His Fifteenth Cadillac!

Put a man behind the wheel of a Cadillac—and he's very likely to stay behind the wheel of a Cadillac!

Many and many a man is driving his fifteenth Cadillac—and it is not unusual to encounter an owner who goes far beyond that figure.

Naturally, a car must offer many things in order to have such an enduring hold on the affections of those who own and drive it.

It must be as faithful and dependable as a mechanical creation of its type can be.

It must be so pleasant to drive and so easy to handle that the hours at its wheel bring rest and relaxation.

It must be so beautiful and so highly respected that it is a compliment to its owner wherever he drives.

And it must be economical, both to operate and to maintain—for luxury brings a dual pleasure when it comes with no extra penalty in cost.

In short, if a car is to have such a hold on the regard of its owners, it must be a Cadillac!

If you have already ordered this distinguished car, and are awaiting its delivery, hold firm to your purpose—for each day brings you closer to your heart's desire.

But if we don't yet have your order, better come in and see us today. The sooner you place your order, the sooner you'll have those many wonderful things which only a Cadillac provides.

Wildcat-Westmar Cage Test Here Saturday Night

Wayne State will be seeking their first victory in two starts Saturday night when they tangle with James Borsheim's Westmar squad here at the city auditorium.

The game will start at 8 p.m., following a preliminary game between Wayne State's B team and Norfolk Junior college at 6:30.

Westmar comes to Wayne with four games under their belt while Wayne has only played one encounter, that with Morningside which the Wildcats dropped 65-71. Westmar opened against Midland and took an 83-46 decision.

Westmar compiled a 16-5 record last year while Wayne had a dismal 8-24 show.

Pacing the Eagles this year are Vic Grothaus, a 6-ft. 4-in. center who led the team last year with 373 points, Elwin Gunnink, 6-1, forward, second high scorer with 220 points, Wayne Vermeer, 5-9 guard and Marion Brink, guard, who scored 13 points against Midland.

Westmar is the second of four non-conference games for the Wildcats. Westmar and Wayne will meet again Dec. 18 at LeMars, Ia. NCC competition starts Jan. 12, when Coach Chuck Obye will take his squad to Nebraska Wesleyan.

"If the squad can show the spirit and enthusiasm they had in the Morningside game, they will stand a pretty good chance of producing a victory," remarked Coach Obye.

Sweetest Riding Story Ever Told

① Road Test a Mercury for Proof of Performance

This is a story about a car. Its name is Mercury. It is a beautiful car, and it is very popular.

It has a powerful price winner of an engine, a high-compression engine—the better to take you up hills. It has a very low center of gravity—the better to take you around curves. It has a big staunch frame, wide tires, new-type spring suspension, supersafely brakes—the better to make you happy behind the wheel.

One day you will drive this beautiful and popular car. You will also see how nicely it fits your budget. Then you will know the moral of the Mercury story: It is, in all ways, "the buy of your life."

Sweetest Money-saver Ever Sold

② Budget Test a Mercury for Proof of Value

Does it have a down-to-earth first price? Mercury's price tag is one you can understand. You get a big dollar's worth for every dollar invested.

Will you be sure of good gasoline mileage? Mercury has proved its more-miles-per-gallon by winning officially sponsored economy tests.

Is it famous for long life? It is indeed! 92% of all Mercurys ever built for use in the U.S. are still on the road, according to the latest official annual registration figures.

Will upkeep stay low? You save money year after year. Mercury's famous stamina keeps repair bills at a rock-bottom low.

Does it represent solid value? Mercury owners say YES! So will you when you get the rest of the story. Drop in today and see.

Wayne Man Finds 1832 Newspaper

One never knows what he will find while sorting through old trunks in the attic, and A. F. Gulliver, Wayne, was quite surprised to find a yellowed school newspaper dated November 7, 1832, among his scavenger's finds.
The paper was "Jeronile Rambler" and belonged to his paternal grandmother, Harriet Bliss, who was a New England school teacher before her marriage. She and her son, Mr. Gulliver's father, traveled from New England to Illinois. She died when Mr. Gulliver was eight years old.
The informative Boston tabloid sheet, printed by Isaac B. Putts, contains an excerpt of the Battle of Lexington, parts of natural history, a biography of "John the Hermit," poetry and some bits of English-type humor.
There is an article that emphasizes the importance of the cow and ox to the then-modern man; "the ox, among the Egyptians, was considered one of their principal deities." In common with the cow it furnished food, and a variety of useful materials are formed of its horns and hooves. "Its blood is used in the manufacture of Prussian blue; its gall is used in hair-making; its tallow, and the skin of its head and its hoofs furnish

