Crippled Children's Clinic Set in Norfolk Saturday

A Crippled Children's Clinic will be held at the Norfolk State Hospital in Norfolk, Saturday. Clinic registration begins at 7:30 a. m. and all registrations are to be completed by 10:30 a. m.

This clinic is designed to serve the following counties: Boone, Cedar, Colfax, Cuming, Dakota, Dixon, Madison, Pierce, Platte, Stanton, Thurston and Wayne.

Children who are not now receiving services under the program of Services for Crippled Children may be admitted to the clinic when referred by the family physician. Doctors are requested to limit referrals to children with orthopedic conditions, children with cerebral palsy, and those who are suspected of having rheumatic fever or congenital heart disease. The former practice of providing general pediatric consultation has been discontinued.

Children admitted to the clinic for consultation or preliminary diagnosis may receive treatment under Services for Crippled Children if care cannot be arranged through private resources. However, they will not receive such care until formal application is made and the child is found to be eligible.

Children who are already receiving treatment under Services for Crippled Children will be seen for check-up and after care services.

Although cleft palate and cleft lip cases are eligible for services under Services for Crippled Children, they need not be referred to the clinic. They should be referred by Application for Services for Crippled Children.

The Ellis Lodge is furnishing, without cost, a noon lunch to all children and their parents who are registered for the clinic examination.

Peterson Issues Challenge To WSTC Alumni and Wayne

Wayne State's golden anniversary celebration could be termed a week of success—except for the rainy weather Saturday and the football loss.

The traditional parade Saturday attracted what is believed to be the largest crowd in homecoming history.

Thursday night's "Golden Years" banquet drew 266 persons, about 200 of them alumni.

Honored guests were five of the eight surviving faculty members of the 1910-11 year.

The speaker, Val Peterson, ambassador to Denmark, received the college's Distinguished Service award in recognition of his services to education and government. It was the third such award to alumni during the week. The first two went to Senator Gale McGee of Wyoming, convocation speaker, and Dr. Freeman Decker, state commissioner of education.

Peterson gave his fellow alumni a challenge to form a Wayne State foundation that would provide financial aid not available from state funds.

He mentioned several uses: monetary awards to the top students, scholarships for American Proponents of the constitutional amendment that would abolish the state board of education and give Nebraska an elected state superintendent of public instruction or commissioner of education, apparently failed to give much publicity to the fact that the amendment would also require that all state executive officers and board and commission members reside in Lincoln.

Prior to 1958 the constitution required that members of executive boards and commissions of state government reside in Lincoln. The 1958 amendment removed this restriction. The pending amendment would reverse this action by voters.

The Nebraska Citizens council said the provision is contained in the amendment placed on the ballot by an initiative petition campaign by the Nebraska School Improvement association.

The Citizens council said this reversal feature is not mentioned in either the title of the petitions circulated by the NSIA nor in the title which the amendment will carry on the small white ballot.

Oats (bu.)	.78	.58

1952	$1.54	1.33 (with corn allotment and 1.03 without corn allotment)
1953	1.54	1.29 (with corn allotment and .99 without corn allotment)
1954	1.54
1955	1.51	1.05
1956	1.43	.99 JUST look 6 cents less than last year and the cost of farming has increased during the past year!

Agriculture is in very serious trouble; the compilation of facts above bear this out. We had a farm program under which farmers, for eleven consecutive years prior to 1953, enjoyed prices at or above 100 percent of parity. The parity of farm prices today stands at 79 percent.

You don't have to be a farmer to suffer from these ill-advised farm policies. Every business and professional man and every wage earner in every agricultural community in the nation suffers in proportion to the farmer's own financial loss.

The rural electric systems are entitled to a climate of friendliness, in which they know that their problems will be given fair and just consideration, and in which their efforts to carry out a difficult job will be appreciated and encouraged.

Congressman Larry Brock is understanding of and sympathetic toward the wide scope of problems in the Third Congressional District. His background in public service has made him a very able member of the team which is working for the restoration of a strong, healthy agricultural community. His own farm bill clearly indicates his imaginative, progressive approach.

Let us unite as citizens of this farm community, and vote to re-elect Congressman Larry Brock. He is clearly on your side.

PROPOSED BY THE 1960 LEGISLATURE (EXTRAORDINARY SESSION)

Proposed Amendment No. 1

- For Against

Constitutional amendment to authorize the Legislature to permit counties, cities and villages to acquire, develop and own real and personal property to be leased to private enterprises for manufacturing and industrial use, and to issue revenue bonds to defray the cost thereof, which bonds shall not be a general obligation of the governmental subdivisions issuing such bonds; such real and personal property to be taxed when leased to private enterprises.

