Starting the Day with an Hour's Rest!

It's about an hour from his home to his office—but he doesn't think of it as a drive at all.
He just settles back in the deep, comfortable seat—rests his hand on the inviting wheel—looks out over the hood in the general direction of the office—and starts to relax.
Comes first, the ten-mile stretch in the country.
If the car were standing still, it could not be smoother or softer or quieter—as it loafs over the broad, winding highway. There's only the faint sound of the wind, plus the receding trees and posts and buildings, to give him a sense of movement.
Almost before it begins, it seems, the ten-mile stretch is over—and a sign announces the city's limits. The soft pressure of his foot shifts from accelerator to brake—and the big car settles down easily, smoothly and quickly to the prescribed speed.
And then begins the real wizardry of Cadillac performance. Stop and go—in and out—roll and creep... all regulated with the slightest touch of toe and hand. Insofar as the driver is concerned, it's just as easy as the open road—a little slower, of course, but just as calm and relaxing.
And maybe a little bit more, in one notable respect—for how there are drivers all about him—stealing glances at his beautiful car, and wondering who's the fortunate person whose name is on the title!
What a car—for highway or street! Owners say the hours behind its wheel are among the finest hours of the day—restful, relaxing and inspiring.
If you haven't as yet driven a 1954 Cadillac—you've been missing something wonderful! Better come in soon—for the most revealing hour you ever spent behind the wheel of a motor car.

Cattle

According to USDA estimates, numbers of all cattle and calves on farms and ranches in the U.S. on January 1, 1954 was 1,040,000 head larger than a year earlier—an increase of 1%, from 93,637,000 to 94,677,000 head. In Nebraska, estimates indicate that cattle numbers decreased by 254,000 head—a decrease of 5%, from 4,992,000 to 4,752,000 head.

Dairying

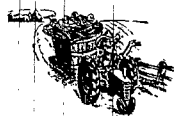

Cows and heifers 2 years old and older kept for milk on farms in the U.S. increased by 641,000 head the past year—up 3%, from 24,094,000 to 24,735,000 head. In Nebraska the increase was 5,000 head—up 1%, from 450,000 to 455,000 head. And the number of heifers and heifer calves kept for milk cows in the US increased by 202,000 head and in Nebraska the increase was 9,000 head.

Hogs

Hogs and pigs on farms in the U.S. decreased by 6,115,000 head—down 11%, from 54,294,000 to 48,179,000 head. In Nebraska the decrease was 264,000 head—also a 11% drop, from 2,397,000 to 2,133,000 head. Farmers have indicated that they intend to increase their 1954 spring farrowings by 6%.

Poultry

All chickens on farms in the U.S. up 9,540,000—up 2%, from 429,731,000 to 439,271,000. In Nebraska, numbers up 593,000—up 5% from 11,759,000 to 12,352,000.

Ease The Squeeze with Nitrogen!

Net farm income for many Nebraska farmers will be drastically lower in 1954 than it has been for the past several years unless farmers make some important changes in their farming methods.

Farmers are facing three income reducing situations over which they individually have no control. They are: (1) Lower farm prices, (2) higher farm costs and (3) production controls. But because farmers have no control over them, they must make certain adjustments or suffer a reduction in net income.

Farmers have been adjusting to lower farm prices and high farm costs the past two years. Adjusting to acreage controls on wheat and corn is the new problem facing farmers in 1954. Production controls have not been in effect since before the Korean outbreak. The first decision that has to be made in adjusting to acreage allotments is whether to comply or not to comply. The decision concerning compliance with wheat acreage allotments was, for the most part, made at seeding time. For corn, the decision is yet to be made.

To be eligible to seal corn and to receive the 90% parity price, a farmer must comply with his corn acreage allotment. If he does not comply, he will not be eligible for the support price. No other penalty is involved for overplanting.

