family moved to a farm in the Brenna precinct.

"There weren't very many fences in the county at that time," he explained, "and there weren't very many trees either . . . prairie fires burned most of them down."

"One of the first things he saw in Wayne was a beautiful hay meadow . . . where the civic auditorium stands now . . . a fight where we're sitting at the hotel, is where the old Lindly place used to be," he recalled.

There are lots of other things that Oman remembers, like the thousands of prairie chickens that covered the feeding pastures in the evenings, and J. M. Strahan, who did such a good job of promoting the county, and the magnificent growth of Blue Stem sweet grass that grew six to seven feet high in the lowlands.

Remembers School, Church
He remembers the first grave for the cemetery . . . a grave for the wife of the town druggist. And, he noted the early progress of the Wayne community . . . the first chapel was built in 1882 by a Lutheran minister, Rev. Schmoor, and he attended the first school house that was built in 1883, it was built about a block northwest of the present location of the Beckenhauer mortuary.

"And in those days, townspeople thought the school was too far out in the country," he laughed.

After his family moved to Brenna, Oman spent his days going to school, doing the chores, shooting prairie chickens and herding horses for J. M. Strahan.

By the time he was 18, he was attending a dancing school, where he met the future Mrs. Oman. He married Mabel Olive Prescott on January 3, 1894, and they continued to farm in Brenna.

Mr. and Mrs. Oman had two daughters, Frances, Mrs. Tuttle, and Fernie, Mrs. Gorst of Bridgeport.

The Wayne Herald

Serving Northeast Nebraska's Great Farming Area

110 Main St. Wayne, Nebr. Phone 130

Established in 1875; a weekly newspaper published every Thursday and entered in the post office at Wayne, Nebraska, as second class mail matter.

Mark E. Cramer, editor and manager

Official Newspaper of the City of Wayne, the County of Wayne and the State of Nebraska

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
In Wayne, Pierre, Cedar, Dixon, Thurston, Cummins, Stanton and Hamilton counties: $1.00 per year, $2.00 for six months, $1.00 for three months. Outside counties: $1.50 per year, $3.00 for six months, $1.50 for three months. Single copies, 10c.

More Laurels for Wayne

Wayne county citizens deserve hearty congratulations for their effort during the recent Independence bond drive.

While the state as a whole subscribed to 93 per cent of its quota, Wayne county soared over the $82,000 quota by 124 per cent. Other counties in northeast Nebraska were 15 to 40 per cent below their quota.

The fighting in Korea probably did not affect the bond purchases to any great extent—the bond drive closed July 17, a day or so before concern over the hostility became fully aroused.

The county effort becomes doubly worthy of congratulations when it's realized that although property valuations have risen about 4 per cent, the total bond purchases rose nearly 35 per cent.

On top of that, farm incomes (for the state in general) have dropped 20 to 25 per cent below a year ago, while operating costs have remained high.

New Exhibits in Museum

New exhibits developed in the State Historical Society museum during the past month are: Pioneer China, Oil to Electricity, and the Disposition of the Federal Lands in Nebraska.

Keeping Posted on the Reds

American Communists, who have gone underground with a vengeance, are attempting to weaken the nation through propaganda, and are training spies whose jobs is to bore inside the government and to steal our top military secrets—particularly those concerning atomic weapons, jet planes, and plans for the national defense in event of war. That, in essence, is what FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover recently told a Senate committee.

Hoover is under no illusions as to Communist purposes. He said, "The Communist party is not a bona fide political party. It is a highly organized, militant, and disciplined conspiratorial group following the whims and dictates of international Communism. . . . The party is a group dedicated to the overthrow of our Government."

Just how large is this party whose loyalty belongs to a foreign power? There are 54,174 actual Communist party members within the U.S. at the present time, most of whom are in the concentrated centers of population. New York State alone contains about half of them. It is likely that for every party member, there are ten sympathizers who are ready, willing and able to do the party's work. So, he said, "There is a potential fifth column of 540,000 people dedicated to this philosophy."

Since the trial and conviction of the 11 members of the party's executive board, major organizational changes have been effected. The trend has been toward decentralization. In order to eliminate the dangers that arise when large numbers congregate, the number of Communist party clubs has been almost tripled.

No membership cards were issued last year, and the maintenance of membership records has been discontinued. A courier system has been established to protect confidential communications. Secret printing plants have been set up. Leaders are being selected for the underground. A thorough and elaborate system has been devised for making certain that each member is loyal to Communism and will remain so.

