Koeber Eludes Nelig Defense to Score

Neligh Balance, Rebounding Fell Wayne Here Friday Night

L. Hoepfinger Hits Clincher

Neligh's Warriors used their superior height and team balance to edge Wayne High's Blue Devils 63-62 in a hard-fought Husker conference battle Friday night at the city auditorium.

Led by the rebounding and scoring of Bill Brungardt, the Warriors ran their league record to 1-1. Wayne is now 2-3 in the loop with its conference season completed. Neligh maintained its hopes of overtaking Plainview for the West division crown. The two teams meet Feb. 20 at Neligh.

Friday night the Warriors used a fighting defense to keep Wayne shooting from the outside, ran up a 10-point lead in the third period and then staved off a desperate Wayne rally in the closing minutes.

Lynn Hoepfinger dropped in the clinching points in the last 1 1/2 minutes with a basket and two free throws. A minute earlier Dick Schmitz had put Wayne ahead 60-59 with a pair of charity tosses.

With 35 seconds remaining, Hoepfinger was fouled by Schmitz and dropped two free throws to make it 63-60. Roger Denesia then hit a 25-foot jump shot to pull Wayne within one point.

Denesia intentionally fouled Steve Mitchell with five seconds left and the strategy almost paid off. Mitchell missed both free throws and Wayne got possession. Denesia's jump shot from near the center of the court hit the rim and bounded off as the final buzzer sounded.

Strong defensive rebounding by Brungardt enabled the Warriors to maintain the lead through most of the game. Wayne's first lead came at 55-55 on Schmitz's two free throws with 3:35 left in the final quarter.

Brungardt and Doug Finn then traded baskets to make it 58-57 with 3:05 left. Brungardt's two free throws put Neligh ahead 59-58 but Schmitz then countered with his two gift tosses. Then came the Hoepfinger clincher. Wayne's only other threat was a 2 1/2 tie in the opening minutes of the game.

Statistics show defensive rebounds provided the final difference. Wayne was out-rebounded 30-18 off the defensive boards. The Blue Devils led 20-18 offensively. Wayne also had a 24-23 edge in field goals and made 14 of 16 free throws. Neligh managed 17 of 28 charity tosses.

Denesia and Brungardt, junior standouts for both teams, were almost deadlocked in their scoring battle. Denesia finished with 25 points, one less than the 6-5 Warrior center. Only two of Denesia's shots were layups, the others coming on one-hand shots from 12 feet or further out. He garnered 16 of his points in the first half.

After taking a 14-11 lead in the first quarter, Neligh widened the margin in the second eight minutes via the free-throw line. The Warriors dropped nine of 12 chances to lead 33-25 at intermission.

The visitors were extremely warm from the field in the third quarter, hitting nine of 16 shots for 56 percent. Wayne managed to stay within nine points, 53-44, as the period ended.

Pete Guern sparked Wayne's surge in the final quarter. He hit eight points in the first three minutes to tie the count at 54-all. Seconds later he drew his fifth personal and Wayne's pressing defense lost its effectiveness.

Wayne made 24 of 79 shots in the game for 30.3 percent. Neligh had 23 of 67 for 34.3.

Prep Continues Wausa Hex With 54-52 Win Thursday

Wayne Prep's Panthers continued their hex over Wausa Thursday night with a 54-52 victory over the Vikings at the old college gym. It was the fourth victory over the Vikings in four years by the Panthers and the total margin of all four games is only seven points.

Vince Magnuson's basket with only six seconds left in the game provided Thursday's clincher. It was the only time in the game that Prep held the lead—but it was the time that counted.

The Panthers trailed throughout the game. Wayne led by as much as 11 points in the closing part of the third quarter. Only two minutes were left in the game when the Vikings led by eight points. Then Prep rattled off six straight free throws, two each by Magnuson and Jerry Kingston and one each by Fred Bernthal and Mike Perry.

