Best of All Days Planned In Wayne Oct. 24, 25, 26

If you haven't already made plans to attend, you had better do so now because the Best of All Days cooking school will be held Oct. 24 at the Wayne City Auditorium beginning at 1 p.m.

The cooking school, sponsored by The Wayne Herald, will be free to the public and is expected to last for 2 1/2 to 3 hours. Conducting the school will be Marlys Fox. Miss Fox is a food lecturer and writer for Farm and Home magazine and DAKOTA magazine.

She has traveled extensively throughout the Midwest conducting these schools.

Wayne merchants have planned a huge selling spree to coincide with the cooking school. In fact, Best of All Days has turned into a city-wide sale, highlighted by the free cooking school for area homemakers.

Homemakers will be given a free Best of All Days cookbook, be eligible to win one of the many free bags of groceries to be given away, and be in line to win some of the freshly made food products which Miss Fox will prepare.

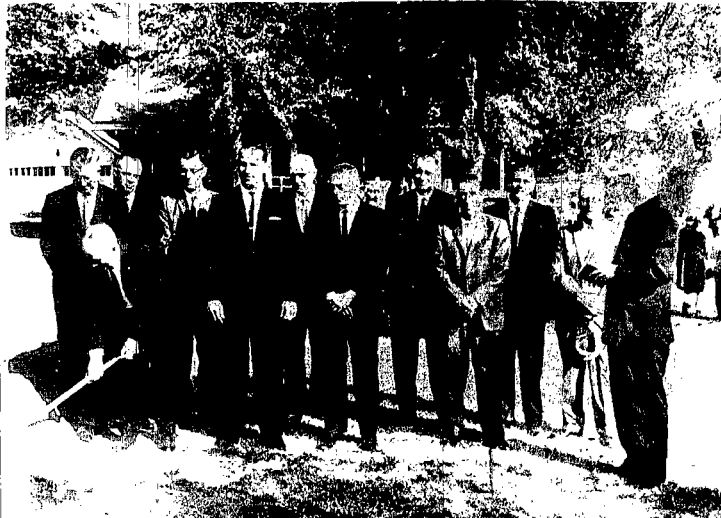

This year's version of Best of All Days will place emphasis on the "dare to be different" type of baking and cooking. The recipes to be demonstrated on the stage will not be the impractical, gourmet type, but they will be new and most important—they will be different! One basic aim of the Best of All Days school is to pass on to the homemakers attending, simple ways of preparing new dishes, and perhaps even easier ways of preparing the old favorites.

Best of All Days in Wayne will be the biggest, three-day event designed especially for the homemaker to be held in this part of the state. Last year in its second year of the Midwest, the Best of All Days cooking schools, which incidentally are always newspaper sponsored, attracted over 100,000 homemakers.

National participants in the Best of All Days program are Brer Rabbit Molasses, Pillsbury Flour, Alcoa Wrap, Van Camp's Park and Beans, Nestle Morsels and Fleischmann's Yeast and Kraft Miniature Marshmallows.

Open Three Day Homecoming Activities at WSC Tonight

Stunts, Queen, Game, Dance Make Busy Wayne Weekend

Wayne State's biggest show of the year—homecoming—begins a three-day engagement tonight, with all the color, music, competition and cameraderie that tradition decrees.

The major crowd-attracting events come Saturday, but other phases of homecoming tonight and Friday also are open to the public.

Saturday will open with the traditional parade up Main street, starting at 10:30 a.m. The afternoon festivities begin at 1 p.m., as visiting bands parade into Memorial Stadium, followed by prize-winning floats from the parade, then the climactic moment of pre-game ceremonies—crowning of the homecoming queen.

Neither the crowd nor the queen candidates will know who is to reign until the master of ceremonies announces her identity. The candidates: Carolyn Beck, Wayne; Janyce Johnson, Oakland; Mary Jurging, Fremont; Jan Kucera, Clarkson; and Cindy Minkten, Fremont.

After a welcome by President W. A. Brandenburg, the afternoon's main event will match Wayne State against Nebraska Wesleyan in what promises to be a rugged football game, at 2 o'clock.

