Wayne Youth Hears Nehru, Interviews USSR Delegate

Editor's note: Each Thanksgiving much is said, although possibly not enough, about giving thanks for our bountiful country and our freedom. But many of our freedoms show up in ways that aren't even recognized as a freedom.

Last week two young men, Jerry Kingston, Wayne, and Joel Ernesti, West Point, went to New York to hear Prime Minister Nehru speak to the U. N. This possibly could have happened in Russia if both had belonged to the right class of people, been in a special group being trained in work for the state, or in some way specially designated.

But in the second phase of their trip they enjoyed a freedom that would be impossible in the USSR. They interviewed, along with other youths, a Russian delegate to the UN and were able to ask any question of him they desired.

Following is Kingston's report of the events in which every one should be thankful he or any other citizen could participate.

Jerry Kingston

Both men are members of the WSTC chapter of Collegiate Council for the United Nations.

By Jerry Kingston
Because the United States has been such a leader in advances toward a better way of life, said Prime Minister Nehru, the U. S. has a great responsibility to the rest of the world.

These rapid advances have not been followed by the same degree of advancement in the thinking of the American people, and this is the problem facing the youth of the nation now. The problem is how to close the gap between political, economic and social thought and technological thought.

He said many areas of cooperation between the USSR and the US are not plastered across the front pages of our newspapers. Therefore we get a lopsided view of the world. The role of young people in the US is to even out this lopsided view we now possess.

The term "neutral nations" is really a poor one, he continued. A better term for the countries not committed to the East or West is "not aligned." The role of these countries should be to help create an atmosphere away from military action, since there is no military solution to the world's problems.

The doctrine of "Peaceful Co-existence" may be the solution to the world's problems, Nehru said. Germany and Japan, once enemies to the US are now two of its best allies. Maybe someday the USSR and US will be able to get along like this also.

Peaceful co-existence has worked in the Indian ideologies as two religions exist in India, but no wars are fought over it. The West should never surrender to the USSR but maybe they should seriously consider the co-existence idea.

The future role of the United Nations, he continued, should be to become a world authority to work out the world's problems. The autonomy of each of the countries of the world would be retained, but some type of police force should be established to enforce any decision made by the UN.

(Editor's note: Following is talk given by and the interview with the Russian delegate to the UN as reported by Kingston.)

Russia proposes a very peaceful solution to the world's problems, the delegate said. All she really desires is some common ground on which to start negotiations. Russia tried to find this at the Geneva Convention but the US refused to provide such grounds.

He said the only effective United Nations would be one that represents the power block of the world, a three-headed Secretariat.

Russia also wishes to see a united and peaceful Germany, not the Russians.

When asked why the Russians were not paying their dues to the UN like they should, the delegate said the American people are victims of the press. He said Russia does give a sizable portion of her portion of her budget to the UN.

When asked why Russia did not aid the UN forces in the Congo, he stated Russia did not support UN action in the Congo and besides, France and some of the other UN members did not aid in the Congo either.

When asked why Russia resumed nuclear tests and ignored the UN resolution against testing the 50 megaton bomb, he said the USSR was forced by the United States when the US began strengthening her military position in Europe.

Russia is also afraid that the United States will give nuclear weapons to West Germany. Purely for her own defense, Russia was forced to resume testing. Yes, a couple of the neutral nations in the United Nations mentioned something about the testing of the big bomb, but after all, when the neutrals in the UN proposed a resolution to cease all nuclear testing of any kind, the United States blocked the action. Therefore, the United States does not really want peace and Russia is forced to strengthen her civil defense.

The Russian delegate also stated that the flow of refugees from East to West Berlin is caused by propaganda leaders in the West. These people are promised so many things, they cannot resist. The propaganda leaders are lying to the refugees and are causing the great migration. No comment was made about the wall across the city dividing the West and the East.

When questioned about the 1956 revolution in Hungary, the Soviet delegate stated that the revolution was caused by some mistakes that the Hungarian government had made and also because of the western propaganda that had been poured into that area. Russia was forced to restore order for the peace and security of all people concerned.

Kingston also took a poll of students from across the United States asking them what they thought was the greatest crisis faced by the United Nations. In almost every instance the students felt that disarmament and arms control was the major issue. Some of the students even stated the actual survival of the UN was the greatest crisis.

Elect New Members To Reorganization County Committee

Seven new members were named to the Wayne County Reorganization committee at its election Monday at the court house.

The new members are: C. A. Bard, District 17; Paul Dangleberg, Winside; Hans Geewe, District 51; Frederick Mann, District 51; Merlin Reinhardt, District 5; Lyle Marotz, District 9, and Ralph Olson, District 36.

Members re-elected were Dallas Havener, District 70, and Leo Jordan, District 56.

The committee will hold an organization meeting at the county superintendent's office.

Bond Election in Winside District

A special election for $387,000 for a school bond issue has been scheduled for Dec. 18 in the Winside school district. Polls will be open at the village auditorium from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The proposition call for the money to be used for the purchase of a site, the building of a school house, paying for additions to or repairs of the existing school houses and furnishing the necessary furniture and apparatus for the same in the district.

Hospital Open House Attended by Over 300

Over 300 people attended the open house Sunday at the Wakefield hospital. Viewers were able to get an idea of the complete operation of the hospital.

The hospital was built in 1949 at an original cost of $180,000. The present value is estimated at $250,000 with a gross yearly income of $100,000.

About 600 patients per year are served by its facilities and about 120 births are recorded each year. Staffing the hospital are Dr. C. M. Coe, Dr. G. E. Fredrickson and Dr. Roy Matson. The hospital administrator is Dick Easley who is presently serving as president of the Nebraska Hospital Association's District II organization.

Merchant Services Planned Friday at Methodist Church

Earl H. Merchant, 78, prominent Wayne businessman for over 50 years, died late Monday night at the Wayne hospital. He had undergone surgery Friday.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Friday at the First Methodist church with Rev. W. C. Simmer officiating.

