

Estimated 2,000 Attend Auditorium Opening at WSTC

AN ESTIMATED 2,500 persons turned out Thursday to hear two performances of the Jimmy Dorsey band and to see the interior of WSTC's new John D. Rice Memorial building. It was the first public event in the auditorium-fieldhouse. The picture above from the 36 by 94-foot stage shows most of the afternoon concert crowd, which nearly filled the 850 theatre-type seats in the balcony and 800 chairs set up on the main floor. Nearly 1,000 more chairs could have been used, if necessary. For basketball games the balcony seating will be augmented by 600 additional seats on foldaway bleachers to be installed just in front of the balcony. The arena floor is 90 by 138 feet. Two basketball courts will be laid crosswise to the main court for practice use. Under the balcony are several offices, classrooms, rest rooms and storage rooms. In the basement are coaches' offices, locker rooms, storerooms and two large general purpose rooms. Cost of the building without equipment was about $700,000.

Nov. 25 Corn Referendum Choice 'Difficult' for Farmers

Lincoln — The choice corn producers must make at the referendum Nov. 25 is difficult because neither the new program nor the present program has a clear-cut advantage over the other. Neither is a solution from the cash grain farmer's financial viewpoint nor a solution to such national farm problems as increasing feed production, growing stocks of feed grains or ups and downs in livestock production. With such limited chances for success, whichever choice is approved probably will be in effect only a year or two before new legislation is enacted. Corn producers have two choices: 1. The "new program" which has no acreage allotments for corn, no designated commercial corn area, price support at 90 percent of the average price received by farmers during the three preceding years (but not less than 65 percent parity) and mandatory price supports on other feed grains. 2. The present program with a commercial corn area acreage allotment, price support available to 90 percent of parity available in the commercial area only to those who harvest not more than their corn acreage allotment, and feed grains and non-compliance corn supported at 0 to 90 percent of parity.

make, cash grain farmers should figure out expected returns under each of the programs. Let's assume that a Nebraska farmer has one hundred acres of cropland to plant to corn or grain sorghum. Under the proposed "new program" he would plant 100 acres of corn while under the present program his corn allotment would be 65 acres, so he would put the 35 diverted acres into grain sorghum. Using 1959 expected prices and yields of 50 bushels per acre for both crops, his gross income from the 100 acres would be: New program corn, 5,000 bushels at $1.08 means 54 hundred dollars; Present program corn, 3,250 bushels at $1.25 means 4,062.50; Grain sorghum, 1,750 bushels at 95 cents means $1,662.50. The total is $5,725. In this case, the present program has a slight financial advantage, but this assumes a grain sorghum support price of about $1.70. If the present program is favored, the corn farmer also could ignore his allotment, taking a chance on market price or support for non-compliance corn. Livestock producers who grow corn for feed will be concerned about the effect of these programs on feed prices. Here, too, there appears to be little difference although the tion in feed production. Both are, therefore, foredoomed to failure. Supporting prices by non-recourse loans and purchase agreements is impossible for any length of time without production controls that work. The Federal Farm board found this simple economic fact nearly 30 years ago. Further price reduction will encourage rapid expansion of livestock production with low prices for hogs, beef cattle, poultry, etc. It is possible to force downward adjustments in agricultural products if prices go low enough and stay down long enough — adjustments like those of the '20s and '30s. Unless we are willing to accept the consequences of such a policy course, we must face the realities of the present situation and develop workable solutions for farm problems. The main alternatives are: 1. To find ways to expand greatly the export market for our farm products. 2. To provide effective controls on total farm production through Federal farm programs. 3. To persuade non-farm groups to finance much larger Federal price support and surplus disposal programs. 4. To encourage group action by farmers to regulate production and marketing through cooperatives and marketing agreements.

