To Resume Campaign In July

Funds for purchase of the Northeast Nebraska Experimental farm have reached the halfway mark with collections totaling $34,062. The amount was announced at a general meeting of experimental farm directors Friday night at Hotel Morrison.

Representatives from Dixon, Dakota, Wayne, Cumming, Stanton, Pierce and Cedar counties attended.

Workers announced recent collections of $2,787 to add to the previous total of $31,295.

Under the chairmanship of Albert Watson, the group discussed renewing solicitations when farm field work eases. The drive has been marking time because farmers have been busy in field.

Also contemplated were solicitations of land owners living in town and businessmen. No definite plans were laid for these actions, however. Each county group will plan its drive and report back at the next meeting in July.

Solicitors are selling memberships in the association for $25 each. A membership entitles the holder to a vote in the organization. Persons may buy more than one membership but may have only one vote.

Selection of the farm site has not been made. The choice will be made by a board of directors elected by holders of memberships. One director will be elected from each county represented in the association.

Directors now serving are only temporary and will be replaced when a general election is held. The movement for a Northeast Nebraska experiment station was started because farmers in this area felt none of the state experimental farms have soils or conditions to match those found here.

The farm, though purchased with private money, would be operated by the Extension service of the University of Nebraska. An item for its operation has been included in the current budget request.

Tentative requirements set for the farm include soils representative of major types found in Northeast Nebraska, a fairly central location, good water supply and good access roads.

Size requirements of 320 acres are being considered, though nothing definite can be done until permanent directors are chosen and start the job of selecting the farm.

Naala O'Dell and Wesley Lubberstedt Marry Sunday at Redeemer Lutheran

Naala O'Dell and Wesley Lubberstedt were married Sunday afternoon at Redeemer Lutheran church. Parents of the couple are Mrs. Judith M. O'Dell and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lubberstedt, Wakefield.

Rev. S. K. de Fresse performed the double ring ceremony at 4 p. m. Baskets of palms, ferns and white gladioli decorated the church organist. Mrs. Martin Rinzer accompanied Mrs. Stanley Kennedy, Sidney, who sang "I Love Thee and Through the Years."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Dr. Raymond Lybberg, Lake City, Ia. She wore a white waltz length gown fashioned of hand-cropped rose point lace and nylon tulle. The large bodice of lace was cinched by a V-neck line in front and back. Crushed taffeta placed low to emphasize the waistline ended in a huge bow in back. Permanently pleated nylon tulle trimmed the bottom skirt. Her elbow length veil of pure silk ribbon fell from a wedding ring of orange blossoms white accessories. Both wore corsages of red roses.

Reception followed in the church parlors. Decorations in green and white included the serving table in white satin and green net. Beverly Joos, Omaha, had charge of the guest book and Kay Bureau, South Sioux City, and Mary Ellersbroek, Bellevue, the girls. Pouring were Mrs. E. N. Sweet, South Sioux City and Mrs. Ann Meyer, Wakefield. Mrs. Delbert Barnes and Mrs. Richard Pittenger, South Sioux City, cut the four tiered cake. The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length gown of white chantilly lace over satin. The fitted bodice was topped with a brief jacket and stand up Peter Pan collar. It had long lace sleeves ending in points at the wrists. Her skirt was a bouffant three-tiered one and fell in deep folds over stiffening. She wore a queen's crown of lace with seed pearls and acorns from which fell her veil of French illusion. She carried a white orchid on a prayer book of white pearl.

DeLore Pfeil, sister of the bride, Hoskins, was maid of honor. Lorche Dreyer, Omaha, was bridesmaid. Both wore garden green ballgown length gowns of chantilly lace over matching tulle. They featured snug fitting bodices with scoop necklines, sleeves and tulle midriffs. They wore large, open crown picture hats of natural straw with matching green streamers. Their bouquets were cascade arrangements of ivy and daisies.

Dr. Joseph O'Neil, Omaha, was best man. John Metheny, Omaha, was groomsmen. Ushers were Glen Pfeil, brother of the bride, Hoskins, and Herbert Detlefson, Humphrey.