Mr. Merchant had been in business at the same location in Wayne 57 years. He came to Wayne in 1904 and began work in the Sam Windsor blacksmith shop located on the corner where Merchant Oil Co. now stands. Mr. Merchant later purchased the blacksmith shop from Windsor.

In the fall of 1919 Mr. Merchant and B. F. Strahan founded the Merchant and Strahan Oil Co. Mr. Merchant purchased Strahan's interest in the business in 1938 and was joined in the firm by his son, Robert, Jan. 1, 1946.

Mr. Merchant was the oldest DX jobber for the oil company's northern division, which includes Nebraska, western Iowa and southern South Dakota. He was honored in 1959 for 35 years of service with the company.

A member of the First Methodist church, Mr. Merchant had held numerous church offices. He was a past master of Wayne Masonic Lodge 120 and a member of Royal Arch 1144. He served as first vice president of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce when it was organized in the 1930's.

Earl H. Merchant, son of Wilson and Mary Merchant, was born July 4, 1883 at Walnut, Ia., where he was graduated from high school. June 30, 1908 he was married to Delpha Auker at Wayne.

Survivors include his widow; two sons, Stanley, Delanco, N. J., and Robert, Wayne; a sister, Mrs. Kathryn York, Ladonia, Ia., and five grandchildren, Paulette, Joan, Stephen, David and Douglas. Four sisters preceded him in death.

Larry Paulson Hurt in Tractor Mishap Monday

Larry Paulson, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Paulson, Winside, was listed in serious condition Monday in a Norfolk hospital with injuries as the result of a tractor accident.

He was helping pick corn at the Steve Nettleton farm and was driving the tractor on a country road southwest of Winside when the mishap occurred. The tractor was extensively damaged, but details of the accident are not known.

Free Movies, Santa to Greet Kids in December

Wayne Chamber of Commerce will sponsor three free movies for children Dec. 2, 9 and 16. The shows will be held at the Gay theater beginning at 1 p.m.

Santa Claus has promised to set up his headquarters on those three days at the city auditorium, as he has in the past.

Santa has again asked The Wayne Herald to receive his mail for him. Letters can be addressed to Santa, c/o The Wayne Herald, Wayne, Nebr.

Bonnie Lutt, senior from Wayne, is the new editor of the 1962 Echoes, Wayne State literary magazine published every spring. The publication is devoted to creative writing by students.

Change in Feed Grain Rules Allows Grazing

A recent change in the 1961 feed grain program now allows farmers to graze cattle on diverted acreage, according to John Mohr, county ASC committee chairman.

He explained the action was taken to permit farmers to carry out customary after-harvest salvage through turning live-stock on to cropland from now until the end of the year without being put to unreasonable expense for protective fencing in instances where diverted acres might be in the same field.

The period for keeping the land in a conserving use-and out of production runs through the end of the year, but participants who normally would work or plant land this fall for 1962 crops could perform these usual activities on diverted acres under existing provisions.

Sheriff Weible Named Peace Officers Prexy

Wayne County Sheriff Don Weible is the new president of the Nebraska Association of Sheriffs and Peace Officers. He succeeds Wakefield Police Chief Lawrence Graf.

Norfolk Police Chief Otis Knollwell was elected vice president at the Thursday meeting in Norfolk, and Assistant Norfolk Chief Erv Warnicke was named secretary-treasurer.

Drivers Miss Injury In Car-Truck Mishap

Both drivers in a car-truck accident in Wayne Tuesday night escaped injury.

An Einong Concrete Co. cement truck was struck in the side by a car driven by J. David Carhart, Wayne, as the truck attempted to cross Main street at Seventh.

Driver of the truck, Steve Lovenson, Pilger, said he had stopped for the stop sign but pulled from the corner without seeing the Carhart vehicle.

Rethwisch in Who's Who

Kurt Rethwisch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rethwisch, Carroll, a Nebraska Wesleyan student, has been named to "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

MORE THAN a mile of festooning was used in decorating Wayne's streets for the holidays. Total weight of the greenery that decorates 49 poles with 60 lights each and five crossings is 3,240 pounds. Special thanks should go to the City Light department which supplies labor, equipment and know-how in completing the decorating.

Carlson Takes European Student Orchestra Tour

Marlan Carlson, Wayne, will leave Friday with the first all-American student orchestra to tour Europe and the Middle East in a mission of good will under government sponsorship.

During the past few weeks the 87 select musicians from all parts of the United States, ranging in ages 19 to 26, have been briefed by State Department officials. Particular stress has been given to the Russian language since one-third of the 12-week tour will be spent in Russia.

Jet planes will take the American musicians to Portugal, Spain, France, Switzerland, Luxembourg, Belgium, Sweden, West Germany, Berlin, West Berlin, Egypt, Lebanon, Turkey, Yugoslavia and Russia.

Christmas observance by the group will be on Cyprus Island in the Mediterranean.

State Talent Find Area Winners Told

Two Laurel girls, Carolyn Johnson and Patricia Lipp, took first place in their respective divisions at the State Talent Find contest in Lincoln last Friday. The girls were winners in the Dixon-Cedar county talent find.

Carolyn won in the tall meet and Patricia took the purple ribbon in the upper junior division.

Clara Hattig, also of Laurel, received a blue ribbon in the young adult division. Claudia Niemann, Carroll, received a red ribbon in the lower junior division.

Darold Suhr Loses Fingers in Picker

Darold Suhr, farmer near Wakefield, lost three fingers on his right hand in a corn picker mishap last week.

Civil defense classes for the public will begin at the Wayne city high school Jan. 4. The course will meet every Thursday night and will consist of six lessons of two hours each.

Of the dozen instructors in the course, five men have divided the lessons, each taking an area of most interest to him. The instructors have just completed an 18 hour course instructed by men from the state Department of education.

Donald Dean, guidance counselor, will instruct the first class which will answer the questions, "Can we survive an atomic war and do you want to survive?"

Richard Pound, commercial instructor, will take less than two which is based on what you should know about the national plan for civil defense and mobilization.