The Panthers then applied a full court press which rattled the Vikings. Prep got possession and Magnuson fired a 20-foot shot to tie the game at 52-all. Wausa gained hope when Bob Skalberg was fouled but he missed the free throw and Kingston took the rebound for Wayne Prep.

Prep moved the ball up court deliberately and worked for one final shot. The strategy paid off when Perry's pass over the defense found Magnuson alone under the basket for the winning layup.

Bill Reeg and Kingston were outstanding on rebounding for Prep, but it was Magnuson who led in scoring. Surprisingly, he had been on crutches two days before, after a bad ankle sprain. He finished with 18 points, 10 of them in the final quarter. Dennis Johnson was tops for the losers with 19.

Wausa held a 23-19 edge in field goals, but Prep made good on 16 of 24 charity tosses to six of 17 for the Vikings.

Panthers to Face Faculty Tonight

It will be youth versus experience in the old college gym tonight when Wayne Prep's Panthers take on a college-Prep faculty team.

The benefit game for the Prep Pep club will start at 7:30.

Head Coach Frank Williams said he figures on playing with the faculty against his own team — if the faculty will let him play. He admits to being prejudiced for the Panthers to win. On the other hand, faculty team members conceded they will need all the manpower they can muster.

Peru, Hastings to Provide Siff Wildcat Home Tests

Wayne State's Wildcats will get their stiffest home tests this weekend when they entertain Peru and Hastings in NCC battles Friday and Saturday at the Rice field-house.

Wayne split conference games this weekend, dropping a 58-55 decision to Wesleyan at the field-house Friday night and then topping Midland 83-72 Saturday night at Fremont.

A victory over Concordia here Tuesday night gave the Wildcats a 5-4 loop record in conference play, good enough for sixth place in the loop.

Several current season records went into the books as Wayne triumphed Midland Saturday night. The Wildcats reached their highest point total of the year in scoring the upset. They also made the most free throws (25) and took the most free throws (38). The Wildcats were 23 of 37 against Chadrion.

Two Wildcats staged their best scoring performances of the season. Jerry Hueser, who was high for both teams, had 21 points and Gerry Wisniewski added 16.

Midland started a fast pace which forced Wayne into a far different game than the defensive battles waged by the Wildcats in their past three outings. Wayne adjusted quickly and kept within range at 40-35 at intermission. Bob Moore and Hueser hit 12 and nine points, respectively, in the first 20 minutes.

Wayne shifted into high gear after the break and outdid the Warriors at their own game.

Wayne hit 48 points in the final half. Hueser's long shot gave Wayne a 47-46 lead with 15 minutes remaining. The lead then changed hands several times before Wayne finally pulled away. The Wildcats led by 16 points with less than two minutes left.

Wayne played without Coach Moe Radovich on the bench. The mention of his name with the Saturday and Assistant Carl Ellermeier took over the reins Saturday night.

Wayne also played both weekend games without the services of center Ken Dahl, who sprained an ankle during practice.

Against Wesleyan Friday night Wayne built a 26-24 halftime lead, but went cold in the second half and saw the victory slip away.

Wesleyan hit 24 of 28 charity tosses to beat Wayne at its own game. Rudy Stoehr hit 11 of 12 and finished with 21 points. Bob Moore topped Wayne with 13.

The 1959 Nebraska Farm Outlook

"Our Roots Are In This Land"

FARM REVIEW AND FORECAST

Business - Government - Agriculture In 1959

BUSINESS OUTLOOK BETTER BUT NO BOOM IN SIGHT

Business activity in the nation will be greater in 1959 than last year. Recovery from the 1957-58 recession will continue. A quick return to boom conditions with strong inflationary pressures is not likely unless the foreign situation should get worse. Improvement will be gradual and seems to be solidly based rather than speculative. Business in Nebraska, which improved during 1957 and 1958, may again run counter to national trends because of the expected decline in net farm income.