(The Industrial Development Amendment—passed by the Special Session of the Legislature)

AT THE BOTTOM of the Long Blue Ballot

Help Nebraska Communities Help Themselves in bringing more Industry to the State

What the I.D.A. will do:

1. Will allow counties, cities and villages to acquire, own, develop, and lease real and personal property to private enterprises for manufacturing and industrial purposes.
2. Can be used only in connection with manufacturing and industrial concerns.
3. Will furnish a means of financing industrial and manufacturing facilities for such prospects.
4. Will allow smaller cities and villages to compete with larger cities for industry.
5. The bonds will be strictly revenue bonds and not general obligation bonds.
6. No governmental subdivision shall have the power to operate any such property as a business or in any manner except as a lessor.
7. Passage of the Amendment will show the Nation that Nebraska does want increased industrial expansion.
8. The principal of and interest on the bond will be secured by a pledge of the lease and the revenues therefrom and by a mortgage upon such property.
9. The interest rate on the bonds should be comparatively low due to the fact that it is not subject to Federal income tax.
10. There are no tax concessions. The industry involved will pay its full share of real and personal property taxes.
11. The Amendment does not allow for condemnation of property.
12. Passage of the Amendment in November will not allow the counties, cities and villages to take any action until the Legislature sets up regulatory provisions.

Senatorial, Congressional Candidates Give Answers

The Democratic and Republican candidates in the third congressional district race were asked to comment on the following questions. Their views appear numbered according to the number of the question.

1. Give your reasons for your support or opposition to the present United States foreign and economic aid program.
2. What federal legislation, if any, should be enacted for the development and conservation of our natural resources?
3. What changes, if any, would you recommend in the present farm price support program?
4. What should be the role of the federal government in relation to labor-management problems?

Answers by Larry Brock, Democrat:

1. "Exposure of waste and lack of proper administration has not justified the expenditure of $75 billions of the American taxpayers' money in the past 11 years. The program requires thorough re-examination and complete overhauling before appropriating any more monies to maintain it."
2. "Sufficient to develop these resources where their benefits deem appropriate in the public interest and national security. To protect them from exploitation for financial gain by individual interests."
3. "Believe that it is absolutely essential that we reduce production acreages in the 12 basic commodities so that we might reach a balance in supply and demand. Firmly insist that the farmers receive an income comparable to the other segments of our economy."
4. "It is the duty of the federal government to promote good relations and maintain a balance between labor and management, meanwhile equally protecting the interests of both. Principle role, however, is the protection of the public interest when the above measures fail."

Answers by Ralph F. Beermann, Republican:

1. "Favor Eisenhower approach. Use home surpluses to meet foreign economic stresses to prevent the adoption of philosophies harmful to our way of life. Food is cheaper than guns, lives more precious than credit."

2. "Only enough to meet the degree of need and the inadequacy of people to do for themselves. Defense, of course, to pre-empt rights, but only in time of national peril."

3. "Legislation to remove government from farming and other business as expeditiously and safely as possible. It should include provisions for an ever-normal granary for national defense, drought, famine and disaster, recourse loans based on percent of cost or market, other self reliance measures to re-kindle the spirit of competition."

4. "To stay aloof except when law enforcement or public interest warrants intervention. Guarantee to each the right and responsibilities as listed in the Constitution. Establish the same legislative climate for both labor and management."

SENATORIAL CANDIDATES ANSWER

Robert B. Conrad, Democrat:

1. "I oppose the present wasteful foreign aid program. Our policy has permitted the establishment of a Communist beachhead ninety miles from the American mainland. Our policy should make use of our weapon of agricultural abundance."

2. "The conservation of our soil and water is one of Nebraska's chief concerns. A sound public works program for flood control, power generation and irrigation and development of recreational potentials should be pursued."

3. "A sound acreage conservation reserve program orderly disposition of surpluses including strategic stockpiling, 100 percent parity, emergency storage construction and production regulated on both bushelage and acreage bases."

4. "The federal government should intervene only when the national security is imperiled or governmental operation is handicapped."

Carl T. Curtis, Republican:

1. "The foreign economic aid program is no longer advisable. Western Europe has reached a point where they must stand alone. We are building up a vast bureaucracy abroad that is going to be difficult to stop. It is not winning the respect of foreign countries for the United States."

