

College Faculty Receives Eight New Faculty Members

Eight new members for the Wayne State faculty were appointed by the Normal Board last week and three changes of assignment for present faculty members also were approved.

Dr. Lula Way, professor of education who has been on the faculty since 1935, will become director of the Wayne Prep.

Dr. Leonard Brubaker, director of Hahn Prep during the past year, will become chairman of the division of education. He succeeds acting director Dr. O. F. Moore who is retiring.

Yale Kessinger, on the faculty since 1939 will move up from associate librarian to head librarian, succeeding Lois Crouch who is retiring.

New appointments include Dr. Roy E. Dodson, assistant professor of art; James E. Wayne, instructor in art; Frank Prather, instructor in mathematics; Eugene R. Hanson, assistant librarian; Dr. Mary Fitzpatrick, associate professor of health and physical education; Robert D. Clayton, instructor in health and physical education; Frank H. Thompson, Jr., assistant professor of English and George W. Dellow, supervisor of science and mathematics at Wayne Prep.

All appointments are effective in September with the exception of H-Bow who taught during June.

Demonstrations Given Friday in Wayne REA

A practice demonstration day for all 4-H members and leaders will be held at the Wayne REA building Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The demonstration need not be in the finished stage! The 4-H boys and girls have been asked to bring their individual or team demonstrations that they would like to give for county pre-fair day and receive constructive help.

Randolph Jubilee Sunday-Tuesday

"Diamond Days of '61" opened Sunday at Randolph and continued through Tuesday to celebrate Randolph's seventy-fifth birthday.

Features of the celebration included the "battle of the beards," putting Randolph against Plainview; coronation of the celebration's king and queen; a youth talent night; historical pageant; Civil Defense rescue demonstration and stage show.

The Fourth of July program opened with a parade of more than 100 entries. Music was provided by the Elks Savoy drum and bugle corps, Sioux City, plus Randolph, Bloomfield and Plainview bands.

The Air National Guard staged a fly-over and the Omaha Sky Jumpers, a parachute exhibition.

An 80-page book of Randolph has been published, featuring pictures and stories of the town from early days to the present.

Fireworks Draws Over 900

Over 900 people turned out at the Wayne ball park Tuesday night for the baseball game and fireworks display. The display, sponsored by the Wayne Baseball Association, was one of the most spectacular ever held in the park.

Mike Karel Wins All-State Title

Social Security Name Changed When Married

A girl who marries should have her name changed on her social security card, advises Clifford Kitelson, manager of the Norfolk social security office.

This change can be made by completing a request for a change in the social security records form. A person may get this form from his social security office or from post offices in towns where there is no social security office.

The old social security card should go in with the completed request for change form to the nearest social security office.

Any married woman who still has her maiden name on her card should also have her card changed.

Change of address need not be reported to the social security office unless a person is receiving social security benefits.

Scholarships to Women Available

Three scholarships at Wayne are open for women only.

These include two one term full tuition scholarships sponsored by the Wayne Womens Club and a spring term tuition scholarship sponsored by Delta Kappa Gamma, women's education sorority.

Both present students and incoming freshmen may apply for the scholarships in the personnel office of the Administration.

Applicants must reside in Nebraska. Those applying for the Delta Kappa Gamma scholarship must intend to go into teaching.

Baseball Reminder

Wayne plays league-leading Winside Sunday night at 8 p.m. in the city ball park.

Haase Ends Course

Army Pvt. Jerome Haase, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haase, has completed an eight week telephone switchboard operation and maintenance course at Southeastern Signal School, Ft. Gordon, Ga. Haase is a 1955 graduate of Wayne High. He attended WSTC and is a 1960 graduate of the University of Nebraska.

Bradley Warmemund, general agent for the Ohio National Life Insurance Company in Wayne, and his associate, William Norwell, attended a sales congress in Cincinnati June 26-28. The series of all-day meetings covers all phases of life insurance sales and service, with particular emphasis on accident and sickness insurance.

City Light Plant Marks 3 Records

Wayne city light plant set three records Friday — an all-time high for water pumping, peak load of electricity and one-day electrical output, according to plant superintendent N. H. Brugger.

