New Career Day Planned For Both High Schools Here

A high school career day for the two Wayne high schools is presently being planned under the direction of Donald Dean, guidance director at Wayne City schools.

In the past, this career day involved the entire Husker Conference in a combined College-Career Day. This year the conference voted to hold a separate college night. This was held in November last year with all 12 Husker Conference schools plus Wayne Prep and Winside.

The Wayne Kiwanis club is cooperating with the schools in furnishing professional men, when available, to speak to the students. All the students of both schools have registered with Dean and some 70 different professions were listed by the students. However, this list will be revised since it is impossible to schedule that many professional personnel.

Red Cross Drive Being Set Up in Wayne County

March is Red Cross month and as Wayne serves the Red Cross through the Community Chest, separate drives will be conducted in the towns of Carroll, Winside and Hoskins, along with the rural areas.

The towns will be canvassed in the usual door-to-door campaign, but due to weather conditions, a new approach will be taken in the rural areas.

Letters are being mailed to all rural residents today and Mrs. Robert Berthack, county chairman, said the hopes a good response will be given these letters.

Contributions should be mailed to Mrs. Berthack, County Chairman, American Red Cross, Wayne, Neb.

A Strong Red Cross is vital to our nation, said Mrs. Berthack, and Wayne county residents are urged to support it in order to assure the capacity of the Red Cross to meet its responsibility to the American people.

WSTC Students Team-up to Win Forensic Honors

Wayne State students returned from the University of Nebraska invitational forensic meet last weekend with creditable results on their record.

Top performer was Ted Blendern, junior, Sioux City, who earned one of six superiors in oral interpretation. He gave a reading which he wrote in collaboration with Paul McCluskey, junior, Lyons. Most contestants delivered readings from well known literature.

The reading, entitled "The Meeting," is a clever satire on an imaginary conversation among survivors of the gas and imaginary World War III. Five different dialects made the reading especially difficult.

Another Wayne Stater, Martha McCarty, Emmetsburg, Ia., received an excellent rating for her oral interpretation.

Three students from Wayne were among the college's six debaters. Judy Philleo, Wayne, teamed with Twila Stewart, Norfolk, to win three of six rounds. Bill Koeber and Larry Brandstetter, Wayne, won two of their six rounds. Tim Cahill, South Sioux City, and Roger Morris, Winside, formed the third team winning two of six debates.

Their coach, Lenore Ramsey, said the competition from 31 colleges and universities entered was unusually stiff. The University of Kansas won sweepstakes for its overall performance.

Miss Ramsey and Dr. William Ristow of the WSTC speech faculty accompanied the team and served as judges.

Cubs to Distribute Good Turn Bags Here Saturday

Saturday Wayne Cubmasters Anton J. Netherda and Dallas Windt will have their Cub Scouts out distributing "Good Turn bags."

The den mothers will also play an important part in this Good Turn day by taking the Cubs to the different parts of town.

The Scouts urge local citizens to fill these bags and extra boxes with materials of repairable condition that handicapped workers at Goodwill Industries can mend as they can maintain their self respect by earning their own living and supporting their families without asking for charity.

Look in your closets, basements and any other storage space for articles to put in your "Good Turn Day Bag" throughout this next week.

Remember, Saturday a Scout will leave a Good Turn Day Bag at your door. Please fill it, and help the Cub and Boy Scouts help the handicapped through this critical material shortage period.

Rural School Districts Hear Facts on Education From School Board

Friday the Wayne city school board met with board members from six rural school districts in the Carroll area — at the rural board's request — to explain the roll-back request, transportation and other matters involved in education.

Enough interest was shown in the meeting that the group has asked another meeting be set, and this time all members of the districts will be invited to an informal, informative meeting.

Letters are being sent to all patrons in the districts, inviting them to this special meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Carroll school.

Districts attending the Friday meeting were numbers 49, 41, 56, 62, 70 and 84. Another district was invited but the board members did not attend.

