City Councilmen Asked For Water Fluoridation Program

Koeber Asks Rabies Shots For All Pets

Wayne's city council Monday night received a resolution from Mothers Study club requesting the institution of a fluoridation program for the city water system.

The club was represented by President Mrs. Ora Wax, Mrs. Milton Mason, Mrs. Lee Swinney and Mrs. L. W. McNatt, Jr. (acting as their spokesman) was Gordon Shupe.

In discussing the results of fluoridation in other cities, Dr. Shupe said surveys show several mistaken ideas that have delayed public acceptance of the program.

He produced facts which emphasized that fluoridation does not cause an increase in the death rate from degenerative diseases. He said 1,120 cities now have fluoridation of their water systems.

The spokesman added that fluoridation has been endorsed by American Medical association, American Dental association, American Nurses association, National Research council, National PTA congress and other leading scientific organizations. He cited a recent Nebraska survey of 7, 10 and 13-year-olds in 19 cities. These showed a reduction of 65 percent in tooth decay with the use of fluoridation.

Shupe said fluoridation causes no foul taste in water nor does it corrode pipes. He said these are popular misconceptions, brought about by confusion with chlorine and other chemical additives.

He said effective fluoridation can be accomplished with only 1.2 parts per million, although the safe amount is as much as 8.0 parts per million. Wayne's content is now 0.2 parts per million.

Action on the resolution was turned over to the water committee, headed by T. J. Hughes, for consideration and report to the council.

THE WAYNE HERALD

Mr. Farmer and Mr. Merchant

If you have a preference of more stable and higher prices on your farm products, or a preference for more consistent retail sales volume, then you should take an interest in the 90% of Parity provision of the FARM BILL.

This bill is before the Senate now.

We do not know what position our Senators from Nebraska will take on this legislation.

We do know that IF they vote as they did in 1955, with exception of Congressman Weaver, that they will vote against the 90% of Parity Provision.

The least we can do is write our Congressmen and our Senators, and indicate our preference. How else can they be sure that we have a preference?

To write to our Senators, address your letter to Honorable Roman Hruska, Senate Office Building, Washington 25, D.C. and Honorable Carl Curtis, Senate Office Building, Washington 25, D.C.

and to our congressman, Hon. R. D. Harrison, 126 House Office Building, Washington, D.C.

Blue Devils Down Pender 73-60 for Tourney Crown

Howells Foe In Playoff Wednesday

Wayne High's Blue Devils met the Howells Bobcats Wednesday night at Norfolk in a Class B basketball playoff to determine which team would represent Nebraska in the state tournament which opens next week at Lincoln.

Wayne gained the playoff Friday night by downing Pender 73-60 in the Wayne district finals. Howells defeated a strong Lincoln (St. Bonaventura) team 70-63 in the Oakland tournament finals.

Wayne gained the local tournament title Thursday by blasting Wisner 39-28. Wayne's 35-point outburst established a new state record for Class B tournament play. Pender gained the other finals trophy by downing a cold Madison team 73-33.

Wayne's victory over Pender came through balanced scoring and the ability to hold back Spawright down in scoring for the first half. Howells, who scored 61 points against Hartington Holy Trinity and 37 against Madison finished Friday with 26 points.

However, he was held to 10 points in the first half and went scoreless for the first six minutes of the game. In the second half, Howells concentrated three men around the Pender key and ignored the shooting of the Pender guards.

This move proved effective as Wayne took a 36-30 halftime lead. The Blue Devils had their best quarter after intermission, outscoring the Penderogs 20-11. This settled the outcome of the contest.

Wayne had one of its best nights of the season Thursday in romping over Wisner. Balanced scoring again paid off. Larry Hottel led the attack with 23 points, while Kenny Dahl and Glenn Houderschild followed with 23 each. Bob Schwartzbach chipped in with 15.

Wayne dropped 38 of 80 shots for a 47.5 percentage. Wisner hit only 27 of 74.

New Minimum Wage Effective

Northeast Nebraska employers were reminded this week that the new federal minimum wage-hour law will go into effect today.

An estimated two million U. S. workers will be affected when the minimum wage is increased to $1 an hour from the present 75 cents. Other provisions call for time and one-half for hours worked in excess of 40 in the work week and restrictions on employment of minors.

Generally, most employees of retail and service establishments, laundries and dry cleaning firms are exempt from minimum wage and overtime. The law applies to employees engaged in interstate commerce and the production of goods for interstate commerce.

Employees in agriculture, as well as executive, administrative, professional, outside sales and local retailing employees, are also exempt from minimum wage and overtime provisions.