A farmer who plans to feed all or almost all of his corn to livestock may have very little incentive to comply with his acreage allotments. For him a reduction in acreage may reduce his corn production below his feeding needs. But a farmer who sells corn should seriously consider compliance, particularly if he suspects that the price of corn on the open market will be considerably below the price support level.

Farmers who decide to comply with their corn acreage allotment will be seeking ways of adjusting to the consequent reduction in income that would follow from the reduced crop of corn.

There is a growing interest in the use of nitrogen fertilizer on corn and oats in Nebraska. Commercial fertilizer experiments of the University of Nebraska show that the use of nitrogen fertilizer on corn may be very profitable. Many farmers will find that the economic use of fertilizer will be one of the important ways in which they may adjust their farming methods in an effort to ease the squeeze on farm profits in 1954.

The amount and kind of fertilizers which will produce an increased return that is of greater value than the cost of the fertilizer will depend upon the soil type of each field, past soil management, crop rotation, crop or crops immediately preceding the 1954 crop of corn, weather conditions, insects, diseases, etc. Because of the very wide range of corn yields in response to the use of commercial fertilizer, farmers should be fairly certain that fertilizer will increase their yields sufficiently to pay for the cost of the fertilizer.

Soil samples should be sent through the local county agricultural extension agent to the University of Nebraska soils testing laboratory for testing. From this analysis the University will indicate what plant foods are needed and make recommendations based upon that type soil. Soils may be deficient in either phosphate, potash, or lime as well as nitrogen or they may be deficient in all four nutrients or any combination of them.

Records from the University's Outstate Testing plots show that higher corn yields may be obtained from the use of only nitrogen or from the use of only phosphate. Other records and different types of soil show that high yields cannot be achieved by applying nitrogen or phosphate alone, but that both nitrogen and phosphate must be applied.

Some of these Outstate tests show a range from 2 to 44 bushels increase in corn yields from applying 40 pounds of available nitrogen (40-lb. N) and from 8 to 67 bushels increase from applying 80 pounds available nitrogen (80-lb. N). The change in yield between 40-lb. N and 80-lb. N ranged between a reduction of 7 bushels to an increase of 26 bushels—See Table I.

Table I—Outstate Testing Plot Yields With and Without Nitrogen Fertilizer with Comparisons*

Plots	Bushels Per Acre			Increased Bushels As Result Of:
	None	40N	80N	1st 40N	2nd 40N	80N
1)	37	78	104	41	26	67
2)	40	84	95	44	11	55
3)	50	62	72	12	10	22
4)	62	64	70	2	6	8
5)	94	118	111	24	-7	17
6)	104	118	116	14	-2	12
7)	106	117	127	11	10	21
8)	115	128	131	13	3	16

*Location of plots: 1) Nuckolls, 2) Sarpy, 3) Merrick, 4) Dixon, 5) Nemaha, 6) Burt, 7) Sarpy, 8) Burt—plots 1) and 3) irrigated, others dry-land.

Table I indicates that the increased yield from the application of 40-lb. N to Plot 4 did not pay because the increased yield was only 2 bushels. This fertilizer application did not pay because the value of two bushels is $2.60—corn at $1.30 per bu., while the cost of the 40-lb. N is $8.06—33% ammonium nitrate at $100 per ton. Increased yields of all the other plots were sufficient to more than pay for the 1st 40-lb. N.

Yields would have to increase by at least 5 bushels in order to pay for each 40-lb. N per acre at the above cost-price relationship. The above table shows that the yields in plots 5), 6), and 8), did not increase sufficiently to pay for the 2nd 40-lb. N. Actually, yields in plots 5) and 6), showed a decrease when the 2nd 40-lb. N was applied.

Table II—Value of Increased Yields, Cost of N and Returns Above Cost of N When Applying 40-lb. N and 80-lb. N (Corn—$1.30 per bu. and 33% Ammonium Nitrate—$100 per ton.)