Lesson three, which deals with the effects of acute whole-body radiation doses, radiation sickness and symptoms of chemical warfare, will be taught by Wayne Chemistry and science instructor.

Cheney will also teach lesson four on the amount of protection afforded by various types of structures, protection against biological warfare and chemical warfare agents.

William Walsh, social studies and commercial instructor, will teach lesson five dealing with the family fallout shelter, home emergency sanitation and first aid.

William Ihon, science instructor, will take the final lesson which is a summary of the previous lessons.

The federal government is sponsoring these classes through the state department of education and are not available in all states.

It will take 20 people to make up a class. With more than that, the class will be divided into two groups meeting on different nights, probably Wednesday and Thursday.

Anyone interested in the class is asked to call the high school (26).

Union Services On Thanksgiving

"Rejoicing in Goodness" is the title of the sermon for the Union Service Thanksgiving Day at the First Methodist church Thursday. The message will be delivered by Dr. O. B. Frost.

The service will begin at 9 a.m. The offering will be sent to the Nebraska Children's Home Society in Omaha.

Children's Book Week Observed at Library

The Wayne Public Library celebrated National Children's Book week last week with the slogan, "Hurray for Books." Teachers in the area are making arrangements with librarians Mrs. Bonaded Fredrickson to have their pupils visit the library to become acquainted with the large selection of new books.

New books added to the adult collection this month include: non-fiction: "Buy Now, Pay Later," Black; "Love Song to the Plains," Sandoz; "House Without a Roof," Hindus; "Simlar Lewis: An American Life," Schorer; "The Making of President, 1960," White; "A Matter of Life and Death," "Autobiography of Eleanor Roosevelt," Roosevelt; "Jacqueline B. Kennedy," Thayer; "Carpenter U. S. A.," Boroff.

Fiction: "What Every Bachelor Knows," Ford; "The Small Room," Sartre; "Pilgrim's Strangers," Mercer; "I Should Have Kissed Her More," King; "Plough the Sea," Wilder; "Over the Fence as Out," Rhoades; "Deaf, Dumb, and Blonde," Morton; "The Judas Tree," Cronin; "Dr. Jeremy's Wife," Seifert; "Chronicle of a Crime," Dabrowski.

Memorial shelf: "Birds of the World," Austin Jr. and "America's Woodlands—the National Parks," National Geographic Society, in memory of A. V. Teed by Wayne friends.

Area Shippers

Shippers to Sioux City this week include Hugelman and Son, Wakefield, 24 steers, wt. 1,095, $25.75; Marvin Meier, Wakefield, 31 butchers, $16; Larry Echtenkamp, Wakefield, 43 butchers, $16; Kinney and Schroeder, Wakefield, 23 steers, wt. 1,140, $24.25; Gordon Lundin, Wakefield, 12 steers, wt. 1,065, $24.25; Harold Stoltenberg, Carroll, 55 steers, wt. 1,194, $25; Vernon Millers, Hoskins, 43 butchers, $15.75, and 6 sows, $14.50.

AN EXCELLENT turnout netted the Wayne Hospital Auxiliary $1,300, with more to come, at their bazaar Saturday. The ladies ran out of some items and took orders for more, which accounts for the "more to come." The money will be used to purchase new equipment and make repairs at the hospital.

District 9 - Hoskins Upper Grades Paul Johnson, teacher

We have many interesting things to share with you this time.

One of the main things is the very interesting and informative speech given by Mr. Young, from the State Game Commission. He spoke to us on hunting rules and showed us a film, "Balance of Wildlife." Mrs. Frances Schaffer's room came into our room for this occasion, also.

Peggy Hoeman, sixth grader and Sally Jochens, eighth grader, have been working on our library. They have set up a card catalog and rules and regulations as how to check out a book to get the most out of it.

We have many different magazines every week such as Life, Look, Time and The Norfolk Daily News to increase our reading materials and source of current news at home as well as in other countries.

Basketball has started again and the boys all seem to be very interested.

Dennis Brokaw celebrated his birthday by treating us with a very good cake.

Mrs. Vernon Behmer and Mrs. Porter have visited our school.

District 8 Mrs. Helen Barner, teacher

Family night is being held Monday for the parents. We are planning to have some folk dances and science experiments for them to see. A cooperative lunch will follow the game for entertainment.

Plans are being made to have a Thanksgiving dinner Oct. Wednesday before Thanksgiving.

The kindergarten now can write their numbers to six, recognize all color words and able to redite and act out many of the nursery rhymes.

Terry Meyer is the spelling astronaut closest to his destination.

Turkeys were made out of paper sacks to help decorate our room for Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Merim Beiermann and Todd, Mrs. Donald Kay, Denise and Joyce Longe were recent visitors.

Timothy Hurtle has been hibernating not entertaining us as much. Jimmie Meyer brought different fabrics to school to help his study of materials.

The classes have been enjoying air experiments and the force of heat. We have boiled different kinds of water to see the sediment left.

District 33 Mrs. Florence Mau, teacher

Visitors during Education Week were Mrs. Clifford Baker and Kim, Mrs. Dean Meyer, Mrs. Ernest Geeve, Mrs. Eldor Henschke, Mrs. Gene Helgren and Mrs. Emil Stalling and Joni. Donald Mau also visited Nov. 9-10 as Hant school was dismissed for Parent-Teacher conferences.

Nine of the seventeen pupils enrolled had perfect attendance. The first and second grades have finished their reading and social studies books. They are enjoying their new books very much.

Unit tests were given in fifth, sixth and seventh grade social

District 7 Mrs. Jann O'Mara, teacher

District 7 observed National Education Week by having open house Friday afternoon, Nov. 10. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Krusemark, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Johnson and Val, Mrs. Billy Hankson and Kristi Lea, Mrs. Lloyd McQuistan, Mrs. Edward C. McQuistan, Mrs. Edward W. McQuistan, Mrs. Ernest O'Mara and Mrs. Rudy Bettenhausen. During open house the students displayed their rhythm hand instruments, sang songs, marched, and reviewed their note and music scale lessons. Marcia Krusemark played a piano solo, "Pelle Russian Rhapsody."