2. "I introduced the original resolution that led to the program for the development of the Missouri River Basin. I was a co-author of the Small Watersheds Act. The Nebraska projects have had my active support. It was my bill that gave a tax benefit to the farmer or land owner who spent his own money on soil conservation practices."

3. "For the long range program, I think that research for development of industrial uses for farm surpluses will provide the answer for agriculture. It has been through research that we have made the advances in so many other fields. This will take time. In the meantime, I think price supports are too low."

4. "The federal Government should not use its power and influence on the side of management or on the side of labor. We should enact laws that define the rights of both parties so that both sides can line under a system of laws."

Farmers Back Beermann for Stand on Free Enterprise

Sixteen Wayne County farmers this week announced their support for Ralph Beermann, Republican candidate for third district Congress.

In proclaiming their support the 16 farmers declared their unanimous approval for Beermann's stand against inflation and for private ownership and free enterprise. They urged all citizens to cast their votes for the Dakota City farmer, who they said has made a success of his personal farming and business operations.

The 16 farmers announcing their support for Beermann were Herbert Bergt, Jim Maben, Joe Corbit, Herman Dinklage, George Langenberg, Ralph Beckenhauer, Robert Shultheis, Albert Watson, Leland Herman, Lawrence and Phillip Ring, Neil Sandahl, Robert Fredrickson, Raymond Florine, Jim Bush and Earl Anderson.

In backing Beermann, the farmers refuted the charge of Beermann's Democratic opponent that the Dakota Cityan is a "special interests" candidate. They said the only special interests served by Beermann are sound money, economy, conservation, local self government, private ownership, individual liberty and national security.

They also countered that Beermann's opponent is a candidate of such special interests as inflation, waste, government interference, more government controls and more government ownership.

The Wayne County farmers urged all voters to send a man to Congress whose only special interests are free enterprise and private ownership. "Ralph Beermann is that man," they declared. (This ad paid for by Wayne County Beermann for Congress Committee; Leiland-Herman; Wayne, Nebr., Chairman.)

Give Voters Brief Explanation Of 9 Proposed Amendments

Next Tuesday Nebraska voters will go to the polls not only to vote on state and national candidates, but also to vote on nine proposed constitutional amendments. This is an important election to all Nebraskans, possibly the most important in recent years. With this in mind the Herald has prepared, from material supplied by the League of Women Voters of Nebraska, the following summary of constitutional amendments which are to be voted on. Included in the summaries are some of the reasons the amendments are being supported and opposed. In one case, the groups favoring and opposing the amendment are named. These are brief, but pointed summaries that we hope will either remove the doubt in voters' minds or provide them with the incentive to seek further information prior to the election.

1. Constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to provide by law such measures and procedures as may be necessary to insure continuity of governmental operations in emergencies resulting from enemy attack or imminent threat thereof.

This proposal would amend Article III of the Constitution by adding another section (Section 29) to provide the Legislature, in periods of emergency resulting from enemy attack, or imminent threat thereof, the power and immediate duty to provide by law for (1) the prompt and temporary succession to the powers and duties of all public offices, (2) the convening of the Legislature into general or extraordinary session, upon or without call by the Governor, (3) the selection and changing of a temporary state seat of government, temporary county seats, (4) the determination, selection, reproduction, preservation, and dispersal of public records necessary to the continuity of governmental operations, (5) such other measures and procedures as may be necessary and proper for insuring the continuity of governmental operations in the event of enemy attack or imminent threat thereof.

The 1959 Nebraska Legislature passed four major pieces of legislation following the suggestions made by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization. Briefly, these acts provide the automatic continuity of the state Legislature, the establishment of emergency interim succession of state governmental offices of all types, authorization for local units of government to take this action for their local offices, authorization for the Governor to designate a temporary location or locations for an emergency seat of state government, and for any political sub-division to establish an emergency location for its local seat of government. None of this legislation will be operative without the passage of this proposed amendment.

2. Constitutional amendment to provide that preferred stockholders may or may not have a vote and that preferred stock may or may not be of equal par value of all stock of the corporation.

This amendment would amend Article XII of the Constitution by adding an additional provision to both Sections 5 and 6. The Constitution now provides that every stockholder shall have the right to vote and that all stock in the same corporation shall be of equal par value.

