AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE TO EVERY NEBRASKA CORN GROWER

Before you buy a rootworm insecticide . . . be safe, be sure and consider all the facts

You will hear many conflicting claims for rootworm insecticides this year. In the interest of presenting all the facts that you need to make your decision, we feel obligated to bring you this message. Read the information on these pages carefully, study it, evaluate it, discuss it. . . Then make your decision.

Here are the reasons why you should use Diazinon to control resistant corn rootworm DIAZINON...Proved in commercial use. The only insecticide recommended for resistant corn rootworm control that has been successfully field-proved on hundreds of thousands of acres of commercially grown corn.

DIAZINON...Safe to use—easy to apply—no protective clothing required. The only insecticide recommended for resistant corn rootworm control that is not classified as highly toxic by the United States Public Health Service. In fact, Diazinon is listed as being less toxic through skin absorption than previously recommended soil insecticides for rootworm control.

DIAZINON...Safe to your corn seed. The only insecticide recommended for resistant corn rootworm control that is safe to corn, even when in direct contact with the seed.

DIAZINON...Not taken up by the corn plant. The only insecticide recommended for resistant corn rootworm control that is not taken up by the plant.

DIAZINON...Available in fertilizer mixtures. The only insecticide recommended for resistant corn rootworm control that has been made available in fertilizer mixtures.

DIAZINON 10G FOR CORN ROOTWORM CONTROL

Widespread field experience on hundreds of thousands of acres by farmers in 1962 has proved that Diazinon 10G will give you positive control of resistant and non-resistant corn rootworm. This free-flowing quality granular material is easy to apply. After application, the granules begin a slow release of Diazinon insecticide in the soil to give you sure, long-lasting control of the troublesome, destructive corn rootworms. Millions of dollars were lost to corn rootworm damage by farmers who gambled with ineffective control methods in 1962. Don't take a chance with your corn crop in 1963. Control resistant corn rootworm—get top yields. Use the field-proved safe soil insecticide...DIAZINON.

Diazinon is safe to use:
It is the only insecticide recommended for control of resistant corn rootworms that is not included in the "highly toxic" list published in U.S. Public Health Service Publication No. 772, Part II, page II-5. This same publication also shows Diazinon as less toxic through skin absorption than some of the soil insecticides most commonly used for corn rootworm control before resistance developed. In addition to this important safety aspect, there is the advantage of convenience when you use Diazinon, because no special protective devices and clothing are required.

Diazinon is safe to corn seed:

It is the only insecticide recommended for control of resistant corn rootworm that is safe when in direct contact with the seed. This unique and outstanding safety factor relieves you of the worry of possible loss of stand due to chemical injury to the seed.

Winside High Girls 'Type' Neighbors in Science Work

Cheryl Behmer and Linda Wittler, sophomores at Winside High School, have been working on a biology project entitled "Blood Types," which they plan to enter at the Science Fair at Vermillion, S. D., Saturday.

The girls have spent considerable time and research on their project and have contacted and typed over 200 adults in and about Winside.

Dr. Parnisica, state pathologist from Omaha, gave a talk on hematology and blood types at the school yesterday in conjunction with the girls' project. A medical technician from Bryan Memorial Hospital, Lincoln, was also present and typed fifty students interested in medicine.

The girls received much cooperation from their classmates, biology instructor and superintendent as well as local people. The Omaha and Lincoln hospitals also loaned serums and equipment to the girls so they could complete their survey.

Cheryl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Behmer, Winside, and Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wittler, Hoskins. Mrs. James Troutman is their biology instructor.

L. C. W. met Thursday afternoon at the Concordia parlors. Mrs. Norman Anderson was in charge of the program, "Walk in Love." Devotions were led by Mrs. Bob Elwin. Mrs. Ted Johnson, Mrs. Marlen Johnson and Mrs. Evert Johnson presented three skits. Unit 5 served the luncheon at the close of the meeting.

Gust Carlson Honored

Gust Carlson observed his ninety-sixth birthday Sunday. Dinner guests in his home were Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Michels and Dale Laurel. Afternoon guests were Mrs. Otella Magnuson, Rev. and Mrs. S. E. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Erwin, Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson, Mrs. E. E. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Johnson and Alice, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Anderson and daughters, Rev. A. J. Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Olson.

Speech Contest

The W. C. T. U. speech contest was held Monday evening at the Concordia Lutheran church parlors. Winners were as follows: bronze division, Steve Erwin and Lynette Johnson and silver division, Dennis Lipp. The judges were Mrs. Garold Jewell, Mrs. Ronald Ankeny and Mrs. Law-ence Ring. A luncheon was served to about 80 at the close of the evening.

