Rites Held Monday for Local Man Burned in Friday Wreck

First County Traffic Death For 1954

Funeral services for Marvin F. Harms, 25, Wayne body shop owner, were held Monday afternoon at St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Harms burned to death late Friday night in an auto accident 7 1/2 miles south of Wayne. He was returning to Wayne about 10:30 p. m. when his car struck a steer on the highway.

The car left the road and rolled over on its top in the ditch.

Burdette Hansen, Wisner, returning to his home from Wayne, tried to warn Harms of the steer by blinking his lights but failed. After passing Harms, Hansen looked back and saw the accident.

Hansen rushed to the accident scene arriving about the same time as Benny Ulrich, Wayne, and George Sedlack, Wahoo, Wayne State student. They were unable to release Harms as his arm was pinned in the wreck. Flames had already burst far around the motor.

Ulrich and Sedlack tried to extinguish the flames with a small fire extinguisher but were unable to halt the blaze. They then tried to turn the wreck over with Ulrich's car. This also failed.

Hansen went to the Art Pollard farm and called Patrolmen Clarence Mayhew and LeRoy Hottel, Wayne, and Lawrence Beck, enroute ambulance.

Hoskins, Allen Roads To Get Surfacing

Parts of two roads in Northeast Nebraska will benefit from the $4 million "bonus" road resurfacing program recently announced by Gov. Robert Crosby.

Seven miles of the Hoskins-Norfolk road will receive bituminous surfacing, as will 7.9 miles of the road north and south of Allen.

The "bonus" resulted from contractors' bids being lower than anticipated and lower maintenance costs due to favorable weather. Total savings to the state were about $2 million. This, matched with a like amount of Federal funds, makes $4 million for road improvement in Nebraska.

East Park Possibility Ruled Out

Where should the swimming pool be located?

That's the big problem facing members of the city council and Engineer Jim Thorburn, Norfolk. Ten possible sites for the pool have been inspected by Thorburn and city officials.

Three of the 10 sites have been ruled out because water is too close to the surface. They are East park and the skating pond area. The same is true for the area housing the Girl Scout cabin.

Suggestions by local citizens as to proper location for the pool are being welcomed by the council and Thorburn. Several tracts on the edges of town have been examined and ruled out because of lack of water and sewer facilities. Others were voided because they are outside the corporate limits of the city, a requirement specified in the bond issue.

Housing Addition Hits Legal Snag; Will Continue

Development of a new housing subdivision in Wayne by a Wahoo firm ran into a legal snag this week. Bennett B. Viken, Wahoo, one of the Wahoo builders, is now seeking to have the tract on East Tenth street removed from a rural fire district.

A step must be taken before the subdivision can be annexed to the city. A survey has already been made of the area to check installation possibilities for water, sewer and electrical facilities.

The request to leave the fire district must be signed by 60 percent of the owners in six sections of the district. Representatives of the Wahoo firm are now at work on getting the request signed.

A sketch of the proposed subdivision has been given to city officials. It shows 30 lots and a large playground area in the 915 by 95-foot tract.

Viken said minimum size for a home in the addition would be 850 square feet. He also said interested persons could purchase lots and delay building for a year.

If the subdivision is released from the fire district, Viken must then apply to the city council for annexation to the city. Sewer and paving districts could then be established.

Viken hopes to be able to start construction on homes sometime in June.

Those Trite Phrases

On occasion, as we mull through a maze of information which crosses our desk, we get to reading meanings of our own into trite, news scraps.

You have probably read millions. And we'll bet you have wondered what was actually meant. We know we have. And for your amusement we herewith publish some of the more well known ones, with our translations. We'd love to see yours!

Here goes:

... expects to leave for Europe at some future date." (Right now he's having trouble underwriting the cost of the tickets.)

... was in Jonesville on business." (Came up to collect the rent.)

... will be married in the near future." (He's taking a pretty dim view of the $2,000 they'll spend for furniture.)

... after a study the committee will ... (Maybe we can put this off until the next gang is elected.)

... a delicious lunch was served." (Ham sandwiches again.)

... results will await further study." (We are trying to figure this thing out.)

... this community was rocked by the news of ... (They asked about it at the town pump.)

... a source close to the official board ... (The janitor overheard.)

... the request was tabled ... (Let's all go out and get a beer.)

... it is apparent ... (The office girl thinks so.)

... it was brought to the attention of the editor ... (He heard about it through his wife who knows a woman who has a friend who worked in a plant which employs a driver that had it told to him on his route.)

... a full financial report will follow ... (We're trying to discover what became of the money.)

... a check of the records reveals ... (The reporter was killing time at the courthouse.)