According to Mr. Hoover, the party has endeavored to exploit youths, veterans, civil rights, foreign nationality, the press, radio, television, the motion picture industry, educational, political, women, and labor groups. . . . Forty-eight per cent of the membership of the Communist party is in the basic industry of this country. . . . Communist efforts toward infiltration have been intensified in basic industries vital to our security, such as steel, heavy machinery, mining, communications, transportation, the electrical industry and the maritime industry. . . . The Communists have developed one of the greatest propaganda machines that I think modern civilization has ever known."

Official Hoarding:

The extent to which surplus inventories of stock are built up by some Federal Agencies was recently pointed out to the House Appropriations Committee by Jess Larson, General Services Administrator. He said one agency had a supply of tracing cloth which would last them nine years, enough fluorescent light tubes to last 93 years, sufficient ruled filler paper to last 168 years and a stock of loose leaf binders which would last them 247 years.

Too Many Weeks

How many people know there are about 104 weeks in a year? Well, there are. For instance, May has six weeks and in fact has two weeks from Wayne city council, at regular meeting Tuesday, voted that Mayor M. L. Ringer and Clerk W. S. Bressler make application to the state engineer of PWA for 30 per cent grant for the Wayne city auditorium. . . . Schaediger of Union Hill, N. J., president of the Luther League of America. . . . Exhibits and entertainment at Dixon county's 27th annual fair promise to be outstanding, according to Roy E. Johnson.

May 7 to 14. They are "National Family Week" and "Be Kind-to Animals Week." In this business we get floods of publicity from national concerns and advertising agents about these special days and weeks. Perhaps 15 per cent of these special weeks and days have a sincere purpose and aim behind them. The others are plain promotion and we put the releases in the round file.

If more newspapers would observe that rule, the practice of designating "Horse-radish and Mustard Sandwich Week," sponsored by the Midwest Honesradish Growers Mutual Co-operative Association, and the "Go Home to Mother Week," sponsored by the National Help Pay Off the Mortgage Association, would become defunct.

Let's have one more week. The "Mind Your Own Business and Get Something Done Week." We'll get behind that promotion right now.

Pioneer Nite League Notes

By Leo J. Schmitt, West Point Secretary, Pioneer Nite League

It gets tiresome, I know, moaning about the weather all the time—but league clubs who were rained or muddied out again Sunday night, are looking for the guy mentioned in the Sat Eve Post recently; that was the rain maker who got his advanced status that following notice appeared in his home town paper: "Rain postponed on account of ball game..." Time's running out fast now, and any more rain will make it a mathematical impossibility for all northern division clubs to squeeze in all their games by the August 27 end of the schedule. Not to mention the additional commitments to other tournaments, fairs and special events.

The Wahoo newspaper is promoting an excursion trip to Kansas City on September 3, to see Bob Cerv perform in a double header with the Kansas City Blues. It's a good deal for $3.50 covers all charges on the round trip from Lincoln via the Burlington, and it should draw a full house. Superior evened the score with Fremont last week by a score of 6 to 1, evening the series with a seven apiece. Will there be a rubber game, boss? Pender is competing in the Sioux City semi-pro tourney, and Pender and Fremont are entrants in the Council Bluffs tourney—both last week.

An errorless ball game by PNL entrant this year is a rarity; and a check of PNL line scores for the season shows that the errors generally cost the ball game; almost always the team that makes the most blunders also winds up on the short end of the score. West Point in notching five straight and moving to the top of the northern division, had a string of three games in the series with only two misplays in the three contests. Wayne and West Point ended their season series with another spectacular game something they've almost always done when they've tangled the past three years. Wayne fans are anything but happy about the games, however; West Point has now downed Wayne something like 13 times in a row over the past three seasons, and fans at Wayne are beginning to wonder if that kind of thing can actually go on forever.

Wayne came back in their half of the first to go ahead at West Point, scoring four runs. With two down, Kubat and Branson both singled, then Frei drew a walk to fill the bases. Bah's single scored Kubat and Branson. Willmott, next up, was hit by a pitched ball to again load the bases and Frei and Bah scored on Dostal's hit. Beard struck out to end the inning. Al Pender, pitching for West Point, held the local club to one hit, rest of the game.

West Point scored twice in the fifth as D. Wagner drew a walk and two doubles by Ed Wagner and Diers produced the two runs. In the seventh inning after Ed Wagner was safe on a fielder's choice, Diers homered over the right centerfield fence for their last two runs.