Mary McQuistan, Ray Johnson and Jaymie Hanson played duets on the piano. The students then held their weekly club meeting. After the meeting each student explained to the guests two projects, charts, or other work displayed in the room. Brief recitation classes and study periods were then held. A lunch of coffee and rolls was served to the guests.

District 23 Mrs. Judy Mallor, teacher

Pupils with perfect attendance this year are Debbie and Sheri Jekler, Art, Joe and Jayne Bruns, Beverly Korn and Peter Reeg.

Debbie Jekler won the October arithmetic contest with Jean Thomas and Sheri Jekler tying for second. Jean won the language contest with Debbie and Jayne Bruns tying for second. Debbie is leading in this month's arithmetic contest by having the most stars on her Wise Arithmetic Owl. Jayne, Jean, and Debbie are leading in the language contest by having the most feathers on the turkey.

Peter and Jayne, sixth graders, made a shoe box diorama of a South American scene. The fourth grade girls made pretty posters of cloud formations using cotton. Everyone has made Thanksgiving decorations for our room.

Mrs. Malvin Bruns has been a recent visitor.

District 1 Mrs. Gloria Leseberg, teacher

A Thanksgiving dinner is being planned Wednesday with each family bringing a different part of the dinner.

SW Wayne

Larry, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Grone, returned Friday after three days in the Lutheran hospital, Sioux City, for tests and observation.

Mrs. Ed Grone visited her grandmother, Mrs. Tom Late, in the Wayne hospital Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Grone and family will be Thanksgiving Day dinner guests in the Elmer Lyons home, Laurel. Other guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Carl Eldrick, Sheryl and Steven and Mrs. Nellie Allen, Denver, Colo.

Girl Scout Notes

Girl Scout Troop 145

Wayne - Girl Scout Troop 145 and leaders, Pat Morrissey and Alice McGregors, hiked to the airport Saturday. After exploring the airport the girls enjoyed sack lunches. Favor was delivered to the Wayne hospital Wednesday.

Brownie Troop 191

Brownie Troop 191 met in the home of Linda Lesh Nov. 2. The group talked about the Brownie Pledge and Promise. Nov. 8 the troop met in the home of Wanona Peterson, where they talked about plays and learned a new dance. Nov. 15 the girls met again at the Lesh home. At this time Kristy Hanson was initiated into the troop. The group enjoyed acting out the Brownie play and the story, "Red Shoes." Lunch was served at each meeting by the hostesses.

Enjoying Thanksgiving at The Charles Jeches home will be Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Andrews, Gary and Larry, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Stern, Nancy and Connie Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reed, Omaha, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Andrews.

Six Wayne State Gridders Picked for All-Star Team

Wayne State landed six football players on the Nebraska College conference all-star team, selected last Friday during a conference meeting in Lincoln. The coaches chose the following Wayne players among the 25 honored on offensive and defensive units:

Defense — LeRay Zierke, end, and Tom Billeter, linebacker.

Peru and Kearney also had six each on the all-star selection; Doane, four; Hastings, Chadron and Nebraska Wesleyan, one each.

Other choices:

Offense — Gary Myers, Kearney, and Gary Beckwith, Doane, ends; Ken Dostal, Peru, tackle; John Moore, Doane, and Mike Ramirez, Peru, guards; Ron Kelley, Peru, Marvin Drevo, Doane, and Steve Kraus and Dick Buloph, Kearney, backs.

Defense — Tom Neal, Peru, end; Dean Stapleton, Peru, and Larry Dieckman, Kearney, tackles; Don Ostdek, Hastings, and Bob Stillmuck, Kearney, guards; Dick Place, Peru, Harry Boss, Kearney, Jerry Reeves, Doane, and Don Schmaderer, Chadron, backs, and Tom Whiddon, Nebraska Wesleyan, linebacker.

The conference elected Dr. Russell Owen, Wayne's dean of administration, as president. Other officers: James Standley, Hastings, vice president, and Dr. W. E. Bruner, Kearney, re-elected secretary.

The NCC coaches named Doane's Gary Beckwith, O'Neill, end, as winner of the conference's Carrier award. This is bestowed annually.

'Cats Open Season Tuesday at SSTC

Wayne State begins the 1961-62 basketball season Tuesday night at Southern State Teachers college, Springfield, S. D.

The next game will bring Omaha university to Wayne Dec. 5.

The Wildcats have a score to settle with Southern, which last year gave Wayne an 83-70 trimming, the second biggest margin of loss all season.

In several previous years, the two teams had been about as evenly matched as possible, the winner usually only one or two points ahead.

Wayne Coach Al Svenningsson will have seven lettermen, including three regular starters, back from last year's team that finished the conference race with a fourth-place tie.

Other lettermen back are Ken Dahl, 6-6 forward, Wayne; Jerry Taylor, 6-3 forward, Wakefield; Dennis Johnson, 6-3 forward, Wausa, and Chuck Peterson, center, the team's tallest player, 6-9, Fort Dodge, Ia.

Dahl, Taylor and 6-3 sophomore, Jim Boyer, Sioux City, are leading contenders for starting duty at forward.

Four Prep Gridders On Conference Team

John Dorey, Korlyn Lutt, Richard Johnson and Veldon Magnuson all Wayne Prep footballers, were named to the 16-man all conference team by the coaches of the Cornsattel Conference for the 1961 season.

Coleridge led the list with five members on the team, Tom Morrison, Don Mortensen, Keith Bartling, Jerry Hoffart and Jim-

Bob Schroeder, Wakefield forward, and Jon Garcia, Wailuku, Hawaii, guard, are the team's other veterans.

Five newcomers show promise. Svenningsson reports, but four of them are guards bucking strong performers. They are Marlin Nielsen, 6-2 sophomore transfer from Drake; Ronny Sadler, freshman; and Bud Billeter, junior, both 5-10; and Ron Jones, 5-9 freshman.

Arnold Cavar, 6-4 soph transfer from the University of Kansas City, is a forward, eligible to play right away because UKC abandoned basketball.

