Highway Department Says Stop Lights Give False Security to School Children

Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of articles on a traffic survey conducted by the State Highway department in Wayne. It is not meant as support for the state suggestions, but merely to inform the local citizenry of the reasoning behind the suggestions. The information is lifted from the Highway department's written report.

Because of the emotions and sentiments which so often come to the fore when the subject of school crossing is under consideration, it may be well to state a few accident statistics concerning children in order to gain an insight as to the nature of the "protection" that can be afforded the child, both during and after school hours.

Almost 50 percent of the accidents in which children are injured or killed on school days occur when children are not going to, or coming from, school. Approximately another 20 percent occur on Saturdays and Sundays. The point in these statistics is that the "protection" problem extends far beyond school hours and that every street, every intersection and every approaching vehicle is at all times potentially dangerous regardless of the proximity to school or whether the roadway is a state highway, city arterial or one of the more abundant ordinary city streets.

It behooves us, then, to provide school child protection which contributes to the child's training and fosters good pedestrian habits so that the child becomes prepared for his role in life as a pedestrian. Such training and habits will stay with the child at every intersection and street he comes to throughout his life.

Most school child protection systems involve attempts to control only vehicular traffic, generally to stop it. No stop sign or stop device has been found which will assure the stoppage of 100 percent of the vehicles. The lone violator is just as hazardous to the child as if there were numerous violators. The very real possibility of such a violation should be sufficient reason to question the merits and adequacy of this system.

In addition, the school-stop system contributes nothing to the training of the child. The sole responsibility for the child's safety at the particular location is assigned to the motorist. The child does not have to judge or evaluate the traffic stream to determine if it is safe to cross. The system fosters a false sense of security in that children usually step off the curb without looking in either direction because they think they are protected by a stop sign and we adults are going to do as we are told. This becomes a habit which carries over to other intersections or crossings not so protected.

The school-stop system is inconsistent in that the protection is afforded at only a few crossing points during just certain days. At all other times and places, the child is on his own.

The school-stop system has contributed considerably in developing the ill feeling and disrespect many motorists have toward traffic control devices. The requirement to stop at a school crossing when no child is in sight is an imposition every motorist justifiably condemns.

Another element not generally recognized as existing with the system is the sudden and unexpected stopping of vehicles in the path of normally free-flowing traffic. This is a prominent cause of accidents. This practice wherein we attempt to eliminate one type of accident, but actually promote and encourage another is most inconsistent with the community interest toward increased traffic safety.

We have been forced to conclude, after exhaustive tests, that the best protective system is one in which the child is largely responsible for his own safety and the motorist is warned of those points and times at which the children are most apt to be crossing.

Such protective measures as we adults provide should contribute to the child's training and judgment and aid the formation of good, safe pedestrian habits. The judgment and experience of the very young child must initially be supplemented by more mature supervision. This can be the function of a school patrol, but is best provided by adults.

The Highway department has developed a system of signs and sign use which, in those situations where it is unnecessary to interrupt the traffic stream, we believe provides the child with the greatest degree of protection he can be afforded both during and after school hours.

It is basic and logical reasoning that the only time it is necessary to stop or interrupt the flow of traffic on a street or highway to allow a pedestrian to cross is when the traffic on that street or highway is so heavy there are no gaps or intervals between vehicles through which the pedestrian can cross safely or these intervals arrive so infrequently that waiting could cause intolerable delay.

A complete and objective study was made of the crossing situation at Eleventh and Main street in Wayne, where a flashing school stop is in operation. The primary element studied was one of the time-space measurement between vehicles passing through the intersection in a free-flowing manner.

The most "critical" crossing time was during the afternoon hours of 3 to 4 p.m. During this period the safe crossing opportunities averaged 34.3 seconds in length and ranged in length from the computed minimum safe gap of 13 seconds to 128 seconds—over two minutes.

These gaps arrived at the rate of about 90 per hour, which is more than one safe crossing opportunity per minute. Ninety percent of the total hour studied was available for crossing Main street safely. The average blockade or length of time a pedestrian would have to wait should he arrive at the end of a safe gap, is approximately 12 seconds. The blockades range from one to 52 seconds in length, but 80 percent of them are less than 15 seconds long.