Nearly 1½ million gallons of water were pumped that day — enough to fill the municipal swimming pool about five times. The total does not include water used by the college. The water pumping capacity is slightly over two million gallons per day.

About 2,390 kilowatts of electricity were used during the peak load, or for a short period, Friday. The record occurred from 11:40 a.m. until noon.

A third record for the entire 24-hour period was also set at 39,300 kilowatts, or more than 3,000 horsepower. Plant capacity is about 6,200 kilowatts per hour.

Brugger attributed the record figures to "hot weather and air conditioning."

Dance After Concert

In City Auditorium

A dance will be held in city auditorium Friday night following the band concert. The dance honors band members who have given their time to make the summer concert series successful, and is open to the public.

The band concert will be at 8 p.m. in Bressler park. The following numbers will be performed: "Washington Post March," Sousa; "Main Theme from Exodus," Washington-Gold; "A Legend," Gericke-Tschirch; "Amparito Rocío," a Spanish march by Winter-Teixidor; "Hollywood Jubilee," by Hawkins-Brown; "Londonderry Air," by Walters; "Old Waltz Favorites," arranged by Warrington; "Sacred Hymns," arranged by Buchtel; "Polka Medley," arranged by Buchtel, and "Old Comrades March," by Teike.

Music of Chimes Ring from Tower

Music of chimes ringing out over Wayne in recent afternoons comes from the Wayne State carillon.

While the carillon itself is as modern as today, operated by electronic amplification, the method of playing these songs is reminiscent of an old device — the player piano.

The mechanism uses a roll of tape similar to the old player piano rolls. As the roll moves, perforations cause tiny hammers to be released on tuned bars. The sound barely audible, is amplified by electronic means.

A variety of songs, some old, some new, is included in the repertoire. At present, the college has seven rolls of music, each with several songs, and can be set to play any one or more of the songs on the roll installed.

James Lee Havener

James Lee Havener, Carroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Havener, has been awarded a work scholarship for the next school year at the University of Nebraska.

Under the work scholarship plan, a student pays part of his college expenses by holding a part-time job. Havener will be employed part-time at a Lincoln mortuary.

The first fire occurred in Wayne at 9:30 a.m. at Karel's store on Main street. Extensive damage was done to the back half of the store where well supplies, oils, tools and paint were stored. Some smoke damage resulted to the rest of the building, but the store was open for business Wednesday.

Wayne fire chief Lee Swinney said the cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

Inkster was arrested June 16 for stealing four 60 pound feeder pigs from the Jim Gothic farm east of Wayne.

Bland and Haase pleaded guilty and were bound over to District court. Erb pleaded innocent at a preliminary hearing held in County court June 28 but reversed his plea in district court.

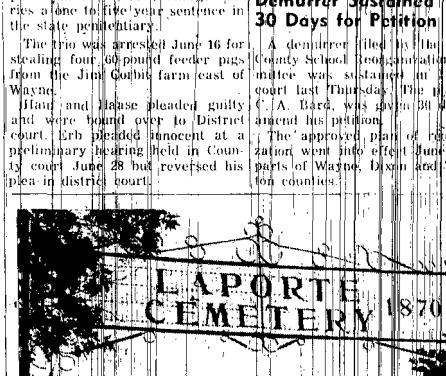

Three Found Guilty Of Stealing Hogs

Harry Hauf, Ray Haase, 26, and Richard Erb, 21, Norfolk, have been found guilty of hog stealing in District court.

Sentencing has been deferred until a report can be made by the probation officer. The charge carries a fine to five year sentence in the state penitentiary.

Give Post Session Courses at College

Wayne State will offer several courses in the post summer session August 7 to 19.

The offerings include biological sciences taught by Robert Sutherland; consumer economics, Dan Rumpf; composition II, Gerald Gubek; conservation of natural resources, Dr. Edward Schwartz; music in general culture, Anthony Garlick; and traffic safety education, Anton Netherda.

All of these teachers are members of the regular WSTC faculty except Dr. Schwartz who is assistant professor of biology at Oshkosh (Wisc.) State College.

With the exception of the two-hour music in general culture course, all offer three credit hours.

Graduate courses will be offered if there is sufficient demand.