Speakers Bureau Set to Inform On Bond Issue

Organizations wanting speakers to discuss the coming school bond election may contact Rev. O. B. Proett. It was announced this week by a citizens' committee working on the school issue. Plenty of speakers are available. Rev. Proett said, and can be available for any meeting. Voting on the $124,000 bond issue to build a new elementary school will be Dec. 9. Tentative plans include construction of a new elementary school and remodeling of the present building for a junior-senior high school unit. School officials said the plan would permit additional enrollment of about 100 pupils in each building. Overcrowding of elementary grades is cited as the reason for building a new elementary school rather than a high school. Each of the grades from sixth down averages over 34 pupils. Recommended maximum is 25 pupils per room. Kindergarten and first grade are now split but other elementary grades are crowded with 30 to 38 pupils per room. No more space is available to split classes. Supt. E. V. Willert said. Cost to individual taxpayers for the new elementary school and the remodeling project is estimated at about six mills or 56 per cent of assessed valuation. A recent survey by the State Department of Education contained recommendations that the school board begin plans for a new elementary building. "The present and projected elementary enrollments the 1 1/2 districts necessitate 1 1/2 classrooms for each grade," the survey said, and further recommended complete separation of elementary and secondary facilities. The new site, it continued, would be more suitable for elementary school facilities than the present site. Recommendations further said that the present building should be replaced or provide adequately for a six-year high school program with special attention "to needs in shop, music, science, art and library."

THIS SMASHING TACKLE by West Point's Dick Jones was in vain Friday night as Wayne's Warren Rodgers (43) had already crossed the goal line for the second Blue Devil touchdown. Husker League to Vote on Adding Two Schools in '59

Ballots will be mailed to Husker conference schools next week for voting on an amendment which would make Pierce and Plainview eligible for the 1958-'59 basketball and 1959 football championships. Admission of the two schools to the conference was approved earlier by league schools with the new members to be eligible for the 1959-'60 and 1960 championships. The new amendment would move the eligibility up one year. Pierce and Plainview are already eligible for the 1959 track championship. In order to be approved, the amendment must be cleared by 10 of the 12 schools voting. If it is adopted, Wisner will join the league's East division with Wakefield, Pender, Oakland, Lyons and West Point. The West division will include Pierce, Plainview, Wayne, Neligh, Stanton and Madison. Dates for future conference events were scheduled at a league meeting last Tuesday night at Norfolk. They include the band clinic at Stanton Dec. 4, vocal music clinic at Wakefield Jan. 2, and the basketball championship playoff Feb. 19. Site of the cage playoff will be determined at a later date.

Brothers End 60-Year Separation

SIXTY YEARS OF SEPARATION ended for three brothers last week in Wayne with the arrival from Sweden of Oscar Nelson (left). The reunion was the first for all three brothers in over a half century. The other brothers are Olaf Nelson, Concord, (center) and Carl Lindvall, Wayne. Lindvall had last seen his brother in Sweden on a return trip in 1939. Olaf had not seen Oscar since the former came to the U.S. nearly 50 years ago. Nelson, a retired Goteburg businessman, arrived in New York Nov. 9 and was met in Sioux City by Mr. and Mrs. Lindvall. World War II prevented an earlier meeting of the brothers. Nelson planned to return with Lindvall in 1939 but the war prevented the trip. This is Nelson's first trip to the U.S., although he has made traveling his hobby since his retirement. He has visited most European countries but says "the United States looks to be the best. It is very pretty and the people are very friendly."

The November Nebraska Farm Outlook

"Our Roots Are In This Land"

THE CORN REFERENDUM NOV. 25

WHICH CORN PROGRAM IN '59 AND LATER YEARS

Corn growers who vote in the Nov. 25, 1958 referendum will set the corn program for 1959 and later years. Their decision will be final and can only be changed by congressional action. The outcome of this referendum is important not only to corn growers but also to farmers in general because of possible effects on feed prices and supplies, livestock production, and future farm policy.

WHAT WILL YOU VOTE ON?

The referendum is required by the Agricultural Act of 1958. This act provides that a referendum be held among corn growers in the 1958 commercial corn areas to determine which of two programs will be in effect in 1958 and later years. The law specifies that a simple majority (just over half) of the votes cast is all that is required for approval of either program.

CHOICE No. 1

This is the so-called "new program." The essential features of this program would be:

(1) No acreage allotments or other production controls on corn. You could raise as much corn as you wish and still qualify for price support.

(2) No designated commercial corn area. Price support would be available for all corn of eligible quality in approved storage in all areas.

(3) Corn price support would be 90 percent of the average price received by farmers during the 3 preceding years but not less than 65 percent of parity. For example, 1956, 1957 and 1958 would be used to figure the average corn price received by farmers as the basis for determining the 1959 support price. Preliminary estimates put the average support price or loan rate for the 1959 corn crop in Nebraska at $1.05 - $1.08 a bushel.

