Hoppers Hit County Fields
GRASSHOPPERS are making inroads in county crops this week as hot dry weather provides them with ideal weather. The picture here was taken Monday in a field near Altona where thousands of hoppers moved in over the weekend. Many of the insects are in alfalfa fields and move out into corn when the hay is mowed. Assistant County Agent Everett Rieck said hopper reports are coming in from all over the county. The only effective way to combat them is to spray on a community-wide basis, he said, with six or more sections at a time engaging in the fight. There are more grasshoppers than is generally realized, Rieck added.

Concord Youth in Custody Following Shooting Monday

A 13-year-old Concord farm youth will appear in Dixon County court Friday for a preliminary hearing following an incident in which he reportedly shot his foster mother's sister Monday morning. David Hansen was taken into custody by Dixon County Sheriff Gus Schutte about 1 p.m. Monday after a widespread search. The youth was discovered near a field fence five miles north of Wayne and about 80 rods east of Highway 15. Authorities were alerted Monday morning after the youth was said to have shot Mrs. Lucy Otwell about 9:30 a.m. at the home of his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hansen, 2 1/2 miles southeast of Concord. Sheriff Schutte said Mrs. Otwell was shot when a .22 rifle discharged while she was struggling to take it from the boy. She was taken to the Wayne hospital where she was reported in good condition Wednesday morning. She underwent surgery Monday afternoon for the gunshot wound. The Dixon sheriff said the youth did not have the gun in his possession when he was apprehended. A car he had taken from his foster father's farm had been abandoned two miles west of the farm.

Ensemble, SAC Band Slated at WSTC

THE BOSTON CONCERT ensemble will present a program at 8 p.m. Monday at the WSTC administration building auditorium. Members of the ensemble are Nancy Cirillo, violinist; William Stevens, pianist; John Horner, bass-baritone, and Colette Rushford, harpist. Each will present solo numbers during Monday's program. A return engagement by the Strategic Air command band is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Willow bowl. Both concerts are open to the public.

Hearing Set Wednesday

A tentative levy of 4.96 mills to meet the 1959 Wayne county budget was calculated this week by County Clerk C. A. Bard. County commissioners will hold a public hearing at 10 a.m. Wednesday on the budget proposal. The 1959 levy represents a drop of nearly eight-tenths of a mill from 1958. This means taxes would decrease 78 cents for each $1,000 of valuation. This is the second straight year the county levy has been reduced. Bard said the reduction was accomplished despite the fact budget requests were up in every case except the county fair. The decrease was made possible by large cash balances in most funds and an increase of about $1 1/2 million in the county's assessed valuation. This year's total valuation is $27,708,510 as compared to $26,457,235 last year. Thus each mill levied in 1959 will bring about $27,700 compared to $26,460 last year. The cut in the levy means county taxpayers will pay about $14,000 less in taxes than they did for 1958. County budget requirements are up about $19,000 this year. The biggest jump is an $18,000 increase in the road fund budget. This was partially offset by eliminating the emergency bridge budget, which was $5,500 a year ago. Bard's report shows the county had about $60,000 more on hand July 1 than it did the previous year. This is the biggest factor in the levy reduction. The table below shows a comparison of the mill levies for 1957-59:

Table with 4 columns: Fund, 1957, 1958, 1959. Rows include General, Bridge, Road, County Relief, Soldiers, Sailors, Relief, and County Fair.

Aug 10 Hearing Set For Dissolving School

A hearing has been scheduled Aug. 10 in the dissolution of Wayne County School District 85 under the five-year contracting law. The hearing will be held at the Wayne courthouse before County Supt. Gladys Porter and Stanton County Supt. Bess Waring. Portions of the district will be attached to Districts 9 (Hoskins) and 11, Wayne county, and District 26, Stanton county. Bulk of the old district will go to the Hoskins district.

Merchants Set Up New Check Warning Plan

The telephone tree system enables the Chamber to alert all members in about six minutes. Similar plans have been very successful in Fremont and Norfolk.

