

County Assessing To Begin Thursday

Assessor Arp Attends State Meet

County Assessor Henry Arp returned from Lincoln Tuesday night after attending an emergency meeting of the Nebraska County Assessors' association called by State Tax Commissioner Numa Anderson to bring county assessors on to the new tax law.

County assessors were told to assess property at 100 per cent of actual value and tax it at 50 per cent of actual value.

Commissioner Anderson warned county assessors that the state board of equalization would meet in July and check county tax books. Any county assessor not abiding by the law would then be forced to raise valuations in his county.

County assessors were given farm schedules to follow to assure actual value assessment. Tax levies are to be applied against only half of the assessment figure or actual value. Assessing begins today and continues to Apr. 20.

The farm schedule is as follows: Puredbred cattle calves up to six months, $40; six to 18 months, $110; 18 to 30 months, $170; stock cows, $250; stock cows, $170; and bulls, $300 and up.

Hogs: Butchers, per cwt., $20; sows, per cwt., $18.

The Taxpaying Ides of March

Throughout the nation, everybody is lining up to pay income taxes by March 15. Everybody? Well, not quite everybody. There are, of course, the cheaters, who sometimes wind up in jail; but there are also more than 41,000 profit-making businesses that are permitted to dodge their share of the tax load because of exemptions and loopholes that should have been done away with years ago.

On Main street in most every city and town there is a bank that pays income tax to Uncle Sam. But then there probably is a cooperative financial institution that does a banking business, but pays little or no income tax to help support our government.

Down Main street you'll find a hardware store or two, a feed and fertilizer shop, a coal and lumber yard, several gas stations, and other types of business all owned and run by hard-working fellows who have been to a war or two and pay their federal income taxes as a matter of course, no matter how much it hurts. But alongside them, or across the street, you'll find a variety of co-op stores, selling the same goods and services, but paying little or no federal income taxes because they say they are somehow "different" from the others.

In the grocery stores you'll find a variety of items—brands of butter, eggs, sugar, cranberries, oranges, apples, milk, poultry, canned goods, etc.—which, if you ask a question or two or read fine print will be revealed as co-op products sold by huge, profit-making cooperative corporations, many of which pay less in actual dollars-and-cents income tax than you do as an individual.

Down by the railroad track, you'll find the same sort of tax-free competition to taxpaying businesses in a little different fashion. There is probably a grain elevator owned by "John Smith & Son," who are income taxpayers. But, also, there is probably another elevator across the same tracks that is labeled "co-op" and doesn't pay a dime in income taxes on its profits.

There are more than 41,000 of these tax dodgers on the main streets and railroad tracks of America. If they were taxed the same as their competitors, as they should be, the Federal treasury would get a billion dollars in new revenue every year. That would go a long, long way toward making it possible for Congress to cut your income tax and also help balance the budget.

Two high essentials of the new administration in Washington is that income taxes be reduced and the budget be brought into balance. Probably both cannot be done—especially this year—unless new, additional revenue is found. Taxation of presently exempt profit-making businesses, such as co-ops and mutuals, is the place to start in getting in this new revenue.

Certainly, in the face of things, there is no excuse nor reason for the continuous babying of $20 billions of co-op annual business by exempting it entirely or partially from the Federal income tax collector. It is high time that Congress act to make these businesses pay up their way just as you are required to do.

How Much Is a Billion?

In these days of high finance, it's interesting to find some figures that bring home the immensity of a billion. Most of us have become so accustomed to hearing costs measured in billions of dollars that we sometimes forget just how much one billion dollars really is.

A billion dollar bill laid end to end would encircle the earth nearly four times. If you made 19 trips between New York and Chicago you would cover a distance of nearly a billion inches. The propeller on an airplane travelling 300 miles per hour would turn a billion times if the plane would cruise continuously—24 hours a day—for nearly two years.

If a company had started into business back in the year 1 with a billion dollars capital and, through poor management, lost money at the rate of $1,000 per day, seven days a week, it would not have exhausted its original capital yet. And it would not go broke until nearly 800 years from now.

A thousand dollars a day for more than 2,700 years—that's one billion dollars.