Halftime will present an intricate marching-playing show by the college band as it observes the homecoming theme, "Around the World in 80 Days." With the music of Dvorak's immortal "New World Symphony," the band will enact a Spanish bullfight, a Hawaiian hula, Mexican hat dance, Arizona Indian dance, and climax it all with a typical American dance to the tune of "Ida."

For the finale the Wayne State band will be joined by four high school bands from Wayne, Westwood Community School of Sloan, Ia., Weava and Leigh. The guest bands for homecoming have been limited to four because of the separate Band Day held earlier.

The game also will mark the debut of Willie the Wildcat, the college band's new mascot.

After the game, a smorgasbord dinner in the Student Center will give alumni, students, parents and other visitors a chance to renew acquaintances. It is scheduled from 4:30 to about 6:30.

The day will end with the traditional homecoming ball, open to the public, at 9 p.m. in Rice Auditorium. Providing music: Peter Palmer and his voices and orchestra, currently one of the leading dance combos on college campuses.

Everywhere on campus and in the parade there will be evidence of the "Around the World in 80 Days" theme—in floats and displays, arranged by college organizations. The campus displays are to be judged Friday.

On the Friday schedule: a meeting of Wayne State Foundation trustees at 3 p.m. in the Student Center, seeking new ways to provide aid to the college. In its two years, the foundation has collected about $16,000 and given nearly all of it to college loan and scholarship funds.

A dinner for the trustees, alumni and the public generally is scheduled for 6 p.m. Capping the evening: a Dixieland dance in the Student Center.

Homecoming's opening event comes tonight as dormitories stage a stunt show at 7 in Rice Auditorium. It should be a hilarious show, if it is anything like its predecessor a year ago.

Set Goal at $8,400 For Week-Long Drive

"Second Guessers" Fry Coaches Each Monday at Hotel

The Wayne "Second Guessers" club held its second meeting with 26 would-be coaches gathering at the Hotel Morrison.

Established to aid the athletic department at Wayne State, the group is open to everyone.

The "Second Guessers" meet every Monday morning at 8:45 a.m. and the Wayne State coaching staff is on hand as fair game for any and all questions on games, individuals, plans, etc.

Similar to the better known "Quarterback Clubs" around the nation, the "Second Guessers" take in all sports instead of just football.

Again, everyone is invited and there is a $1 cover charge at each meeting.

A full explanation of the organization's intentions will be given at the next meeting.

The president is Carlyle Garvin and the secretary-treasurer is Fred Gibbs.

Wayne citizens can take pride in the fact that their Community Chest has always had an outstanding record for reaching its goal. Every participating agency has always received 100 percent of its quota.

The drive will last one week from Oct. 21 to Oct. 26.

Thirteen agencies are served this year. They are: Red Cross, Blind, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Florence Crittenton Home, National Travelers Aid Association, Youth Activities, Romedal Speech Clinic, Salvation Army, United Service Organization, Medical Research Program, American Social Health Association and a new one this year, the Emergency Disaster Fund.

This fund was established to supplement the aid now being given by the local Salvation Army committee. This will enable serious and immediate emergencies to be met with the least delay.

Leading the residential drive will be co-chairmen Mrs. Loyd Jensen and Mrs. A. D. Flowerday, assisted by Mrs. Wayne Tietgen, Mrs. Don Reed and Mrs. Willard Clausen.

These ladies will head up 70 so victors who will go from door to door.

Troy Vaughn is chairman of the business district drive with these block captains: Bob Merchant, Bob Carhart, Don Reed, Dallas Wendt, Fred Gibbs, Bob McLean, Jack Mareh, Howard Witt, Clarence Kuhn, John Eanuna, Jr., Stan Westergard, Norman Olson, Mrs. Lloyd Manske, Russell Owen and William Brandenburg.

The drive will last for one week this year, Oct. 21 to 26.

The same procedure will again be used with contributors being able to designate where they want their funds to go and will be able to pledge and make their contribution in four separate installments.