(4) Other feed grains would have mandatory price supports. The level would be "fair and reasonable" in relation to the corn price support considering relative feed values and supply situations. These would be considerably lower than 1958 rates; grain sorghum, for example, would be about $1.60 a cwt. or 30 cents lower than this year.

CHOICE No. 2

This is essentially to continue the same type of program as in 1958 and previous years. The main features of this program are:

(1) Commercial corn area established each year.

(2) Acreage allotments in effect each year unless ended to meet a national emergency. The size of the national corn allotment is governed mostly by the corn supply. Individual farm allotments are set for all corn farms in the commercial area.

(3) Price support available in the commercial area only to those who harvest not more than their corn acreage allotments. The level of support would be from 75 to 90 percent of parity depending upon the corn supply situation. The minimum of 75 percent, or about $1.25 a bushel in Nebraska, could be expected in 1959.

(4) Feed grains and non-compliance corn would be supported at 80 percent of parity. The Secretary of Agriculture has the authority for such support but it is not mandatory. Supports would almost surely be provided at rates a little lower than this year because of the lower corn price.

WHO CAN VOTE -

Anyone in a commercial corn county who produced corn in 1958 or was entitled to share in the 1958 corn crop will be eligible.

This includes: owner-operators, cash, fixed or standing rent tenants; share tenants; and landlords of share tenants.

Landlords of cash, fixed or standing rent tenants are not eligible.

Also eligible to vote are: any operator or landlord of a farm having a 1958 corn allotment even though corn was not planted; anyone in a commercial corn area who planted corn in 1958 but did not harvest it; and anyone who placed corn allotment acres in the Soil Bank in 1958.

WHEN AND WHERE TO VOTE -

The referendum will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 25, at local community polling places as announced by the county ASC Committees.

For Wayne county these polling places are:

- Deer Creek and Sherman precincts, Farmers State Bank, Carroll
- Garfield and Hoskins precincts, Town Hall, Hoskins
- Leslie and Logan precincts, Caucus Room, City Auditorium, Wakefield
- Hunter, Plum Creek, Strahan and Wilbur precincts, ASC office, Wayne
- Brenna, Chapin and Hancock precincts, Legion Hall, Winside

DECIDING HOW TO VOTE

The choice is difficult because neither program has a clear-cut advantage over the other, either from the cash-grain farmer's financial viewpoint or as a solution to such national farm problems as: increasing feed production; growing stocks of feed grains; and ups-and-down-in-livestock production. With such limited chances of success, whichever program is chosen will last only one or two years before new legislation is enacted.

Cash-grain farmers should figure out expected returns under each of the two programs. The following example shows a procedure which might be used.

Let's assume that a Nebraska farmer has 100 acres of cropland to plant to corn or grain sorghum. Under Program No. 1 he would plant 100 acres of corn; under No. 2 his corn allotment would be 65 acres and he puts the diverted 35 acres into grain sorghum. Using 1959 expected prices and yields of 50 bushels per acre for both crops his gross income from the 100 acres would be:

(1) Program No. 1:
Corn, 5000 bu. at $1.08	$5400
(2) Program No. 2:
Corn, 3250 bu. at $1.25	$4062.50
Grain sorghum, 1750 bu. at $0.35	1662.50
Total	$5725.00

In this situation Program No. 2, the present one, has a slight financial advantage but this assumes a grain sorghum support price of about $1.70 per cwt. which is not certain at this time. If the present program is favored, the corn farmer could also ignore his allotment, taking a chance on market price or support for non-compliance corn.

Livestock producers who grow corn for feed will be concerned about the effect of these programs on feed prices. Here, too, there appears to be little difference although the "free" corn price might be a little higher under No. 1 because all corn would be eligible for price support. With average or better production in 1959, the market price would fall below the loan rate at harvest time.

Under the present program (No. 2) only about 12 percent of the corn is produced "in compliance" so a market price of $1 a bushel or less could be expected depending upon the size of the 1959 crop and non-compliance corn support policy.

Unless corn production is sharply reduced by crop failure, so that the market price exceeds the loan rate, Program No. 1 will operate to reduce the support level to the 65-percent-of-parity minimum.

USDA estimates that the 1959 level would be based on the 3-year average. In succeeding years, if the program stays in effect, support price would be reduced until the legal floor is reached.