... a short, brief meeting ... (Everybody wanted to go home early.)

In Bookland

by Mrs. F. A. Milder
City Librarian

BEFORE I LEFT ON MY WESTERN TRIP visiting libraries, I thought I would give my reactions in this column upon my return. I find my mind so full of things that one short column would hardly suffice. But, the outstanding impression I received was that the people in western Nebraska are friendly, receptive to new ideas and their hospitality is fabulous. I saw some sad, small libraries, if you could dignify them with that title. On the other hand I saw some libraries, miles away from what we like to term civilization, that were attractive and filled with the latest books. Where the people come from who read them seems a mystery but come they do and we know there is lots of space for people out on those plains and rolling hills. The luncheons, teas and dinner parties given for us were as perfectly appointed as any given in city society, though the view from the picture window of those lovely homes might be a vista of bare hills dotted with hundreds of cattle just off the range with their calves. Certainly I returned from my tour of western libraries with a better understanding of their problems and a profound admiration for the people who are still pioneering out there for books and libraries in their communities.

WITHOUT THE COOPERATION OF THE COLLEGE library staff this western trip would not have been possible. Our assistant librarian, Mrs. Catherine Shell, had been called out to Montana on business and we were left short-handed. When President Rice heard of our plight, through Miss Crouch, he made his staff available which was certainly a friendly gesture toward the town. Eleanor Volk of their staff worked part of each afternoon at our library so we could be open and on Saturday Mrs. Janice Johnson, Wakefield, helped the girls who are permanent members of our own staff. So the library board, the Nebraska association and the town of Wayne is grateful to the college. My own personal thanks go to them also.

SOME NEW BOOKS CAME IN LAST WEEK while I was gone and we will have them ready by the time this goes to press. There is the new Book-of-the-Month selection, "Of Whales and Men" by R. R. Robertson, all about a modern Antarctic whaling expedition. "The Beckoning Hill" by James Wood is another new novel on the rental shelf. You will find it interesting and first rate American fiction. Then there is E. B. White's book, "The Second Tree From the Corner," the wit, wisdom and humor of this distinguished writer, a collection of stories, poems, sketches, parodies, essays and comments, covering the past, present and future of our country.

all that it means in general opportunity and well-being except for a continuing program of research.

"From the very beginning of organized agricultural research, it was recognized here and in other colleges that some way must be found to carry experimental results to the people on the land. To do this job the Agricultural Extension service was created in 1914, following passage of the Smith-Lever act by Congress.

"Extension service disseminates the results of research, demonstrates better farm and home practices and encourages a more abundant farm and home life. It is the branch of the college best known to farm people because most of its staff members are located in the counties. It is a three-way cooperative service between the counties, the state and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"The Extension program in each county is planned and carried through under the direction of the County Extension board, a board elected by the people. The great strength of the program lies in close teamwork between local, state and federal agencies.

"The job of the Agricultural Extension service is to extend the benefits of the college of agriculture and the U. S. Department of Agriculture to all the people of Nebraska. Applied research in agriculture and home economics is of value only when its results are put into practice on the land or in the home.

"To reach people throughout the state Extension service uses demonstrations, exhibits, farm and home visits and bulletins that cover nearly every agricultural topic. Newspapers and radio stations give valuable help in disseminating information. Extension service is now cooperating in providing television programs for five stations in Nebraska.

"Much extension work is done through organized groups such as

4-H clubs, home extension clubs, crop and livestock associations, soil conservation districts, wood districts and in cooperation with service and civic organizations."

Letters to The Editor

Wayne Herald
Wayne, Nebr.

I understand that you have turned a check for $100 over to the Wayne county 4-H building fund as a result of your winning the agricultural service award sponsored by the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben. Certainly the Wayne Herald is to be congratulated on this civic move and the $100 will certainly help to get the 4-H building started there.

And congratulations on winning this fine award. Certainly the Wayne Herald does an excellent job of agricultural coverage.

only Plymouth dares compare!

now... part-by-part proof that Plymouth is America's "best-buy" low-price car!

No other low-price car would dare make a comparison like this: Plymouth engineers actually dismantled the three best-known low-price cars and compared them, part by part! Their findings, a few of which we've listed below, prove conclusively that Plymouth is far-and-away your "best buy" in the lowest-price field.

Here's just some of the overwhelming proof that Plymouth is "best buy"!

Comfort Level Seating

Both front and rear Plymouth seats are highest. Plymouth research found this more natural seating position gives greater posture protection and comfort.