Registration is scheduled August 3 and 4. Late registrations will be accepted August 7.

The classes will meet Monday through Saturday. The three-hour classes will meet three times daily for 50-minute periods; two-hour class, three times for 50-minute periods.

New Lights, Oven Get Approval for School

Approval for four new outdoor lights to be placed around the Wayne high school was given by the Wayne City school board Monday night.

The lights will be of the mercury vapor type, such as are in use at the parks. There will be three fourteen foot lights and one 19 foot.

The board also voted to purchase an additional oven for the hot lunch program cafeteria in the elementary school. This will make three ovens in use in the kitchen.

"Good thing we saw these bargains advertised in the paper last night!"

Your newspaper is YOUR SHOPPING GUIDE!

In newspapers the news of better products and services is as important to today's modern family as that of current events or features concerning home and family, food and fashion, hobbies and health.

For newspapers are the medium by which most people shop. No other medium supplies the variety and detail of advertising by which one may compare prices and benefits and choose the comforts and conveniences that make for a full living standard.

There's much significance in this for local advertisers. For only in the newspaper can people of all age and income groups find the information and inspiration so necessary for good citizenship and for the enjoyment of a better way of life.

And because newspapers gain their friendship and regular readership, newspaper advertisers are provided the most productive medium of communication with customers.

THE WAYNE HERALD

"OPERATION SLANTED TEXTBOOKS"

Introduction by S. H. Brauer, Jr.

The Nebraska School Improvement Association has two purposes and objectives for assembling and compiling the following information:

First, to alert school board members and parents that "taut-ed" and slanted textbooks are in general use in Nebraska's schools. That a vast majority of the school boards of Nebraska's schools have been derelict in their responsibility to comply with the provisions of the State's "Americanism Law" (79-213).

Second, to have removed from the school circulation of these state textbooks found to contain communistic and subversive teachings through the introduction and passage of a Legislative Resolution authorizing a Legislative Council Study of the textbooks used in Nebraska in these specific fields: Government, American History, Economics, Social Science, Sociology, Psychology, Civics, Social Studies, not to be limited in these fields, but to include any other such subject fields as the committee might determine. That the Legislative Council Committee prepare a full and complete report of their findings, to include a recommendation to school boards to banish and eliminate all texts which are found by them to be objectionable and subversive (by "subversive" we mean tending to destroy our existing institutions, traditions, customs, and values, by corrupting them or by undermining the principles upon which they are founded and without which they cannot survive. Thus we would say that while all communism in this country is subversive, not all subversions are communistic. While all communists are subversives, not all subversives are communists).

Throughout the ages the obvious purpose of my civilization is training its young to bear the potentialities of civilization. During the first half of this century, our nation has not followed this age-long pattern of self perpetuation.

Some of our leading educators have openly proclaimed their determination to change the pattern of American life. They have been alarmingly successful and few will deny that the new pattern they have traced can directly out of Marx and Lenin. We are convinced that in our vast and elaborately expensive school system, theories and ideas are being propagated which are alien to our culture and destructive to our civilization.

In this recent past both materials and methods conspiring against American individual liberty have been employed in the schools. In many textbooks we find collectivist and world-government slanting, and the subversive shadow of Progressive Education still lurks in the classroom.

And parents of the coming generation, we have the right and the duty to scrutinize the ideas and attitudes which go into the minds and hearts of our children.

There are certain general criteria by which the education of American youth should be measured, and it is by these that we mean to judge textbooks.

The school should emphasize those attitudes and ideas which tend to stress the strength, greatness, and nobility of American life.

Our nation is not perfect, but young people should have the better elements of their environment presented to them until they are mature enough to make distinctions between the evils caused from political and social conditions and those derived from the natural perversity of human nature.

Progressive Education granted to the child and the adolescent the assumption of mature judgment, and that sinister theory has resulted in the general immaturity of the population which makes us timid or unwilling to face facts.

The very young are too young for an impartial presentation of both sides of controversial questions which involve the traditional values of American civilization. Children and adolescents are too immature to comprehend such controversies and too limited in knowledge to form sound opinions on important issues.