Value added by 1st 40N	Cost of 1st 40N	Returns of N above cost	Value added or cost by 2nd 40N
			Value added by 2nd 40N	Cost of 2nd 40N	Returns of N above cost
(1)	(2)	(3)	(4)	(5)	(6)
$53.30	$6.06	$47.24	$33.80	$6.06	$27.74
57.40	6.06	51.34	14.30	6.06	8.24
15.60	6.06	9.54	13.00	6.06	6.94
2.90	6.06	-3.16	7.80	6.06	1.74
31.20	6.06	25.14	-9.10	6.06	-15.16
18.20	6.06	12.14	-2.60	6.06	-8.66
11.30	6.06	5.24	13.00	6.06	6.94
16.90	6.06	10.84	3.90	6.06	-2.16

Table II (Column 3) shows that in all cases but one (Plot 4), the increased yield from applying only 40-lb. N more than paid for the cost of the N. The increased return over the cost of N ranged from $8.24 to $51.14 per acre. The returns from applying the 2nd 40-lb. N (Column 6) were all lower than the returns from the 1st 40-lb. N excepting Plot 4 which showed a return of $1.74 above the cost of N.

The question that now arises is: According to the plots shown in Tables I and II, what is the most economical level of N fertilization? According to Table II, the greatest return per acre would be achieved by applying 80-lb. N to Plots 1), 2), 3), 7) and 8). But on Plots 5) and 6) the greatest return per acre would be from the application of only 40-lb. N. And on plot 4) even 40N is not profitable—the increased yield is not sufficient to pay for the 40N.

Even though the higher return per acre on plots 1), 2), 3), 7), and 8) was from an application of 80-lb. N, it may be that some farmers should apply only 40-lb. N instead of 80-lb. N.

Table III—Percent Return Above Cost of N From the Application of 1st 40-lb. N and from 2nd 40-lb. N.

	Percent Return from
	1st 40-lb. N	2nd 40-lb. N
1)	780	458
2)	844	136
3)	157	115
4)	loss	29
5)	415	loss
6)	200	loss
7)	136	115
8)	179	36

Careful study of Table III shows that the rate of response is greater from 40-lb. N than from 80-lb. N. Farmers who have only a limited amount of money to spend for fertilizers—that is, those who are unable to put 80-lb. N on all their 1954 crop land will strive to spend their dollars in such ways that each dollar spent will earn the greatest return.

These farmers should put some fertilizer on all their corn acreage and not 80-lb. N, as in our example, on only a few acres. If, however, money is no problem, then they should apply at least 80-lb. N per acre or perhaps more than 80-lb. N, so long as the cost of N is less than the value of the increased production. Under all circumstances, 80-lb. N is too much for plots 5) and 6).

On certain types of soil, farmers will find that the application of 40-lb. N to oats will double yields. In addition, many farmers will find that phosphate added along with nitrogen will give profitable returns. On irrigated lands, the profitable rate of N may be considerably higher than the above examples show. The response of each crop to different kinds and amounts of fertilizer depends primarily upon the soil type, preceding crops and weather conditions.

CATTLE FEEDING PICTURE

The number of cattle on feed in Nebraska at 607,000 head on January 1, 1954, though 17% below the number on January 1, 1953, was the second largest on record. In-shippments of stocker and feeder cattle into Nebraska during the last quarter of 1953 were less than a year earlier. Feeding is more in the hands of experienced feeders than it was last year, yet even some of the commercial feed lots were not filled to capacity on January 1. Feed supplies in Nebraska appear to be ample.

In the Cornbelt states, where 76% of the feeder cattle are found, the number of cattle on feed on January 1 this year was 10% less than a year earlier. The decrease was 12% in the western Cornbelt and 2% in the eastern Cornbelt. For the same period the decrease was 8% in the 13 western states and 9% for the United States as a whole. California, the leading western feeding state, showed an increase of 7%; Colorado showed a decrease of 17%, and Texas, a decrease of 13%.

