Thanks . . .

To the workers, exhibitors and those who attended for making the Wayne County Fair a success again in 1954.

For many of those who worked at the fairgrounds or otherwise helped with the fair activities we want to express a special word of gratitude. You worked long, hard and well.

The exhibitors, both farm and commercial, are to be commended for doing their part to make the fair an outstanding attraction in this part of Nebraska.

And, of course, the patrons deserve a special thanks, too, for without their support in making the fair a financial success, it could not be the fine, continuing activity that it is.

AGAIN . . . THANKS,

Wayne County Fair Board

Dundy County

Dundy county, in the southwest corner of the state, was established in 1873, largely as a result of the settlement which pushed up the Republican valley in the early seventies. It was named in honor of United States Judge Elmer S. Dundy. For some years the county had no organization, but was attached to Hitchcock county for revenue, elective and judicial purposes. The history of the county is being chronicled serially in The Benkelman Post by C. L. Ketter under the title, "Down Thru the Years, or an Empire in the Making."

Aside from the trappers who wintered along the Republican and the Arickaree, the first white men in the county were cattlemen. A. T. Andreas' "History of Nebraska," published in 1882, has this to say of the early potentiality of the livestock industry:

"The principal industry of the county is stock-raising. Thousands of cattle and sheep find the very richest pasture on these prairies. The buffalo grass is very nutritious and cattle become exceedingly fat feeding upon it. During the winter hay or grain is seldom, if ever, fed. The dryness of the climate insures the curing of the grass upon the ground, without the loss of any of its nutritious qualities, and upon this cattle do well with no other food whatever. The winter is usually mild, with but little snow. Shelter is never provided for stock, for, in the spring, after one of these mild winters, they are in as good order as if put up and fed with hay all winter."

Commenting on this account in 1940, C. L. Ketter remarked: "The writer is reminded of how well it still applies to Dundy county in at least a few instances. Dundy is still a cattleman's paradise because of the native grasses that spread over its cultivated acres." He pointed out, however, that wheat, too, had come to play an important part in the county's economy, and in good years Dundy county stands near the upper third in Nebraska's wheat producing counties.

Benkelman, the county seat and principal town, was established at the forks of the Republican in January, 1880. Originally, the town was named Collinsville in honor of Moses Collins, one of the early settlers. When the Burlington railroad built through the county in 1882, however, it changed the name of the town to Benkelman, in honor of J. G. Benkelman, the largest cattle-shipper in the area.

By the 1890's the county was settled up rapidly by hopeful homesteaders who made an effort to farm the region. As Mr. Ketter wrote: "the population increase continued until the black years of 1894-95 when prairie shoooners carried people away faster than the railroad had brought them in. It is doubtful if there were more than a thousand people left in the entire county when crop years began to return."

In 1900, the census showed a population of 2,434. There was a steady increase to a high of 5,610 in 1930. Since then there has been a decline to 5,122 in 1940 and 4,354 in 1950.

13 Letterman Boost Wildcat Grid Hopes for 1954 Season

Higgins and Kellogg Lead Crew of 43

Coach Barney Lewellyn looked over a crew of 13 returning lettermen and 30 newcomers who turned out for the pre-season football drills at Wayne State last week and gave out with the customary "No comment."

With five more lettermen due to show up this week, however, and the added boost after school opening Monday, Barney will start his season with considerably more material in the way of experience and reserve strength than he had last year.

Included in the veterans from last year's NCC runner-up squad are All-Conference Roger Higgins, 225-lb. Wayne tackle; Don Kellogg, Norfolk, quarterback, and three-time letterwinners Jarrod Dennis, Los Angeles, and Pick Peterson, Elgin.

Two-year lettermen include Don Harris, Wahoo; Jim Kay, Pender; Jerry Mayes, North Platte; Ray Anderson, Wahoo; Larry Johnson, Laurel; and Dave Meyer, Wayne. Single lettermen are Dale Cooper, Albion; Mike Johnson, David City; Ken Rupp, Aurelia, Ia.; Carl Steffens, Spencer, Ia.; Jim Whitney, Hartington; Pete Kropp, Stanton; Gil O'Doherty, Brighton, Mich.; and Stan Hansen, Battle Creek.