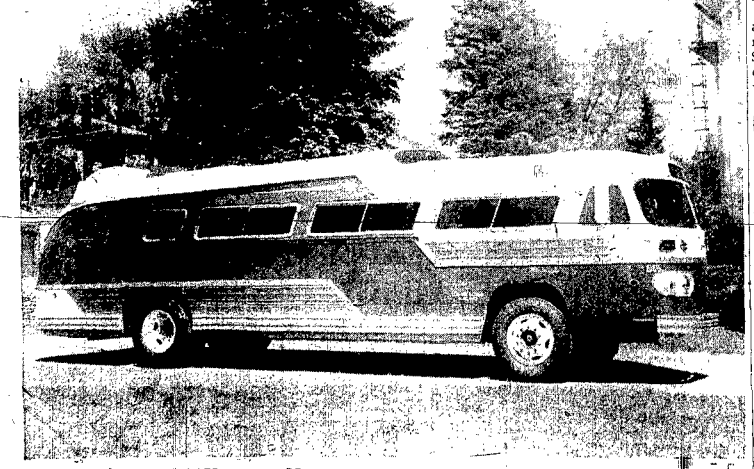

Hearings Scheduled Monday On Two Redistricting Plans

Public hearings on two proposed mergers of Wayne county schools will be held Monday, it was announced today by Gordon Nuernberger, chairman of the Wayne County School Reorganization committee. Both plans were disapproved at a meeting of the State Reorganization committee last Tuesday. The plans under consideration would merge District 29 to District 51 and District 37 to District 5. Nuernberger said the 20-51 merger will be discussed at 8 p.m. The 37-5 hearing is at 8:30. Hubert L. Wolfe, acting secretary for the State Reorganization committee, will attend both hearings. Wolfe, in a letter to County Supt. Gladys Porter concerning the 37-5 plan, said: "The committee voted to express disapproval of the merger proposal which will result in an enlarged district being formed which has a history of contracting with other districts for education of their children. Efforts to reopen the school would certainly not be in the best interests of the children involved. Changes in school district boundaries should be made only after careful consideration of the kind of educational program which is going to result for the children. The legal voters of this area should most certainly begin working toward organization of a comprehensive district which can provide a complete program for all the pupils residing therein." The acting secretary also wrote concerning the 20-51 merger. The letter was very similar except for See SCHOOL HEARINGS—page 3

Slate Trial Today For Alleged Forger

Charlie Ward, 57, permanent address unknown, will appear in District court today on a charge of forgery. Ward was bound over to the District court Monday afternoon following a preliminary hearing before Acting County Judge John T. Bressler, Jr. Ward pleaded guilty to giving a forged check in the amount of $26 to Central market Saturday night. The check was drawn on the First National bank, Wayne, and was signed "Robert West." When questioned by County Attorney Charles McDermott, Ward said he had a periodic habit of forging checks. He said his first arrest for forgery was in 1928. Ward was remanded to the county jail until today's trial.

Festivities will open with the annual horseshoe pitching contest at 10 a.m. The children's parade, using a "Junior Professionals" theme, gets underway at 10:30. Speed Limits Set by Drivers, Not Signs

(Editor's Note — Six broad recommendations for improving traffic operation in Wayne were recently presented to the city council by the traffic engineering section of the State Highway department. This is the first of a series of articles dealing with these recommendations and the state's explanations for making them.) Vehicle speed limits are always one of the first studies incorporated in any traffic survey. The study of speed in Wayne consisted of observing and recording speed of approximately 1,450 drivers at seven strategically determined spots on Highways 15 (Main street) and 35 (Seventh street) in the city. Based on these checks and the principles and concepts of speed limit determination, a system of reasonable and proper speed limits was designed and recommended for highways in Wayne. The recommendations would make the speed limit 30 miles per hour on Seventh street throughout the city. The current limit is 25. The same 30-mile limit would apply to Main street north of Seventh and south of the municipal light plant. The area between the light plant and Seventh on Main would remain a 25 mile per hour zone. In any effort to control and expedite traffic, it is important to realize that the vast majority of drivers are good drivers. In the matter of traffic control such as speed zones, action is prompted by the inconsiderate and unthinking driving practices of only a comparative few of the total number of drivers. In an effort to "get at" those few, it is not reasonable, or logical to apply measures which penalize the majority who are not causing trouble. Therefore, it has become an established practice by traffic engineers to use the good drivers as a "yardstick" to determine traffic control, especially speed limits. Most authorities agree that the speed known as the "85 percentile" is a reasonable speed for posting a limit. The "85 percentile" speed is that at or under which 85 percent of the driving public is traveling—in other words, a speed which is exceeded by not more than 15 drivers out of every 100. It is also in accord with the limitation on the capabilities of any enforcement agency to adequately and reasonably support a set of speed limits. By gaining the cooperation of the majority of drivers, proper speed zoning can accomplish other traffic improvements. The first 18th speed differential (the range between SPEED LIMITS—page 3)