Final Rites for William Tuttle Held in Laurel

Funeral services for William W. Tuttle, 63, were held Tuesday afternoon at the First Methodist church, Laurel. Mr. Tuttle died Sunday at Laurel.

Rev. Guy B. McClure officiated at the rites. Mrs. Harold Ward and Mrs. Keith Gilliland sang "In the Garden" and "Saved by Grace." Charlene Ward was accompanist. Pallbearers were Marlin Reynolds, Dwain Peterson, Glenn Kenneth and Arvil Tuttle and Ronald Burns. Burial was in the Laurel cemetery with committal by Laurel Masonic Lodge.

will be Henry Bush, Henry Rothwisch, Larry Sampson, James Kahler, Glenville Sampson and Elmer Schrieber. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Carl A. Samuelson was born Feb. 6, 1884 in Boros, Sweden. He came to the United States Aug. 28, 1909 and settled in the Wakefield community. He was married Aug. 29, 1918 to Rena Munkvold Sampson at Sioux City. He spent all of his life in the Wayne-Wakefield area.

Survivors include his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Joanne Lubbstedt, Omaha; a son, Gary, Columbus; two sisters, Mrs. Agnes Burns and Mrs. Grace Reynolds, Laurel; three brothers, Ward, Sioux City, Ray, Hartington, and Harold, Laurel, and two grandsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harrison and family, Blair, spent Monday in the Dr. R. W. Casper home.

Parent-Teacher Conferences Next Week At Wayne Elementary School

Parent-teacher conferences at the Wayne Elementary School will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, April 3, 4 and 5. School will be dismissed at 1:15 on those days and the bus will take the children home at that time.

Parents of kindergarten children will also be invited for individual conferences this time. Therefore the kindergarten classes will not be in session at all on Wednesday or Thursday, April 3 and 4.

Report cards will be sent home with the children on Wednesday, March 27, along with a note telling the time of the parents' conference. Mr. Oxenford, elementary principal, is urging that parents attend these conferences, which will be centered around the child's individual educational growth throughout the school year.

Wayne High Varsity Attends Tournament

The WHS basketball boys went to the state tournament at Lincoln. They left Wayne by car, early Friday morning and got back Saturday night.

The boys who went were Don Meyer, Ken Olds, Gary Lorenzen, Jim Kern, Phil Rees, Dean Weible, Jerry Granquist, Kenny Denesia, Tom Dorsey, and Tom Mau. They were accompanied by the coaches. The team stayed at the Kellogg Center on the University of Nebraska Agricultural Campus.

Recitals of Barr, Nuernberger, Eynon Sunday, April 7

Vocal recitals will be presented Sunday, Apr. 7, by Marilyn Nuernberger, Jean Eynon, and John Barr. The recitals will begin at 3 o'clock at the Woman's Club Room at the City Auditorium.

Marilyn's recital will include selections from "Carnet" and "The Black Swan" from "The Medium." Marilyn will also sing a number entitled "Adelle's Laughing Song."

John will sing such entertaining songs as "Youth and Love." Jean will be performing selections by Mozart and Handel and songs from the "Sound Of Music" and "My Fair Lady."

WHS Students Take Mathematics Test

A number of Wayne High students participated in the national mathematics contest last week. The students were selected by Mr. Cheney who chose them according to the mathematics grades they had received the past two years. The contest was in the form of a test which was administered by Mr. Dean. The results of the test will be disclosed after the grades have been compiled and the students notified.

Students who took this examination are Lauren Boeckenhauer, Kenny Denesia, Roy Korth, Terry March, Elaine Meier, Kenny Olds,

Rabe Receives Scholarship From Science Foundation

Harvey Rabe, mathematics teacher in Wayne's Junior High School, has received a scholarship from the National Science Foundation for the summer of 1963.

Mr. Rabe will spend eight weeks at Southwestern State College at Weatherford, Oklahoma, participating in a Summer Institute for Junior High School Teachers of Mathematics. He will be working in a group of 40 math instructors from states all over the union. He is the only representative from this area. The purpose of the institute is to increase the teachers' subject matter competency in modern mathematics.

Mr. Rabe, his wife, Cora, and sons Rodney, 2, and Randy, 1, will leave Wayne about June 1. Mr. Rabe has taught in the Wayne Schools two years and plans to be back on the job next September.