A wrestling match will be held under the auspices of the local American Legion on Saturday evening. The main attraction will be between Roy E. Gillis, Sioux City, and Glen Wade, Wayne county. Dimmick, Wayne, baggage man on the Wayne-Bloomfield branch, sustained a broken right leg just above the ankle Saturday when he started to board a train while it was moving. A car bearing a Washington county license plate was picked up here about 10 days ago and officers have been searching for the owner. It has been learned that the party left it, sending word to the loan company having a mortgage on the property to get it at Wayne.

In Bookland

THIS IS THE LENTEN PERIOD... A TIME when we can all enrich our spiritual thinking and thereby enrich our lives. Your public library has a vast store of the finest religious and philosophical books. Isn't this a good time to become acquainted with these important books and map out a course of reading for the week? You can go to your librarian and be glad to help you and to reserve the books for you. If you haven't read the books of Peter Marshall, "The Silver Chalice," "The Gallileans," or the "Greatest Story Ever Told," this is the time to do it.

MARCH 17 IS ST. PATRICK'S DAY... A FINE excuse for a party! For some unusual ideas on food favors and games that will make your party a success, ask your librarian. By the way, did St. Patrick REALLY drive the snakes out of Ireland? And was St. Patrick himself an Irishman? You can find out... and settle some arguments... at the library.

THIS WEEK WE RECOMMEND "THE STONES OF THE HOUSE," a novel by Theodore Dreiser. The critics have hailed it as the best college novel for adults ever written. It is a wise, thoughtful, perceptive, honest, uncommonly truthful book, revealing the false faces of circumstance, the big and the small and the devilish deceptions that the good man practices on himself despite himself. This is a first novel but a distinguished one. For pure entertainment we recommend "I and My True Love," by Helen MacInnes for it is a novel of suspense from that first wintery moment in Washington when the bored and unhappy heroine catches sight of her wartime lover and the faces are against her. It is an exciting novel, moving in the shadows of terror and yet lit by warmth and human interest. And, for real reporting we recommend W. L. White's "Back Down the Ridge." It is a report on the men who get "clobbered" in Korea, Americans mostly, but many of them the indomitable Turks and the valiant fighters of the republic of Korea.

A BEAUTIFUL PLANT WAS GIVEN TO THE library by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce for the Hall Memorial shelf. The dark red cyclamen blooms have added a spot of beauty which has cheered us when the bleak view outside was so depressing.

It Happened In NEBRASKA

DINING on the Chicago-to-Omaha train was a real treat in 1891 for the food-lover, and for the pocketbook! The menu listed 72 courses... included 30 different meats and fishes, 12 vegetable dishes, 12 separate desserts. One could order as many of the items as desired on each of the 12 courses. Cost of such a feast was exactly 75 cents!

Today it's a real treat to see the way Nebraska is being developed. It's a respected business man, as reflected in his place of business. It is clean, orderly, not merely tolerated but wholeheartedly patronized.

Tourney Briefs . . .

The "gate and take" for the district class B basketball tournament held here last week set new records. Tourney Director E. W. Willert reports there were 3,596 paid admissions for the three nights and receipts totaled $2,310.30. Complete attendance is estimated at over 4,000.

Wisner was the only team using the south dressing room to register a win. The Bulldogs defeated Tekamah 70 to 63 — after six teams had failed to win after using the south dressing room.

Average winning score of the tournament topped 59 points — another new high. The seven winning teams scored 418 points.

Wayne State Teachers college graduates will coach five of the 32 teams competing in the state tournament this year. Two of the teams are coached by brothers.

Jack Baumert is coach at Wisner and Gene Baumert will direct Tildan's team. Other WSTC grads in Lincoln this week include Joe Lindahl, Cozard; Darold Bobler, Hartington; and Milo Blecha, Clarkston.

Tourney officials conceded this year's tourney was just about the smoothest ever put on here. Sportsmanship by spectators and the players was superb.

All the games were capably officiated by Bill and Carlyle Garvin, Dixon, who farm around 600 acres of land.

Wayne State Beats Peru; Holds Second

Coach Chuck Obye's Wayne State Wildcats climaxed a thrilling season with a 73-72 overtime victory over Peru State here Thursday night.