Blue Cross, Blue Shield Man Here

The semi-annual reopening of Blue Cross and Blue Shield groups in Wayne has been scheduled for December 3 through 7. During this period, new groups may be organized by business firms having two or more employees, and new members may be added to groups already established.
Drville Farrand, coordinator representative for the non-profit hospital and medical care plan, will call on owners or managers of Wayne business firms eligible to organize groups. Persons employed where there are fewer than four may join the health care plans as non-group members.
Blue Cross and Blue Shield groups have been established for employees of the following: C. G. Hughes and Zahm, L. & L. Moberg, Larson's, Merchants Oil company, Wayne public schools, and Wayne State Teachers' college. Membership will be offered to employees of these firms who are not already enrolled.
During the first nine months of 1951, the Nebraska Blue Cross plan paid back to its members, in service benefits, an average of $6 cents of each dollar received in dues. The average Blue Shield return to members, in the form of medical, surgical and obstetrical benefits, amounted to approximately 80 cents of each dollar received in dues.
The Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans operate in cooperation with the hospitals and physicians of Nebraska to enable families to budget the major costs of hospital, medical, surgical and obstetrical care. The Blue Cross plan operates under the approval and sponsorship of the American Hospital association, and the Blue Shield plan is organized by the physicians of Nebraska, operates under the approval of the Nebraska State Medical association.

Economic Situation

For the first time in eight months, the index of prices received by farmers in October reversed its downward trend and rose four points. In Nebraska the same index rose five points. This is evidence that inflation is still with us and may become stronger this winter.

The general outlook for agriculture the coming year is optimistic. There will be adjustments in price relationships between commodities, but net farm income is expected to be about the same as in 1951.

Even though prices in general are expected to be higher on most products, production expenses and taxes will take a larger bite out of farm income than last year. The word of caution in 1952 will be "efficiency." Low cost farm production costs and efficient feeding will make the difference between profits and loss.

It appears that present beef ceiling prices are only slightly below what prices would be if the market was normally free.

Outlook for Beef Cattle in 1952

Increased number of cattle on farms, a moderate increase in slaughtering and slightly lower cattle prices at the time of largest marketings will probably characterize the cattle situation in 1952.

No drastic change in price is anticipated, assuming that the demand for meat will be sustained by continued high incomes of consumers.

Cattle Numbers Going Up

Cattle numbers on farms in the United States are expected to increase from 84 million at the beginning of this year to 90 or 91 million on January 1, 1952. Slaughtering in 1952 are expected to be 10% above 1951 for cattle and 15% higher for calves. A further increase in cattle on farms during 1952 is anticipated, though this will likely be smaller than than a year ago. In three important cattle feeding states (Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska) there were two per cent more cattle on feed October 1 this year than on the same date last year. In Nebraska alone the number was four per cent greater this year. The average price of cockers and feeders at Kansas City in September 1951 was $31.90 per 100 lbs. This was $5 higher than the price a year earlier and only $4.78 lower than the price of choice steers at Chicago for the same month. This price spread is narrower than normal.

Hogs.

"Prices Remain Weak"

Slaughter numbers high; prices weak. The 1952 crop to be smaller. Unfavorable hog-corn ratio.

Feeding in 1952 May Not Be Profitable

Returns from feeding in 1952 will likely be less than in the past two years, based upon the price relationship cited above and the assumption that prices of fat steers at marketing time in 1952 will be about the same as they are now. Should slaughter prices be reduced either by weakening of demand or by unforeseen increases in cattle marketings, returns from feeding might be very small. Likewise a reduction in the presently favorable ratio of cattle prices to the price of feed grains would materially shrink the profit margin of cattle feeders. The price of feed grains is expected to be higher in 1952 than it was in 1951.

The Feed Situation

Feed grain supplies will be considerably smaller than last year while hay and protein feeds will be available in larger quantities. This is the situation in Nebraska as well as for the United States.

According to the November 1 estimate, a 1951 corn crop of 3.1 billion bushels is expected. The carry-over October 1 was about 750 million bushels. This would make a total supply of 3,855 million bushels. This is slightly less than the supply available last year but is larger than for any year prior to 1948.

Corn Estimates Down

The November 1 corn crop estimate for Nebraska is 206,598,000 bushels. This would be an average of about 28.5 bushels per acre. The 1950 crop yielded an average of 37 bushels per acre. Early frost has reduced both the yield and the feed value of a large acreage of corn.

Other grain supplies are also lower than last year. On October 1 the total feed grain supply was estimated at 120 million tons compared with 125 million tons last year. The 1951 supply will actually be less than 120 million bushels because of the lower corn production.

Less Oats, Barley and Sorghums

The feed grain situation is much the same in Nebraska. The oats and barley crops were short because of generally low yields and a smaller than usual acreage planted. The acreage of grain sorghums that matured is very low. Frost damage to the Nebraska corn crop is much more serious than anticipated earlier. The feed value of much of the corn is very low. Yields will probably be much lower than many farmers expected. There may be considerable spoilage unless the soft, poor quality corn is fed this winter.

Much Hay but Low Quality

The hay supply is large both for the United States and Nebraska but the quality is below average. High quality hay is very scarce in some areas. The total supply of high protein feeds will probably be larger than last year. Supplies of oil cake and oil meal are expected to set a new record.

More Livestock, Less Feed

The important factor to the livestockman is the relationship of feed supplies to the number of livestock. Total livestock numbers are expected to reach a new high during the 1951-52 feeding period. The supply of feed grains per animal unit will be slightly less than the average for the last five years but considerably above the pre-World War II period. Protein feed supplies per animal unit will be slightly less than last year but also much higher than during the pre-war years.