Mr. Rickers to Attend Conference at N.U.

Mr. Rickers, Wayne High principal, will be going to the University of Lincoln for a conference with the former Wayne High students who are now freshmen at the University. The conference will be held on Thursday, Mar. 28, with a combined orientation for all of the participants. Then the students will have private conferences with their principals.

The purpose of this meeting is to consult the students and to find out what helped and what hindered them while attending high school. Both the good points and the bad points will be stressed. This will provide schools with ideas in setting up their curriculums. Mr. Rickers says, "Most students' comments will probably be, 'You should have made me study harder.' But how do you make students realize that during their high school years?"

Ten Wayne High Girls To Attend Play Day

The Annual Wayne State Teachers College Play Day will be held Saturday, Mar. 30 at Rice Memorial Auditorium. The ten girls from Wayne High who will attend the Play Day are Debbie Wightman, Sandra Olds, Phyllis Ellermeier, Ginny Witt, Linda Seymour, Linda Corbit, Diane Skov, Judy Jones, Alice Turner and Nancy Walters.

Each of the girls will enter three activities. They have a choice of basketball, volleyball, table tennis, badminton or softball. Each activity group will consist of students from various schools in the surrounding area. Points will be tallied for each school and the winning school will receive a trophy.

New Student at WHS

Wayne High welcomes a new freshman student, Alice Butterfield daughter of Irvin Butterfield. Alice with her family moved from Norfolk to Carroll, Nebr. just a few weeks ago. Her main ambition is to be a secretary.

O.K. Amendments At Council Meeting

At the student council meeting on March 18, there was discussion about dismissing school during music contest in order to give more support to the contestants. The council considered a request by city officials, who are thinking of building three tennis courts by the swimming pool, for a vote by the student body to see how popular the idea is. The possibilities of having a foreign exchange student and of having more school convocations were also discussed.

The council proposed four changes in the constitution which were approved Friday by a vote of the student body. The constitution, newly amended, states that a member of the student council must have a 2.5 average during the year prior to his election. Presidential elections will be simplified; the candidate for president must be a member of the student council, and he will be elected by the student body during the last 9-weeks period of the first semester. The meeting times have been changed from after school on the first and third Mondays of the month to a rotating period on those days. The original rule holds that eleven members must be present to conduct a meeting; but now two-thirds of the members must be present to recommend amendments for the vote of the student body.

de Freese to Attend Fine Arts Festival

Nancy de Freese has received a scholarship for the Fine Arts Festival at Lincoln, June 11-29.

Nancy, who plays the flute, will participate in the music courses. Students are required to participate in two major activities (such as band or orchestra); in addition, they are given private lessons and are assigned practice rooms for an hour each day.

This year, "An Evening with Rodgers and Hammerstein" will be given by the All-staters. Students will try out for the special solo positions.

The Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs awarded Nancy her full-tuition scholarship. Approximately 225 students will participate in the festival.

Deviled Eggs

There are scads of girls who decided last fall to let their hair grow during the winter. Now winter's practically over and the hair is getting chopped off. Isn't it depressing to think of the torture they suffered for nothing?

The German students are learning idioms (colloquial expressions). It would be safe to say that, in presenting these, Mrs. Wittmeier is teaching ethics as well as German to her students.

Science Consultant Speaks to Teachers

As part of the in-service training program at the elementary school, Miss Patricia Carlson, a science representative from the D.C. Health Company, spoke to the teachers last Wednesday.

Miss Carlson had individual conferences with each of the teachers. This gave the instructors an opportunity to ask questions about teaching science and to discuss their problems. In return, Miss Carlson gave them suggestions for their science programs.

Wayne High Seniors Hear Representative From St. Olaf College

Selected members of the Wayne High Chorus were excused from their second period classes this past week for an interview with Emory N. Solberg, Admissions Counselor from St. Olaf College. St. Olaf is an hour's drive from Minnesota's "Twin Cities." Mr. Solberg and the students spent a great deal of time talking about the St. Olaf chorus.

Mr. Solberg explained that only a select number of junior

My, the teachers certainly are working the seniors these days with term papers, reports, etc. Guess they figure this is their last chance and they must make the most of it.

What if hemlines made a sudden leap to the floor, and hoops and bustles came back into style? Can you imagine what our corridors would be like between classes?

What has happened to the fashions of '63? With the new designs the way they are, Metrolac is going to be put out of business. If you do have a good figure the new style dresses certainly won't show it.

The home-ec girls have picked out patterns that fit in with their personal needs. Now they will make the patterns come to life as they make new outfits.