The analysis of this school crossing data reveals logically and quite conclusively, that from the standpoint of honestly contributing to the safety of young pedestrians, the stoppage of vehicular traffic is unnecessary.

In view of the foregoing facts in the light of the realization that the existing measures are actually detrimental toward development of safe pedestrian habits and the consequential unnecessary delay and ill will engendered by the unnecessary stoppage of vehicles, the Highway department is impelled to request that the existing flashing school crossing stop device be removed at Eleventh and Main street.

In its place the department will install the school crossing protection device of signs. It might be more desirable to move the existing isolated flashing beacons to a position above the advance warning signs to attract the attention of motorists to the fact they are approaching a school lane.

School lane protection signs are also placed on Seventh street in the vicinity of St. Mary's school. Flashing beacons above the advance warning signs at this location may also serve an advantageous purpose.

It should be mentioned that in the event flashing beacons are installed at these two locations, they shall be connected to a program controller which will set them into flashing operation only during the three school days when the crossings would function essentially as point crossings.

Two Contestants Tie for First in Football Contest

This was the rule, not the exception, in The Herald's football contest this week. Three of the 10 contest games ended in tie scores and two entrants were tied for the $5 first prize.

The winners were Max Lundstrom, Wayne, and Mrs. Anita Saunders, Dixon. Both picked seven winners correctly and estimated 23 points as the highest total to be scored by one team. The correct total was 30, scored by Ohio State against Michigan State.

Three other contestants also picked seven winners. All five of the top entries missed the Wayne State-Hastings, Army-Air Force and Purdue-Illinois ties. The other top entrants were their point estimator, Walter Splitzberger, 26; Verdel Johnson, 35, and Roger Johnson, 35.

Again this week contestants will be challenged by several top games. They appear in an advertisement on page 5, section 2. Among the puzzlers are Arkansas-Southern Methodist, Gustavus Adolphus-Kearney, Iowa-Ohio State and Michigan-Indiana.

Entries for this final contest must be in The Herald office or postmarked before 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. Any contestant correctly picking all 10 winners will receive the $10 first prize. Five dollars goes to the entrant picking the most winners if there are no perfect entries. The point estimate is used to break ties.

Extra entry-blanks may be secured at Nyla's cafe, Mint bar, Arnie's Home cafe, M & S Oil Co., Wayne bakery, Sportsland, Art's cafe, Olson jewelry, Jerry's cafe and The Herald.

Personal Tax Bill Up 28 Percent for County Residents

Wayne county residents, business firms and others have a 1959 personal property tax bill of about $275,500 compared to $214,500 a year ago, County Treasurer Leona Bahde reported this week.

The jump of approximately $61,000 represents an increase of 28.4 percent. Miss Bahde reported her office has sent personal tax notices to 4,400 taxpayers.

One reason for the higher tax bill is the emergency head tax bill passed by the Legislature last spring. It assesses every person from 21 to 60 years $3.50. Under the old age assistance law every person from 21 to 50 was assessed $2.

Unpaid personal property taxes will become delinquent Dec. 1. Half can be paid at this time and the second half will become delinquent July 1, 1960.

Pass-Happy Midland Seeks First Win Here Saturday

Midland college brings its pass-happy Warriors to Wayne Saturday afternoon and the host Wildcats will have a job on their hands in the season's final game at Memorial stadium.

Though Midland has lost eight straight games this season, the Warriors rank No. 2 in national statistics with a passing average of 163 yards per game.

Quarterback Bill Neisen, freshman aerial wizard, has done about 150 yards per game to rank second in national individual rankings.

The problem is Midland has little to offer but Neisen's aerial attack. However, neither team boasts a potent scoring threat.

In eight games the Wildcats have scored only 50 points, the Warriors 53. Only Dana, with 33 in seven games, has done less on the scoreboard.

Wayne beats Midland, the Wildcats will gain fifth place in Nebraska College conference standings.