Four of last year's squad are gone — seniors Charles Rachow, Ron Raver and Dick Pineda, and freshman Dennis Torgerson, who did not return to school.

WSTC Harriers End Season at Lincoln

The Wayne State cross country season ended last Friday as Wildcat harriers placed fourth in the District II NAAIA cross country meet in Lincoln.

Ken Katzer finished highest for Wayne with a fifth. Carl Owczarzak was 12th, Charles Borg 24th, Rod Billings 26th and Paul McGee 28th.

Dean White, Kearney, repeated as champion of the meet, covering the four-mile course in 21:24. Kearney won the team title with 27 points. Wesleyan scored 58, Chadron 67, Wayne 79. Midland and Doane did not enter full teams.

The November Farm Outlook

FARM REVIEW AND FORECAST

Effects of Cattle and Hog Cycles on Feed Grain Values

A large proportion of the feed grain produced in the U.S. never enters a cash market, but is converted directly into various animal products on the farms where produced.

Because of the time period between feed utilization and sale of the livestock, those operations that employ purchased feed usually find a difference between the purchase price and the realized value of the feed.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture reports "prices received by farmers" for the various feed grains. These prices are estimates of the actual values being realized on cash sales at the farm level. No price series exists that reflects the estimated net values realized on converted grain — values that can be determined from the prices eventually realized on the livestock after non-feed costs are covered.

This report will present some comparative estimates of realized net values for feed grains used in beef finishing and hog production during the 1949-60 period. It will point out the association between variations in annual beef and pork production levels and the lack of stability in returns to feed grains in these major uses.

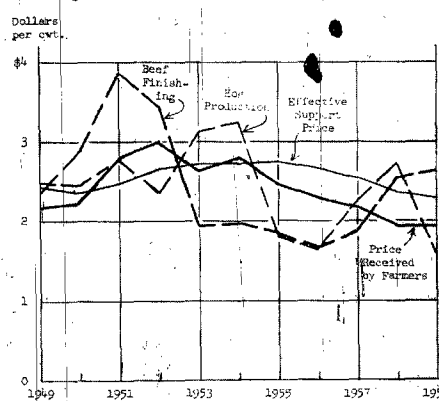

Basic consumer demands for beef and pork are primarily dependent on population size and consistent impact of these consumption rates on slaughter cattle and hog prices at Omaha during the 1949-60 period.

In general, the effects of the cattle cycle are evident with the price effects being dampened somewhat in the later years with a rising relative demand for beef over pork. Notice that per capita beef and veal consumption changed from 72.8 pounds in 1949, to a low level of 62.7 pounds in 1951, and then rose very rapidly to 87.1 pounds in 1953. Subsequently, further increases occurred, resulting in a high of 94.9 pounds in 1956. After 1956 a gradual reduction of 86.8 pounds occurred by 1959 and then an increase to 91.4 pounds in 1960.

The consistent price levels for choice slaughter cattle were $26.14 in 1949, $35.28 in 1951, $23.43 in 1953, $21.87 in 1956, $27.71 in 1959, and $25.90 in 1960. A similar inverse pattern between hog prices and consumption is indicated.

as the general rule. The price rise in 1951, concurrent with an increase in pork slaughter, was caused by the low consumption of beef in that year with the substitution effect increasing the demand for pork.

Cattle and hogs represent the transformation of forage and feed concentrates, along with associated labor and capital equipment requirements, into saleable meat products. In a net sense, one can estimate a value for the feed grains used from the sales value of the livestock by making an allowance for labor and capital costs. This has been done for "beef finishing" and "hog production" for the 1949-60 period. These values are graphed in Figure 2 together with "prices received by farmers" and estimates of the "effective support prices" — all on a corn equivalent basis.

Several significant features of the information in Figure 2 are as follows:

1. Returns to feed grains used in beef finishing and hog production are more variable than the trend in cash-sale prices received by farmers, although over a series of years they tend to move together. For example, in 1956 farmers received $1.65 per cwt. grain fed to hogs and $1.66 for grain fed to cattle, considerably below the effective support price of $2.54. In 1958, farmers received $2.73 per cwt. for grain fed to hogs and $2.53 for grain fed to cattle, considerably above the $1.92 received by farmers.

2. Year to year variations in returns to feed grains are primarily caused by the instability of livestock numbers and meat production.

3. Differences in returns to feed grains between beef finishing and hog production have been as large as $1.00 per hundredweight (over 50 cents per bushel) in years such as 1951, 1952, 1953, 1954, and 1959.

4. Prices received by farmers for cash sales have been about 30-40 cents per cwt. below the price support level since 1955. This difference is probably due to quality discounting (including moisture content) and distress sales at lower level, non-compliance supports in some years.

If the livestock-feed economy were fully efficient in maintaining equilibrium levels between livestock classes, the price patterns of Figure 2 would be at the same level each year and would follow a single trend through time consistent with aggregate feed production and utilization. Obviously, the industry has not achieved this degree of equilibrium and it is doubtful that complete removal of differences is achievable. However, improvements could undoubtedly be made in maintaining more stable growth rates in our cattle and hog populations and thereby stabilizing the returns to feed used. This would in turn reduce speculation from the choices of feed utilization in certain areas of the country and would make the long-run comparative advantage of specialization in livestock feeding by areas more apparent.

Programs to support more orderly production and marketing of livestock, might entail revision of "outlook" work of the U.S.D.A. with industry support. In addition, the use of marketing orders on slaughter animals to provide premiums and discounts would assist in orderly seasonal marketing rates.

— James B. Hassler

BRIEF and IMPORTANT

HOGS: Between now and the middle of December move your hogs to market at light weights, 200-220 pounds. During this period there will be a price decline that will affect the total value of the hog, not just the weight that is added. After the middle of December hogs can be held to heavier weights as there should be a seasonal rise in price to February.

The intentions to farrow in the 10 Corn Belt States from December through February are up 4 percent from last year. With a return to the long run trend of earlier farrowings in months of less favorable weather, this report could overstate the size of the total spring pig crop, making hogs a profitable enterprise next year.