If adopted, this amendment will allow Nebraska corporations to do two things which they cannot do under the present constitutional provision. First, it will authorize them to provide in their articles of incorporation that holders of preferred stock shall have no vote in the conduct of corporate affairs. Second, it will authorize these corporations to issue preferred stock with a par value different from the par value of their other stock.

The issuance of preferred stock is an accepted method of financing capital outlays and improvements. Investors are attracted by the preference they will have in receiving dividends from surplus profits. Those who invest in the preferred stock of corporations are generally not interested in the management of the concern and it is the general practice to deprive them of voting rights in the corporation. This also permits the management of corporate affairs in the hands of local people while attracting out-of-state capital.

3. Constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to provide a different method of taxing livestock and to provide for reciprocal and proportionate taxation of livestock located in this state for only part of a year.

This proposal would amend Section 1 of Article VIII which section sets forth the taxing power of the state, provides the method for the taxing of property, and authorizes the levy of taxes other than property taxes. The provision of Article VIII that "taxes shall be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately upon all tangible property" requires that livestock be taxed the same as other tangible property. The taxpayer is to list all livestock he has on hand on January 1, they are valued at their actual value, and then assessed at 35% of this actual value.

The purpose of this proposed amendment is to authorize the Legislature to devise some other method of taxing livestock. Possible alternatives to a strict valuation basis might be the taxation of livestock on a production basis, somewhat like the method now used for taxing grain and seed, or a plan something on the order of an annual average inventory tax.

On two previous occasions the Constitution has been amended to allow the Legislature to tax motor vehicles and grain and seed produced or handled in the state on a different basis and thus circumvent the uniformity provision of Article VIII.

It is pointed out by supporters of this measure that some cattle feeders have cattle only in the spring and summer, dispose of them prior to the end of the year and thus do not have to pay any tax on them. Other small feeders, who buy cattle around the first of November and feed them to the following March or April, are not able to escape taxation.

The second part of the proposed amendment authorizing the Legislature to enter into reciprocal agreements with neighboring states, stems from the fact that cattlemen living along the South Dakota border may graze their cattle in that state during part of the year. They are now paying taxes on these cattle both in Nebraska and South Dakota in many instances. If this amendment is adopted, the Legislature could provide that the Nebraska-domiciled cattle would be taxed only for the portion of the year they were actually in the state.

It should be emphasized that this amendment is permissive only. If it is adopted in November it will in itself make no changes in the method of taxing livestock. It would be up to the Legislature to make the amendment effective.

4. Constitutional amendment to authorize the Legislature to prescribe by law the manner of contesting of elections for the offices of the executive.

This proposed amendment would revise Section 4 of Article IV which provides, among other things, for the determining of contested elections for the state executive offices. At the present time such contests must be decided by the Legislature. Much of the recent discussion over the hearing and deciding of contested elections, especially where they involve one of the state executive officers, has centered around the recounting of ballots. As it is now, if a contest of the election of one of these officers involves a recount of the ballots, this must be done by the Legislature. If all of the ballots are to be recounted, this means that they must be brought to Lincoln from each of the 93 counties.

The proposed amendment, if adopted, would not effect changes in the present system. It would give the Legislature the authority to provide that these election contests be handled elsewhere and by a different method.

5. Constitutional amendment to authorize the Legislature to establish bonded and licensed warehouses or storage areas for goods, wares, and merchandise in transit in the state which are intended for and which are shipped to final destination outside this state, and to exempt such goods, wares, and merchandise from ad valorem taxation while in such warehouses or storage areas.

The purpose of this amendment is to grant exemption from property taxes to a class of property not now eligible for such exemption under the Nebraska Constitution. Section 2 of Article VIII (if adopted the new constitutional provision will become Section 2A) is the present tax exemption provision, and it does not authorize the Legislature to grant exemption to the property which is the subject of this proposal.

This amendment would authorize the Legislature to grant exemption from property taxes to goods and merchandise held in warehouses in the state but intended for shipment out of the state. This would be property stored in the state temporarily pending its ultimate distribution to markets outside the state whenever conditions were favorable.

The proponents of this amendment contend primarily that under the present system, Nebraska warehouses are not in a competitive position with those in surrounding states; that warehouses in neighboring and surrounding states have an advantage because the goods they store which are destined for out-of-state markets are exempt from taxation. Thus, shippers and consignees who stop their goods enroute for storage pending delivery to final destinations tend to use warehouses in states where the goods are not exposed to taxation.

Opposition to this proposal would consist of general opposition to the granting of tax exemptions.