Greater Proportion of Light Weight Cattle

There is a larger percentage of lightweight cattle on feed this year than there was last year. This is particularly true in the Cornbelt states of Iowa, Illinois and Nebraska. Cornbelt feeders indicate that they intend to market cattle at a slower rate than last year. Marketings of fat cattle are also expected to be somewhat less than last year in the late spring and summer, according to cattle feeders' plans as of January 1, this year.

The seasonal price decline may begin later than usual this year—perhaps in the spring. Important to cattle feeders is the fact that stocks of meat in cold storage are smaller than a year ago; that fewer lambs are on feed and hog slaughter will probably decline. However, the decline in meat output will be temporary. The year's total production will again be high in 1954. Though a little below 1953, it will be larger than in any other recent year.

Beef output is expected to be large, though somewhat less than in 1953. Prices of beef cattle for the year 1954 as a whole may show a modest improvement over 1953, assuming continued high consumer demand for meat and no marked liquidation of the herds. The price spread between top and low grades of cattle, now quite wide, may narrow somewhat in late winter or early spring because of increased demand for stock cattle to go on grass and seasonal decline in prices of fed cattle.

Feed Supplies Ample

The total supply of feed grains and concentrates for the 1953-54 season is estimated at 170.5 million tons. This is a little larger than last year and the third largest on record. Since utilization of feed concentrates is not expected to differ much from the previous year, the carry-over at the end of 1953-54 season will show some increase compared with 1952-53.

The total supply of by-product feeds is expected to be somewhat less than in the past two years. Soybean meal shows the greatest reduction, 10% smaller than last year.

Prices of feed grains show some increase since last fall, but cattle prices have also increased. The beef-steer-corn feeding ratio last November was approximately the same as the average for 1932-51. Trends in prices of cattle and prices of corn since then indicate that the ratio is at least as favorable now as it was last November.

ECONOMIC SITUATION

With the tapering off in economic activity in recent months, employment was cut back, particularly in the manufacturing industries. Unemployment rose rapidly in the last quarter of 1953. It reached a high of 3.7 million in February, 1954. The average weekly wage in all manufacturing was $70.92 in January 1954 compared to $71.96 in December, 1953—down $1.04.

The new proposed federal budget for fiscal year 1954-55 schedules expenditure at $65.6

billions—compared to 70.9 billions for the 1953-54 fiscal year. Even though the total budget is smaller a larger proportion is to be spent on defense and past war obligations.

About 87 cents of every dollar to be spent for war or defense—present, past and future as compared to 83 cents last year. The anticipated deficit will be $2.9 billions compared with the $3.3 billion estimated for fiscal year 1953-'54 and $9.4 billions in fiscal 1952-'53.

How smart can machines be?

Back in the twenties there was a stage play about mechanical men, who repaid their creators by trying to wreck civilization. "Robots" have made people uneasy ever since.

How smart can a machine be? At General Electric we're beginning to find out. For some years now we've been working with machines that come startlingly close to thinking like men.

Can they outsmart men? Just the opposite: they make men even smarter by taking over routine mental chores and freeing men for the creative thinking only human minds can encompass.

A jet engine used to be designed by trial and error. You had to build it first, or a costly model, to find out how it would work. Now, an electronic computer helps solve long and complex jet development problems in advance. In 15 minutes it goes through 8 million mathematical calculations and comes up with an answer that would take a mathematician 7 years.

In management, "hunch" is giving way to fact. Electronic data-processing machines zip through head-spinning statistics on market changes, product design and income trends to come up with the answers General Electric managers need to make sound decisions, not hopeful guesses.

Their ability to digest tons of data in a hurry may one day help the farmer by making weather predictions more accurate. They may shed new light on the reasons for boom and bust.

Machines that can read, write, do arithmetic, measure, feel, remember, now take the load off men's minds, just as machines have eased the burden on our backs.

But these fantastic machines still depend on people to design and build and guide and use them. What they replace is drudgery—not people.