Front Wheel Brakes

Plymouth engineers provide two hydraulic brake cylinders in each front wheel to ensure smooth, straight-line stops without "grabbing." The "other two" have only one brake cylinder in each front wheel.

Spark Plugs

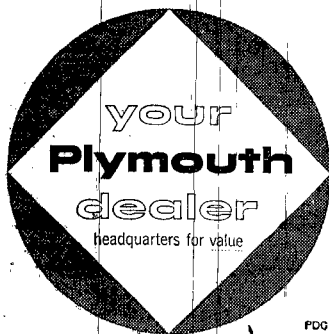

Because they last up to five times longer before re-setting is necessary, Plymouth uses resistor-type spark plugs. This type plug also produces smoother idling, better gas economy at low speeds.

Oil Bath Air Cleaner

An oil bath air cleaner can reduce engine wear as much as 90%. This unit is standard equipment on all Plymouth models. It is available only at extra cost on the other two low-price cars.

And dozens of other part-by-part comparisons prove Plymouth is your "best buy"! See us today . . . and get the facts!

Ask us for the big illustrated booklet that shows how Plymouth leads in frame construction, engine design, performance, economy, comfort, safety.

THE HOME OF "THE CONE WITH THE CURL ON TOP"

A tribute to free enterprise

...your own local DAIRY QUEEN store

WHAT IS DAIRY QUEEN?

Dairy Queen is a simple, wholesome dairy-food. As served to you, it is a concentration of all the precious minerals, proteins and vitamins of whole milk... pasteurized and homogenized. It is frozen (or better said, semi-frozen), in a unique and special Dairy Queen continuous freezer that gives to Dairy Queen its marvelous texture... and permits its delivery to you fresh from the spigot when flavor is at its fullest. Nothing is added except for DQ delicious flavor and a small amount of inert stabilizer.

A TREAT FOR TASTE... A FOOD FOR HEALTH

The dish of your choice at your local Dairy Queen store... be it a flavorful sundae, a frozen or fresh fruit special, an incomparable malted milk or milk shake or a simple cone... will bring you a rare treat for taste. Every delicious morsel of the DQ you enjoy is a fundamental food for your health... rich in natural milk minerals, proteins and vitamins. It is a concentrated portion of nature's most nearly perfect food, milk. You can eat it and enjoy it... all you want of it... both for taste and for health.

Nowhere, except in this land where enterprise is free, could the energy of individual initiative have built the growing nation-wide industry which Dairy Queen now leads and represents. Marketing under a single trademark, more than 2,000 local small businessmen and women have raised a new soft-frozen dairy-food to the status of a national institution. It could have happened only here!

From a few scattered stores at the close of World War II, the Dairy Queen network of local small businesses has spread... until today in nearly 40% of all incorporated cities and towns above 2500 population, one or more friendly Dairy Queen signs now welcome both young and old... to enjoy a new, delicious, healthful, refreshing dairy-food.

This achievement... the result of unfettered individual initiative... stands as monumental testimony in support of the principles of free enterprise which our democracy cherishes.

Dairy Queen... made up of small business... has now paradoxically become big business. Last year the small businessmen and women who comprise this ever-growing institution realized sales of more than $50,000,000. In facilities for serving their public, they have invested over $35,000,000.

Their product? The nation at large in 1953 consumed approximately one pint for every man, woman and child. In many areas this consumption reached a total of two and more gallons per family... and this public preference continues to grow as Dairy Queen expansion goes on.

Here... in Dairy Queen success... is evidence of triumph for our creed of freedom. Under free enterprise, a new industry has been born and a new delicious form of nature's most fundamental food... milk... now is making a vital contribution to more healthful life for each of us.

Many "IFS" In Cattle Feeding In '54

Cattle feeding is likely to offer about the same possibilities for profits during the rest of the year as at the present time. However, cattle feeders need to do some close figuring. Those who have been wintering calves or yearlings on roughage have to decide whether to put them in drylot immediately, or whether to put them on grass and defer the drylot period. They may even consider the possibility of selling the feeders and corn they have on hand, or feeding the corn to hogs. Other farmers are trying to decide whether or not to buy some additional feeders to use in marketing pasture and grain.

Cattle Numbers Up

Cattle numbers in the U.S. were up a million head on January 1, 1954, over January 1, 1953. On the other hand, in the Corn Belt the total number of cattle on feed on April 1 was down by 1% compared to 1953. On April 1, the number of cattle on feed for more than three months was down 14%.

However, the number on feed for less than three months was up 40% in the Corn Belt. It appears that marketing of slaughter cattle may be quite heavy later in the year. Altogether the total available supplies of beef in 1954 will be about equal to those of last year.