The stressing of both sides of a controversy only confuses them and encourages them to make snap judgments based on insufficient evidence. Until they are old enough to understand both sides of a question, they should be taught only the American side.

The American is materialistic enough without being taught that his country was made great and strong by natural resources and machines. Our country is rich in natural resources, but other countries too, are rich in nature's gifts.

It is not natural resources and machines, but the people of America that have made this nation great. It was our independent, indomitable spirit that conquered the wilderness and made the desert bloom, and any other accounting for our success as a nation is subversive lie which should not be perpetrated upon our children.

People — Americans — developed the rich soil and its mineral resources! People — Americans — invented and used the machines which have made the average United States citizen richer than the kings of old. Why should the schools not teach our children the virtues of American men? Why should the school picnickers not show the flaws and the weaknesses of such men to parade before the American crowd instead of pointing out the strength and virtues that made them great?

Freedom of religion should be maintained at all costs, but regardless of denominations or creeds, the principles of Christianity are the same for us all. Our civilization was built upon the Christian religion. Its ethical concepts and moral principles should be taught in the public school. Honesty, fair play, kindness, courtesy, industry and unselfish service are the ideals of our Christian civilization. Without their perpetuation our children cannot inherit the American Republic.

The schools should teach that the Constitution of the United States is the greatest political document ever conceived by the mind of man and a sacred possession of every American. Our Founding Fathers deeply learned and widely experienced, blended in it the exact proportions of Roman republicanism and English common law to safeguard the liberty of every American citizen.

A CITIZEN EVALUATION OF A TEXTBOOK ENTITLED "MAGRUDER'S AMERICAN GOVERNMENT"

Copyright 1958 Published by "Allyn and Bacon, Inc." by Dwain A Anderson

Forty odd years ago a newly established government made a declaration of war against another government. Nikolai Lenin, of the Soviet Union, said: "We shall encircle the United States as the包围, or ring of fire, it shall fall like an orange fruit into our hands." This declaration has been repeated in different words by each succeeding Soviet Regime and by every known communist office throughout the entire world. The most famous recent declarations were made by Premier Kru-shev when he said, in New York City, "We shall bury you" and again on January 8, 1961, when he said, "Capitalism is now ready to fall to us without war."

No where on the pages of history can there be found a situation that equals that in which the United States is involved today. Our people, upon whom this forty-year declaration rests, seem unaware, apathetic, and tragically ignorant of the true nature of communist doctrine and its insidious purpose.

In spite of the expenditure of $90 billion dollars for foreign aid and defense since World War Two, 700 million people and twenty six countries have been engulfed and have fallen to the Soviet Communists. There has been little questioning of either our methods or combat or our diagnosis of the enemy.

In view of the fact that the Federal Bureau of Investigation has had representation within the ranks of the United States Communist Party ever since its embryonic stage, there is probably no man in our country better able to describe communism than Mr. J. Edgar Hoover. Mr. Hoover, in his book, "Masters of Deceit," divides the communist doctrine as instituted by Karl Marx and implemented by his successors, into three basic components:

(1) There is no God

(2) Man is a machine (to work)

(3) The state is supreme.

When faced with the bare truth of the extent of Marxist infiltration, one is at first overwhelmed with a feeling of complete inability to deal with it. It is therefore imperative that we proceed with caution using the basic doctrine of Leninism and Marxism as our criterion in evaluating the Magruder's Government Textbook.

We must also realize the setting in which the book is used, and the nature of the participants. For the most part communist gains have been made by hate and confusion. It is possible to sow doubt in the young and tender mind by one falsehood, cleverly concealed in an entire chapter. It is possible to dissipate serious fact by a slanted inference. Even if the result is confusion, the foundation is laid for indoctrination in the future.

Another reason for the success of the conspiracy is their willingness to literally throw everything into the battle!

If a citizen is 90% American, they will find a way to use the other 10%. If 100% American and uninformed, they can count on this ignorance to shield his advance. The communist will not hesitate to take five steps backward if by so doing, he can take six forward.

Since he regards himself as only a machine, he is also satisfied to expand his life to gain one small pinnacle for the cause, leaving his successor to continue his work.