Severest blow to this year's squad is the loss of tackles Tom Hillquist, Oakland, who is not returning to school, and John Osborne, Atkinson, who is in the service. Both men carried a major part of the line last year.

Reserves from last year who will be plugging for starting spots include: Mark Tiesort, Wayne; Bill Palmer, Wayne; Don Fuethoff, Beemer; Joe Hansen, Council Bluffs; Dick Reed, Aurelia, Ia.; and LaVern Sorenson, St. Paul.

23 newcomers to the squad this year are Paul Beacom, South Sioux City; Don Dean, Tekamah; Lyle Davis, O'Neill; Jack Daly, Mapleton, Ia.; Kenneth Eng, Newman Grove; Kenneth Frazier, Missouri Valley, Ia.; James Frazier, Missouri Valley; Dennis Gotschall, Newman Grove; Vernell Hallstrom, Wakefield; Francis Harms, Fremont; Howard Jesske, Blue Hill; Roger Johnson, Laurel; William Kimber, Albert City; Bob McPheran, Emerson; Don Potter, Columbus; Don Perry, Wayne; William Pessich, Niobrara; Bruce Reed, Hartington; Joe Sublet, Rosalia; Gary Tuttle, Laurel; Darrel Vance, Scottia; Dick Whiting, Norfolk; and Gordon Zapp, Wayne.

The Wildcats will open their season against Augustana college, Saturday, Sept. 11, at Sioux Falls, and will make their first home appearance the following weekend with Northern State Teachers, Aberdeen, S.D.

13 Report for Opening Wayne Prep Practices

Thirteen Hahn high school men reported to Coach John Hodapp Monday for pre-season practice. Two-a-day drills have been held during the week.

Prospects are Larry Kelley, Jerry McPheran, Boyd Grier, Wes Shubert, Roger King, Merlyn Greenberg, Gary Kingston, John Bernthal, Clarence Shubert, Don Sherry, Roger Anderson, Dave Ratzlaff and Ted Bahe. Hodapp is being assisted by Wayne Samuelsen, Wayne State senior.

Eight-man football will replace the six-man game in the Comstock conference this year with the two additional men being added to the line as tackles.

Four Home Games

The Panthers will open an eight-game schedule Friday night, Sept. 10 against Rosalia in the WSGC Memorial stadium. The remainder of the schedule is as follows: Sept. 17, at Newcastle; Sept. 23, Winside; Oct. 1, at Wausau; Oct. 7, Crofton; Oct. 15, at Randolph; Oct. 22, Coleridge; and Oct. 27, at Osmond.

Blue Devils Set Scrimmage at Ball Park Friday

Wayne High's Blue Devils will go through their first game scrimmage Friday night at the local baseball park. Coach Harold Maciejewski said today.

Winside Takes 3-2 Win In Playoff Tilt Tuesday

Winside and Lyons will meet in their second NE Nebraska baseball playoff tilt tonight at Lyons. Winside won the first of the best-of-three series Tuesday night at Winside.

If a third game is necessary, it will be played at Winside Sunday night.

Staff Meyer and Chuck Neill were the heroes in Winside's 3-2 win Tuesday. Meyer's fourth inning double gave the winners a 2-1 lead.

Neill gave another brilliant pitching performance, fanning 14 and giving up only one walk. He allowed only four hits.

Lyons took a 1-0 lead in the third when Lee Leriger took first on Bill Kropp's error, moved to third on Eddie Berg's single. He scored on Eddie Nelson's single a minute later.

Winside moved ahead in the fourth as Dale Smeal and Kropp scored on Meyer's double.

The winning run came in the fifth. Diltman singled, went to second on Bill Witte's single and scored on Smeal's single down the left field line.

Bob Koll presented a Lyons uprising in the eighth with a brilliant catch of Berg's long fly to left field.

Roy Pounds carried the pitching load for Lyons. He gave up eight hits, struck out nine and walked two.

The local gridders have been going through daily workouts in preparation for the season's opener at Allen Sept. 10.

Maciejewski seemed satisfied with certain phases of his regulars during practice this week. He was not optimistic, however.

The coach, now in his second season, has modified his Split-T system and is drilling the squad thoroughly in the new techniques.

Jaycees Stock Car Races Set Here Tonight

Stock car races at the county fairgrounds tonight will be sponsored by the Wayne Jaycees. President Norman Ellis announced this week.