The demand for beef is very closely associated with the level of consumer's income. Thus the general trend of beef prices this year will probably be influenced heavily by the overall national level of employment. If unemployment grows, beef prices will suffer; on the other hand, if business moves upward, beef prices will respond favorably.

Usually feeder cattle prices rise during the late winter and early spring. This year, however, the seasonal rise apparently came earlier in the winter with a change toward more optimism by many producers. For example, feeder and stocker prices rose by over $2.00 at Kansas City from December to January.

Feeder prices will probably remain stable through the early spring, and then begin their seasonal decline.

Prices Stable Now

Slaughter cattle prices during the rest of the year could be quite stable. They will not decline this spring. Fed cattle have been moving to market earlier this year. However, several important factors may send prices down later in the season. Drought conditions this summer in any of the important cattle states would cause farmers to cut back their herds, with a depressing effect on cattle prices, particularly for the lower grades.

Furthermore, the larger spring pig crop, with large fall marketing, may have quite a depressing effect on cattle prices during the late fall and early winter. Finally, the large supplies of younger cattle which have recently been started on feed cannot be ignored.

Everything considered, it looks as though 1954 has many "ifs" for cattle feeders. The individual producer must consider at least three important factors in analyzing the profitability of feeding: (1) the cost of the feeders; (2) the selling price for finished animals; and (3) the cost of the feed.

The difference between purchase price of feeders and selling price of the original weight is known as margin. Of course, the heavier the weight of the feeder animal, and the shorter the feeding period, the more farmers have to depend on margin as a source of profits. It appears that many farmers will have to depend upon margin rather than gain as their source of profits this year. On April 27, good 500 to 800 lbs. feeder steers were $22.25 per cwt. On the same day, choice finished 800 to 1100 lbs. steers were bringing $26.25 per hundred.

These prices indicate a favorable margin now. However, this margin will probably decrease during the summer. Ordinarily, it would recover during the fall. It may not this year. Fairly early selling, say in late summer, may be safer this season.

The second source of profits from feeding is return over feed and other costs of the feeding operation while the animal is on the farm.

Producers need to recognize that gains on younger animals are cheaper; the older and larger the animal, the more feed per hundred pounds of gain. The amounts of feed, in corn equivalents, needed to put each additional 100 lbs. of weight on feeders of various ages are shown in the Table below.

The price of corn will continue below the support price if a large proportion of farmers do not participate in corn acreage allotments, as appears likely. Also, pasture-feeding programs enable the use of some quantity of cheaper feeds than corn.

The extent to which hay and pasture can be used to replace grain in the feeding ration will be extremely important in determining feeding profitability, particularly under the longer programs. Livestock feeders will need to use a sharp pencil in planning. They should keep their plans as flexible as possible keeping a close watch on prices and marketing trends as the season progresses.

Shall I Build More On-The-Farm Grain Storage??

What does it cost to store grain on the farm? This is a question that many farmers in Nebraska and the nation are asking themselves as the 1954 harvest season approaches. The seriousness of the problem depends upon the weather, but with average weather and average yields, the total supplies of grain and oil seeds crops will reach all-time records when the 1954 production is added to the carry-over from previous years. A shortage of space for 150 to 250 million bushels is expected for the country as a whole.

The Nebraska Situation

Total country and terminal elevator storage space amounts to about 90 million bushels. Much of this space is substantially full at the present time. Since the Commodity Credit Corporation now has under price support over 80 million bushels of 1953 grain, all the commercial space, if entirely empty, would barely be sufficient to provide all the storage for all the grain which the CCC might be obligated to take at maturity date on current loans. "Resealed" 1953 crops will occupy some of the existing farm storage space.

Nebraska is one of the most critical storage areas. The shortage is expected to be about 20 to 25 million bushels. This means that every cash grain farmer in Nebraska should NOW ask himself this question: "Am I absolutely sure that I have ample storage space for this year's crops?"

If you do not now have a definite commitment from your local elevator operator for your 1954 crops of grain, and if you do not now have adequate storage space on your farm you may want to consider the cost of building additional on-the-farm storage.

The construction cost of storage bins of 2,400 to 3,200 bushel capacity ranges between 29 and 68 cents per bushel depending on the type of structure and how much of the construction work is done by the farmer himself. The type of structure you choose should depend upon your particular needs... your needs in relation to other buildings you now have and whether you need storage as an emergency measure or as a permanent part of your farming operations.

The cost of storing grain on the farm includes some expenses which may easily be overlooked. In addition to the cost of construction, there are such expenses as interest, taxes (on both the building and the grain), insurance, extra handling and unmeasurable losses. In the table below are listed all the costs involved in storing grain in a 3,200 bushel bin that cost $1100 to build.