Kubat lead the hitters for the evening with two for three times at bat for the Wayne club. On the West Point team Schmor had a perfect night with two for two. Ed Wagner and Diers both hit safely twice in four times up, both hitting home runs and a double apiece.

FREE ATTRACTIONS

The Quigley Troupe

The Quigleys are seen in two separate acts, one a three-people tumbling act with some nice routines. The two girls come in for some acrobatics and balancing. The second act, a comedy trick house act, is one for the laugh book. You will chuckle with routine that is presented inside and out of the comedy house. The Quigleys are performers among the top list and you will enjoy them.

Allen and Lee

Allen and Lee are two clever people that do a dandy act consisting of up-side-down balancing. The man does some very fine juggling, assisted by the lady. The closing trick of the act is new as Allen walks on his hands pulling a small aerial trapeze across the stage while his pretty partner revolves at fast speed on the middle bar.

Rink Wright & Co.

"Rink Wright Duo, Acme of Equilibrium, are one of the finest bits of balancing ever seen on any stage," says the Shreveport Times. We take pleasure in saying that this act is, without a doubt one of the greatest balancing acts in show business today. Rink and his pretty partner will thrill you with ten minutes of the most sensational equilibrium work that you have ever seen. Refined to the very fingertips, every trick a feature—the act will long be remembered by everyone.

Cecil and Shirley

These clever people do a very fine skating act. Their routines are new, fast and interesting. The act comes from some of the best hotels and cafes and is now in the fair business. You are in for a nice thrill when you see this fast moving act.

Bert 'Mo-Lay' Turner

Bert is one of those fellows that know how to entertain, and everyone at the fair will know him after one performance. He comes from the old school of artists and knows all of the tricks of show business. He is a grand juggler and a good clown. Come and see Bert for fun and laughter.

THE WAYNE HERALD

76th Year — No. 15

Wayne, Nebraska, Thursday, August 17, 1950

Sec. 3—Pages 1 to 8

106 Miles of Gravel Planned for This Area

Part of 1,222 Miles Maintenance by State Hiway Dept.

Over a thousand miles of maintenance gravel resurfacing is proposed by the State Highway Department for a letting to be held on August 24.

Take bids on so large a mileage at one time. The 1,222 miles of highway to be affected are nearly a fourth of the total gravel surfaced mileage on the state maintained system.

Making up a part of this mileage will be State Highway No. 51 between No. 15 and Wisner; No. 35, between No. 15 and Wakefield; No. 16, Wakefield-Pender; No. 35, from No. 15 west through Winslow and Hoskins to Norfolk; No. 98, Wayne west to U. S. 31 and No. 115 from 98 north to Beiden.

The work will be divided into 62 units and will be carried on in 42 counties of the state. Nearly 135 thousand cubic yards of gravel, weighing about 362 million pounds will be placed on these highways.

Since almost all of the gravel will come from Nebraska rivers and streams, most of the material will be trucked to the sites where it will be used. Nearly 27 thousand trucks, carrying six and three-fourths tons, would be required to move all the gravel at once. Parked bumper-to-bumper, these trucks would form a caravan over 100 miles long.

More gravel is needed on the roads during unusually wet seasons, such as the Wayne area has had this summer, according to Kletsch.

Wagner, Hansen And Puckett Farms Are Best

The three farms selected to represent Wayne county in the annual Permanent Agriculture Program are those of Alvin G. Wagner of Hoskins; the Marie H. Hansen farm, operated by Leo Hansen of Wayne; and the Orval and Nellie Puckett farm near Pender operated by Darrell Puckett.

These farms were scored the highest in the county on the basis of reports of the program. An amount of effort required in establishing and maintaining the program, the quality of the work and how the livestock program fit the farm.

Judges who selected the three were Rollie Lee, County Agent; Don Warner and C. Wallace Luck, District Conservationist for northeast Nebraska.

Other farms considered as the probable top 10 in the county were those of Kermit Johnson, Martin Holmberg, Jim and Morris Gustafson, and Laurence Carlson near Wakefield. Ed Meierhenry and George Langerberg, of Hoskins, and the Rollie Ley farm operated by Laurence Hansen near Wayne.

Mrs. Marie Hansen has a family of conservationists. She lives on her farm with three sons, Leo, Lester and Herbert, and a daughter, Leona. Another son, Laurence, lives on an adjoining farm that has a complete conservation program established.

Leo manages the home place for his mother, and the whole family contributes its work in the operation of this unit. Leo had the Soil Conservation district start the conservation layout work in 1947 and since that time has terraced the farm completely. He has a disc plow and a terraced with which he built 22,500 feet of terraces on the farm.