CANDIDATES FOR QUEEN of Wayne State's homecoming: (from left) Mary Jurging, Fremont; Carolyn Beck, Wayne; Janyce Johnson, Oakland; Jan Kucera, Clarkson; Cindy Minkten, Fremont. An all-school election Wednesday selected the queen from the contenders, who had been chosen by the W Club, athletic lettermen's organization. The queen's identity will remain secret until just before the Saturday football game.

Plan Blue Devil Homecoming Festivities Friday Night

Wayne high school will hold its annual Homecoming festivities this coming weekend, highlighted by the crowning of the king and queen at the football game Friday evening.

Opening the activities will be a huge pep rally at 7:00 o'clock Thursday. All Wayne high fans are invited to participate in this event in front of the Sportsland store in downtown Wayne.

A second special pep rally will be held at the school immediately after classes Friday afternoon. This event will feature the Pep Band and school choir joining the Alma Mauer. All students are urged to attend this rally.

The Blue Devils will furnish the main activity Friday evening when they meet the Hartington Cedar Catholic football team on the Wayne State field at 7:30.

The traditional crowning of the Homecoming king and queen will be held at 7:00 o'clock in special pre-game ceremonies during which Shirley Nissen and Duane Bloomkamp will place the crowns upon the choices of the student body.

Queen candidates, selected by the Pep Club are: Nancy de Freese, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. S. K. de Freese; Jean Eynon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Eynon; Cheri Marsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Marsh; Penny Shupe, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Shupe; and Candi Vaughn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Vaughn.

King candidates, selected by the W-Club, are: Jerry Grahaug, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barry Grahaug; Doug Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Harrison; Jim Kern, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kern;

Gary Lorenzen, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Lorenzen; and Jim Mau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mau.

Donald Schumacher and the marching band have prepared special pre-game and half-time features to add to the evening's entertainment.

Culminating the series of activities will be the traditional Homecoming dance which will be held Monday evening in the activities room in the new elementary school building. Dancing will be from 7:30 to 10:00.

Vaughn, Jean Eynon, Penny Shupe, Nancy de Freese, Jerry Grahaug, Jim Kern, Jim Mau, Gary Lorenzen and Doug Harrison.

The Devils host Cedar Catholic of Hartington Friday night at WSC for the Wayne High homecoming. A mid-week game will be played Wednesday night with Neligh at WSC stadium at 7:30 p.m.

Homecoming Foe Tough for 'Cats'

Wayne State football fans—and the team, too—can expect some lively action Saturday afternoon. Coming for the homecoming game is Nebraska Wesleyan, a team that has bounced back from three lean seasons to win three of five games this year. One of the losses was a moral victory to Wesleyan followers, as the Plainsmen surprised Northern State of South Dakota, one of the nation's top-ranked small college teams. The score: 14-13.

WSC Harriers Sweep Dual Meet Saturday

Wayne State's cross country team swept the first four places in winning a dual meet with Chadron State here Saturday, 16-40. Carl Owczerzak paced the three-mile course in 15:45, followed by Bob Fulsome, 16:09; Milton Harrison and Barry Johnson tied at 16:39, all of Wayne, and John Beys, 16:55, Chadron. Next in order were Bruce Hopkins, Wayne; Dick Powles, Larry Paul and Don Morris, Chadron; Tom McGarane, Wayne, and John Sides, Chadron.

Devils Found on Short End of 26-0 Stanton Tilt

The Stanton Mustangs clinched at least a tie for the West Division crown in the Husker Conference Friday night, by easily rolling Wayne 26-0 in the homecoming celebration at Stanton. The score boosted Wayne's points allowed total in the last two games to 59 while scoring none themselves.

Wayne took to the field hoping for a comeback after a 33-0 drubbing by South Sioux the week before, but the Mustang defense proved too rough for the Wayne boys as the Devils took the opening kick-off and were forced to punt on the fourth play of the game.

Injuries Hurt 'Cats' While Defeating Chadron 19-13

Wayne State gridlers pulled a conference tussle out of the fire Saturday at Chadron, downing a determined Chadron State team, 19-13. The victory lifted the Wildcats another notch in the Nebraska College Conference campaign, making them 2-2, with only one NCC game to go, against Peru November 2.

