sition enters?

If anyone were to deny having been born because he could not remember it, we'd laugh at him. "You're here," we'd say, "You must have been born." When we see people who are really different, who are really God's men and women, it's no good claiming they were not born again. God's life is found in them. They have had a new birth.

were not born again. God's life is found in them. They have had a new birth.

It takes a certain maturity and understanding before a child is able to understand the process of human birth. Is it untactively to suggest that a person your age must first understand about the life in God before he can really comprehend the second birth in Baptism?

Call your Lutheran pastor—he would be grateful for the opportunity to discuss all this with you. It is urgent, because Jesus Christ said, "Except a man be born of water and the Spriig he cannot enter into the Kingdom of God."

When, by the grace of God, you are born again, your Lutheress friends know you'll agree, "it's great to be alive!"

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all evaluable facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial . . . but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. A Big Step Forward

What will it do to my taxes?

This is a question many persons are asking these days as city purchase of Benthack hospital is being discussed.

When someone says, "It will require a levy of two mills to pay for a project," what does it mean?

A two-mill levy means you will pay $2 per thousand dollars of 35 percent of the actual value of your property. Here is how the amount is reached:

If actual value of your property is $10,000, triply by .35. The answer is 35 percent or $3,-. Multiply $3,500 by .002 and your answer is

500. Multiply $3,500 by .002 and your answer is $7.

The abase does not mean, however, that a two-mill levy would retire the hospital bond if it is approved in April. It is affered as an example to show how your tax load can be computed.

Purchase of the hospital is important to the future of Wayne. With the future of small towns as doubtful as it is, it behoves all as to make every effort to keep Wayne progressing.

The mere changing of the hospital from a privately owned, business to a municipal facility shows the town is looking to the future. Besides providing better and more convenient hospital facilities for many patients in the area, it would attract more dectors to our town according to predictions of local doctors.

The Benthacks would be able to devote more time to their primary job—that of healing the sick. Time now spent in managing the haspital could be better used treating potients. Dr. Marson, too, would have more time to give his patients because his doily trips to Wakefield—sometimes three or four per day—would be climinated.

A municipal hospital should enhance the business picture, too. And that is a factor that affects employer and employee alike. While a down trend in business offects the employer first, it is not long until it is also felt by the employee.

felt by the employee.

Keeping our dollars at home by keeping our patients at home should be good business.

Most of the persons who mayed to Wayne from other towns did so because they felt the town was an attractice place to live and had-something more to offer than most other towns.

And the first state of the control o

FARM REVIEW ORECAST

BRIEF and IMPORTANT

Expanded Industrial Uses Of Farm Products

AT THE PRESENT TIME, approximately 12 to 14 per cent of our total agricultural output is used in nonfood products. The major use of farm products in nonfood uses are the 'extles, tohacon products, saaps, drying oils, linol-eum, resins and other industrial products.

Normally we think of industrial uses for farm products those uses which produce raw materials for other industil processes. This would include processes uch as grain alcohol, cotton for tire and belt cord, and soybeans for ustrial oils and plastics.

THE MAJOR OBSTACLE to widened industrial uses agricultural products seems to be the economic probm. Technologists have developed many possible uses r starch and fiber products in industrial production, most cases, however, the substitute petroleum and ineral alternatives are considerably more economical present than are the starch or fiber products.

To compete with these alternative sources of industrial supplies, farm product prices would have to be considerably lower. This situation will continue unless technologists develop new processes that will utilize farm products more efficiently than non-farm products.

supply of farm products is a problem that may seriously hamper expanded industrial use. Once present surplus stocks are disposed of, variation in supply available for industrial uses would be quite large in some years.

THIS WOULD REQUIRE FLEXIBILITY in industrial plants so that they could shift from farm products to non-farm products at minimum conversion cost. If this flexibility is not possible industrial users may not be willing to use farm products because of the uncertainty of being able to compete at all times with processors using nonfarm sup-

Trend Against Farm Products

IN LOOKING OVER the entire range of farm products

THEREFORE, THIS CONSUMPTION decline, which occurred in a period when consumer incomes were ris-ing rapidly, represents a substitution of more than three-pounds of synthetic fibers for natural fibers. This same consumption and substitution pattern has prevailed in CONSUMPTION OF SOAP PRODUCTS, another import general pattern of cotton and wool. The introduction of synthetic household detergents since 1945 has resulted in soar consumption declining from 13.6 pounds per person to 6.7 pounds per person at present.