Tape Recorder, Audiometer Vital Tools For Instructor in Local Speech Clinic

"S" is for snake and it's surprising what that kind of earthy comparison does to help youngsters improve their speaking ability.

It is one device Dr. Helen Russell, WSTC speech professor, uses in her summer speech clinic. She also uses numerous other ways to help children, in small groups, learn the right pronunciation of difficult words.

She had four children working on the "S" for snake routine when a reporter and photographer came to observe the clinic. Dr. Russell greeted her class with a cheery comment and got an equally cheery reply, undimmed even by the fact some of the children had to relinquish their chewing gum.

Donning earphones, they listened to each other pronounce the names of various snake-sound animals which Dr. Russell showed them in pictures. They also did some tape recording so each could hear how he sounded.

Turning to another technique, Dr. Russell announced it was scrapbook time. Each child had cut out pictures and words from magazines to illustrate the snake sounds — skirts, bicycles, cents, soap, etc. The clippings, carefully trimmed and dabbed with paste, went into the scrapbooks, which already were loaded with other sound illustrations.

Thirty minutes went by before the youngsters realized it and they would have stayed longer but for children in the next class already popping their heads in the door, wanting to know when they could start their lesson.

LOOKING AT THEMSELVES in the mirror as they make the "th" sound are some of Dr. Helen Russell's students who are attending the annual speech clinic at WSTC. In order to get the correct sound, the children make use of mirrors and a tape recorder.

Let New WSTC Dorm Bid; Board Okays Tuition Hike

WSTC is on the way to building a new dormitory as a result of bid openings by the State Normal board last Wednesday in Lincoln.

The dorm, housing 328 students, will be erected west of Terrace hall and north of the Tenth and Nebraska streets intersection. It will have two units, linked by a common lounge and recreation room. Though intended for men, it is designed for use either by men or women in any one year, depending on the need.

In other action the Normal board approved a tuition increase for all state teachers colleges, effective this fall. The increase is $15 a semester for all undergraduate students. Nebraska graduates will pay $90 instead of $75; out-of-staters $140 instead of $125.

Summer school tuition for 1959 for Nebraska students and $75 to $84 for non-residents.

Graduate tuition during the regular semesters will rise from $100 to $120 for residents and $175 to $195 for non-residents. Graduate summer rates will rise from $60 to $72 and $105 to $117, respectively.

The Normal board did not specify increases for graduate or summer tuition rates, but said they should be proportionate to the $15 increase. Tuition for partial loads also will rise in the same ratio as full-time tuition rates.

The tuition increase followed a recommendation by the Legislature's budget committee that a "modest" rise was advisable. The committee pointed out that University of Nebraska tuition is $120 a semester for Nebraskans, $240 for non-Nebraskans.

Contracts for the dormitory have not been signed, but will be as soon as college and state officials can work out legal formalities with the contractors. Construction should begin this summer. The contractors plan to finish the building Sept. 1, 1960. The building does not use structural steel and such steel as will be used is available from existing stock, the contractors said.

Low bids for the dormitory totaled $975,151, but the use of some alternate specifications contained in the bids will reduce the total to about $950,000. Architects had estimated the cost at $945,000. These figures are for construction only, not furnishings.

The dorm will be financed by revenue bonds, not by tax money. The college has assurance of adequate financing from investment firms.