Don't worry; smart though they are, machines will never be as smart as people. Not while people are smart enough to think them up, smart enough to let them do a man's drudging work.

Progress is our most important product

than ANY OTHER Seed Corn

In 1953
5038 Farmers
averaged 101.16 bu. of DeKalb
per Acre.

This year—because of acreage restrictions—RESULTS will count most. Every acre must produce MORE. The BEST GUIDE in choosing your seed, is to plant the Corn that is PERFORMANCE PROVED.

Last year, in DeKalb's Selected 5-Acre Corn Growing Contest, 5038 farmers averaged 101.16 bushels of DEKALB per acre. In 15 years of the Contest, 52,306 farmers have averaged 99.04 bushels per acre. These yields were made right on the farmers' own land—under many different soils and weather. They offer conclusive evidence of DEKALB's yielding ability—its outstanding adaptability—its year in and year out Dependability.

This Spring—every Spring—make sure of the seed you plant. Plant DEKALB.

In 15 years

FOUR LEADING AUTO EDITORS GO OVERBOARD FOR NEW MERCURY!

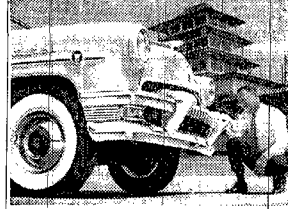

New 161-horsepower Mercury with ball-joint front wheel suspension gets top marks for performance, efficiency, economy and handling ease

"HOT AS STRAIGHT
TABASCO ON-THE-ROCKS"
Tom McCahill MECHANIX ILLUSTRATED

"The place where Mercury really shines this year, aside from its speed-over-the-ground performance, is in its handling and roadability . . . and what a difference ball-joint suspension makes!"

"The guy who buys a '54 Merc will be getting a really new car, not a warmed-over old one. Some of Merc's competitors are . . . overdue for a change. When these changes come, the buyer of these competitors will be as out-of-date as an Indian-head penny."

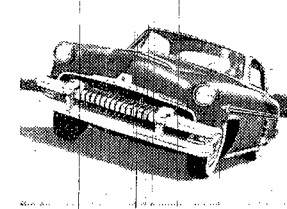

"161-HP PUSH, BUT DRINKS
NO MORE GAS THAN BEFORE"
Wilbur Shaw POPULAR SCIENCE MONTHLY

Read these quotes from Wilbur Shaw, President of the Indianapolis Speedway.

"Three years ago a Mercury engineer told us that the merit in his department would never be satisfied until they designed an engine that ate up a lot less of its own power. Well, they've done it!"

"When I drove the car on the test track in Dearborn, Mich., and again on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, I was struck by the smoothness of the power pick-up as the accelerator went down."

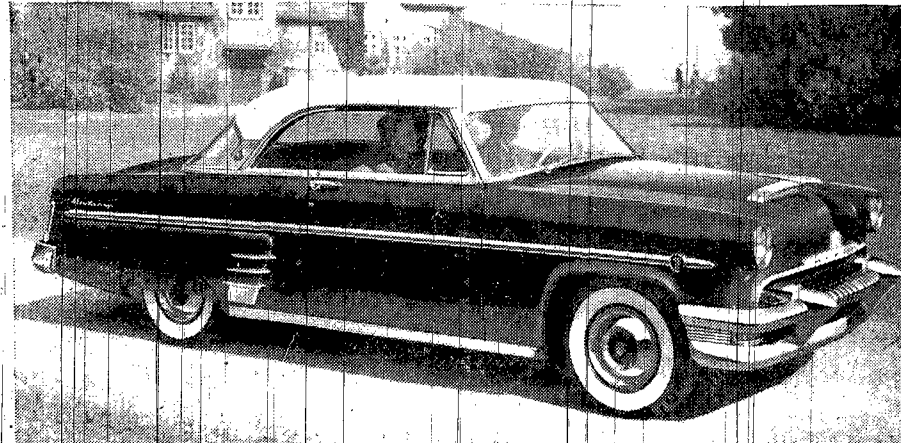

"THIS CAR IS A KNOCKOUT!
... AND REAL EASY TO DRIVE!"
Walt Woran—Don MacDonald MOTOR TREND

"You'll like the 1954 Mercury, if you like power that'll make you sit back in your seat when you stomp the throttle.

