Mid-Winter Concert Set for February 9

The 87 member Wayne Senior High Concert Band will present its annual Mid-Winter Band Concert on Sunday, Feb. 9. The program will be held in the City Auditorium beginning at 2:30 p.m. The band, under the direction of Don Schumacher, will present a varied and interesting program of 10 numbers. Many of these are new publications in the field of band music. Of special interest will be two grandly contrasting overtures, "Orlando Palandrino," by Joseph Haydn, was written originally for orchestra and is a typical example of the classical overture with light, rapidly moving woodwind sections combined with the full ensemble sections. In contrast is "Second Street Overture" written by Fred Knepper. This is a 1963 publication for band featuring a variety of tone color, tempo, and mood. It pictures a nostalgic return in thought to the scenes of the writer's youth. Both are demanding numbers and of good musical value.

Other numbers featured are: "Symphonic Prelude," "Gallio" (Solo Doble), "Chorale for Band," "Bolero Espanol," High Lights from "Camelot," "Bandology" (March), "State Fair Suite," and "Coat of Arms" (March). Admission will be charged at the door.

January Is Warmest Month Since 1947

Remember January of last year? Nineteen consecutive days, Jan. 12 to Jan. 30, with lows under zero. In fact, the month's temperature average was 7.8 degrees.

This January has been a different month in temperatures. The month's average this year was 25.6 degrees which is 6.2 degrees above normal.

The month also recorded a higher temperature this year, 62 degrees compared to 52 degrees last year and also a lower temperature, -23 degrees compared to -22 degrees last year. The difference then, however, was hardly noticeable.

Harold Alexander, meteorologist in charge of the Norfolk Weather Bureau, said his records showed this to be the warmest January since 1947.

Precipitation was low, however, recording only 22 inch, or 0.56 inch below the January normal, Alexander said.

January was a warm month in Wakefield, also, he said, with a monthly average of 25.9 degrees, or 4.8 degrees above normal. The warmest day in Wakefield was 59 degrees and the coldest was 31. Precipitation totaled 31 inch or 42 inch below normal.

Jan. 13 was apparently the coldest day across NE Nebraska. Wakefield had a low of 31; Walthill had 35; Ewing, 30; Oakdale, 28; Madison, 27; West Point, 21; Stanton, 21; and Norfolk, 23.

January precipitation in Northeast Nebraska:

Wayne, 0.21; Stanton, 0.34; Lyons, 0.24; Wakefield, 0.31; West Point, 0.26; Beemer, 0.32; Uehling, 0.29; Madison, 0.15; Oakdale, 0.19; Neligh, 0.33; and Norfolk, 0.22.

Eagle Court, Scout Sunday During National Scout Week

Cliff Dahl Files For Legislature

Clifford Dahl, Wayne, filed for the Nebraska legislature from the newly formed 18th district Tuesday.

Dahl is the owner and administrator of the Dahl Retirement Center in Wayne.

Although new to politics at this level, Dahl has held many state and national offices for the nursing home associations and has been responsible for the introduction of legislation regarding nursing homes in many states.

He has served two terms as national president of the American Nursing Home Association and is currently serving his fourth term.

Boy Scout Troop 174 will celebrate Scout Week Monday with an Eagle Court of Honor, one of many activities in a busy year.

Receiving the Eagle award, highest in Boy Scouting, is Robert Wreidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wreidt. During 4 years in the troop, he has served as patrol leader and senior patrol leader. In addition, he earned the Pro Deo of Patria award for service in Redeemer Lutheran Church.

Bob's older brother, Ron, also an Eagle Scout with the Pro Deo et Patria award.

Both Troop 174 and 175 will wear their uniforms to church Sunday, as well as to school.

Several officials of the Diagonal Dick District, including Donald Suedmeier, district executive and the Rev. Gail Axen, assistant district commissioner, will take part in the Eagle ceremony.

The court of honor will be unusual in that every rank from Tenderfoot to Eagle will be presented. The court is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. following a family supper in the Birch Room of the WSC Student Center.

Troop 174 has been sponsored by Hahn School for more than a quarter century, but beginning this month it is under sponsorship of the Isaak Walton League because Hahn will close this summer.

Now beginning its 42nd year of continuous registration, Troop 174 has a record of participating in nearly every district and council event—summer camp, camp-orees, expositions.

It has an active camping program all year around. Some members have camped out at least once every month for about a year and a half, and the troop has missed only a few months of camping in the past four or five years.

Seven members have attained the Eagle award in the last three years. The troop also has been well over the national goal of having 40 per cent at First Class rank or higher.

List Area Zip Codes For Future Reference

"The ZIP Code has become and must become such an important part of a mailing address that it may happen during this year an address may be incomplete without one," said Wayne postmaster Don Wightman.