Chadron had the better of the first half, both in score and statistics. The Eagles dished a Wayne fumble on the Wayne 25 for a touchdown in five plays. Fleet haliback Gene Banshore scooted the last five yards, and Rick Spear booted the point.

NEWS for truck owners who need a new one now

Things Chevrolet has developed since the last time you bought to give you more for your money:

Double-wall construction. This feature of Chevrolet cabs and the Fleetside pickup body has two advantages. Insulation and sound-deadening material is sandwiched between the two layers of steel in the cab to give you more comfort; in the body, the lower inner wall acts as a buffer against load damage, preserving the outer appearance of the truck.

Suspension to fit the truck. Conventional half- and three-quarter-ton models have independent front suspension with variable rate coils in the rear. Variable rate coils do not "bottom out" as readily.

Mediums and heavies have I-beam suspension with variable-rate leaf springs. It automatically stiffens as the load increases—and vice versa. It means a smoother, flatter ride regardless of load, a better handling truck.

The right engine. Chevrolet never has been in better position to give you the type and size you need for maximum efficiency. Today there are many different capacities of gasoline and diesel

Chevrolet truck engines—fours, sixes, V8s.

Stronger frames. Every conventional 1964 Chevrolet truck has a ladder-type frame. This type is more resilient, better able to give with the load and terrain. Its simple design also makes it easier to mount special bodies on the truck. Its riveted side rails are stronger.

Greater model selection. This time you're going to find it a simple matter to pick the exact type of Chevrolet truck for the kind of work you do. In delivery trucks, for instance, in addition to regular panels and pickups, we have eleven different sizes of ready-made walk-in vans, some with full-width rear doors.

Quality and value. Chevrolets today are a lot more truck than your money bought the last time, and yet the price tag is just about the same as 5 or 6 years ago. Call your Chevrolet dealer for information or for a demonstration.

Quality trucks always cost less!

by Marlys Fox

Use October as a time to introduce your family to a new cheese. This month is Cheese Festival Time! Delightful taste sensations are awaiting you and your family when you experiment with new recipes using cheese. The flavors of cheese are as varied as spices and herbs.

Cheese is one of the most versatile food items. Probably most familiar as "cooking" cheese is Cheddar or American cheese. However, Swiss, brick, blue, Camembert, cream, cottage and Parmesan can also be used. It is well for homemakers to shake hands with many types of cheese because cheese, like people, has individual personality which needs only the good cook's ingenuity to bring out.

Served alone, cheese makes a tempting snack; use Gouda cheese plus a few extra ingredients and you have an appetizer tray. Eggs Benedict a la Blue give hearty appeal to the brunch menu. From a cheese soup to cheese for dessert, there's truly a cheese for every occasion and taste!

Combine ground beef, butter or margarine, blue cheese, salt, Worcestershire sauce and pepper. Shape into 6 equal-sized patties. Place in broiler pan and broil about 2 1/2 to 3 minutes on each side. Meanwhile, heat buns. Place burgers on bottom halves of heated buns and place on serving plates. Place top half of bun alongside burger, seeded side up. Garnish top of each burger with 2 sprigs watercress and 3 French fried onion rings. Combine mustard and horseradish and place in small lettuce cup alongside each burger on serving plate.

FARMHAND DIVISION OF  DUFFIN CORPORATION

a good one!

A good father and sons farm partnership thrives on trust and a fair deal for everyone.

So believes Richard P. Flynn, the titular head of Flynn operated by R. P. Flynn and Sons, at Blair, Nebraska.

His sons: Tom, 43, Adrian, 41, and Gene, 36, agree with their active and keen-minded 79-year-old dad. Together they handle an intensive operation on their 383-acre farm, turning out some 600 head of fat hogs a year, and 1½ million pounds of grade A whole milk for the Nebraska-Iowa Milk Association which serves Omaha.

The Flynns have been working under a written partnership contract since 1947, sharing income four ways. All four families live in modern homes grouped together at the farmstead; two of the houses are now within the city limits as Blair's city streets "moved in" on the farm. Eight adults and 14 children, shared among the three sons, are supported by the partnership.