In addition, practically all the waterways are seeded, and all the upland is farmed on the contour.

The pasture is on the bottom part of which is too wet to farm. The Hansens keep about 10 head of cattle and raise about 100 head of pigs, hogs every year.

Lester and Herbert belonged to conservation 4-H clubs for two years; and this past year Lester was the Wayne county soil conservation champion. He was awarded a 4-H club week trip by the supervisors of the Soil Conservation district. Lester was one of six boys in Nebraska to receive a $50 bond for his 4-H club work in soil conservation.

Leo rents another quarter for himself, which he has terraced completely in the past two years with a terracer.

All of the Marie Hansen family are convinced of the value of effective soil conservation. This year improving the production of their farms by soil conservation and good management.

Wagner, Owner and Operator Alvin Wagner purchased his 160 acre farm three years ago and has established practically a complete conservation program since that time.

The first thing Alvin did was to have the Soil Conservation service technicians lay out all the lines on the farm. He then adjusted all his crop and pasture land according to the contour layout. He has built 27,000 feet of terraces and seeded seven acres of grassed waterways and turnrows.

This spring he seeded alfalfa and bromo on 26 acres using 12 pounds of alfalfa and five pounds of bromo per acre. He intends to buy feeder calves every summer or fall and do his feeding on alfalfa-bromo pastures. He plans to rotate his alfalfa-bromo pasture on his cropland by establishing a new field every three or four years.

In addition to his 26 acres, Alvin has 18 acres of bromo grass and 20 acres of alfalfa for hay. All grain and forage is used on the farm. He just sold 30 head of 1100 pound steers. He raises about 200 hogs a year. He also keeps about 12 to 15 head of cows and calves for his regular herd.

This year Wagner has 59 acres of corn and 60 acres of oats. He uses sweet clover with all his oats and leaves some for seed production. After his ground is built up a little more, he hopes to use red clover instead of sweet clover.

Wagner says that the pasture usually had mud over the grass before he established his conservation program. Now he can receive a four to five inch rain and there is no mud in waterways for pasture. All the soil and its fertility, and most of the water that falls on his 160 acres now remain to produce greater returns.

The third winner is operated by Darrell Puckett and is owned by Orval and Nellie Puckett who live on the farm with their son and his wife.

The Pucketts began cooperation with the Soil Conservation district soon after it was organized in 1940. Originally they had a strip-cropping plan laid out, but after Darrell returned from the army, they began terracing the farm. Part of the terraces were built with a plow and disc tiller, but most of them were built with a road patrol.

The entire farm consists of deep, fertile soils. No special area on the farm has been planned for permanent pasture. From 40 to 50 acres of bromo and 20 to 40 acres of alfalfa are kept on the unit all the time and rotated over all the cropland.

Warrell is doing something different in the handling of turnrows and short rows. Around the corn fields, he plants eight rows of soy beans. Wherever he wants to open the corn field for his pull type picker, he plants four rows of farming chow to row crops. Last year the Pucketts harvested $300 worth of sweet clover seed from about three acres of odd areas.

The livestock program consists of dairy cattle and hogs. They usually milk 15 Holsteins and keep between 20 and 30 head. And they usually raise between 80 and 100 spring and fall pigs a year. At present, they have 126 spring pigs.

MARY WAS A LITTLE LAMB . . .

Saying goodbye to her pet lamb is Ruth Pfeiffer, above, of Wayne. The lamb, answering to the name of Mary, was very fond of cigarettes and Ruth was just giving the lamb one when this picture was taken.

However, Mary has the distinction of being probably the only lamb that came to market in a "plastic wrapper." It was raining the day Ruth brought her lamb to market so she put it in a plastic cover.

When Mary was sold she weighed 105 pounds. Ruth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pfeiffer of Wayne, accompanied Ruth and her lamb to market that day.

FIRST OF THE FINE CARS IN VALUE

BIG MOMENT- with a Double Impact

It's a big moment when any new car rolls up to your door and you start out fresh and spanking bright.

Think, then, what it's going to mean when that new car is a ROADMASTER like this one pictured here.

You'll swing wide the door and slide into a car that's truly fine—and looks it.

You'll put foot to treads and touch off the might of a great, 152-horsepower Fireball straight-eight that's ready to master any road—or anything it meets there.

You'll have the sliken magic of Dynaflo Drive to simplify your driving, ease your way. A handsome flexible steering wheel, automatic windshield washers, soft Foamtex cushions, and many other items that are "extras" elsewhere are standard equipment here.