The Wildcats played to one of their rare ties at Hastings Saturday, 7-7. It was Wayne's eighth tie since the NCC was formed in 1945.

Hastings electrified the small homecoming crowd by intercepting a Wayne pass on the game's second play from scrimmage.

Chuck Hayes grabbed Skipper Mahler's aerial and scooted 40 yards without Wayne interference.

Jim Paige kicked the point to make it 7-0.

Wayne made its only long drive (82 yards) with the ensuing kickoff, but ran out of downs on the Bronco 8. Hastings moved to the Wildcat 2 in the second quarter before Wayne stiffened.

Minutes later Bob Tighe squelched another Bronco threat when he intercepted a pass in the Wildcat end zone.

Wayne finally tallied in the fourth quarter, thanks to Guard Dale Blaffert's pass interception on the Hastings 45. He raced to the Bronco 4 before going out of bounds.

Two plays later John Bernthal crashed, three yards for the score and Mahler added the kick which knotted the score.

Coach Gwynn Christensen praised the whole Wildcat defense, declining to single out individuals.

He did cite pass interceptions Wayne earned in four Hastings games.

Blaffert's interception was his third this season.

STRANGERS AT YOUR FARM SALE

At farm sales advertised in The Wayne Herald there are always strangers! Men unknown to the owner, auctioneer or local sale goer... men who have traveled many miles to attend.

The auctioneer pays particular attention to these "strangers" because he knows they did not come to the sale for lunch or to visit. He knows they come to bid and buy.

You can bring these strangers to your sale by using The Wayne Herald Farm Sale Service... Big, attractive sale bills that are easy to read, made by trained personnel who have studied and know how to lay out a farm sale bill right!

Capitol News Government Reorganization Gov. Brooks' Favorite Topic

In his latest statements on the matter, the governor says there should be one department of finance for the state, whose director would be paid $15,000 per year and be directly responsible to the governor.

Such a director, Brooks said, should supervise the departments of auditor, treasurer, central accounting, banking and insurance and possibly purchasing and tax commissioner.

Now, the state auditor and treasurer are elected and banking and insurance appointed by the governor, as is the tax commissioner. But, in the latter case, the office runs independently of the governor after a commissioner is appointed. Purchasing and central accounting are under the tax commissioner.

The governor gets blamed for everything wrong in the state government, when, by the Constitution, he doesn't have control over many areas, Brooks said. "If he gets blamed he should have the authority," he said.

Government reorganization has been attempted in the past but not much has happened to it in recent years. The trend has been toward addition of agencies, boards and commissions rather than combining and streamlining operations. About every governor has made statements on government streamlining in recent years and some have taken steps toward it.

A committee appointed by Brooks to look into government reorganization, headed by Clair Callan, Odell, came up with a proposal that the purchasing department be a separate agency of government. Also proposed was a department of administrative services to handle such chores as microfilming and lithography.

A committee of state senators also is studying the matter of government reorganization and will come up with recommendations for the 1961 session of the Legislature.

Labor Management
The labor-management scrap, which boiled over in the last Legislature, still is present. It came to light again in a hearing held by a committee of state senators studying whether Nebraska needs a state labor relations law.

Donald E. Devries, Lincoln, managing director of the Associated Industries of Nebraska, opposed a state labor relations law. He said most of the 400 to 500 firms in his organization are small. "A family type business in a small town is an entirely different situation," he said. "You aren't dealing with General Motors or a steel company."

Mr. Devries said, "Nebraska state AFL-CIO chief, commented that the state has 'no machinery on the books' to enable employees of small firms to organize. Preble says it is 'grossly unfair' to employees that there is no state law to handle union organization and said it shows a 'lack of responsibility' on the part of lawmakers."

Interstate Planning
State Engineer Roy Cochran says no change in interstate highway planning resulted from a meeting he had with officials of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads. Cochran talked with the officials primarily about interchanges in Omaha, where there has been controversy over routing of the Interstate for the past three years. Involved was the most complicated interchange on the Nebraska Interstate system and possibly as complex as others nationwide. It is at 28th and Dodge streets.