In the year ahead we can expect the gross national product, the value of all goods and services produced, to rise from last year's $435 billion to at least $470 billion. Consumer spending, which is about two-thirds of total expenditures, will go up by $10.12 billion, reflecting higher wages, salaries and profits.

Government spending on goods and services will be at least $5 billion higher than in 1958. The main reasons for expecting gradual growth in our economy rather than rapid expansion are: our ability to produce the rate of family formation; and credit restrictions.

Unless offset by greater productivity per worker, the 1958 and 1959 wage increases will mean that both consumer and production items will cost more this year.

Consumers' incomes, except farmers', will be higher this year and total spending will also go up. The gain for food and services will be roughly proportional to that of income and could be greater.

Our large crop of "war babies" is now reaching the stage of rapid growth with high food and clothing consumption and greater need for medical, dental, educational and recreational services. This means a strong demand for food and other "nondurables."

Credit will be tighter and more costly in 1959 than in the past year. The Federal Reserve Board is trying to encourage economic recovery and expansion and at the same time control inflation. Rediscunt rates to commercial banks were raised again last fall after having been lowered earlier to stimulate business.

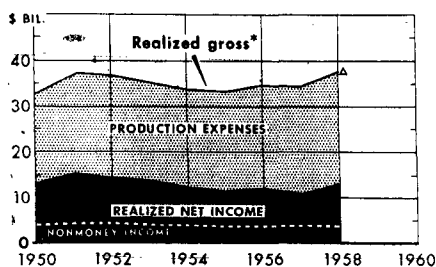

Looking farther ahead, continued inflation or decline in the purchasing power of the dollar can be expected in business and personal affairs should be planned and managed accordingly.

Costs to Rise

Cost of living will edge upward in 1959 but the rise will be slower than in recent years. Lower food costs and greater output of consumers' goods will mostly offset higher labor costs and service charges. Abundant farm production and lower prices for farm products will again provide a subsidy-in-reverse, from farm to non-farm people.

In 1959, Nebraska business conditions will be less favorable than in the nation generally. Farm income will decline only moderately if crop production is high again but more severely if drought should recur.

GROSS AND NET INCOME UP SHARPLY IN 1958

Costs of state and local governments have risen every year since the end of World War II and recently have gone up about $3 billion annually. Their purchases of goods and services amounts to $40 billion or nearly 10 percent of gross national product. Governmental costs will also rise in Nebraska.

The national Congress can be expected to provide additional tax breaks for small businesses, including farms. Labor legislation has a better chance of passage, since 1959 is not a Congressional election year. Federal aid to education may be broadened and extended.

NET INCOME FOR FARMERS WILL BE LOWER IN 1959

Net farm income, the keep-home pay of farm families, will be lower in both Nebraska and the U. S. in 1959 than last year.

The improvement in consumers' income, and our growing population will provide a strong and expanding domestic market for farm products in the year ahead.

Here in Nebraska, as in other Plains States, weather uncertainty must be added to the factors affecting farm income. In 1958, Nebraska farmers enjoyed an especially favorable combination of excellent crop growing and harvesting conditions and high hog and cattle prices. Odds are heavily against a repetition of such a combination this year. Topsoils were generally dry over the state as 1958 neared its end.

FARM COSTS UP AGAIN FOR 1959 PRODUCTION

Farm costs are expected to increase again in 1959. Total farm production expenditures were about 6 percent greater in 1958 than in 1957.

However, with the 1958 farm output about 8 percent greater than 1957, costs per unit of farm production were slightly lower. It is not anticipated that farm output will rise enough in 1959 to offset the expected increase in farm costs. As a result both absolute and relative farm costs seem certain to increase.

The following chart shows only two exceptions to cost increases of major farm production items in 1958.