The local JC unit took over operations from Al Bahe. Management is now under the direction of Merion Ellis and Wayne Christopherson.

Present plans call for operating the races at least through September.

Good Schools . . . Your Job, Too!

Too many of us take the attitude that school is a tax-paid baby-sitting institution . . . that we have only to send our children there the required days, pay our taxes and our obligations are fulfilled.

We are conspicuous by our absence from school activities, school board meetings, visits with teachers or other indications of interest in what goes on at school. We take care of it by asking Iodine or Dennis, "Wha, ja, do in school 'd day?" Their answer is of no import.

Teachers, school administrators and school boards are public servants, acting in our behalf on school matters. They want to turn out the best students and have the best schools possible.

To do this they need our help and suggestions as parents and taxpayers. How else can they learn what their "bosses" want? The result of this help would be better schools, better students.

However, far too many parents deign to comment on schools only when they can find fault because Johnny hasn't learned as much as a child in another school system or because teachers with "radical" ideas are trying to revolutionize teaching methods.

An occasional visit with your child's teacher will give you an insight on how to improve his learning . . . visits with administrators will show why certain things are done and others are not.

A visit to a meeting of the school board will give you a much better understanding of the problems involved in running a school. This last is no mean task. Running a school is big business and important business.

Do a few of these suggested things—you may wind up learning something yourself.

Conscience is like a railway switch—if properly tended will keep you on the right track.

In Bookland

by Mrs. F. A. Milder, City Librarian

WE ARE BACK ON OUR REGULAR SCHEDULE with the nine o'clock closing hour starting September 1st. Once again we are marveling at how fast the summer has gone but we realize that it is dark at eight o'clock and the longer evenings mean more reading for everyone.

THE WEEKLY TIP ON HOW TO GET MORE time to read a book is to spend less time watching the neighbors! That will be easier as the weather gets colder and the neighbors spend more time indoors. If you miss out on something they are doing you'll find it won't matter a bit because they didn't consult you in the first place.

YOU DO HAVE THE PRIVILEGE OF PICKING out your own reading material. You may consult your librarian if you wish but don't have to take her opinion as final. She can give you some advance tips as to the type of book you are considering. The "Glass Village" by Ellery Queen is one of the best mystery stories the author has ever written because the theme is uppermost in the mind of all thoughtful Americans today. This theme is expressed in the book by an old Judge who delivered the Fourth of July oration and said, "There is no liberty without justice. Let one man be deprived of his liberty, or his property, or his life without due process of law, and the liberty and property and lives of all of us are in danger." The Book-of-the-Month is "The Roosevelt family of Sagamore Hill," which of course means the Teddy Roosevelt family. To read it is to have the reward and pleasure of knowing one of the great families of America.

ARE YOU GIVING A FALL PARTY, A SHOWER, having a wedding in the family, or any special occasion? Well, the Denison company has put out a new book so we bought it for our library because it can never have enough material along that line. It seems. We thought you would like to know that we have another one with some brand new ideas.

A MEMORIAL BOOK FOR MARK E. CRAMER was placed in the library this week by the Chamber of Commerce. "Your Opportunity" by Theodore Jones is a reference book telling about opportunities for young people who are preparing to enter college, or the business world. No matter what field they may select this book tells about the best schools, where to apply for scholarships, how and where to apply for financial aid, grants, prizes, openings and how to win recognition. This book should be a valuable aid to our young people for many years to come.

Entries for Omaha and Norfolk livestock shows must be in our office by noon Sept. 10. Cost of Hiring Field-Cutter
One of the most popular questions being asked agricultural economists at the College of Agriculture is "What will it cost me an acre to hire a field cutter to place my corn and sorghum crop in the silo?"

Howard Ottosen of the agricultural economics department says that information from various sources indicate that custom operators are receiving from $7.50 to $9 per acre. This normally includes the tractor and fuel, tractor operator, silage cutter and probably two wagons, the farmer can use to transport the silage from the field to the silo.