Officials of the Omaha Work-Hour office urged employers to examine their pay practices to assure compliance with the new law. Information may be obtained from the Omaha office (Room 400, Federal Office building).

On Getting Elected...
Politics—sometimes known as the gentle art of getting elected to public office—shows several facets, especially when compared at the various levels.

On the national scene, and especially in the presidential race, we find bitter criticisms, half-truths, innuendoes, sometimes compounded confusion and plain gobbledygook hurled at the voter.

On the state scene we find the same tactics but to a lesser degree—tempered, no doubt by increasing simplicity of duties and the fact that voters are in closer contact with problems and people.

On the purely local level politics are generally conducted in a much more dignified manner. Here we not only know the candidate, but probably drink coffee with him, belong to the same organizations or church (he does) live neighbor to him or even attended school with him.

percent of the time we have a more sincere and really public-spirited candidate at the local level than in any other phase of politics.

Dairy Herd Report
The 1955 report on dairy herd production records in the Northeast Nebraska association was released recently.

The average production figures for these cows were 8,615 lbs. of milk and 364 lbs. of butterfat with a return above feed costs of $236 per cow.

Feed costs in the low producing herd were 36 percent less than for the high producing herd but his net gain per cow was less than one fifth that of the best herd.

Wayne county members of the association are Alfred Bronzynski, Clarence P. Conynski, Arnie Ekker, Ward C. Dillard, Wayne Gilliland, Willis A. VonSeggern and E. C. Adams.

Power Line Asked
The administration's request for funds to start a Federal power line to Grand Island drew praise from state power leaders.

The leaders agreed the step would be a major forward meeting Nebraska's power demands. Officials felt the appropriation would be approved by Congress without much difficulty.

Most officials called attention to the fact the line would meet the rapidly growing need for power to pump irrigating water.

Nebraska's big need for power during a few summer months comes at the same time as large amounts of water are being released from Missouri river dams for navigation.

CAPITOL NEWS BY MELVIN PAUL

Post Abolished
Lincoln The controversial post of State Penal Director is no more.

The Board of Control, which governs state institutions, abolished the position held by Col. B. E. Albert. The grounds were that Albert had set up such a good program he was no longer needed to supervise it.

He had been the subject of much controversy. But the board emphasized it abolished the job because it felt "everything seems to be running along peacefully."

Albert was notified of the board's decision by telephone. He was in Roanoke, Va. on a 60-day health leave. He had asked an extension a week before the board decided to eliminate the post.

Meat Plan Outlined
Gov. Victor Anderson outlined personally to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson a plan to increase meat consumption.

The governor met with the secretary in Washington last week. He told Benson the plan calls for an advertising campaign to be paid for by livestock producers.

Any proposal that would increase meat consumption brings "very strong" interest from Benson, Anderson said. He said Benson offered his cooperation in spreading the

The Herald's Home and Home Building Section

this is your DREAM HOUSE

House No. A-111

You have to examine this home carefully to realize that it is planned as a rectangle—universally conceded to be the most economical kind of home to build. And within, the architect has achieved the extraordinary result of putting every square foot of space to its fullest use. The living room with its fireplace provides warmth and charm. By placing the fireplace on the front outside wall, you get an impression of a brick front. The eighteen-foot kitchen will delight the most discriminating homemaker. For formal meals there is a dining room which, by the way, provides direct access to the breezeway. Each of the two bedrooms has windows facing in two directions, insuring plenty of light and air. Then, too, the full basement provided for in this design will take care of any future "expansion area" ideas you may have.

Area: 1,405 sq. ft. Cubage: 22,853 cu. ft.

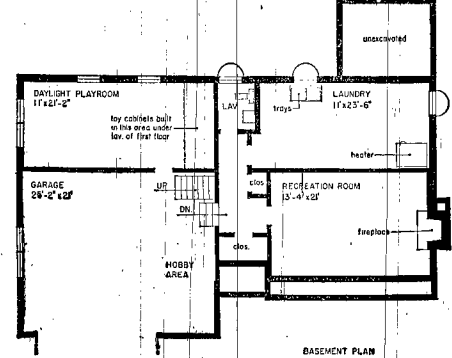

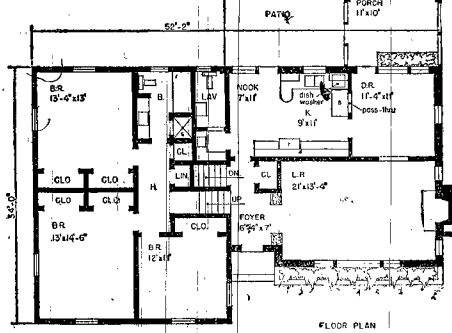

A king-sized sketch plan of this house is available to readers. Simply send 25c in coin to Modern Plan Service, Dept. O, Lincoln Bldg., Mt. Vernon, N.Y.

