Planting Farmers' Grain Samples

440—4, 5 or 8 bottoms. And do a better job.
You can make it the size you want, too—in a few minutes. Just bolt on an Oliver preassembled unit ...add one or two bottoms to a 4-bottom plow. Big passageways for trash enable you to go deeper, plow cleaner. There's more clearance beneath beams, between bottoms. Lift clearance is constant, a full 7½ inches from any depth.
Spring-trip releases permit bottoms to swing back, ride over obstructions without damage. To reset, merely back the plow. Saves time—no rehitching or recoupling. Steerable front wheel, 15-inch wheels all around, backbone of tubular steel, low-cost Raydex shares.