6. Constitutional amendment to provide for election of more than one county judge for a county and for forming county judge judicial districts.

This proposed amendment would amend Section 15 of Article V of the Constitution which provides for the election of county judges.

Under the present constitutional provision one county judge is elected in each county to serve a four-year term at a salary set by the Legislature. This means that each county must elect one county judge and no county may elect more than one county judge.

If this proposed amendment is adopted, two changes in the county court system would be possible. First, populous counties, like Lancaster and Douglas, could elect more than one county judge if the Legislature would provide for such additional judges.

Secondly, this amendment would make it possible for two or more of the small and thinly-populated counties to form a judicial district from which would be elected one county judge. Before this could be done, however, a majority of the voters in each county affected would have to approve the establishment of such a district.

7. Constitutional amendment to provide that each member of the Legislature shall receive a salary of not to exceed two hundred dollars per month.

This amendment would amend Section 7 of Article III under which each member of the Legislature now receives a salary of $872 per year. Each member is also paid for his actual expenses for one round trip to the state capital for any regular or special session, but receives no additional money for expenses while attending any session. If this amendment is adopted the salary of each member will be increased to not more than $200 per month, or $2,400 per year. The present annual salary of $872 has been in effect since 1937 when the first session of the Unicameral Legislature convened.

Proponents feel that adoption of this proposal would enable a more representative group to seek this office as the remuneration would be more in line with the required duties and responsibilities of a state legislator.

Opposition consists of general aversion to increasing the cost of government.

(Extraordinary Session)

1. Constitutional amendment to authorize the Legislature to permit counties, cities, and villages to acquire, develop and own real and personal property to be leased to private enterprises for manufacturing and industrial use, and to issue revenue bonds to defray the cost thereof, which bonds shall not be a general obligation of the governmental subdivisions issuing such bonds; such real and personal property to be taxed when leased to private enterprises.

This proposed amendment would amend Article XV, the article containing Miscellaneous Provisions, by adding another section to it.

The bill proposing this constitutional amendment was enacted by the special session of the Nebraska Legislature which met from August 1 to August 9, 1960.

As explained in the report of the special committee which heard this proposal, passage of this amendment would permit cities, villages, and counties to take title to and develop and lease real and personal property for manufacturing and industrial enterprises and to issue revenue bonds for these purposes. These bonds would be sold to interested buyers in the general public and the money received from the bond buyers would then be used to buy, develop, or acquire the business enterprises. The bond proceedings would be prepared and the bonds sold by a private bonding company.

The proponents of this amendment feel that its adoption would (1) assist in bringing industry into the state, (2) ultimately increase employment opportunities in the state and thus cut down on the migration of young people out of the state. (3) enable Nebraska to compete with the other states in attracting new industries, and (4) assist smaller communities to get industries.

Arguments against this proposal could be that (1) this is not an appropriate area for governmental activity, (2) enterprises established in this way would have an unfair competitive advantage over existing enterprises, and (3) the reasons for Nebraska's lagging increase in population should be studied more fully from an overall basis.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT BY INITIATIVE PETITION

A MEASURE to amend the Nebraska Constitution Article IV, Section 1 to provide for election of a commissioner of Education by non-political ballot in November, 1962, and every four years thereafter; to conform the election date for the other elective state executive officers; to provide the Nebraska laws and constitutional provisions relating to the State Department of Education, State Board of Education and present Commissioner of Education shall apply to the elected Commissioner of Education; to repeal Section 14, 15, 16 and 17 of Article VII of said Constitution effective upon the election and qualification of said Commissioner.

This proposal, if adopted, would amend Section 1 of Article IV on the Executive to include a Commissioner of Education as a state executive officer to be elected to a four-year term on a nonpartisan ballot. It would also amend the same article by adding a new section to provide that all constitutional and statutory provisions relating to the State Department of Education, State Board of Education, and the presently appointed Commissioner of Education would apply to the Commissioner of Education as provided for in this amendment.

The present system is authorized by the sections in Article VII of Education which will be repealed if this amendment is adopted. These sections provide for a State Department of Education, comprised of a State Board of Education and a Commissioner of Education, which has general supervision and administration of the state school system.

The present board is composed of six members elected on a nonpartisan ballot from six districts for six-year terms. The board appoints and fixes the salary of the Commissioner of Education who is the executive officer of the board and the administrative head of the department.

This proposal, if adopted, would provide for the election of a Commissioner of Education and would eliminate the State Board of Education.