Feed Prices Higher

Feed prices are expected to be strong through the 1951-52 feeding period. With heavy demands for meat and other the increase during 1951. Present price ceilings on cattle will probably continue to have a downward influence on prices in the early months of 1952. The Defense Production Amendments which regulate beef ceiling prices expire June 30, 1952. In the latter part of the year, however, when cattle marketings rise seasonally, some price reductions may take place.

Looking beyond 1952, the stage is set for a continued increase in numbers of cattle on farms and greatly expanded slaughter. It is conceivable that there may be over 100 million cattle on farms by 1955 and that slaughter of cattle and calves might reach 40 million head, compared with 26 million head in 1951.

Cattle Prices May Readjust

Such a change in beef supply would likely bring a substantial adjustment in the relationship of cattle prices to prices of other farm products. This relationship has recently been above average. For example, during the nine months of 1951, the price of steers at Chicago was 174 per cent of the average price which farmers received for hogs compared with a more normal relationship of 126 per cent in 1922-37 and 137 per cent during 1932-41. A return to approximately average price relationships in future years would not necessarily mean a drastic price reduction. If productivity, employment and incomes in the United States should continue upward, the decline in prices of beef would be moderate. However, economic depression and a falling general price level would have very serious consequences to the cattle industry.

livestock products and a somewhat smaller supply of feed per animal unit, feed prices will probably advance as the shortage becomes more evident.

The Hog Situation

Efficiency will be the key word to profits from hog production in 1952. Those who fail to make use of sound practices may receive little if any returns for the labor and equipment used in the hog enterprise.

The hog-corn ratio is lower this fall than in any autumn since 1947. Prices of hogs are not expected to be much higher in 1952 than they have been in 1951. The price of corn, however, is expected to continue its upward trend.

Poultry . . .

Plenty of turkey for all. Consumption turning towards smaller birds. Number of laying hens on farms two to three per cent greater.

Melvin Mortenson

Dean Leonard
Wayne County, Dist. 1

The demand for meats, including pork, should continue at a high level as a result of record levels of employment, longer work week, higher wages and continued expansion of the armed forces. Any reduction in the supplies of consumer goods as a result of the defense effort will tend to add to the inflationary pressure on food prices.

Partially offsetting these factors is the effect of increased taxes on personal incomes which were recently voted by Congress.

Small Spring Pig Crop Expected

The total production of meat is expected to be higher in 1952 than it has been in 1951. Most of the increase, however, is expected to take place in beef and veal. The total pounds of hogs marketed in 1952 will probably be little if any larger than in 1951. This fall's large pig crop will cause heavier marketings of hogs during the first half of 1952 but will likely be partially offset by smaller marketing during the last half of the year as a result of an anticipated small decrease in spring farrowings. Furthermore, hogs will probably be sent to market at a little lighter weights throughout 1952 as a result of the relatively unfavorable hog-corn ratio.

Feed Prices Higher in 1952

Feed prices are expected to be higher in 1952 than they have been in 1951.

Unless price ceilings on meat are either raised or eliminated, it seems reasonable to expect that costs of grain will rise more than the price of hogs. Even so, efficient hog producers can still manage to make money at raising hogs.

Any grains which must be purchased between now and the fall of 1952 should be purchased now. Supplies of protein feeds are large and will be relatively cheap.

Feed Balanced Diets

Gains are most economical on balanced rations. The simplest method of balancing the hog ration is to self feed both the grain and supplement and let the pigs balance their own diet. (Certain protein supplements such as soybean meal which are exceedingly palatable may be used more economically with other less palatable sources of protein.) Protein requirements are relatively high when pigs are small and the amount of protein consumed may be surprisingly high to anyone who has never self fed protein. However, as the pig gets heavier, the amount of protein consumed in relation to corn decreases. In the end, the pig will have made a much more economical gain than if the protein supplement is omitted or fed in less "alarming" quantities by hand. Antibiotics used in the ration will do much to overcome or offset unthriftiness of young pigs (up to 100-125 lbs.) However, they do not substitute for sanitation.

Keep Your Porkers Comfy

Clean, dry bedding should be provided at all times. Plenty of water, warmed only enough to remove the ice and chill and available to hogs in a place where they do not have to go far to get it on a stormy day will speed up gains. Good green alfalfa hay can be fed to advantage, either as a part of a mixed ration or in a hay rack of some kind.

Feed Your Sow for More Pigs

Since a great deal of the success of the hog enterprise depends on the number of pigs weaned per litter, it is important that sows and gilts be fed properly, yet economically. Old sows should have from 1.2 to 1.4 pounds of feed per day for each 100 pounds of live weight during the gestation period. Gilts should have 1.8 to 2.0 pounds of feed per day for each 100 pounds of live weight. The amount fed will depend not only on the ration mixture, but also on the condition of the sows. The amount of feed should be increased to approximately the upper limits as the gestation period advances. Plenty of bulk in the diet in the form of good quality oats or alfalfa hay is desirable along with corn or grain sorghums. Approximately one-fourth to one-fifth of the ration should consist of a good supplement (if the supplement contains 35% protein).