However, still pending was a study by the Highway department of a south of a river route between Grand Island and North Platte. This had been proposed by the South-Platte United Chambers of Commerce.

At the October meeting of the Advisory State Highway commission, the department said progress is being made on the study and aerial photographs have been taken. The commission in weeks previously had approved a north of the river route, but it agreed to consider the Chamber proposal.

Power Commission
Gov. Ralph G. Brooks says he still is concerned that public power groups have not settled their differences. This, the governor said, is despite the fact he has stated they should do so or face the possibility of a state power commission to handle the power problems.

This would require legislation, but Brooks said in the meantime he might even appoint a fact-finding committee to look into the "quibbling and procrastination" among the agencies. By their own actions, the governor said, the public power groups are justifying the need for a state commission.

Brenna
Dinner guests in the Gerald Pospishil home last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Mann and Robert Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Korn and family were dinner guests of Adolph Korn last Sunday. That evening they called on Carl Nelsons, Carroll.

Feeder Pigs Best Way to Market Down or Sprouted Corn Despite Weak Hog Market
BEST WAY to market down or sprouted corn this fall is to clean it up with 40-pound feeder pigs bought at $10 or less per head. Price analysts point out that these pigs will return about 90 cents for your corn, plus about $1 per head margin over cash costs. That's even considering that these pigs will be marketed on the weak February-March market. For this winter there'll be about as good a market as you can find for this quality corn. FEED COSTS make up about the total cost of producing eggs. But this doesn't mean you can economize by buying low-priced feeds, warn poultry specialists. Often such feed may not maintain best production levels and may add to, rather than reduce, costs. Make sure your rations are balanced. Save on feed costs by using as much homegrown feed as possible, controlling rats and mice and filling feeders only half full. LIVESTOCK NEED—plenty of water to maintain daily gains and production levels. A dairy cow producing 40 pounds of milk per day may drink as much as 15 to 20 gallons of water. If a "freeze up" of water pipes limits her intake to 15 gallons a day, production may drop off as much as 10 pounds or more. To prevent such production slumps, agricultural experts advise that you wrap exposed water pipes with electric heating cables. You can get full details on costs and heating capacity needed to do the job from your local power representatives.

County Agent's Column ... Cheap Seed Always Costly; Inspection Of Tags Best Way to Determine Quality

There's one thing certain about seed—a dealer can always buy cheaper than the fellow down the street. But, is it really cheaper to the farmer in the long run? Take two typical lots of alfalfa. One sold for 35 cents a pound and the other sold "over the fence" for 25 cents a pound. In each case the farmer bought 100 pounds of alfalfa seed. The only difference, so far as he could see, was that one cost $10 per 100 pounds less than the other. But a look at the tags on the bags of seed and a little simple arithmetic can tell a different story. The tag on the 35-cent seed stated there was 99 percent of pure seed in the bag and that 95 percent of those seeds would germinate. Thirty-five cents divided by 99.95 equals 37 cents (cost per pound of pure live seed calculated by dividing the price of the seed by the purity times germination). The 25-cent seed had a purity of 90 percent and a germination of 60 percent. The cost of the pure live seed in this case would be 46 cents per pound (25 cents divided by 90x60 equals 46 cents). So instead of paying 25 cents a pound, that farmer actually paid 46 cents for the cheap seed or $9 more per 100 pounds than the higher priced seed. This still does not complete the story—the 90 percent purity in the "cheap" lot meant that 10 percent of the 100 pounds or 10 pounds wasn't alfalfa. The 10 pounds turned out to be mostly weed seed, including several kinds of the restricted noxious type. In answer to several inquiries about special oat varieties for silage making, Nebraska agronomists tell us that oat varieties which produce the best grain yields have also produced the best silage. Mo-0205 has the best long-time yield for both grain and silage.