It is significant to observe that all the major Soviet leaders have been trained in Christian Doctrine and their youth, Marx, Engels and Lenin came from religious homes. Stalin studied from the clergy and Krushchev boasting that he attended church school often quotes Bible verses. All of these men have been anti-Christian because they know it as an ideology diametrically opposed to theirs.

On page 18 of this text is found the statement "man is by nature a political animal." This statement is in direct contradiction to the facts as revealed by anthropology. It is inherent in man to believe in a supreme being which places him separate from animals. This is substantiated by the archaeological discoveries of man's belief in god and evil spirits, worship of the sun, etc. All major churches of America teach the Bible version as recorded in Genesis 1-17 — "So God created man in his own image."

Even the Darwinian Theory of the "common species" did not call man an animal.

It then suggests a lowering of moral restraint and doubts man's rightful place of dignity above an-

EXAMPLES: Most modern American civic texts give a great deal of attention to "civil liberties" such as freedom of religion, speech and press. Is sufficient, or equal attention given to other rights, such as the right to acquire and hold property, the right to work, the right to engage in free enterprise, the right of a free society to protect itself against subversion, etc.?

D. In many modern economics texts a great deal of space is given to the right which is or should be played by the government in our economy. Does the text give sufficient or equal attention to the role played by the private enterprise in our economy?

E. How does the textbook treat socialism, communism, and capitalism and related subjects under each system?

F. If the textbook is illustrated with photographs, drawings, cartoons, charts, or tables) some attention should be given to the fairness and balance of such illustrations.

EXAMPLES: One social science textbook in discussing American Labor, carries cartoons selected from the public press showing labor as down-trodden and exploited. Are there no cartoons illustrating exploitation of labor by unscrupulous labor leaders or racketeers?

G. Special attention should be given to recommendations or supplemental reading lists on each subject covered, containing a preponderance of pamphlets edited by a man with a long communist front record.

EXAMPLES: One textbook's recommended reading list on each subject covered, contains a preponderance of pamphlets edited by a man with a long communist front record.

Another, when it discusses the subject of modern China includes one book by Fred Uller, by Owen Lattimore, Agnes Smedley, Harrison Forman, Edgar Snow, etc., etc. The same imbalance often applies to other subjects like socialism, labor capitalism, democracy, etc.

In answer to the discussion concerning the Mississippi Schools in regard to TEXTBOOKS, I should like to quote you a passage from a letter received from H. B. Mayes McGehee who was Chairman of the General Legislative Investigating Committee.

In our conversation of this past week, you intimated that some of the critics of the textbook study have made assertions that Mississippi has for many years been continuously involved in a controversy over the purchase of textbooks and the quality of textbooks used in its public schools. This is certainly a false assertion and to my knowledge, there had been no study made of the textbooks in use in our State by any state agency prior to the study made by our Committee except the usual evaluation done by the State Textbook Purchasing Board. As a result of our recommendations further study has been given by the State Textbook Purchasing Board to the textbooks criticized by Mr. Root and at the regular session of the legislature in 1960."

ernment or is it the people that motivates the state? Even though the book gives reference to the government of the people for the people and by the people on other pages, here doubt is cast upon it. Is not this statement in contrast to George Washington's statement that "Government is like fire — it will devour servant or a terrible master?"

After continued reference to democracy in chapter 2 on page 29 the following question is asked which three of the following words can be used to describe the United States? Presidential, Unitary, Confederated, Parliamentary, Federal, Dictatorial, Despotistic?

The present form of this long doleful book shows the good that public criticism can do. But the Magruder book by parents, citizens, and the DAB, has brought about revisions that improve the book from its former emphasis. The said most of the books contain many general and abstract passages that will praise America and pay lip service to capitalism and free enterprise. SUMMARY OF EVALUATION OF MAGRUDER'S AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

by E. Merrill Root

The present form of this long doleful book shows the good that public criticism can do. But the Magruder book by parents, citizens, and the DAB, has brought about revisions that improve the book from its former emphasis.

But this book is still unsatisfactory. Criticism should continue until it eliminates flaws and brings about greater accuracy.

The present text does pay lip service to free enterprise and capitalism. But it still favors what seems to be welfare state, government regulation and control, etc.