Devils Take Husker League Crown with Win Over Wisner

Wayne High capped an undefeated season of regular play Thursday by defeating Wisner 71-57 for the Husker Conference crown.

Wisner's five iron men, Becher, Giese, Rabe, Stigge and Whitcomb, pushed the Blue Devils into the final stanza, matching their point for point in the first period.

Wayne was exceptionally cold as both of the leading scorers, Don Meyer and Don Larsen, had trouble finding the range. Meyer went scoreless in the first period and Larsen had only four points in the second quarter.

The Devils owned a 28-25 half-time lead, but saw it cut short in minutes of the start of the third period.

Then time began to run out for the Wisner five. Wayne maintained their lead at the close of the stanza and desperation play on Wisner's part in the final quarter cost them in foul.

Wayne sank six of eight free throws during the quarter while piling up 26 points to 16 for Wisner. In the second period, both teams went over three minutes without scoring a point.

Larsen led Wayne with 26 points while Meyer and Lessmann had 14 each. Merlin Bruggler had five and Bus Likes, Ken Olds and Ken Denesia each scored four.

Giese was high for Wisner with 21, followed by Becher with 20.

Score by quarters:
Wayne 42 28 45 71
Wisner 12 23 41 57

Wayne in Second Round District Play Tonight at Norfolk

Wayne's Blue Devils won their first round play in the Class B District meet at Norfolk Monday with a decisive victory over Harlington Holy Trinity.

The Devils had the game all their own way against the undermanned Harlington team in the 71-32 victory. Holy Trinity lost six boys from their team through disciplinary action earlier last week.

The Blue Devils spread the scoring among eight players, as Don Meyer led them with 18 points. Don Larsen was second with 15, Bus Likes had 12 and Merlin Lessmann 11.

Holy Trinity outscored the Blue Devils in the second period, 12-10, but couldn't muster a defense of offense to hold the Devils.

Wayne meets Bloomfield at 7 p.m. tonight (Thursday) in second round play. Bloomfield defeated Laurel 53-47 Monday to gain the second round.

Bloomfield will be an unknown quantity for Wayne being one of the two teams in district play that Wayne hasn't met this year. The only other team Wayne hasn't played is Crofton.

While Bloomfield defeated Laurel by six points, Wayne crushed Laurel earlier in the season 95-49 on the Devils' home floor.

Game time tonight is 7 p.m. for

Prep Stops Winside 73-59 To Gain Class C Playoff

Wayne Prep's Panthers moved a step closer to a berth in the state Class C basketball tournament Monday night with a 73-59 victory over Winside in the Madison district tournament championship game.

Prep was to have played Walthill, winner of the Wayne district tournament, in a two-team playoff at Stanton last night. Victor in that game will represent NE Nebraska in the state tourney at Lincoln Mar. 8-10.

As has been the case all season, Prep used its balanced offense to down Winside in Monday's final. Six Panthers figured in the scoring with Rich Maurer tops with 21.

The final outcome, however, was determined by personal fouls. Both teams had at least two players in foul trouble at intermission and it was this fact which forced Winside to drop its close defensive tactics.

Prep took advantage of this switch by feeding Veldon Magnuson in the key and the big center responded with 10 points in a third quarter Prep surge.

The first quarter saw Prep in trouble with Winside taking a 7-1 lead in the first two minutes. Maurer got Prep's first field goal with 5:15 left and the Panthers took their first lead at 10-9 with four minutes remaining. The lead changed hands four times before the quarter ended with Prep ahead 18-15.

The Panthers appeared in real trouble midway in the second quarter when Maurer was forced to the bench with four personals. They led 25-21 at the time but Jim

Wildcats Entertain Midland Tonight in NAAI Playoff

Wayne State will entertain Midland tonight (Thursday) in Rice gym with big stakes as the prize. Game time is 7:30.

The winner will get a shot at Peru State Saturday night for the championship of the NAAI District 11, which includes Nebraska colleges.

To the winner of the Saturday contest goes a ticket to the NAAI's national tournament starting Mar. 12 in Kansas City, Mo.