The September Pig Crop Report has been a reliable indicator of the trend in spring farrowings. As indicated in the following table September plans in the Corn Belt States over-stated the change three times.

Table 1—Farrowing intentions for early spring pigs and actual farrowings, percentage change from a year earlier.

disposable income. On a per capita basis quantities demanded are rather stable over a wide range of prices. Conversely, large price variations occur when production rates vary. A partial substitution between beef and pork takes place so that the opposite variation in production rates of beef and pork results in a dampening of the price effects (that is, an increase in beef production and a decrease in pork production or vice versa). A variation of beef and pork production in the same direction (both increase or both decrease) increases the price effects in the opposite direction.

Joann Alexander Weds L. Donnelly

Joann Ruth Alexander, daughter of Mrs. Edith Alexander, Wakefield, and Larry J. Donnelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Donnelly, Wakefield, were married Saturday at Sacred Heart Catholic church, Emerson.

Rev. A. Hoising officiated at the double ring ceremony. The choir, accompanied by Mrs. Clyde Alexander, organist, sang the "Nuptial Mass" and "Ave Maria." The aisle and altar were decorated with blue and white gladiolus.

The bride given in marriage by her brother, Clyde Alexander, wore a white floor length gown of imported tulle with lace and tulle and a white tulle train. Her illusion veil fell from a coronet crown of seed pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Her bridesmaids, Emerson, and Nancy Iversen, Wakefield, were bridesmaids. They wore identical street length gowns of blue rose-patterned lace over taffeta, with rhinestones and silver shoes. They carried colonial bouquets.

Her groomsmen, Wakefield, served as best man for his brother and Ralph Alexander, Emerson, as best man.

Paul Wieg and Bob Harding, Wakefield, were ushers. Teresa Paulson, Emerson, flowergirl wore blue rose-patterned lace over taffeta and Richard Alexander, Emerson, served as ring bearer.

Two hundred guests attended the reception at Emerson Legion hall. Rita Siphley, Winside, and Mrs. Jim Critzman, Wakefield, had charge of the guest book. The gift table was in charge of Mrs. Bob Harding, Mrs. Paul Wieg and Myrna Peterson, Wakefield, Mrs. Harold Siphley, Winside, and Ronald Donnelly, Decatur, cut the wedding cake.

Waitresses were Peggy Brown, Violet Cooper, Wakefield, Bonita Alexander, Jeanette and Nancy Paulson, Linla Van Lent, Emerson, and Diana Alexander, Tokamah.

For her going-away ensemble the bride chose a burnt orange suit with brown accessories. The bride was graduated from Wakefield high and is employed at Schroeder's, Wakefield. The bridegroom also graduated from Wakefield high and is employed by Rudy Louge, Wakefield. The couple will reside in Wakefield.

Sigurd Magnuson Services Held in Wakefield Chapel

Funeral services for Sigurd Magnuson, 89, Wakefield, were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Bressler Funeral home, Wakefield. Mr. Magnuson died Sunday morning at his home following a lengthy illness.

Rev. John Price, Allen, officiated at the rites. Pallbearers were Arlen, Durrell, William, Raymond, Jr., John and Eugene Magnuson. Burial was in the Wakefield cemetery.

Sigurd Magnuson, son of Charles and Caroline Magnuson, was born May 9, 1872 at Oakland. He was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith. Feb. 17, 1903 he married Pauline Moseman at West Point. Shortly after their marriage the couple moved to a farm northwest of Wakefield where they resided 46 years. Mr. Magnuson also operated a sawmill and blacksmith shop, did custom threshing and carpentry work. In 1943 the couple moved into Wakefield.

His parents and an infant son preceded him in death. Survivors include his widow; three sons, Harold, Raymond and Harvey, Wakefield; nine grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Clarence Larson Funeral Services Held in Wakefield

Wakefield — Funeral services for Clarence Larson, 68, were held Saturday afternoon at Bressler Funeral home. Mr. Larson died last Wednesday at Allen.

Rev. Robert V. Johnson officiated at the rites. Pallbearers were Alden Backstrom, Riley Slipp, Herbert Lundahl, Clarence Hypse, Albert Johnson and Mauritz Carlson. Burial was in the Wakefield cemetery.

Clarence Larson, son of John and Christine Larson, was born Mar. 2, 1893 at Wakefield. He spent most of his life in the Wakefield vicinity where he followed the carpentry trade. He was a veteran of World War I. The past several years he made his home with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lena Larson, Allen. He is survived by a brother, Ed Larson, Wayne.

Calvin Hurlbert Funeral Services Held in Carroll

Carroll — Funeral services for Calvin H. Hurlbert, 71, were held Wednesday afternoon at Carroll Methodist church. Mr. Hurlbert, who had been in failing health several years, died Monday morning at the Wayne hospital.

Rev. C. Edwin Anderson, Randolph, officiated at the rites. Pallbearers were Perry Jarvis, Dr. N. L. Ditman, Claude Bailey, Ed Kenney, Lawrence Texley and Clarence Woods. Burial was in Carroll cemetery.

Calvin Merriman Hurlbert, son of Asher and Gertrude Hurlbert, was born Nov. 25, 1890 in Wayne county. Before his marriage to Irma Fischer in 1916, he homesteaded in Wyoming. Most of his life was spent in the Carroll community where he was a mechanic. Mrs. Hurlbert died in 1943. A son, Earl, was killed in action in World War II. Mr. Hurlbert and a son, Arlyn, spent several years in Oregon following Mrs. Hurlbert's death.

Survivors include three sons, Lawrence and Arlyn, Carroll, and Millard, Sioux City; five brothers, Leuch and Orie, Carroll, Harold, Fred Oak, Ia., Lavern, Everett, Wash., and Donald, Seattle, Wash.; four sisters, Mrs. Lottie Cline, Omaha, Mrs. Vivian Adams, Hastings, Mrs. Ella Fitzsimmons, Cook, Minn., and Mrs. Inez Van Epp, Fresno, Calif.; and eight grandchildren.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Call It What You Want

The term "Federal aid" should be deleted from the American vocabulary and the words "taxpayers' aid" substituted. There is no such thing as "Federal aid," for in truth it is the taxpayers' aid.