Don't feel left out if you see a girl wearing a corsage and you don't recall that there was a party. She's probably wearing it because she gave a music recital the day before.

FNC Visits Hospital

Ten Wayne High girls, sponsored by Mrs. Chambers, toured Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital at Norfolk last Saturday afternoon. The girls were all members of the Future Nurses Club.

Upon arriving at the hospital, an anesthetist guided the future nurses on a tour of the entire building. She showed the group the kitchen, laundry room, cafeteria area, surgery room, and the nursery. The group also observed a room that is used for autoclaving.

When the grand tour was completed and all the questions had been answered, the girls were served cookies and punch.

St. Olaf is an hour's drive from Minnesota's "Twin Cities." Mr. Solberg and the students spent a great deal of time talking about the St. Olaf chorus.

Mr. Solberg explained that only a select number of junior and senior St. Olaf students are permitted to become members of this excellent choir.

Mr. Solberg urged all students who are interested in attending St. Olaf to get in contact with him or the college. He encouraged anyone visiting Minnesota in the summer months to visit this beautiful Lutheran college.

FHA Officers Visit Wakefield Club

The Wayne High FHA officers visited the Wakefield Club last Monday evening. The four officers are Renee Eulberg, Joann Bauermeister, Virgene Dunkelau, and Marilyn Nuernberger.

The girls were pleased with the welcome they found on the board, "Lets make Wayne High Girls Welcome," and were impressed with the procedures of their hosts' meeting. The meeting began with devotions and songs. Each member participated.

They used the standard parliamentary procedure in conducting the meeting. For FHA week the girls are planning a full schedule of activities. The meeting was held in the study hall of Wakefield High and was sponsored by Mrs. Nelson.

Girls' Basketball Tourney Played

Alice Turner, high point girl in the intramural basketball tournament, led her team last Wednesday night to the championship title. The winning team consisted of Alice, Judy Jones, Mary Jane Kern, Ginny Witt, Diann Diamond, Diann Meyer, Diann Pollard and Charlene Wynn.

They defeated the team captained by Linda Seymour who was unable to play the final game because of illness. Other members of her team were Toots Lutt, Phyllis Ellermeier, J. A. Eckenkamp, Diane Skov, and Nancy Walters.

Alice topped the score sheet with a total of 30 points. Diane Skov followed with 25 points. Judy Jones and Ginny Witt each chalked up 18 points.

WHS Track Season Starts; 45 Boys Working Out

Coach Gordon Zapp, Wayne High track pilot, says that this year will be a "re-building year" for the Devils' cinder men. Forty-five boys are presently working out, and the most ever entered in the sport in the last ten years has been 16.

"Unlike basketball and football, track puts the responsibility on the individual. You put two boys on the same track and let them run, and you will find out very quickly which one has his heart in it," said Mr. Zapp.

Conditioning is the biggest necessity in track, but it can be acquired and kept, according to the coach. At the present time the strongest point on the squad is the weights department (shotput, etc.) Dean Weible gave the squad its only two points in the large A.A.U. meet at Kearney two weeks ago when he threw the shot 4 feet farther than he ever had before.

The next strongest point is the distances, which is only mediocre. The weakest point, he unhappily admitted, is the speed. "Speed," he said, "is a physical development component which can be built." He hopes to bring this above average during the season.

The season is the first time that more than four meets have been scheduled in many years. There are 16 scheduled meets which Coach Zapp hopes will give the squad the experience they now lack.

Wayne will be competing against the best in class B this year, and on occasion, against some class A squads. It is a young squad, eager to attend meets, with 41 of the 45 who aren't seniors. "When we started this season," relates the coach, "there was only one way to look-up. And that is the way we plan to go."

Power Bill Advanced

After many hours of extra work, the Public Works Committee has advanced LB 220 to the Legislature for debate.

Reject Probe

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents has rejected a proposal by former Gov. Val Peterson that a committee of three editors investigate the Daily Nebraskan, student newspaper at the university.

In recent weeks, former state Sen. Ray Simmons, Fremont, has charged that the student publication has slanted the news on the side of liberalism.

The other regents present obviously felt that the university's policy on student publications and on their supervision have

The five-member review board would consist of two laymen, an attorney, an engineer and an accountant.

The measure has two main aims—to establish the review board which would have board authority, and to require retail power agencies to establish service area agreements which would have legal recognition.

The board would also have the power to intervene as an advisor into wholesale rate disputes and to make recommendations for working out such disagreements.