Midland represents the Tri-State conference in the district playoff as champion of that league. Peru, No. 1 in the Nebraska College conference with a 11-1 record, and Wayne, No. 2 with a 9-3 mark, represent the NCC.

Peru got a bye in the playoff's first round because Nebraska Wesleyan, third in the NCC, elected to enter the NCAA small college playoff, hence withdrew from the NAAI contest. Ordinarily three NCC teams and one Tri-State team go into the playoff. But district officials decided that Wesleyan's departure would leave the third NCC spot vacant. There was talk that Wesleyan should be reprimanded for its forfeit.

Wayne will have a job cut out in handling Midland, which last month upended the Wildcats 66-63 at Fremont. However, Midland later lost to Dana, which previously had lost to Wayne. By this reasoning, district officials seeded Wayne No. 2 and Midland No. 3 for the playoff. Hence Wayne gets the privilege of playing the Warriors here.

The Wildcats lost Bill Waterhouse on personals with two minutes remaining in the period. This enabled Prep to maintain bank-shot control despite the fact that Maurer was on the bench.

Maurer rejoined the game as the final quarter started but only 77 seconds elapsed before Magnuson drew his fifth personal. Prep led 53-43 at that point. The lead jumped to 16 points in the next 90 seconds as Maurer hit two baskets and Grein added a tip-in.

Winside's crushing blow came when Redel drew his fifth personal with 3:15 remaining. Orville Raabe was the only Wildcat to score effectively from that point on, although Winside closed the margin from 18 to 14 points at the final buzzer.

Prep entered Wednesday's playoff tilt with Walthill with an 18-1 record. The lone loss was a decision to Verdigris in the Cortesast conference tourney finals in January.

Saturday night Prep faced its strongest challenge of the season and met it with an outstanding performance which brought an 82-57 victory over Pilger.

Maurer was the Panther leader with 29 points, including 21 of 24 free throws. Dave Dohren led Pilger's losing effort with 19. Pilger led four of its regulars via personal fouls during the game.

Redel paced Winside's 59-58 overtime victory over Madison in Saturday's other semifinal. The Wildcats led 19-15 after the first quarter but trailed 30-33 at intermission. The lead sea-sawed again in the third period with Winside holding a 46-42 lead as the session ended. The game was tied at 54-41 after the regulation time. Redel had 20 points for the winners while Frank Choutka hit 17 for Madison.

The Wildcats closed their scheduled season at home Friday with a 99-71 rout of Kearney. Despite the 23-point margin — third highest in Wayne's season — the Wildcats played a loose game with numerous errors.

In fact, they appeared due for serious trouble in early minutes. Kearney soared ahead quickly and retained the lead until Wayne went ahead 21-20 after 13 minutes. The rest of the half was see-saw, with Wayne finally gaining a 44-42 edge at the intermission.

Larry Coney, Ron Marcellus and Denny Johnson contributed 18, 10 and nine points, respectively, to the first-half effort. Marcellus went on to a 23-point production, highest in his four-year Wayne career. Coney closed with 29 for the second game in a row, lifting his career total to 1,423 and his season to 480. He is only seven points short of his own season record.

Tonight's game will be the final home appearance for four Wayne seniors — Coney, Marcellus, Ken Dahl and Jerry Taylor.

Fans can expect a lively game with Midland, a team that matches considerable talent with plenty of hustle. In addition, the Warriors have a formidable newcomer since they last played Wayne. He is Bob Thurman, a master of all phases of the basketball art and a performer in the Harlem Globetrotter mold. Thurman is said to be one of the finest athletes from Chicago high schools in recent years.

Wayne 88c Store

in GAY THEATRE BLDG.

Grand Opening Thursday, Mar. 1

Ladies, you do most of the shopping for the family, so we will let you in on our secret!

What is an 88c store? Well you can call it a bantam discount store, a bargain store or a promotion store.

We dreamed up this idea of an 88c store for Wayne and prefer to call our efforts a promotion.

We think we can get you at least 20 different promotions or specials a week, that will hold your interest. Today we are loaded to the rafters with merchandise, that sells for 88c or less!