* Feeder Livestock	Up 23%
* Taxes	Up 7%
* Farm Wages	Up 5%
Farm Machinery	Up 5%
Motor Vehicles	Up 4%
Farm Supplies	Up 3%
Seed	Up 3%
Building and Fencing	Up 1%
* Feed	Up 1%
Motor Supplies	Down 1%
Fertilizer	Down 1%

OCT. 15 FIGURES

The greatest farm cost increase was for feeder and replacement livestock. While the cost of almost every class and kind of livestock increased, the major share of the increase can be attributed to sharp price advances for milk cows and feeder cattle.

Farm real estate prices continued to rise. The general trend of rural land prices has been upward since 1934 and there is no evidence that this trend will not continue in the foreseeable future.

In the first half of 1958, any inclination to increase farm labor rates was dampened by the business recession. For a time farm wages showed considerable stability, but in the latter part of the year the long term upward trend in wages was resumed.

Higher steel prices and industrial wages and higher farm incomes pushed prices of farm machinery and motor vehicles to record highs.

Only a slight increase in building and fencing material costs occurred in 1958. Other farm cost items exhibiting only minor increases or decreases were fertilizer, motor supplies and feed.

The Nebraska farm cost situation usually follows the national pattern quite closely. Little or no decline in feeder cattle prices is expected in 1959. Feed grain prices will be lower next year.

Wholesale list price increases and improved income positions of both dealers and farmers mean further increases in the prices paid for farm machinery, automobiles and trucks. A rise is likewise anticipated in the cost of building and fencing materials as industrial wages increase and building activity expands. Relatively stable prices are again expected for motor supplies and fertilizer.

Land and property taxes in Nebraska will increase in 1959. Increasing demands for more services by local and state governments coupled with the property tax as the chief source of revenue make land and property tax increases in Nebraska inevitable.

FEED and LIVESTOCK

FEED SUPPLIES LARGE AND STILL GROWING

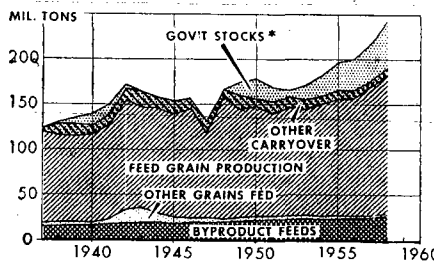

A record production of feed grains in 1958, added to the largest carryover on record, has resulted in the largest total supply of feed concentrates that the United States has ever had.

In 1958, yields of nearly all crops were substantially above average. Per-acre yields of corn, grain sorghum and soybeans were at record levels. Not only yields, but total production of each of these crops was at record levels. Total production of all feed grains was about 7 percent above that of 1957, and approximately 25 percent above the five year (1952-56) average.

Even though the number of grain-consuming animal units is expected to be greater during the 1958-59 feeding season, the supply of feed concentrates per grain-consuming animal unit will be at record levels and more than ample. The carryover as of Oct. 1, 1959, is expected to be about 75 million tons—some 16 million tons, or roughly 25 percent, larger than it was this fall.

Little in the picture indicates any substantial or sustained weakening of feed grain prices during the next eight to ten months. Moisture content of both corn and grain sorghum at harvest time this fall was such that storage will be no problem in most instances.

PRODUCTION AND STOCKS OF FEED CONCENTRATES AGAIN INCREASE

Because of the large crop in 1958 and efforts of farmers to shift part of their income into 1959, there might be some bunching of feed grain sales after January.

This likely will not be of much importance, however, and prices are expected to stay at or above present levels most of the time between now and the time when next year's crop becomes available. Support prices for non-allotment corn will tend to serve as both a floor and a ceiling for feed grain prices. Feeding ratios for all types of livestock are unusually favorable at the present time.

Although hay production in the United States was not quite as high in 1958 as it was in 1957, the carryover was sufficiently large to make the total supply of hay even larger than it was a year ago. Supplies are generally good in nearly all areas.