The corn production experience of recent years shows clearly that farmers are willing to ignore allotments and produce corn for $1 a bushel or less. The prospective support level for 1959 is more likely to stimulate production expansion than to discourage corn growing.

Program No. 2, the one now in effect, is likewise self-defeating. The national corn allotment has shrunk from 49.8 million acres in 1955 to 38.8 million in 1958, and will go to about 33 million acres in 1959. There is no legal minimum corn allotment such as there is for wheat; it can go on down as the supply goes up. This shrinking allotment has been spread over more commercial corn counties, from 805 in 1955 to 932 in 1958.

Without penalties for exceeding the allotment, 85-88 percent of the corn produced in commercial areas is grown "out of compliance". Those who do comply, plant the acres diverted from corn to grain sorghum or soybeans. The widespread use of yield-increasing techniques and favorable weather have combined to push total feed supplies to an all-time high this year of nearly 240 million tons compared with the 1952-56 average of 184 million tons. Non-compliance corn and other feed grains are growing rapidly.

Neither program provides any effective method of reducing or even controlling further expansion in feed production. Both are, therefore, foredoomed to failure. SUPPORTING PRICES BY NON-RECURSIVE LOANS AND PURCHASE AGREEMENTS IS IMPOSSIBLE FOR ANY LENGTH OF TIME WITHOUT PRODUCTION CONTROLS AT WORK. The Federal Farm Board found out this simple fact nearly 30 years ago.

Further price reduction will encourage rapid expansion of livestock production with low prices for hogs, beef cattle, poultry, etc. It is possible to force downward adjustments in agricultural production if prices go low enough and stay down long enough -- adjustments like those of the 1920's and 1930's.

ALTERNATIVES -

Unless we are willing to accept the consequences of such a policy course, we must face up to the realities of the present situation and develop workable solutions for farm problems. The main alternatives are:

(1) To find ways to expand greatly the export markets for our farm products.

(2) To provide effective controls on total farm production through federal farm programs;

(3) To persuade non-farm groups to finance much larger federal price support and surplus disposal programs;

(4) To encourage group action by farmers to regulate production and marketing through cooperatives and marketing agreements.

New farm legislation, probably effective on 1960 crops, thus appears to be not only a necessity but also a certainty. If corn growers expect tighter production controls in the future and the use of historical average bases for distributing the permitted production among farmers, they might favor Program No. 1. Those who wish to retain the "basic crop" status of corn and who expect to comply with their allotment are likely to prefer the present program, called Program No. 2 on the ballot.

BRIEF and IMPORTANT

BEEF CATTLE: Number on feed Oct. 1 in 13 major feeding states was 12 percent higher than a year ago, up 21 percent in Nebraska. Length of time on feed and weights indicate marketings of fed cattle will exceed those of last year for the next 5-6 months. There was a 28 percent increase in number on feed 3-6 months, a 19 percent increase in those on feed over 6 months, and a 24 percent increase in cattle on feed weighing 900 lbs. and over. Top-grade fed cattle prices will not increase this winter as occurred a year earlier. It will not pay to hold well-finished cattle in hopes of a price recovery.

HOGS: Production will be profitable for the rest of '58 and the first half of '59 but here too a price increase like that of early '58 cannot be expected. Marketings will increase after the first of the year and continue above '58 all through the year. Prices in the fall of '59 will not go as low as in 1955 when beef supplies were also high. Top management will pay off next year; below average hog management will get hurt financially.

INCOME TAX MANAGEMENT: Net farm income of many farmers will be higher in 1958 than in 1959. Cash-basis farm taxpayers should consider legally shifting some income to next year or incur deductible expenses before the end of 1958. Sales of farm produce might be postponed. Farm production items such as feed, fertilizer and other supplies might be purchased and paid for before the end of the year.

Wayne Rips Cadets 24-7 for Playoff Crown

Local Line Outplays Vaunted West Point Forward Wall; Denesia Passes for Three

Wayne High's Blue Devils won their first Husker conference football playoff Friday night with a 24-7 victory over West Point's previously unbeaten Cadets.

It was the first playoff victory in four attempts for Wayne. The Blue Devils lost to Oakland in 1950, 1951 and 1953 championships. For West Point, it was the third defeat in four straight playoff appearances. The Cadets lost to Stanton in 1955 and Madison in 1957. They dethroned Stanton in the 1956 title game.