The text tends to cite as authorities a disproportionate number of ultra-liberal men in its bibliography. Walter Lippman, Norman Thomas, Jacob J.avits, H. Hubert Wilson, Sydney Hook, Robert H. MacIver, Joseph S. Clark, Leland Stowe, Reinhold Niebuhr, etc., etc. There is no fair presentation of the conservative philosophy to balance it. It is one-sided. It is a lack of balance of what is taught.

The text tends to lay its evils on "dictators" i.e. bad men taking over a too bad system rather than to the inherent errors and evils of the system itself. It does not make clear that Marxism, collectivism and the ideology of the Soviets, is not in a wrong application, but in a wrong essence and center.

The text is too uncritically laudatory of the United Nations. It does not really present the case against the United Nations. It sets up for example, KM weakly against the United Nations (718) as a kind of strawman for KM students easily to knock down.

Why do you agree or disagree with the following statement: "The United Nations is a failure. It is failing apart — let it go. No rational person really expected it to work anyway. If it fails, then we can put our effort and money into pursuing our own national interests." This is a poor, weak example of our opposition to the United Nations. Of course students will disagree with it — since it is a better book — thanks to its patriotic criticism — that it was in its unrevised form. But it still retains an ultra-liberal slanted unfair ideology, full of liberal dogma, narrated by the liberarhypnosis.

This is an unsatisfactory

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is an opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

Who Must Pay?

The head of the Citizens Public Expenditure survey, a New York organization, has issued an important warning to the people of this country. It amounts to this: The potpourri of government spending plans now being hatched will have to be paid for by middle and lower income groups — not by the rich.

The reason is simple enough. Taxes on big incomes have just about reached the ultimate — 91 percent at the top. And the people with big incomes are very few in number. Even if they were taxed at a 100 percent rate in the upper

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

brackets, the resulting revenue would hardly make a noticeable dent in present Federal budgets.

So, if government spending continues to soar, the man of moderate means will have to pay the bill one way or another. No one else can. He has no way of controlling public expenditures except at elections when he can vote for or against men and measures that represent excessive extravagance, debt and taxation.

What can't be said in a few words needs more thought.

and fishing and does not deal with attracting out-of-state tourists to Nebraska.

Marvel has contended that the $400,000 figure indicates the Legislature has supported tourism.

Communist Party

The Nebraska Legislature has acted to outlaw the Communist Party in the state. Passed 36-0 was a bill making it a felony to belong to the Communist Party or any other organization advocating violent overthrow of the government.

Violators would be guilty of a felony, subject to imprisonment of from one to 20 years and be barred from holding public office anywhere in the state.

All prosecutions would be handled by the attorney general's department. The idea was proposed by Sen. William Brandt, Unadilla.

Tourism Supported

One of the subjects that occupied much discussion on the floor of the Legislature in its last days was tourism. The debate began with floor attempts to hike the $25,000 recommended for the G. a. e. Commission for tourist promotion. A move to put the total at $48,500 failed as did one to boost the amount to $97,000 as requested by Gov. Frank Morrison.

After considerable debate the discussion centered on exactly what could be classified as tourist promotion.

Sen. Richard Marvel, Hastings, budget committee chairman, said the tourism budget actually approached $400,000, including $25,000 in the governor's budget and $346,000 for the information and education section of the game commission.

However, G. a. e. Commission Director Mel Steen said there is only $25,000 available in the commission for tourist promotion since all other money is earmarked for other activities by the Legislature.

Steen contends that the information and education budget is for public education on hunting chines or materials. It deals with hearts and souls.

Many leaders outside the church are acknowledging this fact. Woodrow Wilson once said:

"Our civilization cannot survive materially unless it is redeemed spiritually."

Charles L. Lindberg wrote,

"Our salvation lies in controlling the arm of Western science by the mind of a Western philosophy guided by the eternal truths of God. If lies in the balanced qualities of spirit, mind and body of our people."

Werner von Braun claims,

"Nothing has probably retarded human progress more than idolatry of our own achievements."

On the battlefield "Mars"

General MacArthur said that the basic issue of today was not military but theological. "It must be of the spirit if we are to save the flesh."