Apparent low bidder on the general contract was the Chris Hansen Construction co., Sioux City, with a figure of $749,788. The low bid of $163,220 on the mechanical contract came from J. H. Martig, Omaha. Claussen Electric co., Norfolk, entered the low bid of $62,145 on the electrical contract.

Request WSTC Permit on Grain Storage Building

A new application for a building permit to construct a $15,000 grain storage building was filed by Wayne Grain and Feed with City Clerk Howard Witt this week. The permit specifies concrete block construction.

City councilmen did not act on an earlier permit application from the same firm last week after City Attorney Bud Bornholt said the building, already started, did not conform to regulations specified in the city's fire zone ordinance.

The council is expected to consider the new application at its meeting Tuesday night.

Legion to Battle Tekamah In District Finals Today

Wayne's Junior Legion baseball team gained a berth in the District III Class B finals Tuesday night with an 11-1 victory over Emerson at Coleridge.

Wayne will oppose Tekamah at 8 p.m. today for the right to enter the Area A championship at Tekamah Sunday. The Sunday night victor will enter the state Class B tournament.

The two-hit pitching performances by Roger Denesia and Denny Lutt moved Wayne into the finals tonight. Denesia was credited with a 16-1 victory over Oakland Sunday night. Lutt pitched Tuesday's win. Both games were shortened to five innings under a ruling established by the tournament committee. This calls for ending a game when one team is leading by 10 runs.

Denesia had 11 strikeouts and issued four walks in Sunday night's win. The local nine scored 14 runs in a wild fourth inning. Wayne got eight hits and six walks in the inning. Eleven bases were stolen and Oakland was credited with eight errors and six wild pitches.

Tragedy marked the victory over Emerson Tuesday night. Emerson put its star hurler, Dan Dittman, on the mound after Wayne scored the game's first run in the fourth inning. Jerry Ahlvers popped a bunt attempt on Dittman's first pitch and the Emerson hurler collided with his own catcher trying to make the out. Dittman fell and broke his left wrist and left the game.

Wayne got one more run in the fourth and then collected nine more in a wild fifth inning.

Wayne had moved into the semifinals with an 11-0 victory over Lyons Monday night. Don Meyer and Jerry Granquist combined to pitch one-hit ball in this victory.

Meyer allowed no hits in the first three innings as he got six strikeouts. Granquist gave up a lone single in the last two innings. Glen Nichols starred for Wayne at the plate with two singles in three trips.

ited to the local fair rental value of the land based on crops harvested during the past five years. When all eligible cropland on the farm is to be retired, the rate will generally be set 10 percent higher than the rate for only part of the eligible land.

After the basic rate has been determined, the farmer may apply for a contract at any figure below the basic rate established for the land offered in the request for rates.

In cases where acceptance of all applications would exhaust available funds in a county or where more land is offered than it would be desirable to retire in one year, the priority system will be used to determine which offers are accepted.

As provided in the 1960 agricultural appropriations act, first consideration will go to farmers who applied but could not be offered contracts in the 1959 program because of shortage of funds. Such a farmer will be offered a contract at the basic rate for his land reduced by the average amount of

The Wayne (Nebr.) Herald, Thursday, July 23, 1959

The per-acre rates apply to annual payments which are earned each year a conservation reserve contract is in effect. In addition, a farmer can get a cost-share payment to assist in establishing approved conservation uses on his conservation reserve land.

After this initial group, priority will be given to farmers offering land at the lowest rate compared with the basic rate established for his land. Each offer will be computed as a percentage of the basic rate for the land offered and acceptance will begin with the lowest percentage offer.

For most farmers, placing land under contract will require a corresponding acreage reduction in soil bank base crops (grain, oilseeds and row crops). In addition, acreage may be placed under contract which does not require a reduction of soil bank-base crops. This land is called non-diversion acreage and the rate of payment will be 50 percent of the regular payment rate approved for the contract.

Details Announced on 1960 Soil Bank Reserve Program

The U. S. Department of Agriculture this week announced plans for the soil bank conservation reserve program for the 1960 crop season. County ASC Chairman Carl Sundell said today.