Despite the scoring efforts of Wayne's Roger Denesia and Warren Rodgers, credit for Friday's win must go to Wayne's unheralded line, which completely outplayed its bigger opponents.

Spotting the Cadets an average of 11 pounds per man, the Wayne line kept the West Point running attack completely in check. Wayne's defensive charging let the losers complete only five of 10 passes and rushed the Cadet passers into throwing three aerials which were intercepted.

Wayne completely dominated the game from the opening kickoff. The Blue Devils' offense was held to a field goal in the first quarter after an exchange of punts. The Blue Devils took over on their own 36 and scored in seven plays, aided by two penalties against the Cadets.

The rally came on an 18-yard pass from Denesia to Rodgers. Jim Skeahan's plunge for the extra point was a yard short.

Wayne made it 12-7 about 3 1/2 minutes before the half ended with a 74-yard march. A 16-yard end sweep by Likes and a 26-yard pass from Denesia to Doug Finn were the key plays in the move. A six-yard, Denesia-to-Rodgers pass accounted for the touchdown. A similar combination attempt for the extra point failed.

Denesia set the stage for Wayne's third touchdown four plays before the end of the third quarter. He punted the ball out of bounds of the Cadet 8. Three running plays and a 15-yard penalty for clipping put West Point on its own 13-yard line as the fourth quarter opened. Dick Jones then dropped back to punt but the pass from center was over his head and Wayne's charging line smothered his hurried boot.

Wayne took over on the Cadet 4 and West Point promptly drew a penalty for offside. A pass to Likes and Skeahan's plunge lost a yard. Denesia promptly hit Skeahan with a four-yard pass and Cadet Jones was called for roughing on the tackle. This moved the ball to the West Point 27.

After three plays saw each team penalized five yards, Denesia called for a flat pass to Rodgers. The Wayne quarterback drifted to the right, then whirled and found Rodgers alone like a duck on a pond. The pass covered 23 yards and the Wayne halfback crossed the goal line unopposed. Likes was stopped a yard short on his extra point sweep around right end.

West Point mustered its only scoring threat following this touchdown but Rodgers intercepted Vandenberg's pass on the Wayne 25 and the Blue Devils ate up the

Cadet Spoils Blue Devil Pass

Six Lettermen Return as Wayne Opens Cage Drills

Six lettermen greeted Coach Harold Maciejewski Tuesday afternoon as Wayne High's Blue Devils opened practice sessions for the 1958-59 basketball season. Heading the list of veterans is Roger Denesia, who won Class B all-state honors as a sophomore a year ago. Back with him are Doug Finn, Jim Skeahan, Dick Schmitz, Pete Guern and Bill Kneber. The latter two are also juniors.

Promising material includes Dennis Johnson, who lettered at Carroll a year ago. He is a six-foot junior. Tallest man on the squad is Freshman Don Larsen, who stands 6-4.

Expected to give the veterans plenty of competition are Senior Dick Hammer, Junior Bill Witt and Freshman Buster Likes. The varsity squad also includes Burnell Baker, Monty Schram, Bob Gilliland, Ken Vogel and Marilyn Lessman.

Wayne gained a state tournament berth a year ago and ended with a 17-2 season's record. The Blue Devils were Husker conference division and playoff champions.

Opening game of the new season is less than two weeks away. The Blue Devils travel to Hartington Dec. 2. The first home game is scheduled Dec. 5 with

McGee Cops NAIA, AAU Crowns in Omaha Saturday

Merle McGee, WSTC's track cross-country runner added two more crowns to his collection Saturday when he won the individual championships in the combined Midwest AAU and District 11 NAIA meet at Omaha.

McGee established a new record of 21:24 on the hilly four-mile course in Elmwood park. The old record of 21:59 was established a year ago.

A Gimby, La. senior, McGee will lay his four-year undefeated record on the line Nov. 29 when he enters the national NAIA meet at Omaha. Coach Don Emery also plans to enter Don Weitzkamp, Lyons sophomore, in that meet. Weitzkamp finished sixth behind four Kearney runners in Saturday's competition.

Kearney copped the team championships in both the AAU and NAIA divisions with 22 and 25 points, respectively. Wayne placed second in both divisions with 52 and 46.