Cinderella Tree
Hemlock, once considered a weed tree, today is one of the nation's most versatile species. Much sought after now for pulp making, it is popular as well as a lumber source. Because of its strength it was used in aircraft building in both wars, and its long wear makes it an ideal material for flooring and exterior siding.

Split-Level House Plan Wins Homes Guide Prize

With the interest in split-level homes at the highest it has ever been, it was natural that this easy-to-build design by Architect Arnold Schaffner would be a candidate for a first prize. And it did win just that, among the many home designs featured in the pages of Small Homes Guide magazine. With its simplicity of line, difficult to achieve in a split-level house, this is a home your builder will not be afraid to tackle. It is an adequate house, larger than average, with good room sizes. Architect Schaffner has ingeniously contrived to include a half bath at the living level, eliminating much up-and-down travel. He was able to do this by letting the half bath protrude into the lower level playroom, installing toy

20 Ways To Cut The Cost Of Building Your Home

1. Shape of plan affects cost. The simple, rectangular design is the ultimate in economy because it's easier to build.
2. Use of stock sizes. Such ready-made materials as wall panels, stock kitchen cabinets and counters that fit exactly into modular-sized rooms, save cutting time and labor cost.
3. Glass walls are cheaper. Floor-to-ceiling window walls, even of double-paneled insulating glass, can usually be installed for less than standard wall construction.
4. The expandable plan. It is a long-run saving to include all the space you will foreseeably need at the outset. Interior finishing of some rooms can be deferred to cut initial outlay.
5. Reduce maintenance. It is wise to select natural woods, aluminum, stainless steel and masonry, especially for exterior surface. Once installed, they can be virtually forgotten.
6. Costs vs. room size. Don't try too hard to save on room sizes. Two similar home plans, but one larger, may cost almost the same to build. Development project builders report they can lengthen or widen houses for as little as $2 or $3 a square foot.
7. Use inexpensive materials. "Nothing but the best" may not be practical. Properly used, such items as hardboard and concrete block can save material and labor costs.
8. Use native materials. You'll save a great deal on freight alone. Local lumber and stone can knock many dollars off costs.
9. Big panels are cheaper. Materials in large-panel form—insulation-board, plywood, hardboard, gypsum-board, plastic-finish and other decorative panels—all cut labor costs.
10. Use of copper tubing. Copper tubing can cut costs because it bends around corners, fits into difficult recesses. "Sweat-it" connections are easy and speedy made.
11. Low-voltage wiring. A tiny bell-wire requiring no protective conduit is run from switches to junction box. High-voltage current is turned on by electromagnetic switch mounted on the junction box and actuated by the low-voltage current.
12. Heating—shortcuts. New labor in warm-air installations. With wet heat, new baseboard radiators save similarly. The new small ducts and registers save combination steam-warm air heating, using copper tubing heat runs, also saves man hours.
13. Perforated hardboard for storage. With special inexpensive hooks for hanging items, this reduces need for built-ins.
14. Use of roof trusses. A trussed-roof eliminates need of load-bearing partitions. Also, a house can be entirely roofed over quickly, expediting interior finishing, greatly.
15. Larger floor joists. Builders of smaller houses find savings by spanning an entire basement with large-dimension joists, eliminating need for I-beams and columns.
16. Production framing methods. Entire wall frames are built on the floor, covered with sheathing and siding doors and windows are installed, and the wall is raised into place.
17. Paper partitions. With a trussed roof, interior partitions bear no load, can be framed with 1x3's instead of 2x4's.
18. Save on door framing. It is time and money-saving to let rough door openings run to the ceiling, then fill in space above a standard door with a short portion of another door.
19. More framing savings. A double 2x8 or single 4x8-inch header as the top plate entirely around the perimeter of the stud wall of a frame house eliminates costly framing of openings.
20. Economical built-in gutters. Formed glass fiber gutters, and gutters made by extending fascia board upward reduce costs.

Antique Finishes

Here is a simple way to finish a wall of hemlock vertically grained panelling to get an antique effect. Rough sand first, then line sand the boards with a 2/0 paper. Brush on thinned white primer and wipe off immediately. Dry 12 hours. The sand with 6/0 paper. Brush or spray with clear varnish, red or lacquer or one of the plastic coatings. Add extra coats, if desired. Rub last coat with steel wool. Green, blue, reds or yellows may be used instead of the white primer to get varied color effects.