This simply means that we do not need a new religion or a new philosophy to save the world.

What we need is a rebirth of spirit. This would bring about trust, love, goodness, kindness that comes through the gospel.

Why should we support the Church? The Church and the gospel of Jesus Christ can save us presently and eternally. Christianity has the answer to a lost world. In these days religion is a basic need. It should be placed as a top priority. We either turn to God or we destroy ourselves.

Another bill, relating to schools, was not revived on the floor. It would have set up a program of state financial aid to schools providing driver training courses. Lawmakers turned down an attempt to revive the bill by a 27-11 count.

As proposed, the legislation would have hiked the cost of driver's licenses by $1 to finance the training program.

Thinking OUT LOUD

Rev. S. K. de Freese, Pastor
Redeemer Lutheran Church
Wayne

A common question of the average man on the street is: "What do you think of the world situation?" All of us have good reason to ask. At the moment there are many troubled spots in the world, particularly Communism in Cuba, strife in Belgium, international conflict in the Congo and civil war in Laos. Each of these has the potential of starting a nuclear war. We are living constantly on the brink of catastrophe.

Ours is a difficult age. It is one of paradoxes and contradictions. It is an age of power without peace. We have bombs but not beliefs; jets but not justice, strength but not security, logistics but not love. In an age like this men are beginning to ask, "What can save the world?" What do you think of the world situation?"

Christ gave the answer almost 2,000 years ago when He told His disciples, "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation." This was His last command before leaving the earth. He charged His disciples, including us, to make disciples of all nations. Will the world accept this as the answer? Does the world say it is too idealistic?

The Church offers this as the answer to our world because it is the cure for a diseased world. We have a cure that matches the disease. What is the cure for this sickness? The cure must match the disease. The sickness deals with the mind, heart and soul of men. It does not deal with ma-

Way Back When . . .

10 Years Ago

July 10, 1951: Dr. L. A. Jensen, Thurston veterinarian, has become associated with Dr. E. L. Harvey, Wayne. Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Florme and Jimmy Wayne are moving to Columbus this week where Mr. Florme will manage a clothing store. . . . Burglars broke into the Reith garage and Fullerton lumber company offices, Concord, early Sunday morning. Tire and automobile accessories were taken from the garage. A dial on the safe at the lumber yard was broken but nothing taken. . . . Mrs. Fred Blair, Wayne, broke her forearm in an accidental fall from the front porch of her home July 4. . . . Two horses belonging to Walter J. Ulrich were killed by a bolt of lightning July 2 while they were standing in the middle of a pasture during an electrical storm. . . . Frank Sederstrom's car caught fire in the garage at his home the evening of July Fourth but no damage resulted. He was working on the machine when the blaze started. Jack Neely, Winside, star centerfielder on Wayne's Junior Legion baseball team, received a fracture of his right leg in the first inning of the Wayne-Wakefield Legion game at Wakefield Tuesday afternoon. Jack was attempting to slide into second base when his spikes apparently caught the bag, throwing his weight in such a manner that both bones in the leg were broken above the ankle.

July 10, 1941: Wayne board of education Monday evening sanctioned the purchase of 36 new uniforms for the municipal band. The uniforms cost $16.05 each. . . . Wakefield city purchased a large neon sign to be placed on the highway as the city is entered from the south. . . . William A. Crossland, Wayne, was guest speaker at the Fourth of July picnic and program of Sunshine Corner Community club, held at the William Krueger farm, Winside. Ernest Elder, Winside, was injured when kicked on the jaw by a horse last Thursday while he was bringing a team into the yard from a field. . . . About 75 attended the Winside Danish Brotherhood picnic at Walnut Grove Sunday. . . . Frank Sederstrom's car caught fire in the garage at his home the evening of July Fourth but no damage resulted. He was working on the machine when the blaze started. Jack Neely, Winside, star centerfielder on Wayne's Junior Legion baseball team, received a fracture of his right leg in the first inning of the Wayne-Wakefield Legion game at Wakefield Tuesday afternoon. Jack was attempting to slide into second base when his spikes apparently caught the bag, throwing his weight in such a manner that both bones in the leg were broken above the ankle.