Winside, Coleridge Place 10 Players on All-Loop Squad

Co-champions Winside and Coleridge placed five men each on the Cornsall conference all-star squad selected at a meeting of coaches last Tuesday night at Wausa.

Wayne Prep placed three players on the all-conference squad as did Wausa. Osmond and Newcastle placed one each.

The squad includes: Ends—Jim Morrison, Coleridge and Jim Koch and Dennis Bowers, Winside.

Guards: Ron Peck, Coleridge; Wendell Libensood, Winside, and Don Wehrlich, Wausa.

Centers: Jerry Kingston, Wayne Prep. and Ron Wecker, Osmond.

Backs: Glen Anderson, Roger Fleener and Bill Young, Coleridge; Bill Ditman and Ken Nettleton, Winside; Allan Bauman, Newcastle; Rolan Anderson and David Banks, Wausa, and Vince Magnuson and Mike Perry, Wayne Prep.

Conference schools are now turning their attention to basketball. Wausa and Prep were co-champions a year ago.

Wausa, which gained the state tournament last spring, is a favorite to repeat of league champ. The Vikings will be led by Dennis Johnson and Bob Skalberg, who were all-conference last season.

Other returning all-conference players are Winside's Bill Ditman and Jim Koch.

Why Build a New School in Wayne?

With the question of a $424,000 bond issue for a new elementary school coming to a vote Dec. 9, many residents of District 17 are asking, "Why build a new school?"

Here, as presented by the school board, are some of the conditions that exist in the present school building:

Overcrowding exists from the sixth grade down to kindergarten. Although most educators agree that classrooms should not handle more than 25 students, most of the elementary grades have over 30 students in each room.

The first grade now is split into two sections with a total of 35 pupils. Next year these 35 will be crowded into one room.

Second grade has 30; third has 35, fourth, 32; fifth, 37, and sixth, 38. Each year this bulge in enrollment will work up one more grade.

Early this year the school board asked the state department of education to conduct a survey of conditions and report their findings. The report concurred in most of the findings in the same type survey taken in 1955. The latest report suggested:

1. Begin plans for a new elementary school plant to be located on the new site. Present and projected elementary enrollments of the Wayne school district necessitates 1 1/2 classrooms for each grade.

2. Complete separation of elementary and secondary facilities is desirable. The new site would be more suitable for elementary school activities than the present site. It would be well to keep the high school near the city auditorium.

3. Remodel present facilities to provide adequately for a six-year high school program. This calls for special attention to needs in shop, music, science, art and library.

In discussions school board members have said they could save much in the cost of construction by building an elementary school on the new site and using the present building for high school because there would be no need for gymnasium space for basketball games and the new site would provide adequate playground space for elementary students.

In addition, best estimates of the cost of the high school run between $800,000 and $1,000,000—twice the cost of the proposed plan where we would remodel the present high school and build an elementary school.

It seems the most logical course of action to take the proposed plan as it now stands. For the $424,000 we would get two schools—a new elementary and an adequate high school program with an opportunity to develop and expand the junior high curriculum. And we would keep costs at a reasonable minimum but maintain a high level of education for Wayne county children.

Formidable 1960 Candidates Main Problem for State GOP

Lincoln—The Republican party in Nebraska is undergoing a painful self-examination. There have been many statements on what ails the state GOP, but generally two suggestions for remedy: strong candidates in 1960 and more hard work at the local level.

After Thanksgiving, GOP leaders will put their heads together to map strategy for 1960. An initial survey of party stalwarts indicated strong support for Chairman Richard Spelts, Jr. Grand Island, and the work done on the 1958 campaign.

David Martin, Kearney, kicked off the fuss with a charge that the party was at its lowest ebb since 1940. Martin is a former chairman. He criticized Spelts for "paper organization."

Main problem in 1960 will be getting formidable candidates for governor, state treasurer and the Third and Fourth Congressional districts.

There is expected to be a scramble within the party at the 1960 primary since the myth of invincibility of the GOP at the polls has been shattered as well as the protocol of not going against the incumbent who wants to run again.

Meanwhile, a Lincoln man and long-time party member, John Quinn, suggested a new procedure. Quinn posed the question as to whether it would be desirable to have legislation provide no person could become a candidate for party office until the party label unless endorsed by a nominating committee from the party with which the candidates wants to identify himself.

Members of the nominating committee—Quinn suggested two men and two women in each legislative district—would be elected from each party. All 172 from each party would meet at state conventions to select two or three candidates to run for office.