But even while you enjoy all that, you've a still deeper satisfaction enriching your pleasure.

For here you have not only a fine car, but a sound and frugal investment as well.

You have paid less per pound than any comparable car costs—and automotive men will tell you price per pound is the soundest measure there is of solid, thoroughgoing merit.

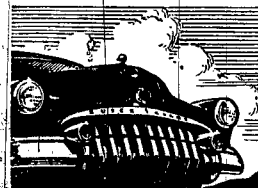

You've bought quality—top quality—all the fine things a fine car should provide. But you haven't spent a penny more than a fine car need cost.

And that can mean a lot. For instance—

Drop in on your Buick dealer. Try out a ROADMASTER. Match it, feature by feature and point by point, with any other fine car on the road.

Then get the price.

You may well find that you can get not only a new ROADMASTER for the sum you had in mind—but maybe a new fur coat for your wife as well!

FOUR-WAY FOBERONT. This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

THE WAYNE HERALD for 3 years SAVES YOU A DOLLAR!

See the Rodeo Champions in Action this Month

Daring rodeo riders and ropers are thrilling the crowds at fairs and celebrations all over Nebraska this month.

These skilled performers reached stardom only after years of observation and practice. They studied the performance of experts, learning how to do exactly the right thing at the right time.

Likewise, the tavern owners of Nebraska learned how to conduct their business in the public's interest by carefully observing and studying the successful methods of others.

As the result, they have become better operators . . . and better citizens.

STRAN-STEEL QUONSET 32

How a Quonset is equipped to dry as well as store corn is illustrated in these photos. (Above) Ear corn is loaded into the building through removable roof sheets. (Right) Ears pile around ventilation tunnel. When building is filled, air blown into this tunnel by outside fan circulates between cars and carries moisture out through top vents.

Corn growers, confronted with lack of facilities for handling their record yield this year, now may obtain newly-developed buildings that increase crop value by drying-as well as storing the grain.

The new agricultural development is a Quonset 32x36' adaptation that handles 5,000 bushels of ear corn. Local dealers can erect and equip it to receive corn in a few days' time. Drying is accomplished by forcing air through the corn at the rate of 25,000 cubic feet a minute.

The Quonset is equipped with special bracing a motor-driven fan and a slatted framework which runs lengthwise through the building's center. The piled around the frame forms a tunnel into which air is blown. Corn air circulates through the corn, absorbs moisture, and escapes through vents at the building's top. The special equipment can be removed easily when the Quonset is desired for other use.

Another corn-handling unit, the Quonset portable crib feeder, has been developed to eliminate most of the labor in hog production. One 500-bushel filling of the crib will feed approximately 40 pigs from weaning until ready for market.

A car-load of quality

Here's quality you can hear, feel and see. You'll thrill to the quiet of Ford's two great engines—the V-8 and "Six." Only Ford in the low-price field offers you this pick of power. What's more, you'll find both engines are "husbed" to a whisper and engineered to save you money. Then, too, you'll love the feel of Ford's smooth, road-hugging "Mid Ship" Ride on big sofa-soft seats. And one look will tell you why Ford was named the "Fashion Car" again this year.

with plenty of beef!

Just 10 minutes behind the wheel and you'll know that Ford's got plenty of muscle. You'll feel the smooth steps of 35% easier-riding King-Size Brakes. You'll get the sturdy "feel" of the rugged "Lifeguard" Body that's now "sound-conditioned" for silence. And you'll find Ford a sound investment—its low first price, low upkeep, and high resale value make it the savigest car in its field.

There Is No State Like Nebraska

Nebraska Annual manufacturing output is valued at nearly $1,000,000,000

NEBRASKA INDUSTRY RAPIDLY GROWING IN IMPORTANCE

A well-balanced economy in any state or area depends, to a great extent, upon the output and diversification of goods and services found within the state or area. Nebraska is an outstanding figure in this picture of economic stability with its combination of agriculture and manufacturing. It is an outstanding contributor to the wealth and prosperity of the entire nation.

Nebraska's industry, while well diversified, depends largely upon the agricultural raw materials produced within the state. There are over 1,700 manufacturing and processing plants located throughout the state, and all are a part of the ever-increasing industrial life of Nebraska. The importance of the manufacturing activities in the state should not be under-estimated. Through these widely diversified activities, markets are provided for Nebraska products, and, all combined, furnish employment for about 50,000 men and women. The manufacturing output of the state is valued at almost $1,000,000,000 annually. The average yearly manufacturing payroll in the state runs approximately $13,000,000. From this information, then, it is plainly seen that manufacturing is important to the general welfare and prosperity of Nebraska and its inhabitants.

