wayne County Fair, scheduled this year on Sept. 14 through 17. Last year's fair was conceded one of the best small shows in the state. This year's event promises to be even more successful.

There'll be more big values for northeastern Nebraska shoppers during fall Dollar days, Oct. 6, 7 and 8.

And on Oct. 20, 4-H club members will have an opportunity to buy some excellent calves when the Chamber of Commerce sponsors its non-profit 4-H baby beef sale.

Mark all of these dates on your calendar and plan to attend them. And remember—you are always welcome in Wayne. Visit Wayne often... it's northeastern Nebraska's friendly city.

Water Boy
(Omaha Journal-Stockman)

With the grain harvest drawing to a close, the days of the water boy are brought to mind. Maybe you, too, were one of those youngsters who earned maybe 50 cents a day or a fabulous dollar bill from an especially generous individual—carrying water to harvest hands cutting the wheat and shocking.

It was hot work for the shocking crew. The earthen jug, with its body swathed in wet burlap, hung from the saddle horn with a strap through the handle capping the top. It was work for the water boy, too. If the pony broke out in a trot or gallop the jug started banging against the boy's legs. Water would trickle down the pony's side and at the same time saturate the overalls. A bit uncomfortable.

And the jug was heavy for a youngster. Maybe the lady of the house would give a helping hand to load the cargo of refreshment. None of those new-fangled porcelain-lined gadgets with faucets and spouts. And those served were critical of the coolness. There was no cheating. Warm water could cause a crisis.

That was a half or a dollar well-earned, and most assuredly it had to be a dollar well spent.

What Depression?
(Bridgeport News-Blade)

Reports of mounting unemployment, dropping sales, etc., from both the east and west coasts, leaves us here in the middle-west wondering.

Talk of "depression" . . . via radio, metropolitan press and weekly news magazines . . . has a tinge of wishful thinking.

Go into the average small town start discussing "depression" in the intermountain area . . . Bridgeport no exception . . . and start discussing "depression," "recession" or "deflation" with the average person, and he'll stare at you as though you might be a visitor from another planet.

He hasn't yet heard of the "hard times of '49."

He's too dang busy trying to keep his customers satisfied and still do the work that he is unable to hire get done.

True . . . we have seasonal slumps. But we have always had them: those in-between periods when farmers are too busy to come to town, or are hoarding their extra cash against coming expenses or hedging against a crop loss.

So we ask, "What depression?"

One of the clear roads to state socialism is the creation of an environment unfavorable to venture capital. If venture capital is not forthcoming privately in adequate volume, sooner or later, the state will step in and take the place of the common stockholder. We have been moving in that direction for some years.—Prof. W. A. Paton, University of Michigan.

Way Back
When . . .

30 Years Ago

July 31, 1919—The members of the Auburn street went to the Elkhorn river Sunday on their annual picnic. Mrs. John McIntyre was hostess last Thursday to the Rural Home society. The second annual picnic of the Wayne country club was held at the club grounds Wednesday. . . . Prof. and Mrs. J. J. Coleman and two sons and Prof. and Mrs. A. V. Teed and little daughter left last Wednesday for Ponca near which place they will camp out for a few days. . . . The city council is taking in hand the matter of so regulating rates and business practices that no one will have advantage over another in public service.

25 Years Ago

July 31, 1924—Small grain harvest in Dixon county has proven a surprise to the farmers who had thought the backward summer would cut the crop. . . . Burr Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Davis, suffered severe bruises and cuts when he was thrown about 20 feet while he was riding a motorcycle north of Wayne Monday afternoon. . . . Corn has sold above 90 cents locally and some feeders report that they are willing to pay a dollar, but there is very little corn around Norfolk. . . . Prof. and Mrs. A. V. Teed and daughter, Janice May, left Wednesday for a trip to Spokane, North Yakima and Seattle, Wash. . . . Mrs. A. A. Welch returned Sunday from Sioux City where she had been visiting a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Armstrong. . . . The Country Club social was held Tuesday afternoon at the Wayne Community house.

20 Years Ago

July 25—1929—John Ahern plans to leave Friday for Cleveland, Ohio, where he has a position with the Merrill Hawley Investment Bond company. . . . About one and three-tenths inches of rain fell in Wayne and vicinity Tuesday afternoon following the extreme heat of the two days previous. . . . Second term of the Wayne State Teachers college summer session opened Monday and attendance for the last period is about 550. . . . Preparation of the grade for gravel on highway No. 35 between Wayne and Wakefield started last week, the crew working from Wakefield west eight miles to meet highway No. 15 two miles north of Wayne. . . . The small grain, in part barley and oats, has been cut, and with favorable weather, threshing will be in full swing this week.