"With the high fixed unit costs of farming today, I wouldn't be operating this farm alone," Richard Flynn observed. "There's unity in strength and by working together and being individually interested in the success of the farm, we accomplish a lot more." He pointed out that each son in the partnership is a key fellow, responsible for some phase of the business.

Tom is the number one man on handling of the big crop of registered Holstein calves in the 300-head herd. He keeps an eye on calvings and calf feeding and assists in the evening milking.

Adrian is key man in fieldwork and crop handling, looks after the machinery and looks after the hog chores.

Gene handles the books with his wife, does much of the buying and selling, takes care of the multitude of details in keeping up herd registrations, and is primarily responsible for the morning milking.

All are "swing" men, however, and fit into the overall job pattern as needed. Richard Flynn, affectionately called "Pappy" keeps an eye on things, works "when he pleases" and is enjoying his late years in travel and trips with his wife.

Milking over 100 head of cows a day (500-pound butterfat average for the last five years and 14,000 pounds of milk), producing and putting up high quality corn and alfalfa silage, making hay on rented acres, fattening hogs and home-raised Holstein steers, taking part in district and state Black and White shows, keeps the partners busy.

"But we are lenient and fair about time off," Gene remarked. "Any of us can swing into another man's chores if he wants to take a few days off or go on a vacation. To prevent the milking from becoming a chore for any one person, we alternate and each take our turn. No one person gets the brunt of the work then."

Books are kept under the name of R. P. Flynn and Sons and each of the four partners takes a monthly draw on his own volition. "Two of us take checks at the first of the month, the other two the middle of the month," Gene said. "We settle accounts at the end of the year."

More often than not you'll find dad and the three sons talking over things in the milking parlor during the morning milking. These informal "director" meetings take care of the jobs of the day, plans for the future, reports on the livestock and crops.

The four partners are well satisfied with their family farm setup and see it as a means of holding together a large farm.

Cottontail Safari

by Clay Schoenfeld

We were coming down out of the hills in the winter twilight—12-year-old Billy and I. It was still, so still our feet made a great crunching in the frozen snow. Billy's steps were shorter than mine, but he managed to keep up.

When we slowed down, cutting through the hogs of a pasture, Billy looked back at the wooded bulk of the ridge, darkening against the pale sky.

"Uncle Clay," he asked wistfully, "you can't get back behind it, can you?"

"Behind what, Billy?"

"Why," he explained earnestly, "behind your good times. Behind what's happened. Get right back behind it and do it all over again, just exactly the same. You can't do that, can you?"

I chewed on my cigar a minute before I answered:

"Well, no, Billy, we have to admit we can't get back. Not exactly. But say, Billy, there's one way you can come so mighty close to it you can hardly tell the difference, and that's rabbit hunting, like today. Peter Cottontail doesn't change. He keeps going strong. You'll always be able to get back—with him!"

I think I was dead right. I can prove it, to my satisfaction, at least, any fall or winter weekend by stopping the car at the foot of the ridge that runs up from the old Mineral Point and Northern right-of-way. I can stroll up into the hazelbrush and—skat! There's Peter Cottontail scooting for a hole, a blur of gray against the snow, just as he did when I was a boy.

The railroad is gone, and most of my boyhood partners. But a couple of them I can expect to meet on the ridge, with guns in the crooks of their arms, getting back behind the years—with Brer Rabbit.

There are a lot of us rabbit hunters in the United States. Scratch a pheasant fancier or a deer man and ten to one you'll find a rabbit hunter underneath. More hunters probably have cut their eye teeth on bunnies than on any other game, and more shotgun shells are still expended on rabbits today than on any other species.

As a matter of fact, in many regions we're shooting more rabbits now than we ever did, because sound agricultural land use practices are creating better rabbit range. Contour farming tends to increase the amount of "edge" between cover types and to create small, irregularly shaped, ungrazed woodlots—just the thing for Peter Cottontail.