Uncle Zeke FROM Plum Creek Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: It has got so November and April is the most important months in our calendar. In November we give humble thanks unto the Almighty for our many blessings and in April we pay the Internal Revenue Department for supervising 'em so good for us. I think it's mighty proper that our annual money feuds comes when them Congressmen is not in session. I see by the papers where they averaged spending $182,000 per minute during the last session. It's a big saving fer the taxpayers when we got them boys home fer a spell. I aim to give thanks throughout the whole month of November just fer this one blessing alone. Speaking of our Congressmen, they ain't very smart in setting the amount fer each item they spend. Fer instance, they set up $200,000 per radio broadcasts on "health, education and economic security", whatever that is. You never see a smart merchant setting the price of someone up in even money, like at $2 even or $5 even. He knocks off a cent or two and makes it a real bargain at $1.99 or $4.98. Now if them Congressmen would set up that broadcasting item at $198,998.98 us folks back home would figger we was getting that broadcast at a bargain. Well, I see where some Russian diplomat, after waiting two months to think it up, claims we didn't show Khrushchev the proper hospitality in Washington and present him with the keys to the city. It is very plain that them Russians don't understand the situation in Washington. On account of not having nothing in Washington locked up, we ain't never had no keys to the city.

Yours truly,
Uncle Zeke

Good Advice
("Author's name below")
It is amazing how many people are quick to offer health advice. Without any study of knowledge, they tell you what you should do or take when you are sick. Thoughtless friends are sincere but unfortunately there are many opportunists. Some door-to-door peddlers and sharp mail order promoters consider profits more important than the good their products will do.

Wise men know the only person capable of giving good advice about how to treat sickness is a physician. They also realize when they obtain medicines and health aids from a pharmacist they are getting more important than immediate great profits, they are always safer.

Avoid Sameness When Dressing Vegetables; Use This Special Sauce

Avoid sameness in your hot vegetables by dressing them up with a special piquant sauce, advises Ray King, local salesman of the Meadow Gold Dairy who sends us one of his favorite recipes.

This piquant water chestnut sauce was developed by Best's Cooke, director of the company's Chicago test kitchens. It's good served on green beans, peas, fresh lima beans, as well as frozen asparagus or broccoli.

Piquant Water Chestnut Sauce (About 3 cups)

- ½ cup butter
- 5 tablespoons flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2½ cups milk
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese
- 1 5-ounce can water chestnuts, drained and sliced

Melt butter in saucepan. Stir in flour and seasonings. Gradually add milk and lemon juice. Cook over low heat until slightly thickened. Stir in blue cheese and water chestnuts. Serve hot over green vegetables.

(Although this is addressed to Chevrolet owners, we'd be glad to have you read it, no matter what make you now own or plan to buy. It might well be as interesting and significant to you as to the Chevrolet owner.)

TO THE MORE THAN 16 MILLION PEOPLE WHO OWN CHEVROLETS

The first and the latest—the 1918 and the 1960 Chevrolet. The progress represented here is the result of continuing efforts to make your new Chevrolet always more beautiful, more useful and more valuable in every respect.

You belong to the largest family of owners in the automotive world. We hope you're proud of that. It must give you great satisfaction to know that your judgment in choosing Chevrolet has been confirmed by so many other people.

We know that we can hold your preference and your loyalty only by meeting our responsibilities to you fully and completely from the day you buy your Chevrolet to the day you trade it in. And so we'd like to talk with you about our responsibilities as we see them, and what we are doing to meet them.

Our first responsibility, we think, is clear: To design and build products that satisfy your needs and your wants to the highest possible degree. To that end, we have done these things for 1960:

nomical, roomier, more quiet and comfortable, easier to handle and maneuver. Introduced the compact and revolutionary Corvair. Produced a new line of Chevrolet trucks with unprecedented advances in efficiency, cargo handling, driver comfort and ability to get a job done.

But it isn't enough to design and build the kinds of products you want. They must be built right. Solidly. Carefully.

Let us assure you of this: Chevrolet's fine reputation as a solid, well-built, dependable product is being safeguarded by more checks and inspections and tests, than ever before.

Along with your Chevrolet dealer, we want you to have available the finest and most complete service facilities. That is why we conduct training schools for Chevrolet dealer mechanics. Study and recommend improved service equipment and techniques. Maintain the industry's most complete parts warehouse system.