The quality, and low price will amaze you, at least it did me — it is not our plan to give merchandise away — But instead, to work on a low overhead, to buy right so that we can sell right, making every article in the store a bargain.

Just a few of many Specials!

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

A Costly Pay Raise

Attorney General Kennedy's Justice department has been bringing monopoly charges against business concerns but the New Frontiersmen appear to have a complete lack of concern about a really dangerous monopoly — the big labor monopoly — which can take individual businesses as well as whole industries by the throat and force them to do its bidding.

The labor union monopoly — or more accurately, the labor boss monopoly, since it is the powerful labor union bosses who rule organized labor with an iron hand — victimizes not only the general public but its own union membership.

For example, the steel industry is faced with new and rising demands on the part of its labor union bosses. Implicit in these demands is the threat of another nationwide steel strike. But what did rank-and-file union members get the last time their union bosses called them out on strike?

The steel strike of 1959 lasted 116 days. The union members got an average pay increase over a three-year period of 8770. That is, they got that much on the average if they worked steadily, which they did not because the strike helped bring on a recession with its resultant job lay-offs.

But during the period of the strike the workers lost an average of more than $1,900 in pay. So three years later, as the result of their union bosses calling them out on strike, the workers still have an average loss of over $1,200 in pay.

Forgotten 'Solution'

President Kennedy spoke with accuracy in describing the farm problems in one of his Congressional messages when he said: "Without new, realistic measures, it will some day swamp our farmers and our taxpayers in a national scandal or a farm depression."

Secretary Freeman has now submitted to Congress what the President described as "a new comprehensive farm program" failed to fit the use of our land and the supplies of each crop to the long range needs of the Sixties and designed to prevent chaos in the Sixties with a program of common sense.

We have had farm program after farm program — and about the only result has been more subsidies, more spending, more waste, more tax-subsidized reward for either non-production or useless production.

Perhaps, ultimately, farming will be returned to the framework of the free, competitive enterprise system, where production is geared to consumption and the law of supply and demand prevails in the market place. That is about the only "solution" we haven't tried.

It is a period of forty days preceding Easter, beginning with Ash Wednesday, known in the early Church as a season of fasting, consisting of 40 days, in preparation for Easter Day, the feast of the Resurrection. This period of time also commemorates the forty years of Israel's wandering in the wilderness in preparation for the promised land. There is also the forty days of fasting and the temptation of our Lord following His Baptism and in preparation for His ministry.

Lent is a period during which the Church repeats and puts away sin by which death and sorrow came into the world. In the Church then it is a time set apart when we think of the sufferings and death of Jesus Christ. In old testament times they dressed in sack cloth and sprinkled ashes on their heads as a sign of repentance and humility. It most certainly is a period when we endeavor to grow spiritually. Our faith should take on depth . . . and new meaning. In order for this to happen, we must choose the things that deepen our spiritual insights; more time for worship, more time for prayer and Bible reading.

The story of Lent is the story of choices. The religious leaders had to choose between their stagnant formalism and the death of Christ. They nailed Him to the cross. The disciples had to choose between the danger of loyalty and the fight for safety and they chose the easy way out. Peter had to choose between confessing Christ or blasphemy. He denied Jesus shamefully. Pilate has to choose between justice and popularity. His choice was popularity which was really his own downfall. Judas made a choice to sell his Lord for the pieces of silver and we know his end. The mob had to choose between Barabbas and Christ, it was their choice to set a criminal free. Why is it that all of those who played a part in the passion history of our Lord had to choose evil rather than good?

This Lent we will choose. How will we choose? Will we choose to spend more time attending the special worship services in our churches, more time in prayer and Bible reading? Attend the clutch of your choice!

son will find time to grow. Keeping the planting free of weeds is a necessary task in the early years. In later years the trees will require shaping by pruning and shearing.

Such species as Austrian pine, Ponderosa pine and Scotch pine can be grown successfully in most areas of Nebraska. Firs and spruces can be grown on better sites. The trees should be spaced to provide a population of 1,000 trees per acre.