This will be the fifth year of the conservation reserve program, under which farmers contract to withdraw general cropland from production and protect it with conservation uses for periods up to 10 years.

The 1960 conservation reserve will be similar to the 1959 program. Principal changes have been made in regulations relating to publicly owned land, tenure of ownership, method of setting payment rates and determination of priorities when more applications are received than can be accepted.

Detailed information as to the application of these and other changes to individual farm situations will not be available in the county ASC office until mid-August, Sundell said.

The basic 1960 national per-acre payment rate will be $13.50, the same as for 1959 (Wayne county's rate was $16 in 1959). The acreage goal is approximately five million acres for land to be put in the program under contracts beginning with 1960 crops.

This is the estimated maximum additional acreage that can be accommodated under the $375 million annual program authorized by Congress for 1960. This compares with approximately 13 million new acres placed under contract in 1959.

Approximately 10 million acres will also remain under conservation reserve contracts in 1960 from years previous to 1959. If farmers contract for the expected five million new acres in 1960, the total acreage in the program next year will be approximately 28 million acres.

The principal conservation reserve changes for next year will be as follows:

1. Land owned by a state, county, town or local government will be ineligible for the program, a rule which is already in effect for federal land.
2. Land which has changed ownership (except through inheritance) since Dec. 31, 1956 is ineligible to enter the program in 1960.
3. If land under a 1960 conservation reserve contract is sold, the contract generally may be assumed by the purchaser only after it has been in effect three years.
4. The priority system of accepting applications has been modified to assure first consideration to farmers who were unable to participate in the 1959 program because of lack of funds.

As in 1959, the 1960 conservation reserve will be conducted on an offer-and-acceptance basis. Under this plan, the farmer will request that a basic annual per-acre rate be established for his farm, indicating whether he plans to place all or part of his eligible cropland in the program.

Forms for farmers to use in requesting rate determinations for their farms will be available at county ASC offices about the middle of August. The period for filing such requests will be Aug. 24 to Sept. 10.

In setting the basic annual per-acre rate for land offered, the county committee will take into consideration the productivity of the land and the rate will be lim-

Valuation Hikes Way Beyond Even Carpenter Speculation

LINCOLN—There is $896.9 million more worth of property on the tax rolls in Nebraska this year. Unofficial tabulations of reports from counties to the state tax commissioner show tangible property values against which the state levy is applied is up $417.3 million, about a five percent boost.

Intangible A property, which is cash and accounts receivable, climbed $144 million, about 35 percent. For intangible B property — mainly stocks and bonds — the increase is $335.4 million, or about 130 percent.

Unofficial estimates are that the higher values will result in $23 million more revenue for the state, counties, cities, school districts and other governmental subdivisions.

The figures, plus those for railroads, will be taken by the state board of equalization on or before Aug. 2 to determine the State property tax levy for 1959.

Observers credit Sen. Terry Carpenter, Scottsbluff, and the Legislature for producing the big boosts. Carpenter conducted a one-man tax violation investigation and then came up with remedial laws which were passed by the Legislature.

The total increase is much more than even Carpenter had speculated. He had guessed at $500 million more in value.

None of the figures include values of the railroads operating in Nebraska. The state board of equalization, in a bizarre decision, increased worth of the railroads for tax purposes by $2.5 million.

There are five members of the board, three Republicans and two Democrats. The hike for the railroads carried 2-1, with Gov. Ralph G. Brooks, chairman, and State Treasurer Richard Larsen, member, voting for the boost and Auditor Ray Johnson against.

County Agent's Column . . . Late-Planted Corn More Susceptible to Infestation by Second-Brood Corn Borer

Locally heavy infestations of first-brood corn borers have been reported in eastern and north-eastern Nebraska. The probability of damage by the second-brood is not yet known. However, the infestation of the second-brood is usually heavier than the first-brood.

The corn will be much more susceptible to the second-brood this year due to the late planting. Farmers should watch for the second-brood moth flight and should check with their county agent regarding this situation and the control recommendations.