Our Federal government has no money of its own. Whatever money it gives away or spends, it first takes away from our earnings in taxes. It is mortgaging the earnings of our children, our grandchildren and our great-grandchildren.

It seems we are obsessed with the Federal aid idea. We can't seem to realize that whatever the Federal government gives in aid to education, to the unemployed, to the aged, to Laos, to the Congo, to farmers or to business, is our money, personally earned by us.

This nation of free people is truly at the crossroads. Down one road lies complete dependency on government. We can turn over to the Federal government the care of our old folks, the building of our schools and the education of our children. We can hand over to government every one of the individual responsibilities which free men have always been glad to carry themselves.

There are enough people in Washington who will be glad to take care of all these items for us — they believe they can do it better than we can. But let there be no mistaking where this road leads — it leads to total dependency and there is no government on earth which can supply the standard of living which America has achieved through individual effort. If we continue to go down this road, we must give up our freedom. We must give up our self-respect and our integrity. We will end up paying everything we make to government and then the government will return to us just enough to keep body and soul together.

Down the other road there is freedom. The entrenched bureaucrats are not going to give up the hold they already have over your money very willingly. It will take a real struggle to regain the right to take care of our own responsibilities and the victory can only be won if we are willing to do for ourselves what free people must do in order to remain free. If we are willing to assume the responsibility for ourselves and for the needs of our own communities, counties and states, if we are willing to insist that our local officials do their duty instead of turning it over to Washington and if we have the courage to wage a real battle to regain the control of our own money, America will remain free. It can be done, but we are the ones who must do it.

Denouncing an educator who opposes Federal aid to education is as ridiculous as saying to a physician who opposes socialized medicine, "You are against health."

Capitol News . . . Tourist Committee Studies State's Potential Again

The committee studying tourist promotion in Nebraska has a meeting scheduled for Dec. 12 in Lincoln to take another look at the state's potential.

Perhaps one of the most outspoken and persistent backers to develop Nebraska has been Mel Steen, director of the state game commission. Steen feels that by 1975 tourism will be a half billion dollar business in Nebraska.

But, Steen says, the state would need a $5 million capital investment with tourist promotion costs to run about $100,000 annually to get the job done.

"Nebraska has the greatest wealth of Western history of any state on the transcontinental highway," Steen told the tourist committee of the Legislative Council. The name of Buffalo Bill alone is worth millions to Nebraska, the commission director says.

American people are interested in history and Steen says Buffalo Bill is probably the most colorful of all the personalities of the Old West. The biggest portion of the tourist business comes from the man who takes his family on vacation, the director stated. He added that a boat 100 million Americans go on vacation each year and most of them going west will come through Nebraska when the Interstate highway is completed. Out of each tourist dollar, he said, 35 cents is spent for food.

Steen says South Dakota spends $250,000 yearly on tourist promotion, while Nebraska's figure is $12,300.

However, the commission has about $170,000 per year to spend on attracting hunters and fishermen to the state. But, under state law, the money cannot be expended directly on tourist promotion.

Tourist promotion has been legally defined as an attempt to attract non-residents to the state's scenic, historical and outdoor recreational facilities.

Highway Growth

Nebraska cities are beginning to feel the pinch of expanding population, according to the state highway department.

The department says road systems in some cities, notably Omaha and Lincoln, have not kept pace with the growth of the cities. But says Deputy State Engineer C. Strobel, other areas have similar troubles.

The problem, Strobel explains, has been aggravated by additional traffic on the fringe areas, brought about by suburban growth. In some of the smaller cities, he said, the answer is to widen some streets and create new arterial roads to take the burden off highways passing through. And, adds the engineer, the cities will have to foot the bill themselves since the highway department has no money for this purpose.

In some cases, he noted, the department has tried to help the cities by bypassing the cities

Traffic Deaths

Since 1908, the state has seen more than 11,002 persons killed in traffic accidents. The first recorded traffic death was in April, 1908 when an elderly woman was killed by a car at 12th and O streets in Lincoln.

Figures compiled by those aiding Gov. Frank Morrison's traffic safety drive show during a five-year period, this was the box score:

- 70 accidents per day, or one every 20 minutes.
- 25 injuries per day, one per hour.
- One death every 27 hours.
- An economic loss of $135,000 per day.

County Agent's Column

Water System Adequate? Greater emphasis on livestock production and higher sanitation requirements has boosted the service demand on farm water systems. With increased use of automatic washers and dishwashers, water use in the farm home is also on the upswing. You may be finding that extensions for additional faucets now make it impossible to use a convenient faucet when someone else is drawing water.

The main problem areas in most farm water systems are found in either the pump and water storage systems or the source of water.

First thing to consider in a pump is to make sure that it has a capacity of at least 600 gallons per hour to provide fire protection.

The most common method to determine the necessary pump capacity for a farm water system is first to compute the daily water requirement for the farm and from that determine the size of pump needed to meet the water needs.

Don't Exceed Protein Needs

One of the fastest ways for cattle feeders to lose money is to feed rations that fail to meet an animal's protein and energy requirements. The first step in any feeding program is to evaluate the quality of your home-grown roughages and grains. Then it's easy to decide how much, if any, supplemental protein your cattle need for top gains and profits.

A 400-pound fattening calf, for example, needs 1.3 pounds of crude protein per day; a 600-pound calf needs 1.8 pounds, and thereafter a 1000-pound calf needs an additional 100 pounds of body weight requires an additional one-tenth pound of protein.

Dec. 9 Clinic-Sale Date

The State Accident Records Bureau says that of the 219 road deaths in 1960, 53 were the result of someone failing to yield the right of way, 42 because of speed, 32 as the result of driving on the wrong side of the road and 20 for other types of improper driving.

Thirty-seven deaths involved alcoholic liquor, the bureau said.