As the amount of mail increased over the years, another method of distribution had to be found by the postal department and electronic scanning methods were developed and are being improved. This brought about the ZIP Code. Since the use of these numbers is going to be part of the mailing address, the Herald has set up this chart of area ZIP Code numbers for the use of its readers.

It is suggested this list of ZIP Codes be clipped out and kept for future reference whenever mail is addressed to any of the following towns:

Wayne Drama Club Casts Instructors As Medea, Jason

"Medea," a play in protest against woman's status in a man's world, is being prepared for presentation by the Wayne State Drama department.

The play, a Greek tragedy put into modern settings by Robinson Jeffers, promises to provide an exciting evening for all.

The play's setting is established when Jason returns from his Argosy during which, with the aid of Medea's sorcery, he stole the Golden Fleece. Jason then returned victorious to Corinth and married Medea.

The play "Medea," begins several years later. Ambitious Jason renounces Medea to wed Creon, young daughter of King Creon. In the heart of Medea, justice is fused to vengeance. When Creon exiles her from Corinth, endless loathing for her husband drives Medea to revenge.

The lead roles of Medea and Jason will be played by two Wayne State College faculty members, Dr. Helen J. Russell and Dr. Robert Johnson.

Dr. Helen J. Russell, director of dramatic arts at Wayne State College, worked in professional theatre for six years before coming to Wayne. During this time, she played in summer and winter stock in New England and Florida. Among the approximately 200 productions she has played in or directed, several leading roles were Miss Moltiss in "The Corn Is Green," Mrs. Alving in Ibsen's "Ghosts," Vidaine in "Tidings Brought To Me," Lady Macbeth in Shakespeare's "Macbeth," Ruth in O'Neill's "Beyond The Horizon," Harriet Craig in "Craig's Wife," and the title role in "Hedda Gabler."

Dr. Robert Johnson, associate professor of speech, is also a professional actor. He worked professionally in New York City and played stock in Denver and Buffalo, N. Y. While attending school at Brigham Young University, Dr. Johnson played a one-man show of "Hamilin". He toured Idaho and Colorado with this act. Other roles included Macbeth in Shakespeare's "Macbeth," Putzi in "The Brown Danube," Brutus in "Julius Caesar," Father Formaggio in "Our Lady of Fatima," and Pito in Tennessee Williams' "Purification".

Medea will open on Sunday, Feb. 9, and run Feb. 10 and 11. Performances will be held in the Little Theatre in the College Administration Building. Curtain time is 8:00 p.m. A special matinee will be held on February 11 at 2:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre.

Add 25 New Members During C of C Drive; Membership at 70

Twenty-five new members, showing a growing interest in Wayne, joined the Wayne Chamber of Commerce during the membership drive.

Due to this increase in membership and the willingness of most old members to accept a new dues structure, the annual drive has been termed a success.

Several more individuals have expressed interest in becoming Chamber members, thus a greater total of members may be recorded later this month.

The addition of these new members brings the total membership near 70.

Begin Lenten Services At Methodist Church

Prior to his present post, Jackman served churches in Cozad and Chadron. He presides over 35 pastors and 44 Methodist churches in NE Nebraska.

The Chapel Hour worship will be followed by a social hour in Fellowship Hall served by members of the Senior High MYF.

Special music for the service will be presented by the male quartet composed of Orval Brandstetter, Maurice Anderson, Jerry Ahlvers, and Jerry Brandstetter. The public is cordially invited.

Kruger Services Held Tuesday in Emerson Church

Funeral services for George Kruger, 72, Emerson, were held Tuesday afternoon at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Emerson. Mr. Kruger died Saturday at Pender hospital following a lengthy illness. Rev. Daniel Schroeder officiated at the rites. Pallbearers were Elvin Mackling, Delmar Schwarten, David Mayberry, Leonard Wischoff, Roy Krueger and Raymond Kahl. Burial was in Rosehill cemetery, Emerson, with military rites conducted by Ryan McEntaffer Post 60.

George Kruger was born Apr. 16, 1891 at Wayne. He was baptized and confirmed at Immanuel Lutheran church, Wayne, Feb. 10, 1920. He was married to Mary Schwarten at Emerson. The couple lived on a farm northwest of Emerson until 1948 when they retired and moved into Emerson. He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church and a charter member of St. Paul's Brotherhood. He was a veteran of World War I.

Survivors include his widow, a daughter, Evelyn Kruger, Emerson; four sisters, Mary and Esther and Mrs. Laura Wischoff, Wayne, and Mrs. John Kahl, Glenwood, and a brother, August, Emerson.