It normally takes five to eight years to produce pine trees for Christmas tree purposes. It takes a few more years to grow fir and spruce trees.

If successful, Christmas tree farming could easily return much more per acre per year than other agricultural crops commonly grown in Nebraska. Returns vary from $2 to $5 or more per tree, depending upon quality and consumer demand. Christmas tree plantings require time and attention just like other crops, Loerch emphasizes.

Dr. Young Speaks | Dr. George Young, who developed the SPF (Disease Free) swine program, will appear at the Experiment State Association program at Norfolk Mar. 13. We are fortunate to have Dr. Young participate, because he is a busy man who can seldom find time to go out to farm meetings. Dr. Young will tell of the university's program of research for the control of cattle diseases and will take part in a panel discussion on cost cutting in cattle feeding. This is a rare opportunity for cattlemen to discuss their disease problems with an authority.

Other Experiment station notables to appear as guests at the meeting will be Supr. John Adams from the North Platte Station and Drs. Horway, Roselle, Rhoades, Owens and Clanton from the University, Lincoln.

Adams will review recent livestock work at North Platte which will apply here. Their tests as to the feeding value of dehydrated alfalfa and of Morca have much interest.

The progress being made in developing new crops for Nebraska will be Hanway's subject. Recent fertilizer tests which have shown favorable response to sulfur applications on sandy soil in NE Nebraska will be reported by Rhoades. The latest information on the control of resistant corn root worm which is invading NE Nebraska will be Roselle's topic. Clanton will recommend lowering cattle feeding costs by the proper use of such feeds as pasture and Urea. Adams, of the dairy department, will tell of his work on silage quality and silage preservation.

Capitol News . . . Governor Establishes Group To Plan State Landscaping

A new group formed by Gov. Frank Morrison will have as its main objective, programs to landscape Nebraska.

The governor said that while the most pressing problem is adding beauty to the state's interstate highway, he wants the committee to consider long-range programs to help Nebraska gain prominence in all areas of landscaping.

There are several areas in government concerned with landscape beauty, including the State Game commission, Highway department and the National Park and Forest services.

Morrison said it is his hope to tie all these activities together to bring about a common goal of a prettier Nebraska.

Said the governor, "Since one of our most valuable assets is our unspoiled, wide-open space, we must move to protect and enhance it."

The chief executive said the need for this kind of attention to planning and execution covers the entire region from the backyard to wide areas of the state. Landscaping, according to the governor, goes beyond beautification, and includes orderly utilization of the land.

Named to the committee by the governor were Otto Liebers, Lincoln, Jack Strain, Game commission, U. S. Forester Harry Gaylor, Glen Viehmeyer, North Platte, Dick Youngcamp, highway department, William McGeech, Lincoln, L. A. Enersen, Lincoln, Dr. J. O. Young, Lincoln, and Kenneth R. Krabbenhoft, National Park service, Omaha.

Tax Draft

No drastic changes are expected in apportionment of state tax dollars to the four teachers colleges at Wayne, Chadron, Peru and Kearney. According to Mr. F. B. Decker, coordinator for the colleges, there will be some adjustments when the next fiscal year begins July 1, but nothing drastic.

About $3 million per year is allocated to the colleges. Decker has been studying apportionment of the funds at the request of the Normal Board, which governs the institutions.

Any sharp changes would not come until the 1963-65 biennium. Decker said West Point college prepared its own budget and the Legislature made a lump sum trimming, which was then passed on percentage-wise to all colleges equally.

But, in the last session the board gave each college a flat grant of $275,000 and based the remainder of the appropriation on the student credit hours at the educational institutions the previous year.

Water Treatment

Thirty-three Nebraska cities treat their municipal water supplies to remove iron and manganese, primarily. Another 20 cities may be coming to the thirty-fourth. T. A.

Filipi, state sanitation engineer, said of the 33 cities, only three utilize surface water — Omaha, Chadron and Crawford. The remainder use wells.