"If there is no other reason for the increase in horsepower (now, 161) the added acceleration for passing is enough."

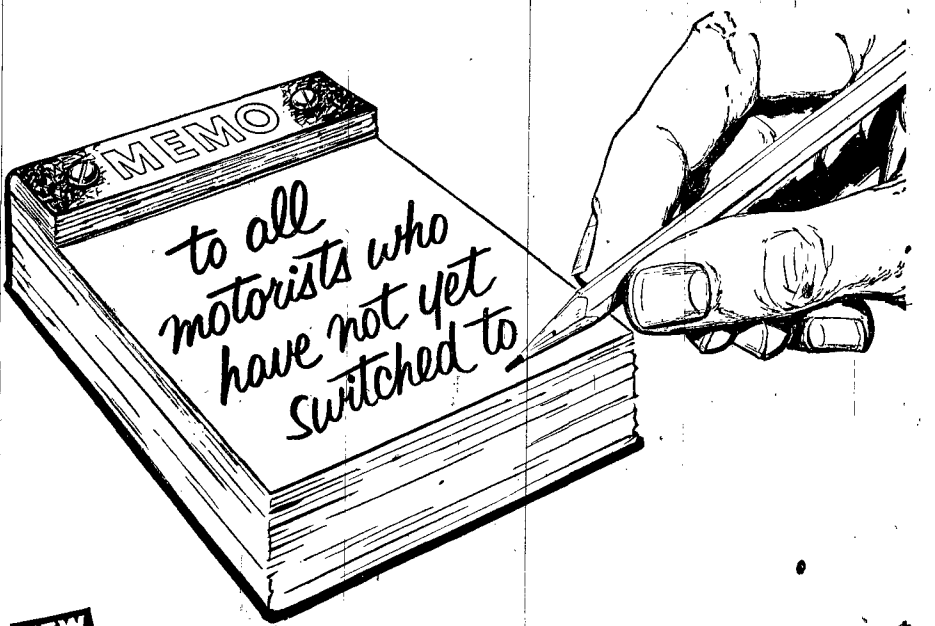

"Lincoln-type ball-and-socket joints on Mercury's front wheels eliminate familiar kingpin, reduce front-end vibration, and cut the number of forward grease fittings from 16 to four."

Don't miss the big television hit, "TOAST OF THE TOWN" with Ed Sullivan, Sunday-evening, 7:00 to 8:00, Station KVTU, Channel 9.

Lost—One Vote
Monday a councilman was chosen by lot in Wayne because one person did not vote!

If only one more person had voted for either candidate, the lottery would have been unnecessary and his candidate would have won.

How important that one vote would have been! Yet each election we hear the same old refrain, "Oh, I won't vote. My vote won't make a difference."

There is little reason for anyone not voting. If he is able to get to the polls, he can vote. If he is ill or must be out of town, an absentee voter's ballot is available to him.

Yet here in our town is an instance in which one vote would have made the difference.

WITH THE EASTER SEASON, WE GIVE OUR thoughts to spiritual matters. The world really is confused as it seems? What do some of the great spiritual leaders offer us in the way of guidance? A wealth of encouragement awaits us in their writings. You can find these riches for yourself... for the asking... at your public library. "Light from Many Lamps" is the title of one of these books of inspiration edited by Lillian Watson. Opening the book at random to find a quotation to use in this column my eye fell upon what seemed to be a personal message. Channing Pollock wrote, "None of us knows what is ahead. The important thing is to use today wisely and well, and face tomorrow eagerly and cheerfully and with the certainty that we shall be equal to what it brings." Maybe if you would pick up the book another wise saying would impress you as having been written especially to comfort you. Why don't you try it?