PLANTING INTENTIONS — According to farmer's March 1 planting intentions, there will be a considerable shift in the acreage of many crops planted in 1954 compared to 1953. In Nebraska corn down 7%, winter wheat (fall seeded) down 15%, spring wheat down 12%, oats no change, barley up 50%, sorghums up 75%, potatoes down 21%, beans, dry up 14%, soybeans (all purposes) up 55%, sugar beets up 11%, all hay (harvested) up 6%. In U.S. corn down 0.4%, winter wheat down 18%, spring wheat down 24%, oats up 7%, barley up 47%, sorghums up 28%, potatoes down 11%, beans, dry up 14%, soybeans (all) up 12%, sugar beets up 19%, all hay (harvested) up 3%. The indicated planting may change because farmer's had not received their corn acreage allotments at time of survey. The weather may also change them.

CATTLE — Numbers of cattle on feed in the 11 Corn Belt States on April 1 was down 1% from last year according to official USDA reports. For the nation as a whole down 2.3%. In Nebraska numbers down 3%. All decreases were in numbers on feed over 3 months—about 14%. The number on feed less than 3 months up about 40%.

CORN — The 1954 crop will be supported at 90% of parity in the commercial corn producing counties and at 75% in the non-commercial areas. The 1952 crop "reseed" date extended.

There is no one cost of grain storage that applies to every farmer and every situation. The first thing you will need to decide is whether you need additional storage, at all, and if so, will the new storage be a part of your regular farming operations or will it be only on a temporary basis? Second, you should be familiar with CCC requirements both as to the type of storage and the handling of the grain so that, if you wish, you can qualify for a grain loan or a purchase agreement.

You will also want to know what incentives the government offers you to encourage on-the-farm storage such as "reseed" provisions, loans on building construction, loans on drying equipment, five-year depreciation for income tax reporting purposes, etc. Such information as this can be obtained from the local office of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

The cost of commercial storage is based on the rate of 1 1/2 cents per bushel for the first seven months and one cent per bushel for the additional months. For wheat sold in April, nine months after storage, the elevator charge would be 12.5 cents per bushel. If commercial storage is available, compare its cost with the on-the-farm storage costs on your own farm.

There is a wide variety in size and type of buildings available. Consult your local dealer in building materials and prefabricated buildings for plans and estimates of costs. The Agricultural Extension Agent has plans for both remodeling old buildings and for new construction as well as other information to help you make your decision.

ECONOMIC SITUATION

Preliminary findings of the 1954 Survey of Consumer Finances show that increases in income were frequent in 1953 at all income levels but not at frequent as in 1952. Consumers generally expected prices either to remain stable or to decline during the year.

The Survey findings leave the impression that consumers were somewhat less confident about their personal financial prospects than they were a year ago. Consumers less frequently reported plans to purchase new houses, cars, and other durable goods than a year ago.

Plans of nonfarm consumers to spend for home improvements and maintenance appeared to be a little more numerous than last year but the average amount of planned expenditure was smaller.

There appeared to be some tendency for consumers to time their plans to buy more heavily in the latter part of the year than was the case a year ago. This tendency may indicate that consumer buying interest will be more active later in the year, or it may indicate that consumer plans are more tentative than in other recent years.

Wayne Batters Coloridge, 12-2 In Opening Tilt

Wayne opened its 1954 baseball season Sunday afternoon with a 12-2 victory over a ragged Coloridge club. The victory put Wayne in a tie for the lead of the NE Nebraska league's north division.

Errors were the big downfall for Coloridge. The visitors committed six miscues which allowed Wayne to score 12 runs on only seven hits. Gordon Zapp and Roger Higgins allowed Coloridge only seven hits.

Zapp showed good control in gaining the victory. He had 10 strikeouts and gave up only one walk. He allowed five hits in the six innings he pitched.

Irv Brandt and Higgins were the big stars of the plate for Wayne. Brandt got a single and home run in three official trips while Higgins added two singles in four trips. Bill Palmer scored five runs although he had only one official at bat. He drew four free tickets.

It Happened In NEBRASKA---

In 1862, the appearance of a "steam wagon" was far more a novelty than a sleek, new auto design is to us today. Though it made an attempt to better the speed of freighting by oxen, the new vehicle couldn't cope with the rutted, muddy trails. It broke down a few miles out of Nebraska City!

In 1954, our attitudes are as modern as the vehicles. Could old-timers have imagined our high regard today for the Nebraska tavern industry? All brought about by well-regulated methods of operation all over the state!