Finally, neither Chevrolet nor your Chevrolet dealer has any intention of forgetting you after you buy. To help keep you happy with your Chevrolet, we have established a department new to us, and so far as we know, new to the automobile industry. This is the Chevrolet Department of Owner Relations, whose only job is the coordination of Chevrolet and Chevrolet dealer activities so that you enjoy utmost satisfaction during your entire period of ownership. Through this department, and through all the other extraordinary steps we are taking, Chevrolet and your Chevrolet dealer hope to keep you a happy member of the Chevrolet owner family.

New School Still Delayed by Lack of Steel Supports

LACK OF STEEL roof supports caused this lack of activity at the site of Wayne's new elementary school this week. Contractors are still waiting shipment of the supports, which were ordered last May. The steel has been rolled, but processing is not complete. Delivery is expected early in December, Supt. E. W. Willert said. "Hopes are that the building can still be completed in time for the opening of the 1960-61 term next fall."

The program includes tours of the local campus, meetings of discussion leaders and an evening party. The delegates will get down to serious business Saturday morning. A series of discussion seminars will be held throughout the day.

All NCC schools except Peru are expected to send representatives to the convocation. Karen Estes, WSTC student council president, is general chairman of the event.

Highway Department Suggests Revision Of Downtown Parking to Speed Traffic

Editor's Note: This is the fourth of a series of articles on traffic survey conducted in Wayne by the State Highway department. It is printed only to acquaint the local citizenry with the thinking behind the department suggestions and should not be construed as a recommendation of approval. During the parking survey conducted as a phase of the traffic engineering study, it was encouraging to find that Wayne has had the unusual foresight to build parking bays where possible in the central business district and around the major parking demand generators in the adjacent areas. This commendable action provides the curb parking space desired and still leaves useable width for moving traffic demands. It is a practice that should continue as the city expands. Our parking plan recommendations are based on the following well-established conclusions: 1. Sight distance requirements demand that no cars be parked closer than 20 feet from crosswalks. 2. Parking prohibition in the close proximity of all intersections provides these desirable features: a) increases sight distance for all motorists; b) improves space for right turning maneuvers; c) provides the pedestrian an opportunity to see and, perhaps more important, to be seen, and d) eliminates the hazardous condition existing when an unparking vehicle backs across the pedestrian crosswalk. 3. While there is admittedly some advantage to having as many curb stalls available as possible, it is also perhaps equally advantageous that such streets be conveniently entered and left for parkers. Modern cars require wider stalls and where the parking is at an angle to the curb, the angle must be shallow. A 30-degree angle would be most advantageous in order to maintain the free flow of traffic in the downtown area. It must be admitted that wider stalls at a more shallow angle will result in loss of a few stalls in the high demand area along Main street. This will not be acceptable to some people. We cannot, nevertheless, ignore the fact that the first, foremost and primary purpose of our streets and highways is to accommodate moving vehicles. If the capacity of a street to accommodate mobile traffic is seriously reduced by curb parking, it is an established fact that the solution to the problem is to eliminate the parking and devote the space where it will benefit the majority of the people. Our parking survey indicated there is usually a supply of vacant side street stalls. It was also found that there is some long-time parking on Main street, particularly between First and Second streets. Assuming these long-time parkers are employees, additional premium curb space can be gained if they were encouraged to park on the side streets. A chamber of commerce campaign in South Sioux City, as an example, was very successful in keeping the store-front stalls for customers and moving employees to the side streets. This has been the trend in many good teacher prospects, Lundstrom said.

WSTC Debaters Win Three Events

Wayne State debaters matched arguments with teams from 13 other colleges from five states Friday and Saturday at Omaha. The local students came out with victories in three rounds. The team of Bill Emrich and Paul McCluskey won all three of these against competition which local Coach Robert G. Johnson rated strong. Twelve local students participated. Johnson was elected executive secretary of the Nebraska Inter-collegiate Forensic association and will have charge of the state tournament next spring. He will serve a two-year term.