Control Red Spider Mites. Home owners should be suspicious of yellowish or rusty appearing evergreens or roses.

This appearance on evergreens and roses may be caused by red spider mites. Many of these mites may be found easily by tapping a branch on a piece of paper.

Contact spray is an important factor in the control of these mites. Such a spray kills the insect upon contact. Several effective sprays are: kelthane, dimite, ovex, tepion, diazinon, aramite (or ornamentals only), mitox and malathion. Kelthane is the most effective; however dimite, aramite and malathion usually are readily available.

Dairy Cows Need Grain. Milk cows need grain while on pasture for maximum milk production. In addition, cows need grain to maintain their body weight.

Many cows producing only a couple of gallons of milk daily might be on pasture alone if it is of good quality. Cows that produce more than five gallons of milk daily need an ample supply of grain if their milk production is to be maintained.

A Holstein or Brown Swiss cow producing five gallons of milk daily (43 pounds) requires 11 to 12 pounds of grain daily. High-testing breeds like Jerseys and Guerneyses producing at the same level require 14 to 15 pounds of grain daily.

Sometimes cows on pasture do not eat their grain readily and, for this reason, feed must be kept tasty. Cows may not relish grain that is moldy, dusty or too finely ground.

In general, dairymen need to guard against over-feeding low producers and under-feeding high producers. A detailed guide for feeding milk cows while on pasture is available in a revised Extension Circular 627 entitled "Feeding Milk Cows," which is available from county agricultural agents over Nebraska.

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

My old lady came home yesterday with a pound of coffee, a box of aspirin tablets, a pair of hose and a folding chair for the lawn. She got 'em all at the grocery store. I can see what that feller in Baltimore was talking about when he closed down his drug store after 41 years.

I admire this feller's fortitude, Mister Editor, but he shows plain that he ain't been able to lean with the times. Why, they even got cigar stores now that don't sell cigars, just cheese sandwiches, comic books and a lending library.

Speaking of used car lots, it-always struck me that we got mighty dumb automobile dealers in this country. Look at any of 'em and you'll see they got all their profits tied up in used cars. Every other business has talked the Government into buying up the surplus so's to keep the price high and the product scarce.

Well, Mister Editor, anytime you want me to tell you how to run your newspaper, just let me know. Yours truly, Uncle Zeke

"After The Art Of The Apothecary"

(Author's name below)

The bible states that the holy anointing oil was made by the apothecary using his special skill. The compounding of medicines is a special art learned after years of study and apprenticeship in a pharmacy.

Some of the medicines we dispense now-a-days are prepared in the laboratories of pharmaceutical firms, but we still must exercise our art by making certain they are potent when dispensed and exactly the ones specified. We compound many special mixtures, ointments, pills, suppositories and eye drops. We welcome your bringing us these important prescriptions requiring skill, knowledge and compounding time.

That's a Chevy with Positraction!

NO MOUNTAIN CAT, MISTER...

That 3134 Fleetside has the sure-footed ways of a big western bobcat. Rooms through high brush country that would buck the life out of most trucks. Crosses streams without benefit of a bridge. Climbs talus grades where pifion won't even grow. But that's all routine for this Chevy, equipped with Positraction rear axle. It's hard at it every day for the Utah Fish and Game commission. Figure about 60,000 miles of mountaineering before this Chevy is traded. And yet the district officer who drives it would bet his badge the tie rods won't even need replacing!

Out in that wild, climbing Utah country, Chevy's suspension and frame and brakes, its Positraction rear axle and Thriftmaster 6 power are proving themselves under rougher conditions than most test engineers could dream up. They're proving that Chevrolet's advanced engineering and design ideas pay off—in spades—when the going gets especially mean and dirty.

Positraction, of course, is a big plus on this job, providing the sure grip needed to dig through mud, snow, loose sand, whatever comes along. Could be that a Positraction-equipped 1/2-ton pickup is the answer for your area of operation. Or maybe a 4-wheel drive Chevy. We've got trucks that specialize in getting in and out of any kind of country. Talk to your dealer about your needs. He'll show you what tough trucks are made of.