Because many of these spots are close to cities, Peter is the ideal quarry of the Sunday hunter. Wherever you go across the face of America, you can see these sportsmen on a cottontail safari, getting back behind the years—with Brer Rabbit.

YOU PAY FOR FULL POWER...

...WHY
SETTLE FOR LESS?

Ordinary paper shells start losing power from the day they're made. Moisture, humidity and temperature steal power...up to 28% in just twelve months. And the longer you keep 'em, the more they lose. Plastic shells made by Remington keep 100% of their power. They start out as the most powerful shells made...and stay that way. And the tough weatherproof plastic case means they'll never scuff, swell or split. Now made in a wide range of "Express" high-base loads and new "Shur Shot" low-base field loads. Remember, Remington plastic shells keep your power dry! Ask for them by name. Remington

The beagle has been famous as an ideal rabbit dog since long before his recent rise as a household pet. Once kicked out and pursued, a rabbit will typically run in a big circle. The beagle "brings him around" by yipping at his heels.

GRASSROOTS GLEANINGS

by Bill Stokes

"Times Have Changed For Hogs," was the headline in the Devils Lake (N.D.) Journal over a story that described the new sanitary conditions under which a hog should be raised.

Old-time hog wallows are out, the story said, because they can't be kept clean. Wallows of concrete or metal are recommended.

How could a hog have any fun in a clean wallow? And isn't a hog's fun important? It is to the hog.

I helped a hog have fun in a wallow one time, a muddy, watery wallow. I was jumping across the wallow on rocks that protruded out of the muck, when I leaped onto what I thought was an extra large boulder. Of course, it wasn't a boulder. It was a hog. The hog came rearing out of the mire like a fat tornado. I executed what must have been a type of groundloop, and landed with a rather magnificent, sloshing splash.

Are we ready to deny this kind of adventure to today's rural youth?

One hog adventure that will never change is trying to drive hogs through a gate or a door that they don't want to go through. It is a little like trying to herd a hornet through a small knothole.

We were trying to drive hogs up a cattle truck chute one morning when one of them bolted and ran between the truck driver's legs, carrying him up the side of a manure pile and dumping him rather abruptly. That truck driver made some of the most unkind remarks about hogs that have ever been made.

While we're on the subject of hogs, the Gratiot Herald of Ithaca, Mich. recorded details of the hog and husband calling contest at the Michigan state fair.

Living in an age of depth investigation, it is appropriate that we explore the difference in the reasons that husbands and hogs respond to calls.

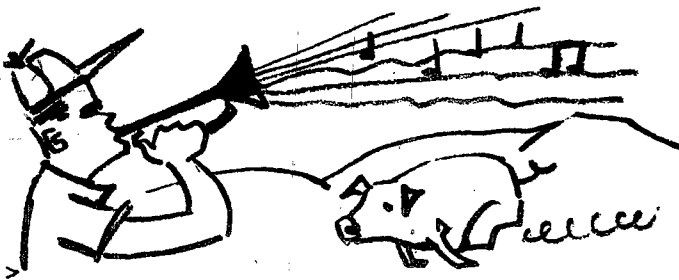

About the only time a hog gets called is when it is going to get something to eat. No wonder they answer with instant enthusiasm.

Sometimes a husband gets called to eat, but more often he hears the call to dish out money for the peddler, fix the spring on the screen door, or help pick a paint color for the kitchen ceiling.

It's easy to see why hogs run faster than husbands when the calls go out.

The champion hog caller in our neighborhood was a man named Clarence Squeen. Clarence called his hogs by tooting on an old army bugle which he hung from the gatepost with a piece of twine.

Usually he played the "call" to charge, blowing up a virtual storm as his hogs thundered down over the hill like a company of cavalry. It was a glorious sight.

The Daily Post of Belle Fourchè, S.D., reports that a huge stockpile of obsolete signs was the result of a changeover to new signs on state roads. The signs may be made available to civic organizations, a highway official said.