15 Years Ago

July 26, 1934—The Commodity Credit Corporation has extended the corn loan notes to Sept. 1, 1934, according to C. A. Berry, inspector. . . . John Kenyon Lewis has been awarded an entrance scholarship to the University of Chicago. . . . W. B. Banning, candidate for governor, and Edward Seward, candidate for congress, will speak on Main street in Wayne Saturday evening, July 28, under auspices of the democrats. . . . Wilbur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ahlvers, fell from the slippery slide at the East Bressler park and broke his left wrist last Thursday evening. . . . Mrs. Joe Smolski had a birthday dinner Thursday evening for Mr. Smolski. . . . Wheat and corn hog allotment committee members of the county are urging all members of the association to hear Francis Flood discuss the Triple A program on Aug. 4 at the Wayne State Teachers college in the auditorium.

IN BOOKLAND

by—
Mrs. F. A. Mildner
City Librarian

ARCHITECTS ARE WONDERFUL PEOPLE! They put your dreams on paper and draw a blueprint that looks like you imagined it would, only theirs is drawn to scale. Mr. Graber, the architect for the library, has drawn up the plans. He has tried to include as many of the things we want for the amount of money we have as he possibly could. The blueprints look wonderful and we have started to dream all over again about the details. . . . where to place the furniture, the color schemes, new book and file arrangements and a hundred things that we never even dared start to think about before. The way things are shaping up it looks as though work may be started by the first of September. It will be necessary to move into temporary quarters for about three months or so and a part of the dream all over again may have to be closed entirely. We will have more information on that part of the arrangements at a later date.

LET'S ECONOMIZE! That was a subject heading in the last Library Journal. Some of the article seemed to contain just the idea which should be passed on to people in our community so the following is a quotation from it: "WHEN YOU KEEP BOOKS OVERTIME, OTHERS ARE DEPRIVED OF THEIR USE." No library problem is as costly or wasteful as that of overdue books. Here is what happens when you fail to bring in a book: A first notice, a postal card, stating that the book is overdue is sent out 10 days after the due date, which is always stamped in the book. A second notice is sent out two weeks later, and after a reasonable time without a response from the patron the librarian writes a personal letter. In many cities over the country a policeman goes after the book." We have never resorted to that practice in Wayne, although in some cases it might not have been a bad idea. For every notice sent by a member of the staff most lost up the library card number of the patron, the name and address, address the notice, list the book, or books due, write in the current date and the due date of the book. This requires a full days work twice a month, so it is not the cost of the postal cards but the time involved and the assistant who does the work is being paid by the hour. So remember, that overdue books are costly and wasteful to the taxpayers of WAYNE. You can help by RETURNING LIBRARY MATERIALS ON TIME.

LIGHT READING for the summer seems to be the most popular type. There are a few more new mystery stories this week and a historical novel by Drayton Maynard called "The Running Thread." Charleston in 1853 and an Irish immigrant girl who lands at the Southern port and the young Redcoat soldier her father refused to let her marry, make up the story. There is some of the civil war background from the firing on Fort Sumter to the burning of Columbia by Sherman.

THE LIBRARY BOARD met Tuesday for re-organization. Officers were elected and committees appointed for the next fiscal year.

OUT OLD NEBRASKA
by JAMES G. OLSON, Superintendent STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY

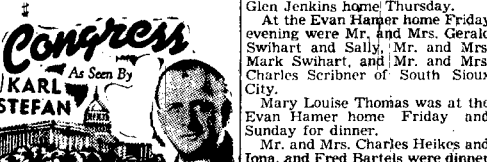

In the soil of old Nebraska are the mortal remains of countless emigrants who lost their lives at century or more ago on the long trek to Oregon, Utah and California. Most of them lie unmarked and unidentified graves. . . . One of the latter is the grave of George Winslow between the forks of Whiskey Run northwest of Fairbury—a grave 100 years old last month.

Winslow was a member of the Boston and Newton Joint Stock association, a group of 25 New Englanders struck by the gold-fever, who had banded together to make their way to California. They came by steamer up the river to Independence, Mo., and left that well-known jumping-off place on May 16, 1849, following the heavily travelled trail across northeastern Kansas.

ON MAY 29, Winslow and two other members of the party suddenly were taken violently ill with cholera, one of the trail's most deadly scourges. The company remained in camp the next three days, which time the suffering victims had improved sufficiently to continue the journey. . . . At sunset on June 6, just as the company encamped for the night near the present Kansas-Nebraska line, one of those sudden thunder storms so common in eastern Nebraska, developed, resulting in serious exposure to the unfortunate emigrants, including Winslow.