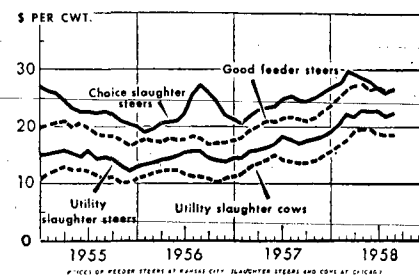

Deterioration of range and pasture conditions this fall may result in a greater demand for hay than has been anticipated. In most instances, however, supplies of hay are sufficient to take care of almost any emergency. It does not seem likely that hay prices will change much prior to next year's growing season.

CATTLE PRICES—NO MAJOR CHANGE

Production of slaughter beef is expected to be smaller in 1958-59 than in the previous year, largely as a result of continued withholding of cows and heifers for breeding purposes. Although both the 1957 and 1958 calf crops for United States were lower than that of the preceding year, the number of calves born in the 17 western states (principal beef producing states) was larger in each year than in the year before. It would appear that beef cattle numbers are on their way up.

CATTLE PRICES HIGH - FED STEER MARGIN SMALL

On the basis of past experience, prices for cattle can be expected to stay high for another year at least—and probably two. Large supplies of pork are not expected to depress beef prices to any appreciable extent. As long as cattle numbers are relatively low, price spreads between grades can be expected to be narrower than usual. This will tend to be true of breeding, feeding and slaughter cattle.

Heifer prices will be relatively high compared to steer prices at the feeder level. Prices of feeder cattle in the fall of 1959 will depend a great deal on the feed situation which develops next summer. Feed grain prices are almost certain to be as high or higher during the 1959-60 feeding season than they will be in 1958-59.

A smaller production of feed grains would seem more probable in 1959 than another crop of record proportions. The number of grain-consuming animal units is expected to be larger. These factors would tend to raise the price of feed grains a year from now.

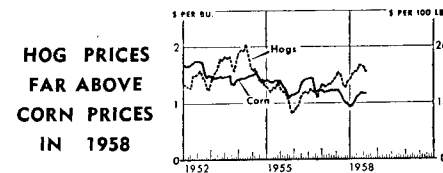

It seems unlikely that prices of feeder cattle will be much higher a year from now than they have been this fall. Continued dry conditions in range areas and a short feed grain crop could result in lower prices for feeder cattle a year from now. Prices of slaughter cattle are expected to follow a more normal seasonal price trend in 1959 but changes will be minor.

HOG PRICES LESS FAVORABLE

The hog corn ratio has been unusually favorable for some time. Last June, farmers indicated their intentions to increase farrowings this fall by about 14 percent as compared to a year ago. The Dec. 1 pig crop report indicates that the number of pigs farrowed and saved during the months of June through November was actually 17 percent larger than a year ago. An increase of perhaps 10 or even 15 percent in the 1959 spring pig crop seems likely.

Hogs farrowed this fall will begin to hit the market soon after the first of the year; however, the bulk of the increase in marketing probably will not come until March or April.

Any increase in spring farrowings will begin to hit the market in early summer, although the big increase will come in October, November and December.

ber. The announcement of supports for non-allotment 1958 corn will tend to keep some of the "inners-and-outers" out.

It does not seem likely that hog prices will go as high during the summer of 1959 as they did in 1958; an early top of $18 would seem more likely. They can be expected to drop considerably in the fall of 1959—perhaps to as low as $12 if earlier intentions are carried out. With corn at around $1.05 - $1.10 a bushel and supplement at $5 or more per cwt., hog producers with no more than average ability would find it difficult to make ends meet at prices they are likely to receive next December. Such a situation is likely to lead to increased interest in feeding contracts or integration by hog producers.

Because of generally good condition of winter wheat seeded this fall, there was a good demand for lambs to go on wheat pasture. Slaughter prices have been working downward. Lambs going to market in early 1959 are apt to run into rather stiff competition from large supplies of cattle and hogs marketed in this time of year. Margins between selling and buying prices are narrow at best—about the same as a year ago.