Young People Leave

One out of seven of Nebraska's prime young men and women are leaving the state at the age they are ready for their first employment, a University of Nebraska publication says.

Business in Nebraska, a product of the University's bureau of business research, says during the past 10 years the largest group of migrants from the Cornhusker state were those from 20 to 24 years old.

During the 10-year period, 1950-60, Nebraska lost 13,941 persons in the 20 to 24 age group, the research showed.

But, noted the publication, the exodus of young people, while expected, was not as much as some have supposed.

Nebraska ewes ordinarily lamb in January at the earliest, with most lambs coming in February. The six weeks prior to lambing are critical for the ewe from a nutrition standpoint, according to T. E. Doane, Extension animal husbandman at the University of Nebraska. Offering guidance to sheepmen at the clinic will be Dr. Donald C. Clanton and Dr. Paul G. Guyer, assistant professor of animal husbandry and Extension animal husbandman, respectively. They will outline nutrition requirements on the ewe, and also will discuss feeder lamb nutrition. Reports on research carried out at the Lincoln and Scottsbluff Experiment stations will be given, plus data on sheep nutrition compiled by other colleges of agriculture.

The clinic will get underway at 10:15 a.m., followed at 1 p.m. by the ewe sale. The auction is sponsored by the Nebraska registered sheep breeders association and will feature ewes representing five breeds — Hampshire, Shropshire, Suffolk, Cheviot and Corriedale.

The Editor

Dear Sir:

Again we wish to take this opportunity to thank the Wayne Herald very kindly for their coverage, publicity and advance notice of our Veteran's Day and the program.

It is indeed a small measure that we may convey to the Wayne Herald our gratitude for your kindness in our write-ups and pictures which have contributed the past two years to the success of the annual Wayne Veteran's Day. It is deeply appreciated.

Thank you,
Wayne Veterans Group

Hasn't Worked Yet

There is an old saying that goes something like this: "When thieves fall out it's time for honest men to beware." Wonder what it will be like when a couple of cutthroats like Krushchev and Molotov fall out. Wouldn't be surprised if one of those boys turned up missing one of these fine mornings.

You know, I'm beginning to think that this Communist outfit in Russia is plumb nuts — that they haven't got all their marbles. I can't conceive of any group of sound thinking men, let alone a whole nation, swallowing all this pap that is handed out to them. Must have a hole in their head. Looks kind of childish to expunge a man and his works after he is a long time dead. Kind of a confession that they didn't have the guts to do it while he was alive. Then to cap the climax, Mr. K. says that Molotov has to go because he was a party to the purges perpetrated by Stalin. Looks like the old boy is treading on thin ice there, for the records show that Mr. Krushchev was the angel appointed by Stalin to bring sweetness and light to the Ukraine and the record he left behind him there smells to high heaven.

If Mr. K. and Molotov get to accusing one another of their past sins and misdeeds it could get to be quite a hair curling session.

Some day, sure as shooting, old iron pants Molotov is going to fall to appear and after due time it may be announced that he was stricken by some strange malady as yet not diagnosed. Couple of days later they will start renaming some towns and streets in Russia and those who knew him once will know him no more — at least they won't acknowledge it.

Thinking OUT LOUD

Walter Steinkamp, pastor Wesleyan Methodist church

A time of thinking is a vital thing for anyone who wants to be happy. Knowing that Thanksgiving is a Christian duty and privilege we, as Christians have more for which to be thankful than any other class of people. Without doubt, this last year all of us have received many blessings and benefits from God the Father. He sent His Son to be our Saviour and Intercessor, who liveth to make intercession for us. God is worthy to be praised. We are exalted to "be thankful unto Him and bless His name." It is He who hath made us, and He who has ourselves.

"Enter into His courts with praise."

We should be grateful that our national supply of food is enough to supply all of our needs. While other nations worry about enough grain to fill their bins, we worry about bins to hold our grain. Surpluses seem to be our problem. I wonder what the Almighty thinks, when he looks upon this vast Nation's grain supply, and on the other side of the world, sees hungry hilly starved creatures of His likeness?

Yet the season of Thanksgiving is a time of joy; of family reunions when children bring their

I've had that "ain't" ain't been official, legal and proper all the time. What I'd like to know is when it got took out of the dictionary in the first place.

I note in one of them little pamphlets I got from the Agriculture folks that the bad weather last Spring will keep us from having any surplus crop this year. This surplus, which under the New Frontier is being called our "abundance," is costing the taxpayers about $2 million a day (for storage). Maybe the farmers will come out about even on account of not having any extra takes to pay for storage.

Well, the Census Bureau keeps putting out items they have compiled from the 1960 census. They had a couple last week that was mighty interesting. For instance, they say in 1960 we had 50 million Americans of driving a car that can't drive a car. From my observation along the highways, about 49 million of 'em is behind the steering wheel anyhow. And they now estimate that the population of the world has doubled in the last 100 years. In the next 100 it'll either double or nothing.

Yours truly,
Uncle Zeke

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where some sciences fellers at the University of Illinois has developed a contraption they call "Plato" that is liable to get the attention of the Congressmen when they come back in session.

The piece I was reading said perfessors could take Plato and keep all students honest. The students get prepared questions on a TV screen and feeds their answers into the machine. Plato will then ring a alarm bell if a student is trying to dodge a question or don't answer correct.

Now if the taxpayers ever get to using Plato on politicians, you can see, Mister Editor, that the end is in sight for about 90 percent of the fellers now holding public office. For instance, in all my days I ain't never met a office holder that didn't deny he ever had anything to do with biking taxes. They all raise their right hand and allow as how they was a just innocent bystanders when any tax-raising took place, standing away off watching the proceedings like a calf peeping over a pasture fence.

If Plato turns out pritty good with students, the movement could spread to Government officials, so you can look for the next Congress to outlaw Plato as unwise, unnecessary and un-American.

Speaking of students, I was reading where a organization of teachers is mightly upset about the word "ain't" getting put in the new dictionary and now being official. On account of me being such a good speller myself, I ain't never owned a dictionary and this is the first notice