Elementary Tutors No. 1 Problem in Staffing Schools

Shortage of elementary teachers ranks No. 1 in the school staffing problem, a report by the WSTC placement bureau shows. Almost as serious on the secondary level is the scarcity of English teachers. Demand exceeds supply for teachers of foreign language, music, mathematics, science, women's physical education and domestic economics. Special Services Director Max Lundstrom reports the shortage of elementary teachers is especially acute among those with bachelor's degrees. The scarcity tends to be greater at the lower elementary level, kindergarten through fourth grade. In his annual report Lundstrom notes kinds of teaching shortages in this vicinity compare closely with national shortages. There has been a significant gain in requests for foreign language teachers. Here the disparity between supply and demand seems greater than in any other field. The highest number of requests comes from schools wishing to start a foreign language program. Greatest demand is for full-time teachers in Spanish, Latin, French and German, in that order. The placement service received requests from 27 states and several foreign countries in the past year. There were 526 prospective teachers registered with the service compared with 459 last year. The service was contacted by 1,338 schools—almost twice the number in the previous year. Lundstrom commented that while every college expects to lose some graduates to out-of-state schools, the percentage of Nebraska resident graduates leaving the state this year seems rather high. About 31 percent of resident graduates are presently teaching out-of-state while 34 percent of the non-resident graduates have taken teaching positions in Nebraska schools. His report noted that teacher salaries in Nebraska for WSTC graduates have gone up about $200 in the past year. The average salary for local college graduates teaching in other states remained about the same but still is about $200 above the Nebraska average. Nebraska is losing many good teacher prospects, Lundstrom said.

High School Concert Slated Sunday at Rice Auditorium

Wayne High's choir and girls' glee club will present their annual fall concert Sunday afternoon at WSTC's Rice auditorium. The concert, which opens at 3 p.m., was moved to the college auditorium because of schedule conflicts at the city auditorium, Director Monty McMahon stated. Sunday's concert will honor all choir alumni, who will be invited to join the choir on stage to sing the finale. The choir is attempting to establish this move as an annual event. The 76-voice choir will feature a medley of songs from the hit musical, "Gigi," as well as "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Soon Ah Will Be Done," "I Hear A Voice A-praying" and many other well-known choral selections. The glee club of 68 voices will perform selections from "Carousel," "Pie Jesu," "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes" and "Autumn Leaves." Soloists for the concert will be Lorraine Morris and Mike Karel.

Tietgen Winner in Football Contest

Syracuse's narrow 20-18 victory over Penn State prevented Grant Tietgen, Wayne, from winning $10 in The Herald's football contest this week. Tietgen receives the $5 first prize for correctly naming eight of the nine winners in contest games. One game, Wakefield-Wisner, was cancelled because of the snow storm. Mrs. George Harder, Wayne, also picked eight winners correctly, but Tietgen's point estimate of 27 was closer to the actual 31 scored by Wayne State against Midland. Mrs. Harder estimated 40. She missed Iowa State's 18-6 victory over Nebraska. Over 275 entries were received in the final contest of the season this week. Results will be announced in next week's Herald.

Will Defray Treatment Plant Costs

Wayne's city council took steps Tuesday night to institute a sewer tax on local residents to raise funds for future construction of a sewage disposal plant. The council instructed City Attorney Budd Bornhoff to prepare an ordinance establishing the tax for passage at its next meeting. The tax will cost local water consumers amounts ranging from $2.25 to $30 every three months. A proposed rate structure was presented to the council Tuesday night following extensive study by the sewer committee. About 955 of the city's water consumers would pay $3 or less per quarter, Chairman Wayne Marsh said. The council took the move in order to have funds available for disposal plant construction when required by the state in 1966. Marsh said revenue estimates for the rate schedule introduced Tuesday would leave about $50,000 to be raised in 1966 if the disposal plant cost were $250,000. The sewer tax will probably go into effect Jan. 15. Local residents will receive their first billing Apr. 15. Rates are based on average water consumption for the quarters ending Jan. 15 and Apr. 15. The table below contains the quarterly rates tentatively approved Tuesday.

Table showing Water Use (Gal.) and Rate. Rates range from $2.25 for under 7,500 gallons to $30.00 for over 200,000 gallons.