- Pontiac has the Best Resale Value in its Price Class!
Along with all its fine-car size, luxury and performance, Pontiac has a very special attribute no car at any price can beat—its unsurpassed reputation for year-in, year-out dependability. Pontiac's carefree, economical long life and its proved record of amazingly low maintenance expense are so widely known and acknowledged that it commands the highest resale value in its price class. Because Pontiac is America's most desirable used car, your original investment comes back in greater measure when you trade.
- Pontiac is Priced Just Above the Lowest!
After you've convinced yourself of Pontiac's value, after you've considered all the good things you've heard about its dependability—see how it compares dollar-wise. ## FARM NEWS REVIEW AND FORECAST

"Our Roots Are In This Land"

The Economic Situation

Prices of farm products changed little from mid-June to mid-July following a decline earlier to last autumn's reduced level. Wheat recovered one-half of the earlier seasonal decline as most of the new crop was going under Government loan. Hog prices also recovered somewhat as marketings fell off, but the lower grades of cattle declined. Average prices of industrial materials rose, owing largely to increases of about 3% in finished steel and advances in lumber — especially Western types. Tin, rubber, and some textiles also increased, but steel scrap, petroleum products, and fats and oils declined. Prices of sheets were raised, and increases in carpets were announced, effective August 1. On the other hand, new television models were introduced at lower prices.

COMMODITY BRIEFS

Cattle

Numbers of cattle slaughtered continues to increase. During the last week in July numbers were 12% over a year ago. This heavier pattern of slaughter is primarily responsible for declining prices the past few months. Weather conditions will continue to influence cattle prices, particularly feeder cattle. Continued drought in feeder areas will cause larger shipments to depress prices. However, good general rains should tend to hold them off the market and to strengthen prices.

Sheep

The 1954 lamb crop in Nebraska is estimated to be 18% above last year. This is the largest since 1945. However, in the U.S. the increase was only 3%. Shorn wool production is expected to be slightly under last year for the U.S. and down 9% in Nebraska.

Wheat

THE USDA has announced that under certain conditions some light grade wheat that previously was ineligible for loans etc., will be supported at given discounts. For complete details on the discount factors and other eligibility requirements see your local ASC.

In many areas of the commercial corn producing counties of Nebraska, the drought has been broken and yield prospects will improve. Total feed production will be high.

Considerations

for

HOG PRODUCERS

Now is the time to plan the hog enterprise for 1955. The breeding season will soon be here. Hog profits in 1955 will depend largely on consumer income and on the price of feed. Cattle numbers will probably be fairly close to the number marketed in 1954. Assuming a continued high level of employment, feed prices become of major importance.

The United States spring pig crop for 1954 totaled 50 million head - 13 percent above 1953. But 1953 was a low year for hog numbers. Nebraska produced 2 million pigs last spring. Many of these hogs were farrowed early and are being marketed in August or early September. The number marketed in November and December may be only slightly above last year's marketings.

Hog prices depend largely on the level of employment and consumer income. It is doubtful that hog prices will rise materially before 1955. We can expect a further drop in hog prices through September, October, and November although the seasonal decline will probably be less than usual.

Some are predicting $15 hogs by late October. It is not likely that hogs will drop that low unless economic conditions change drastically or farmers get panicky and rush larger numbers of unfinished hogs to market. We can expect a gradual decline into November with some rise likely by January, 1955.

Feed to Desirable Weight

During September and October while hog prices are falling, hogs should be marketed at 200 to 220 pounds. Lighter hogs are often discounted. When the hog-corn ratio is as favorable as now—15.1 (corn $1.50 and hogs $22.50) there is a temptation to feed heavier weights. An extra 50 pounds can be put on for $7.50 but a drop of $1.50 in hog prices would result in a loss on the extra weight.

The fall pig crop is expected to be 10% above last year but this would still leave it slightly below the 10 year average. More than the usual number of sows were farrowed early—July to September. Consequently, the peak price for the early fall pigs in February may be lower than normally expected with less drop in price through April and May.

The cheap feed grains anticipated for this winter may not materialize because of the drought. It is too early to predict corn and grain sorghum production. With corn at the support level of $1.50, hogs should pay all costs at $15 per cwt. It seems desirable to raise the normal number of pigs next year unless the corn crop is cut very severely resulting in feed prices above the support level.

Consider Costs Carefully

Time to breed will be of at least equal importance with the number of sows to breed. The trend towards earlier farrowing tends to reduce the early peak prices and reduces the severity of the dip in the peak marketing months. This calls for a reappraisal by the farmer of the most profitable time to farrow the pigs. The cost of raising early pigs is higher than for April and May pigs. Farmers who had facilities to take care of early pigs have depended on sufficiently higher prices in August and September to more than offset the higher costs.