The bill stemmed from a Legislature Council Interim Study Committee which also was responsible for another bill calling for a strong merger of generation and transmission agencies.

change affiliation to that of our particular persuasion. The competition has been between congregations and among denominations with each other rather than between the Church and unchurched world.

An illustration of the lack of social leadership would be the labor unions. These developed, because of a concern of the laboring man, and his conviction that something should and could be done.

There are some problems in our own community that in time are going to become more acute. Rather than react to whatever emergency measures are taken at some future time to solve an immediate problem, it would be better for us to begin anticipating what some of these problems are and begin now to program the solutions into community life.

As far as this capital punishment not being a deterrent, their claim was probably right. It really is no longer a deterrent because we won't let it be.

Extension Board Elects

Members of the Wayne County Extension Board held their annual reorganization meeting March 11. During the meeting, officers were elected and the program for 1963 was discussed.

Re-elected officers were Paul Everingham, president, Ray Langemeier, vice president, and newly elected was Wayne Gilliland, secretary.

The County Extension Board is made up of representatives elected by the people. The board is responsible for developing and carrying out the County Extension educational program in cooperation with the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Much of the effectiveness of the Extension educational program can be credited to the part played by local people in determining its programs. The Extension Service in America is the envy of many nations throughout the world and several have copied this unique educational program.

The Extension Service was originally organized to serve the needs of rural people and its first responsibility still is to serve agricultural and home economics interests.

Best Idea Yet!

Capitol News . . . Governors Believe Court Can Settle Boundary Line

Lincoln. The governors of Nebraska and South Dakota have agreed that a friendly court case should be instituted so that the U. S. Supreme Court would determine the boundary between the states through the tailwaters area of Gavins Point Dam.

Even though the governors of Nebraska and the South Dakota Game Commission also gave its approval, there was one holdout. That was M. O. Steen, director of the Nebraska Game Commission.

Steen maintains that the tailwaters, a hot fishing spot, are in Nebraska and that the matter is not negotiable. He also noted that the agreement to submit the boundary issue to a court test must be approved by the Nebraska Game Commission.

The attorney general in each state will be directed to make the arrangements for the case.

The dispute stems from Steen's action last December when he announced he would cancel a reciprocal fishing rights agreement with South Dakota in the tailwaters area. He bluntly stated that his reason was prompted by the fact that South Dakota refuses to permit out-of-state anglers to hunt waterfowl in its state.

Even if the court case is made, Steen said, it won't change anything because he is sure the court would support his view.

Compromise Reached

It has been announced that the University Board of Regents, the university's volunteer medical staff, and full time staff have arrived at a "compromise" agreement on the school's medical college needs.

According to Dr. B. N. Greenberg, York, president of the regents, agreement has been reached on the need for a 200-bed hospital. He said it should be located on the campus and should utilize present facilities.

Greenberg said members of the volunteer staff have said they will attend a budget committee hearing this week in support of the university's request for funds to expand medical college facilities.

The volunteer staff and the full-time staff have not seen eye-to-eye on the expansion program. Greenberg said the differences "have been thrashed out completely and now all are thinking in mutual accord."

Lottery Law

The freshly enacted lottery law is going to get a hard look from the Legislature.

The bill sped through the legislature processes with a minimum of difficulty—undoubtedly because the voters gave it such a thumping endorsement at the last general election.

Now some of the lawmakers are having some second thoughts. They fear that the larger firms, specifically chain stores, can effectively use the lottery law for their own promotions but that the small merchant cannot afford to compete with the chains in these promotions.

A bill calling for repeal of the law has been introduced. But

Thinking OUT LOUD

Rev. Robert Shirck, pastor "Give me your poor . . ." so begins the inscription on the Statue of Liberty. The famous lady in New York harbor holds high her ever burning torch, inviting the down-trodden, the forgotten, the hopeless, from wherever they may come, regardless of their national backgrounds, the color of their skin, or the creeds which express their religious concern, to come here to these shores and to escape those things which make men down-trodden and hopeless.

We historically think of our country as a place of refuge, a new world, a land of opportunity, opportunity which is at least by inference lacking in other and older parts of the world. It seems to me, that this feeling of escape has been overlooked in much of our thinking about ourselves.

People could come here to escape from lack of opportunity, escape the confines of a low economic level and rise to one which would be somewhat higher; here one could escape from the rigid classes into which nations were divided in the old countries.