Federal Funds

Nebraska's state health director, Dr. E. A. Rogers, urged the state's Congressional delegation to urge that no new duties be given to states using Federal Hill-Burton funds, without increasing funds.

Rogers said Nebraska's present level of appropriation from the Federal hospital program is minimum.

Under the budget submitted to Congress by President Kennedy, Nebraska's share of the Federal hospital funds would drop from $1.7 million to $1.4 million.

Rogers was authorized by the State Board of Health to make the comments to the six members of the Congressional delegation.

In the next 2½ years, Rogers said, $18 million in potential hospital and medical facilities projects are expected. State officials do not believe in a crash program, Rogers said, to meet long term needs.

Primary Election

There appears a lively interest this year in seats in the Legislature.

Deadline for filing for the May 15 primary election is Mar. 16, according to Secretary of State Frank Marsh. Law says the filing deadline is 60 days before the primary.

More than two-thirds of the lawmakers serving in the last Unicameral, already have filed and many face contests.

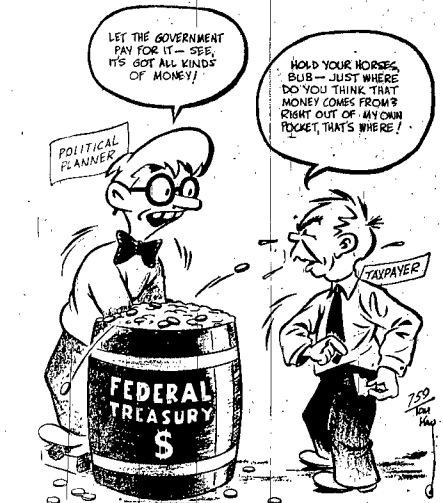

Observers say some of the interest may be the result of higher pay for the lawmakers. The check used to be $872 a year but voters approved a boost to $2,400 per year or $200 per month.

Christmas Tree Planting | Farmers could find a small Christmas tree planting both interesting and profitable, according to Karl Loerch, University of Nebraska Extension forester.

A Christmas tree planting may fit in very well if you have a small, odd area on the farm that does not lend itself to practical use otherwise. Several farmers over the state have reported that small areas of highly productive crop land to Christmas tree plantings.

It is wise to keep such plantings small. Loerch cautions. Two to three acres of trees normally will be about all a per-having the demonstration lesson, "Hand Launder by Machine." A training meeting for club leaders was held in Hoskins Wednesday and another will be held in Wayne Friday at 1:30 p.m.

A local appliance dealer is installing an automatic washer at the Wayne county REA building for the demonstration. Interested homemakers may attend upon request. Call the county Extension office, telephone 564.

Sifting 'No-Sift' Flour

Easy care and little preparation are the qualities most homemakers look for in home products. However there is a limit to the amount of time-saving steps that can be done for you if you want the same high quality product. This is especially true in the case of flour.

Some flour, for example, is termed "no-sift." Many homemakers ask, "Should I follow a recipe and sift the flour before measuring or use the flour directly from the package?"

Kathryn Cooley, Extension foods specialist, Lincoln, says, "It has been found that either dipping into a bag or spooning any flour into a cup tends to pack the flour. Therefore, the amount measured varies. Even methods of sifting vary. In short, unless you weigh or sift flour and measure accurately, you can't be absolutely sure you are measuring the same amount each time. If the recipe says, 'Sift flour before measuring,' do so. Accurate measurements assure uniform baking results."

We recommend 4-H members who are taking cooking projects to sift flour if the recipe so states. We are in favor of shortcuts unless they cut the quality of a product. The 4-H motto is "To make the best better."

When planning a thorough oiling, remove the upper thread, slide plate, bobbin case, needle and pressure foot. Then by turning the balance wheel slowly one can see all of the working parts after the machine head is tilted and removed of the face and throat plates. Put only one drop of oil in each hole and joint. Never "over oil" the machine as this only adds time in removing the excess to prevent oil stains on cloth.