The next day, however, Winslow appeared as well as usual, but at 3:00 in the afternoon he suddenly became worse, and the company encamped. He failed rapidly, and died early on the morning of June 9. The gold-seekers again remained in camp three days to pay such honor to their departed companion as circumstances permitted. . . . CONTRARY TO a somewhat generally followed custom, they dug an unusually deep grave, and then scoured the countryside to find a sandstone boulder which they fashioned into a crude monument.

This lonely marker went unnoticed until 1912, when the original sandstone was incorporated into a larger marker containing a bronze plaque. This monument stands today as eloquent testimony to the fact that the winning of the American West cost lives as well as toil. . . . Last month, General Squires post of the VFW and the Fairbury Chamber of Commerce held centennial memorial services commemorating the sacrifice this one among thousands who ended their long journey westward in a grave at the side of the trail.

The House passed one section of the proposed armed services unification bill. This section deals with budgeting matters and when in operation is hoped to bring about a saving of approximately a billion dollars a year. The budget of the armed services for the current fiscal year is over 15 billion dollars. When the bill passed by House reaches the Senate, that body is expected to amend it by adding other unification items. The House committee on armed services is split on the matter of unification. Some members have declared they want "unification" without "consolidation." They want major portions of the unification program held up until their investigation into the B-36 airplane is completed. They fear the plan as now proposed would result in military dictatorship because it would give the secretary of defense too much power. They assure the House they will preserve the Marine corps and also the Navy air forces. . . . GENERAL OPINION here is that Russia won the fight in China and Korea and is now concentrating thousands of Jap prisoners released by Russia and returned to Japan have been well indoctrinated in communism and will make much trouble in Japan. Filipinos fear that Russian agents will have an active part in the Philippine election next November. . . . Three airports in the Third district are included in the 1950 federal aid airport program just announced by the Civil Aeronautics Administration. The Columbus municipal airport has been allotted $77,500 in federal funds, which will constitute one-half of the cost of that project. The Scribner state airport is to receive $10,000 in federal funds, likewise one-half the construction cost, while federal money allotted the West Point municipal airport amounts to $18,500. Total cost of the West Point project is estimated as $44,000.

THE ENTIRE federal aid airport program involves $29,840,767 in federal funds with local or state sponsors providing matching funds totaling $37,427,752. Of the 371 airport construction or development projects to be undertaken throughout the country under this program during fiscal year 1950, 31 are in Nebraska, calling for federal funds amounting to $561,299. Included are projects at Arthur, Bassett, Beatrice, Blair, Chadron, Cody, Crete, Dunning, Gothenburg, Grand Island, Harrison, Hay Springs, Hyannis, Imperial, Kearney, Lincoln, McCook (two airports), Merriman, Minden, North Platte, Omaha, Red Cloud, Shelton, Stuart-Atkinson, Superior, Wallace and Wauneta. . . . Managers of House administration will not agree to the installation of voting machines as urged by several members. Roll calls in the House consume many unnecessary hours during a session. Each roll call requires from 35 to 45 minutes.

Willard W. Burney of Hartington, secretary of the Nebraska Livestock Feeders association, was here to testify before a Senate committee in opposition to the Brannan farm proposals. Former Secretary of Agriculture Anderson is chairman of that subcommittee. Mr. Burney also discussed farm matters with the Third district members. . . . LOCALS

Gallon for Gallon... GAS HEATS WATER for less than Half!

Want truly AUTOMATIC HOT WATER SERVICE AT LOW COST? Then get an automatic GAS Water Heater. Here's why: Gas provides hot water—gallon for gallon—at less than the cost of other fuels. And not only that—but the first cost of an automatic gas water heater is much lower, because you don't have to buy an over-sized heater to get enough hot water for laundry and daily use. The gas water heater has "quick recovery"—that is, it replaces hot water drawn off quickly, so there is no need for large storage capacities. For example, a 30-gallon gas water heater has a recovery of 35 gallons of hot water an hour. Make your water heater GAS and you'll never be sorry.

JOHN DEERE - The Quality Name in Farm Equipment

Explains Resealing Program

Farmers Have Three Choices

Farmers who have loans on their 1948-crop corn have three choices under the resealing program recently announced by the department of agriculture, according to Frank W. Reed, chairman of the State Production and Marketing Administration committee. Under the resealing program, farmers may: (1) pay off loans Sept. 1—the original maturity date; (2) deliver the corn to the Commodity Credit Corp. or (3) not later than Oct. 31, 1949, extend the loans to mature July 31, 1950.

THE RESEALING program also permits producers who have purchase agreements to (1) sell corn to CCC; (2) keep it, or (3) put it under loan by Oct. 31, 1949, at the 1948 loan rates, so as to mature July 31, 1950. Under a purchase agreement, the CCC agrees to buy, during the 30-day period immediately following the maturity date of the 1949 loans, any quantity of corn up to the maximum covered by the agreement at applicable loan delivery rates. Farmers who extend their loans or put purchase agreement corn under loan will be entitled to a storage payment of 10 cents a bushel of the corn is delivered to CCC at maturity of the loans.