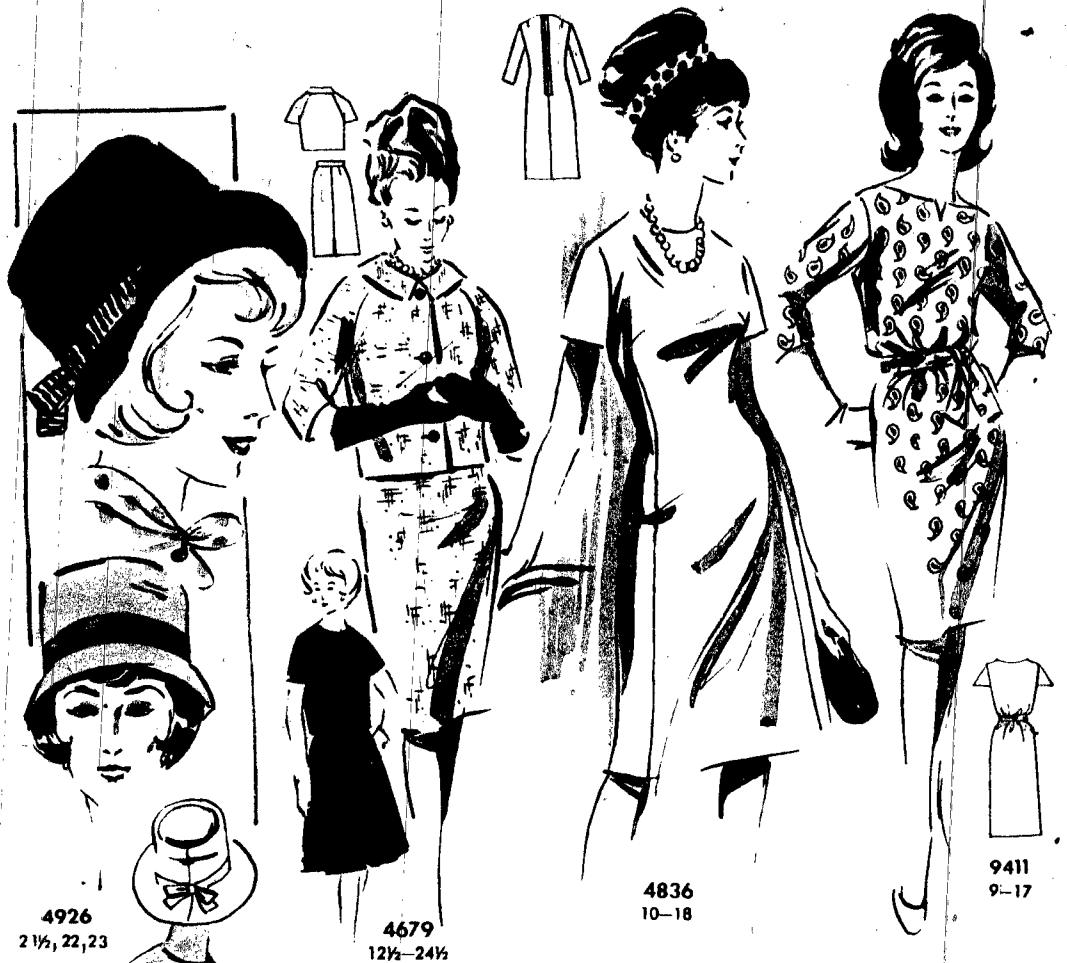

I'm not a civic organization, but I'd like to get my hands on some of those signs. In the traffic lane from Patty's room to the telephone, there would be a 35 m.p.h. speed limit posted.

We'd put a "STOP" sign on the door of the refrigerator. The mailman would find a "Do Not Litter" sign on the mailbox when the first of the month rolled around.

And we could use a "Slippery When Wet" sign by the bathtub to remind us that you need an extra strong grip to keep a small boy in soapy water.

In the advice column that ran in the Daily Sentinel of Fairmont, Minn., there was the girl who wrote for instructions on how to have a lovely wedding, and then panicked because she thought her name might be published. It seems that the man she was planning to marry had not proposed to her yet.

He will, the poor chap. A girl with that kind of determination is not to be denied. And he'll go through life thinking how he "won" her. Ah, the injustice of it all.