The rapid increase in early farrowed pigs may level off seasonal prices to the extent that the prices early in the marketing season will not be sufficiently high to pay the extra cost of early pigs. This calls for a careful study of the cost of raising early pigs compared to late pigs and the effect on labor requirements by other enterprises. If the 1954 corn crop should be very short, it is quite likely that there would be some shift to late pigs again to feed them out in 1955 grain.

CATTLE OUTLOOK

The current slaughter rate of cattle should consume 38 to 40 million head of cattle in 1954. This slaughter rate is 40% or more of the total cattle and calf inventory on January 1, 1954. It is equal to the number of calves saved in 1953. Cattle slaughter was up 12% above 1953 while calf slaughter was up 16% during the first 6 months of 1954.

A high rate of slaughter is expected to continue and this combined with other factors may bring a downturn in the cattle inventory by January. We expect a decline in calf numbers; cow numbers may remain near the January 1, 1954 level and steers may increase slightly.

Beef supply in 1953 was high enough to provide 77 pounds per capita. It is expected to be 78 pounds or higher in 1954. Both years are record breaking. According to official Department of Agriculture data, per capita consumption had never exceeded 73 pounds before 1953. The volume of cattle feeding in 1954 is greater than last year. This should maintain an abundant supply of good beef. The number of yearlings available are about the same as last year.

Demand for beef is unusually strong. Consumer spending has remained at a high level. However, some people think that there may be a delayed reaction in beef demand from unemployment. Individuals without work who are actively looking for work number about 5% of the civilian labor force.

Some of the meat industry members believe families should be encouraged to use installment credit to purchase halves and quarters of beef to fill their home freezers and community lockers.

It is true that installment credit has given a tremendous lift to the durable goods and equipment field, but it has not been tried in selling farm products. Installment credit in selling beef carcasses does have possibilities. The main obstacle is the mental barrier of trying an old and useful technique in a new area.

Prices Depend on Spending.

The most delicate and significant factor in cattle outlook is the future expectations of the consumer spending habits and ability to pay for beef. Liquid assets of individuals are at an all time high. There is a tremendous pool of buying power and those who have this power are probably eating all the beef they want. The people who are not eating enough beef are in the low income group.

Statistics show that low income groups are spending less money while high income sections of our society are spending increasing amounts. This trend has picked up speed in the last year. What has this got to do with feeders and stockers?

The price a cattle feeder pays for stockers and feeders depends to some extent on what he expects to get when he sells them. If top choice and prime steers sell for $24 to $25 per cwt. next summer and corn costs $1.30 per bushel, a cattle feeder might be inclined to pay $19 to $20 for calves. If corn costs a little more, the cattle feeder would probably pay a little less for calves.

A mysterious unknown is: Will the top market price be $24 and $25 when he sells? Some of the people who are supposed to know the market say top finished cattle prices are not expected to improve for at least a year. If they cannot increase, the best they can do is hold present levels.

Beef in Strong Competition

In view of the increasing pork supply, consumer substitution of pork and beef can reduce beef prices. There is intense competition from broilers and turkeys at the present time. Some commercial poultry producers are selling poultry below cost of production. When hog prices decline to an $8 to $18 range they will make tougher competition than they do at the $12 to $25 level.

When short fed yearlings are purchased in late summer and early fall (September-October) $19 per cwt. could be paid if they will sell at 24 cents per pound when they are finished. However, only 16.7 cents can be paid if the cattle feeder wants to maintain a similar margin when the finished cattle sell for 22 cents. Under present conditions yearling short-fed operations are one of the poorer alternatives in feeding for profit.

Outlook Meetings in September

The Extension Service of the University of Nebraska Agricultural College will offer cattle outlook meetings on a county basis, September 13-24 inclusive, if there is sufficient interest. Problems to be discussed include cost of replacement stock, feed, and selling price of fat cattle. If you are interested, you should ask your county agriculture agent to arrange for a cattle outlook session in your county.

FARM STORAGE COSTS FOR CORN

Farmers who need more storage space for their 1954 corn crop should have a fairly accurate estimate of the costs and advantages of commercial storage compared with on-the-farm storage in order to make intelligent decisions on whether or not to build new grain storage space on their farms.