THE PROGRAM seeks to slow down the excessive movement of corn off the farms which would result from heavy deliveries of corn to CCC this fall. Through March, about 243 million bushels of 1948-crop corn had been put under loan and 22 million bushels under purchase agreements. The total may be close to 500 million bushels by the time books are closed.

Nebraska producers through the month of April had put under loan 44 million bushels of 1948-crop corn, and 4 million bushels under purchase agreements.

Laura Lyons in Denver: on Way To Wayne Area

Laura Lyons of Long Beach, Calif., who has been visiting in Denver at the home of her niece, Nellie Wingett Allen, writes to the Wayne Herald and to her friends and relatives in the Wayne vicinity that Mrs. Allen had a serious emergency operation July 1 and is now convalescing at her home. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wingett of Carroll, were in Denver at that time.

"It was my pleasure to have spent the first week-end in the cabin of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Edricks on the bank of a rushing mountain stream 46 miles from Denver in the beautiful Clear Creek Canyon," Miss Lyons said.

"We ate supper in the old mining town of Idaho Springs, and saw the first train serving the mines in Colorado during the gold rush of 1849. On our return we came through a new mined mining town of Central City. There was a centennial celebration preparation in progress and since have been many things of interest according to reports.

"WE STEPPED into the old 'Teller House' and saw the celebrated old bar (which is in use again). In the center of the room we looked at 'the face on the bar-room floor' with copies of the poem of the same title, in regard to the influence of this beautiful woman's portrait painted there. However, this being a show-place for many years the painting has been re-touched often.

"An opera is being given there now, and Mae West is playing in the old stage show, 'Diamond Lil', and thousands have been flocking to this tiny town. They have decorations, and duplications, in evidence amounting to 1849.

Miss Lyons relates that they passed through the smallest municipality in the United States, which is Blackhawk, less than two miles square. They also drove up to Echo Lake and saw near it the

4-H Club News

Four Corners

All but one member of the Four Corners club met at the home of Jone Wesely July 5. The lesson on canning fruits and vegetables was the topic of discussion. Roll call was answered by naming a canning hint and favorite canning fruit.

The club reported 71 name plates sold to date. Members made plans to attend Demonstration day to be held in Wayne Tuesday, July 12, at the REA building. They plan to have a picnic dinner at noon.

The next meeting is to be held July 19 at the Fern park, followed by a wener roast. A guest of the club at this meeting was Janice Ehricks of Norfolk. The meeting was adjourned, followed by games and lunch. Inez Weich, substitute reporter.

Silver Thimbles

Silver Thimbles club met with Norma Lee Volwiler at the Clarence Volwiler home Tuesday evening, July 5. Roll call was answered by naming an interesting person we had tried. Discussions were on bread, rolls and cookies in cooking and judging and exhibiting in canning. We learned the food value of bread and its variations. The steps in bread making were studied and cookie recipes given. There were three types of cookies, the "spread and cut" cookies, dropped cookies and rolled cookies.

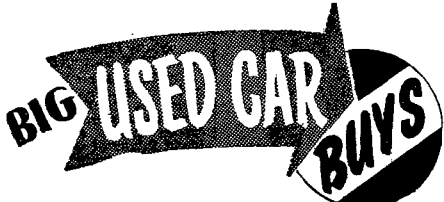

In canning we studied the score card for canned vegetables and fruits. Judging helps club members recognize low and high quality products and encourages one to raise the standard of her products.

Each member brought cookies to be judged by Jo Ann Volwiler. Shirley Vlasak placed first. After group singing the meeting adjourned. Our next meeting is with Mrs. T. P. Roberts July 18.—Norma Volwiler, reporter.

Clarence Mann read a report of the activities scheduled for 4-H members this week, at the regular meeting of the Strahan Strivers at the Ed Gathje home Thursday evening. All members except two were present. Plans for a fair booth were discussed. The next regular meeting will be held at the Clarence Mann home Aug. 5. This meeting will be on demonstrations. —Richard Longe, reporter.

Five members of the Undeclared Workers and their leaders, Mrs. Frank Hicks and Mrs. Julia Haas, were guests of Totie Pitt Monday afternoon. Tea towels, cookies and mixing bowls were judged. At the July 25 meeting with Bea Kollmorgen, comfort protectors and muffins will be judged. — Sandra Haas, reporter.

Karen Childs was hostess to the Happy Helpers club Friday when the various activities of the month were discussed. Record books were checked and menus were judged. The next meeting will be Aug. 3 with Nadean Thompson as hostess, where members are asked to have all requirements for the first five problems finished.