There was little serious attempts to export to other countries our national concept of the role of government, or of the rights of man. We thought of ourselves as a little island, protected by two oceans and thousands of miles, in a sea of nations. Here one could climb out of the undertow of tradition, and make a new start.

Now almost imperceptibly, a change is occurring. Indications are beginning to appear that the old isolation concept is giving way to a feeling of concern for others who do not make their home on this continent.

Peace Corps—where Americans give their time and skills to countries around the world who are asking for help. In this program, two things are possibly accomplished. One, and perhaps the most obvious, is the help and assistance people in other nations receive in solving their own particular problems. The other, and less obvious, is that for the first time, a serious effort is being made to export something more than the results of our technology and mechanization, and for want of a better name, we might call it the American philosophy.

Now the Church in this country traditionally has maintained itself somewhat apart from the total community. It has thought of itself only as refuge, a comforter of the desolate. Most often its role in the community has been that of reacting to ideas and programs which originated in other segments of society.

Its voice was raised mainly when these thoughts and actions conflicted sharply with that of the Church. The instances in which the Church has taken a strong, imaginative lead in the affairs of every day living are few and far between. More often imagination has been displayed in enticing members from one congregation or denomination to another. I'm quite a believer in the fact that after they have had a fair

Look as though our Legislature might get into quite a hassle before they dispose of the bill relative to the abolishment of capital punishment.

Our Governor got right into the middle of the deal the other day by coming out with a great deal of emphasis in favor of doing away with capital punishment in any form.

The claim that capital punishment is barbaric may be true, but shooting a man down in cold blood, couched by the widest stretch of an ethical, genteel veil, is a year or so ago we had the example here in Iowa of a condemned murderer, who appealed his sentence on the grounds that he wasn't afforded due process of law and that this type of punishment was no deterrent in preventing crimes of this sort.

As far as this capital punishment not being a deterrent, their claim was probably right. It really is no longer a deterrent because we won't let it be.

First National Bank Notes

Some men have a reputation for being energetic when the truth is they're only nervous.

If you are an "early bird" or "night owl" when it comes to banking — our night depository is just the thing.

There's an envelope drop in the depository. Use these facilities any hour of the day or night for convenience and safety. Drop in, we'll be glad to explain how easy this service is to use.

It's too bad that our life problems don't hit us while we're in our teens when we know all the answers.

In the early days of Rome and Athens, men accepted deposits of money at interest and made loans. Many of the slaves of these cities were former debtors, for if a man could not pay his debt when due, his creditors were at liberty to kill him or to sell him and his entire family into a lifetime of slavery.

About the only place a dollar is still worth 100 cents is in arithmetic.

Medical Mirror Better Health Through Knowledge

RECTAL POLYPS AND CANCER

Q. I have rectal polyps. One doctor advised surgery — another said surgery wasn't necessary. Who's right?

A. There are two schools of thought. Some doctors take the stand that noncancerous polyps of the colon and rectum are likely to become cancerous, others believe that the dangers are slight. Both views can be supported by medical evidence. Recent studies indicate, but do not prove, that rectal polyps are no more dangerous than polyps in any other location. However, one rectal specialist recently said that if he had polyps he would want them destroyed or removed — just in case. This might be best.

CONSTIPATION

Q. My four-year-old daughter is constipated and depends on laxatives. What would you advise? Is constipation hereditary?

A. No, it is not inherited. Many persons are overly concerned about elimination. If they would forget it, nature will nearly always adjust the matter. Daily bowel movements are not essential to good health and certainly the habitual taking of laxatives to achieve this goal is harmful. Don't let this matter drag along. Take your daughter to a physician.

The personal interest we take in the health of those we serve is of equal importance with the professional skill we put in the dispensing of prescribed medicine.

36 days that proved Ford's total performance!

Table with 4 columns: RIVERSIDE, CAL. January 20; MONTE CARLO January 23; PURE OIL TRIALS January 27; DAYTONA, FLA. February 24. Each column contains a brief description of the performance.

... and here are the 63 1/2's that gave total proof of Ford's durability and handling! You may never see a competitive auto event. But at 30 mph on rain-slick blacktop, in the close-packed rush of 5 o'clock traffic on a twisting mountain road, the results are important to you. On every slippery surface you need the kind of roadability that placed five Fords out front in the Daytona '500'. On every busy cross street you want the brakes that won on Riverside's sports car circuit. Your engine will hold up better through years of turnpike use because it's as beautifully balanced as Falcon's Monte Carlo V-8's. The winning competition car is bound to be a great road car - and Ford is the big winner!