THERE IS AN OLD AND WELL WORN JOKE about the ancient reading matter usually found in a doctor's waiting room. After spending some time there, for one reason or another, this winter an idea was born. We took five books to each doctor's office, three for children and two for adults and they will be exchanged once a month. They are simply loaned as a courtesy of the Wayne Public Library and we hope it makes the waiting a little easier to bear. The doctors do their best with magazines, but they do take a terrible beating and maybe our books will too but that is what we have them for... to be read. We hope you don't have to go to see the doctor, but if you do, look for the books loaned by the library. There is a little card inside each book inviting you to come to the library and see what other books we have there.

THE BOOK-OF-THE-MONTH CAME THIS WEEK and it is "Bhowani Junction" by John Masters. He wrote "Night-runners of Bengal" in 1951 and it was a best seller. Having spent 14 years of duty with the Indian Army and being a native of Calcutta, his writing about India is very authentic. This new book is a dramatic story of Indians and British, torn and twisted by desperate conflicts, race, religion and personality. Our dividend from the Book-of-the-Month Club was "The Faulkner Reader." This author, you may remember, was awarded the 1950 Nobel prize for literature.

How to Certify Seed
There are certain requirements which must be met by a seed grower to produce a crop of Certified seed.

Some of these requirements are:
1. The field must be planted with Certified seed that is eligible for recertification.

2. The field must be free of noxious weeds or the weeds must be under control to eliminate any possibility of the weed seed becoming mixed with the crop seed.

3. An application for field inspection for seed certification must be filed with the Nebraska Crop Improvement association, College of Agriculture, Lincoln, in accordance with the following schedule:

Wheat, rye, oats, barley, sweet clover, first crop alfalfa, broom grass by May 20.
Hybrid corn by June 20.
Red clover, second crop alfalfa by July 20.

Soybeans, sorghums, sudan grass, lespedeza and third crop alfalfa by Aug. 1.

Adequate field isolation must be provided to prevent cross-pollination. Application blanks and additional information may be secured from local county agricultural agents or by writing to the Nebraska Crop Improvement association.

Seed certification of field crops is carried out by the Nebraska Crop Improvement association as designated by Nebraska state law. All fields producing certified seed must meet rigid field inspection requirements before harvest and the seed after harvest must pass complete laboratory analysis requirements, including purity and germination tests.

The purpose of seed certification is to provide a means for increasing and maintaining adequate seed supplies of recommended varieties.

New strength and stamina! Lower upkeep costs!

New Chevrolet Trucks... do more work per day... more work per dollar!

You save hours on the road. Thanks to new high-compression power, you can maintain faster schedules without driving at higher maximum speeds. Increased acceleration and hill-climbing ability let you save time where it counts.

You save time on deliveries. With new truck Hydra-Matic transmission, you save time at every delivery stop. And you can't forget about clutching and shifting for good! It's optional at extra cost on 1/2-, 3/4- and 1-ton Chevrolet trucks.

You save extra trips. That's because of the extra load space you get in the new Advance-Design body. New pickup bodies are deeper, new stake and platform bodies are wider and longer. Also they're set lower for easier loading.

You save with lower upkeep, too. Extra chassis strength saves you money on maintenance. There are heavier axle shafts in two-ton models... bigger clutches in light and heavy-duty models... stronger frames in all models.

You save on operating costs. New power saves you money every mile! The "Thrifmaster 235" engine, the "Loadmaster 235" and the "Jobmaster 261" (optional on 2-ton models at extra cost) deliver increased operating economy.

And your savings start the day you buy. In fact, they start with the low price you pay, and continue over the miles. Chevrolet is America's lowest-priced line of trucks. It's also the truck that has a traditionally higher trade-in value.