In the last 10 years, Quinn said, there has been a "gradual disintegration of both political parties."

Quinn argues that the system would insure Nebraska voters that the candidates would be qualified whereas the open primary which now allows anyone to file, does not.

"We should be honest with ourselves and either abolish the political parties in Nebraska or give them some responsibilities of leadership and a voice in the selection of their candidates," Quinn said.

He said there have been occasions where candidates have been elected who disagreed with the principles of the party under which they filed for office and disregarded the party's stand on matters.

Road Ratings—The law on rating of roads for priority in improvement is not mandatory. That fact has been stressed recently by State Engineer N. Reas.

Reas said the law says only that the system shall be used "where practicable." Future state administrations, he said, could decide to junk the system.

Under the procedure, every mile of state highway is rated by various engineering methods to determine which sections of road should be constructed first. Up to Oct. 30 of this year, the engineer commented, more money has been obligated for highway construction than in all of 1957.

Health Board—Dr. C. B. Edwards, Lincoln, has been appointed to the State Board of Health.

The appointment was by Gov. Victor Anderson who said he made the selection before the general election because it was felt a Constitutional amendment relating to appointments would not pass.

However, the amendment—which permits members of executive

County Agent's Column . . . University Economist Lists Two Methods Of Setting Value of Cornstalk Pasture

There are at least two ways farmers can determine the value of cornstalk pasture, according to Dean Brown, University of Nebraska farm economist.

If ear corn loss in the field does not exceed 10 per cent, the farmer should use a three-to-five-bushels-per-acre-a-bushel-of-10-cents-per-head-per-day-for-beef-cows-and-yearling-steers-should-be-a-fair-rental-charge.

If ear corn losses exceed five bushels per acre, a fair charge would be one-half the value of the corn. This is normally what a farmer can expect to pay if someone is hired to pick up the corn, Brown points out.

To prevent problems in determining rent, check the loss prior to turning cattle in the fields. Then check the corn left in the field at the conclusion of the pasturing season. This may be important only if bad weather sets in and the cattle cannot fully utilize the corn left in the field.

The amount of corn left in the field will be determined by weighing the ears found in 150 feet of a corn row. This procedure should be repeated several places over the field to figure an average loss.

The weight in pounds equals the bushels per acre.

Grade A Milk Law—Legislative Bill 584, passed by the last session of the Nebraska Legislature, becomes effective July 1, 1959. The bill states that all milk, cream, buttermilk or skim milk sold in this state should be labeled Grade A and must meet all Grade A requirements.

Farm News and Views . . . Increased Corn Acreage Seen Regardless Of Nov. 25 Corn Referendum Decision

LOOK FOR INCREASED corn acreage next year regardless of how the Nov. 25 corn referendum goes, active farm economists say.

If the old program of corn allotments and high support prices is voted back, many more growers will overplant their allotments than before in order to have efficient farm operations and greater returns.

NEW FARMING methods have many farm leases inequitable, but it is still just as important for both the landlord and tenant to be completely satisfied, say professional farm managers.

PRICES OF FED CATTLE will likely retain their recent gains and might increase somewhat before the end of the year, says the Department of Agriculture.

Feeder prices, boosted by abundant feed and excellent ranges, may be about unchanged this winter. They're not likely to advance steadily as last year, the department says.

cal situation, the foreign policy or most anything that come along. But now we got orange juice and a piece of toast. I think the nation will have to get back to eating breakfast if it wants to handle the problem of grain slaughter cattle.

Uncle Zeke FROM Plum Creek says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: If you'd keep count of it you'd find that about half the space used by newspapers from day to day is quoting what the big boys say.

It sounds like a mighty small thing, but it's fundamental and I think you'd track a heap of our mistakes to the time when folks quit eating breakfast and took a piece of toast, a sip of orange juice and a gulp of coffee.

Our grandfathers wouldn't never been able to build this nation if they had sloshed down their coffee, grabbed a piece of dry toast, kissed Grandma goodbye on the run and finished dressing after they got the mules hitched up to the plow.

Back in the days when this nation was getting its solid foundation, folks set down and had a meal for breakfast. The table was heaped with good vittles, the big steaming pot of coffee-boiled on the back of the stove.

With a breakfast like that under his belt a man could go out and handle a team of mules, the politi-