Meat packing constitutes the state's largest single type of industry. While most of this activity is centered in Omaha, the world's second largest livestock market, other packing plants, large and small, are scattered over the state. With its combined facilities Nebraska is the world's fifth largest grain receiving point. The state ranks in the top five in the nation as a railway center. Flour mills scattered throughout the state grind millions of bushels of wheat into flour annually. In butter production Nebraska ranks fourth with Omaha leading the nation in first place. Several sugar beet factories and alfalfa dehydrating plants are also important Nebraska industries, the finished products from which are distributed throughout the world. Nebraska is first in the nation in dehydrated alfalfa meal production. With a total U. S. production of 750,000 tons annually, Nebraska alone produces 200,000 to 250,000 tons.

Nebraska's processed products include: Canned, frozen and preserved fruits, vegetables, seafoods and eggs; bakery products; flour; soft drinks; malt liquors; candy; popcorn; peanuts; butter; cheese; ice cream; milk; alfalfa meal and other feeds for livestock and poultry; hybrid seed corn and other seeds; dog food; meat and poultry; sugar; syrup; flavoring extracts; coffee; pickles; animal and vegetable fats and oils; spaghetti, noodles and macaroni; cereals; spices; vinegar; gelatin, jams and jellies; powdered milk; potato chips; and canned potatoes.

Manufactured products include: Auto seat covers, tops and accessories; canvas products; clothing; bedding; special fabrics; drugs and medicines; industrial chemicals; soaps and cleaning and polishing preparations; paints; plastics; insecticides; perfumes and cosmetics; communication equipment; electrical machinery; electrical heaters and hot water heaters; motors and engines; batteries; welding machines; general machinery and parts; furniture; stove fixtures; venetian blinds; window shades; mattresses and springs; clothing; footwear; handbags and small leather goods; luggage; saddlery and harness; farm supplies; millwork; prefabricated houses; wood containers; wooden shoe soles; smelted and refined metals; tools and general hardware; agricultural equipment; automotive supplies; air conditioning equipment; boilers; cooking equipment; cutlery and pipes; dies; fences; fire escapes; frozen food lockers; grain bins; hand trucks; lifting rods; marquees; oil burners; ornamental iron; pumps and parts; vault doors; windmills; wire; envelopes; paper bags; paper boxes; paving and roofing materials; refined petroleum; blue prints; maps; bound books; commercial printing; dentures; prosthetic appliances; motion picture equipment; optical lenses; watches and parts; brick and tile; concrete products; mirrors; monuments; pottery; glass cloth; cigars; boats; motor scooters; truck and bus bodies; trailers; baker supplies; brooms and brushes; fabricated plastics; jewelry; morticians' supplies; office and artists' materials; toys and athletic goods; signs, advertising displays; rubber stamps; badges, seals; novelties.

Among industries that have forged ahead to national importance in recent years are steel fabricating and farm machinery manufacturing. Over 500 factories are devoted to the processing of foods or kindred products.

Physically and geographically, Nebraska is ideal for most types of industry. Efforts being made to attract and locate new industries by the Division of Nebraska Resources and other agencies are promising for the state's industrial development. The cities and towns of the state offer many advantages to new industries as well as for expansion of those already established. Cheap and ample power, excellent labor conditions, and unexcelled transportation facilities combine to make Nebraska an outstanding site for industrial developments. The influx of new industry has been most welcome, and it has had a remarkable effect in creating greater interest in industry already established in the state. The industries now here, both large and small, have met their community obligations, and their welfare and prosperity are outstandingly identified with the progress of the entire state. The following statement from Nebraska's Governor, Val Peterson, summarizes Nebraska's friendly attitude toward business and industry: "Nebraska welcomes industrial expansion believing that it will serve to balance the state's economy with our great agricultural production which is so well established. Here in Nebraska there is respect and reward for individual initiative . . . Certainly we will do everything we can to make it attractive for new industry to locate here and share our unique heritage of debt free, pay as you go . . . government. We intend to preserve and expand the healthy industrial atmosphere and the high standard of individual production we now enjoy.

Here, then, is an over-all picture of industry in Nebraska. The opportunities it offers are unlimited. The contributions it makes toward the industrial development of the nation are outstanding. It plays a large and important part in making our Nebraska an ever better place in which to live, work, and raise our families.