It is always better to clean and oil after a sewing project than at the beginning. The needle then can be put down through a scrap of cloth and the pressure foot lowered on it. Excess oil will drain away before the machine is needed again.

If it is an electric machine the motor requires lubricating attention every six months if used moderately — once a year if used infrequently. Consult your sewing machine manual for specific directions as some motors require grease, others oil. If oil is to be used, only a drop in each hole is needed, as an excess may drain onto the motor brushes and interfere with electrical contact.

I ain't acquainted with these things well enough to pass an opinion on it. When I was a boy nobody ever spoke of a girl having legs. They was referred to in a very low voice as ajmbms.

But I do know some changes in the attitude of wimmen in these matters has took place down through the years. I recollect when I was a boy, for instance, that when a windstorm come up the wimmen folks would always grab for their skirt. Now they always grab for their hat.

I brung up this headline item at the country store Saturday night and Ed claimed hemlines has been rising now for some time among young and old alike and the matter ain't worthy of much attention. He says about all this magazine piece proves is that the high school girl is more interested in her frame than she is in her frame of mind and they ain't nothing wrong with that in these times. In fact, allowed Ed, it was right smart thinking. As long as a feller picks out his girl from looking at her hosiery instead of looking into her heart, claims Ed, the frame is the thing.

But it could be, Mister Editor, that Ed is a little too broadminded on the subject of hemlines. Ed watches television in his parlor and some of the women on television can get a feller ginfused both about hemlines and necklines. I would like to get a opinion from that school teacher that has been fussing about my spelling and grammar. It would be nice to get a letter with the spelling and grammar done right proper, even if her opinion was all wrong.

But getting back to them Congressmen, I see by the papers where both the Democrats and Republicans in this new session of the Congress is setting up committees to help the farmer. If I recollect right, ever Congress since George Washington has set up somepun to help the farmer. What they actual want to do is help him mark his ballot.

Sewing Machine Tune-up | As long as the snow keeps coming, Mrs. Homemakers will have to give up plans for out-of-door jobs. Now would be a good time to give the sewing machine a thorough checkup. Sewing for spring can be enjoyable if the tools are in good working order.

Sewing machines require a weekly cleaning and oiling if they are used moderately every day. If used a few hours a week, oiling and cleaning once a month is sufficient. However, it is a good practice to clean out the lint and any loose threads after each use of the machine rather than to let them collect around the bobbin, under tension plate or feed-dog. A stiff bristle brush is recommended for this job.

Clean first, then oil, using oil recommended by a sewing machine manufacturer. This will be a light grade oil especially refined for sewing machines.

When planning a thorough oiling, remove the upper thread, slide plate, bobbin case, needle and pressure foot. Then by turning the balance wheel slowly one can see all of the working parts after the machine head is tilted and removed of the face and throat plates. Put only one drop of oil in each hole and joint. Never "over oil" the machine as this only adds time in removing the excess to prevent oil stains on cloth.

The bidding: North 1NT, East P, South 2NT, West P. Opening lead: 2♦

This is a recent hand taken from duplicate bridge play. East and West were good bridge players, but even good players miss opportunities now and then at the bridge table.

North opened the bidding with one no trump. South's hand was somewhat short of the requirements for a two no trump response, but he bid two no trump, nevertheless. North, with his maximum one no trump opener, carried on to three no trump.

For men only: Wonder how many of you fellows have had this experience, or am I alone in it? Did you ever sort of slip into the living room alone, leaving your wife, as you thought, safely engrossed in the business of getting the supper dishes washed, turn on the TV and sort of settle down to concentrate on a news broadcast or something that was definitely of interest to you? I'm asking you — did you ever do this — and what was the result?

All of a sudden right in the midst of the most interesting part, you are aware of a silence in the kitchen. All sounds of activity are stilled. Suddenly the little woman appears and starts to talk to you of some of the happenings of the day. You look one ear toward the TV and flog the other one forward to get the wife's conversation. You squirm, you frown a bit, in fact you may even show signs of acute distress, but all to no avail. What she said to Mrs. Bloke and what