To win put Wayne State in a second place tie with Chadron State in the final NCC standings. Both teams wound up the conference play with nine wins and five losses.

Don Tietgen's over-the-head hook shot with two seconds remaining gave Wayne State another chance after the Wildcats had blown a 11-point third quarter lead. The regulation game was knotted at 66-66.

Roger Miller's fielder and Carl Johnson's free throw gave the Wildcats their one-point advantage in the overtime. Peru sank a last minute field goal and the buzzer sounded with the score 73-72.

Peru State's 6-ft. 5-in. center, Bob Davis wrecked havoc with the Wildcats, scoring 30 points and almost single-handedly won the game for Peru.

His tip-in tied the score at 61-64 and a fielder a few seconds later gave Peru a 66-64 edge and it looked like that was the ball game. However, Tietgen hit as the buzzer sounded and Wayne State outscored Peru seven points to six in the overtime.

Wayne State held 15-11, 34-28 and 53-48 quarter leads.

Johnson dropped 23 points to lead Wayne State's scoring attack. Teammates Mike Mallette had 14 and Miller and Wayne Samuelson each scored 13 counters.

WAYNE PREP CHEMISTS DRESS FOR EXPERIMENTS
Seeing Tom Myers running down the hall at Wayne Prep with a handkerchief tied over his face and dragging a mop behind him, a visitor might have received the impression that he was playing cops and robbers. A teacher realizing that Tom was a little too old for that sort of thing stopped him for an explanation.

No, he wasn't the Lone Ranger or he wasn't playing. He was merely a member of the chemistry class working with poisonous gases. The mop was to sweep up the remains of a test tube that had blown up.

The chemistry class has been conducting experiments with chlorine, which is a very poisonous gas. They're also studying the rest of the halogens - fluorine, bromine, and iodine - some of which are too dangerous to experiment with.

SEVENTH GRADERS START COMPETITION IN POETRY
Members of the seventh grade reading class are having a poetry contest. Poetry folders with 16 poems in them, written by British and American poets were issued to the pupils.

Each individual chose a poem to read and record several times for practice. Often they were played back to see how they could improve the reading. They were judged on enunciation, phrasing and mood.

Last week the students started preliminaries by half of the class drawing numbers (three of them) and picking one to read a poem from the folder. The other half judged them.

Billy Hughes won first and Gary Kingston second.

On the second day Marvin Ratzlaff was first and John Kessler second.

'CUTTING UP IN SCHOOL'
"Boy don't these things stink?" "You guys sure got a big one." "O-o how can you stand to get your fingers into that thing?"

These were some of the expressions overheard in the science room Monday morning when the sophomore biology class were dissecting frogs.

The unit being studied now is "How Human Behavior Takes Place." This topic deals with the structures involved in behavior, so by dissecting frogs they learned the parts of the brain, and were shown how they affect behavior.

The frog dissected by Linda Kessler, Donna Kohl and Donna Wischard had been treated to make the veins and arteries show more plainly. Drawings were made of the frog's brain. H. C. Kelly is supervisor, and Bonnie McPherson is student teacher of the biology class.

STICKY FINGERS!
Ninth graders at Wayne Prep have "sticky fingers." No, don't send for the police. It is only glue that the world geography students have been using to paste pictures of their "desert" notebooks.

The class decided to make the notebooks when they were studying about deserts.

This authoritative report is reprinted each month by the State National Bank of Wayne as a service to our customers and friends.)

Economic Situation

Important changes are expected to take place in agricultural policy under the new administration. Some idea of the thinking of Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture, can be seen from the following direct quotations:

"Farmers should not be placed in a position of working for government bounty rather than producing for a free market. However, the ability to avoid restrictions on agriculture depends in part on the willingness of other economic groups to adopt policies that permit flexible and dynamic adjustments." — "Price supports should provide insurance against disaster to the farm-producing plant and help to stabilize national food supplies. But price supports which tend to prevent production shifts toward a balanced supply in terms of demand and which encourage uneconomic production and result in continuing heavy surpluses and subsidies should be avoided." — "Inefficiency should not be subsidized in agriculture or any other segment of our economy. Relief programs should be operated as such—not as an aid to the entire agricultural industry." — "Too many Americans are calling on Washington to do for them what they should be willing to do for themselves."