Costs of grain storage construction vary widely—from the temporary snow fence type of crib having a concrete floor but no roof (not acceptable for CCC loan) at about 6 cents per bushel to more than $1 per bushel for cribs of 1,000 bushel capacity and more substantial construction. Costs depend on the type of structure, materials used, location, whether or not drying equipment is installed and how much of the construction work is done by the farmer. The more common types of cribs are the conventional slatted woods, galvanized steels, circular and rectangular woods, roofed wire or snow fence, steel and wood quonsets and concrete block.

Multiple Use Storage Building

Some farmers find that they need only corn storage space; others need space for both corn and small grains; others need buildings adapted to other storage needs when not in use for grain. Such multiple use buildings are usually more expensive to build than those intended for grain storage alone.

In addition to the initial investment in the building, there are some indirect or hidden costs of grain storage on the farm. These include depreciation, taxes, insurance, repairs, interest, and losses due to wastage, insects and rodents.

The accompanying table shows a method of computing the cost of storing grain in a particular type of bin and under certain conditions. By substituting the cost, depreciation rates, etc. for the particular type of bin he wishes to erect, a farmer can use this table as a pattern to compute his own storage costs.

In addition to the costs, there are some advantages to be considered. The farmer may find that even though he intends to sell his corn immediately, he needs to have space to store it until it is shelled. High moisture content corn may be held or dried so that it will bring a higher market price.

Corn stored under CCC in an elevator has a storage charge levied against it. However, if the corn is stored on the farm, the farmer receives this storage charge instead of having it deducted from the loan value of his corn. When corn is stored on the farm, the farmer has the privilege of repaying the loan and feeding the corn in case of a short crop. Another possible advantage is that the support price may be higher than the market price. Holding his corn either in commercial or farm storage also gives the farmer

Annual Cost of Storing Corn On-the-Farm in a 950 Bushel Crib Costing $375 for materials—Expected Useful Life of 15 Years Full Capacity.

Cost Item	Total (dollars)	Per Bushel (cents)
Depreciation (15 year life)	$ 25.00	2.63
Savings on income tax	6.15	0.65
Net Construction Cost	18.85	1.98
State Property Tax	9.87	1.01
Crib (35 mills)	21.63	2.28
Interest
Crib (4%)	7.50	0.79
Corn (9 mos., 3 1/2%)	36.52	3.84
Non-insurable losses (1 1/2%)	12.60	1.33
Repairs (2 1/2%)	9.38	0.99
Insurance (5-yr. coverage)	1.73	0.18
Gross Total	$118.06	12.43
Shrinkage (increased value)	58.00	6.11
Storage Cash Cost
Income tax saving	21.31	2.24
Total Annual Cost	$ 87.77	4.08
*Fast 3-year depreciation (87% annually)	12.30	1.29

a chance to take advantage of any seasonal price rise—but he also runs the risk of a price decrease.

Although a farmer's corn may not qualify for a CCC loan or he may not want to take advantage of the price support program, corn stored in approved bins serves as excellent security for other types of loans.

One important advantage of commercial storage is that the elevator operator assumes all the risks of loss and damage. Customary rates for storing corn from November 1 to July 31 (9 months) is 12.63 cents per bushel if the corn is under CCC loan. An additional 4 1/2 cents per bushel may be charged for handling if the corn is not under loan. Commercial storage is short this year. Its availability should be determined in your area.

The above analysis indicates that it may be profitable under certain conditions to build new on-the-farm storage for corn. By estimating in advance what the costs and advantages of on-the-farm storage will be, a farmer can fairly well determine whether he should plan to build new on-the-farm storage for his corn, whether he should store it in a commercial elevator if space is available, or if he should sell it at harvest time.

H-A Hair Arranger

Instant Remedy for dry, heller-skeller hair

Yes, if your hair is dry and unruly, keep it neatly combed, hour after hour, with H-A Hair Arranger. H-A is best, four ways:

1. No greasy, sticky fingers after application.
2. Gives your hair a natural-looking, lustrous sheen.
3. Stimulates and invigorates the scalp, gives it a tingling, refreshing "just-washed" feeling.
4. And see how effectively H-A checks dandruff.