Beef Cattle Situation

The new year began with cattle prices substantially lower than in January 1952. Sharpest reductions were in the lower grades of both slaughter and feeder cattle. Beef and veal slaughter in 1952 was about 9% higher than in 1951, and 1953 production is expected to exceed that of 1952 by approximately 15%. However, reductions in the production of pork, lamb and mutton are expected to partially offset the increase in beef and veal this year.

Depressed by larger supplies and sluggish demand, the prices of medium and lower grade slaughter cattle are unlikely to show much improvement until late winter or spring. The higher grades of cattle, now considerably above the medium grades, may decline seasonally through

Cattle
Signs of Strength

At the end of the first week of February, all grades of slaughter cattle, except top choice and prime, show signs of strength. Indications are that the bottom has been reached providing marketings are not excessively heavy. Interest in stockers is picking up.

spring. More stable cattle prices may develop in the second half of 1953, if favorable conditions prevent excessive marketings.

Beef Numbers Still Growing

In spite of increased marketings in 1952, cattle numbers on farms have no doubt increased substantially above a year ago, and on January 1 this year, the number of cattle in feed lots was 16% higher than a year previous. Fortunately consumer purchasing power continues at a high level. Nevertheless, cattle men doubtlessly are justified in watching sharply the future trends in the whole livestock industry.

More Cattle on Feed

The increase in number of cattle on feed this year is greater in Nebraska than in any other state. The total of 731,000 cattle in Nebraska feedlots on January 1, 1953 is 40% above the number on feed

Hogs
Better Prices

Prices are registering upward seasonal trends. Lighter hog marketings are underway. Better prices expected the coming months. More beef still depressing prices.

a year previous. Nebraska ranks second in the number of cattle on feed, being exceeded only by Iowa where 1,274,000 cattle were in feedlots on January 1. Compared with January 1, 1952 the numbers of cattle in Iowa feedlots increased 27%; in the three principle feeding states (Iowa, Nebraska and Illinois) the increase was 30% and in the North Central States, 23%. Outside the North Central region the number of cattle on feed is slightly smaller than last year.

These increases in numbers of cattle on feed were apparently stimulated by relatively lower prices on feeder cattle, ample supplies of feed grains, sharp reductions in the numbers of hogs produced, and drought-forced liquidations in several southern and southwestern states.

The proportion of lighter weight cattle in feedlots is larger than last year and feeder's intentions indicate that fat cattle will go to market at a faster rate than last year. The total number of fed cattle to be moved to Cornbelt markets in the next three months is expected to be substantially higher than last year. However, the marketings of better grade cattle in the next few months may be increased only slightly.

All Grade Prices Down

The extent of the price decline during the past year is illustrated by the reduction in prices of different grades at Omaha from January 5, 1952 to January 3, 1953. During this period the price of prime slaughter steers declined $2.90 per cwt. choice steers, $4.83; good slaughter steers, $7.28; commercial slaughter grades, $9.03; good feeder and stockers, $7.75; and good and choice feeder calves, $9.75.

Mexican Feeder Imports Small

The unfavorable price experience of the past year and uncertain prospects in the future have created considerable nervousness among cattle men. Lifting of the embargo on Mexican cattle on September 1, 1952 opened the way to imports from Mexico. This and prospects of resumed imports from Canada beginning next March 1 might, at first thought, appear as an important threat in view of the present market situation for cattle. However, these additional imports represent a very small part of the total number of feeder cattle in the United States.

Mexican Feed Prices Unfavorable

Between September 1 and December 27, 1952 the imports of cattle and calves from Mexico amounted to 128,098 head. During this period the Poultry . . .

The January 1 survey shows that turkey producers plan to raise 8% fewer birds in 1953. This is the first year since 1947 that producers are planning cutbacks. The USDA has bought 48 million lbs.—about 6% of the 1952 record crop—of "surplus" turkeys.

Mexican export quota limits on live cattle and meat had been set at 200,000 head. In September, 1952, the Mexican government reduced the export surtax on live steers and certain meat products. However, these reductions are minor compared with other expenses involved in the shipment of cattle to the United States. These include such items as sales tax, stockyards expenses, freight, customs, clearance, customs brokers fees and miscellaneous fees, all incurred in Mexico and amounting to a total of 3 to 5 cents per pound of steer weighing 441 pounds. Similar miscellaneous expenses usually incurred in the United States increase the expense on both sides of the border to a total of 6 to 8 cents per pound for live cattle. These expenses must be added to the price of cattle in Mexico in order to determine the price at which Mexican cattle can be delivered in the United States. Considering these expenses and the present relatively unattractive price of feeder cattle in the United States the opportunity for export would not appear encouraging for Mexican cattle men.

The Feed Situation

The nation's supply of feed grains and other concentrates for 1952-53 is a little smaller than during the past three years, but it is about one-fourth larger than before World War II. The situation in the Corn Belt is especially favorable because of the bumper crop last season. In the Dairy . . .

Nebraska now a "surplus" grade "A" milk producer. This is partially due to the higher nutritive value of feeds.

south, however, feed will still be short because of the drought. Farmers in that area have been competing for Corn Belt feed, and there has been a considerable movement of feed to the south.

Feed Supplies Adequate

The 1952 production of feed grain, estimated in December at 121 million tons, was 7% larger than in 1951, and appears adequate for farmer's needs in 1952-53 without depleting stocks. The 1951 crop was somewhat short, and our carry-over stocks were decreased about 30% or to about 20 million tons during the year 1951-52.

Supplies of oilseed meals and cake are expected to be nearly as large as the record-breaking supplies last year. In fact, supplies last fall were large enough that it seems likely that demands will be met at prices somewhat below the ceiling level. Price-wise, tannage and meat scraps are relatively cheaper this season, compared to the other high-protein feeds, than they were a year ago.

More Cattle, Less Hogs on Feed

The number of grain-consuming livestock on farms is expected to be about 3 or 4 percent smaller than in 1951-52, since 15% fewer pigs will be raised this spring. So it is likely that even in the face of heavier cattle feeding this year, the pounds of feeds per animal unit will be a little larger than in 1951-52.

The total corn supply for the 1952-53 season is nearly 3,800 million bushels; this is 4% larger than last year. Our near record breaking 1952 corn crop more than made up for the reduced carryover of corn from 1951. The carryover for the 1952-53 season will probably be larger again.

On the otherhand, supplies of other feed grains are smaller than last year, which will probably shrink the carryover of these grains.

Hay Supplies Down

The hay supply for 1952-53 is about 3% smaller than last year, and is the smallest per animal unit in recent years. Dry weather during the fall reduced the feed on pastures and ranges, and cattlemen have fed more hay than usual early in the season. The hay supplies have been critical

Wheat . . .

The outlook for the winter wheat crop is becoming more optimistic each week. Most of the counties that had wheat which did not sprout last fall because of the dry weather are reporting that this wheat is now sprouting. Severe cold could damage newly sprouted wheat.

in the south. There has been considerably movement of hay to Kansas and Oklahoma from Nebraska. Hay prices have been setting record levels for the state; they rose 70 cents from October 15 to November 15 to $25.70 per ton; and 70 cents more by December 15. During the month ending January 15, the price was 20 cents lower, averaging $26.30 in Nebraska (all baled hay).

The 1953 crop goals have been announced by the Department of Agriculture, they call for increased acreages and production of feed grains and hay. It is felt that larger feed reserves are needed as a measure of insurance against changes in world political conditions, as well as the possibility of crop failures.

Announcing the great new SIX FOOT ALL-CROP Harvester

In the new Model 85, you will find all the desired features that have made the ALL-CROP Harvester known and admired throughout the world.

In addition, the Six-Foot ALL-CROP Harvester has many new abilities. It will handle two wide rows of soybeans or sorghums. Crops flow in a broader, WIDE-FLOW stream to the famous rubber-cushioned bar cylinder.

A New STEP-UP straw rack boosts capacity, gives straw a faster, rougher ride, separates cleaner.

See this greatest ALL-CROP Harvester now. An early order means sure delivery. And we can probably allow you more for your old machine if we get it well ahead of harvest.