More Leisure Time for Wayne County Citizens

Most Wayne County residents have more leisure time at their disposal than they ever had. Because of the social and economic changes that have taken place in recent years, the average working man finds himself devoting a much smaller part of his lifetime to making a living than he would have found necessary a generation or two ago. For one thing, he doesn't begin working at as early an age as was once the custom. In Wayne County, for example, the average boy completes 9.3 years of school before starting out.

That is more time than his father or his grandfather spent in school. The result is he begins to work a year or two later. Also, according to previous standards, his working day is a comparatively short one and the number of years he will work, prior to retirement, considerably less.

The changes that have taken place are brought out in studies made by the Department of Labor, the Department of Commerce and others. They show that for every eight hours of work put in today by the average Wayne County man, he is saving three hours in terms of grandfather's workweek.

Back in 1910, a man spent 55 hours a week on the job. This has been steadily whittled down to the point where the average now is just below 40 hours. Applied to the 2,766 local men who are employed, according to the latest Government figures, it is equivalent to 2,117,000 man-hours of additional leisure time per year. A new study on work and leisure by the University of Michigan notes that: "With retirement age moving down toward the early 60's and eventually toward age 55, the total productive life may become 35 or 40 years in the foreseeable future." "All told, taking into account the added years of schooling, the shorter workweek, earlier retirement and longer life span, the average working man is putting in 20 fewer years of work in his lifetime than his grandfather did.

On the basis of Wayne County's male working population, it amounts to 57,000 additional years of leisure that may be devoted to self-improvement, sports, hobbies, or just plain loafing.

Begin Savings Stamp Program in Schools

Henry E. Ley, Wayne County Savings Bond chairman, has announced that the Wayne elementary school will participate in the United States Treasury Department's School Savings Program beginning Tuesday.

Mrs. Julia Haas, president of the American Legion Auxiliary, said her Unit would sponsor the sale of the Savings Stamps. She has also accepted the appointment as Stamp Chairman.

Stamps will be on sale at school each Tuesday, from 8:30 to 8:50 a.m. All grades can participate and will have the opportunity to purchase 10c Savings Stamps during the remainder of the school year.

Each child who purchases one or more stamps will be given a stamp album, coin and stamp envelope and a Junior Astronaut Certificate signed by the seven Astronauts.

When a total of $18.75 in stamps has been accumulated in the album, it can be exchanged for a $25.00 interest bearing Savings Bond, or it can be cashed for full value of the stamps at the Post Office.

Ley stated, "The Wayne School will be the second school in Wayne County participating in the Thrift Savings Program through the sale of Savings Stamps. The other school is Winside."

Credit Important Tool for Farmers

Credit becomes an increasingly important tool in agriculture as farmers continue to modernize and make operations more efficient, substituting capital for labor in their operations, Arthur C. Buffington, Assistant Vice President of the Federal Land Bank of Omaha, told 200 stockholders attending the annual meeting of the Wakefield Federal Land Bank Association, January 28th.

Elected to three-year terms on the Association's board of directors were Jay L. Mattes, Allen, and Axel Ostergaard, Pender. Arthur N. Borg, Wakefield, was elected president. Other directors are Claire E. Anderson, Wakefield, and Neal D. Nelson, Winnebago.

A Wakefield High School quartet composed of Glenn Johnson, John Olson, Don Pretzer and Tom Anderson accompanied by Jon Anderson, their instructor, rendered four selections which were very much appreciated by those present.

Rural Development Up to the Farmers

John Mohr, Chairman of the Wayne County Rural Areas Development Committee, called a group of farmers and businessmen together for the purpose of planning the organization's future direction. He briefed the group as to his philosophy of the work - He stated:

"Rural Areas Development is a program designed to help communities plan and put into effect those principles and ideas that the local people themselves want and are willing to put forth effort to accomplish."

This is not a program of seeking government help or gifts from anyone, but is a self help program in which the people like you determine the direction that you want this community to progress toward."

Adon Jeffrey, a member of the previous temporary county committee, suggested that the group coordinate their efforts with other groups already organized. Other items discussed included: (1) the need for a quality egg market in the county, (2) the need for an alfalfa processing plant east of Wayne, and (3) the need for a feed processing plant in the county.

That's a remarkable average of live pigs per litter. Tests prove Nutrena's 3-Stage Sow Program achieved it. In recent tests at Nutrena's Research Farm, the litters of 185 sows and gilts averaged 11.24 live pigs. Birth-through-weaning livability averaged 87.66%.

There are three important stages to the Nutrena Sow Program:

- 1) Big Litter Stage: Your grain and Sow 30 are fed in the combination that helps sows conceive big litters. In addition, Nutrena Rx-660 is fed for two weeks at breeding time. It provides booster levels of vitamins and minerals plus antibiotic that apparently helps reduce early embryonic death loss.
- 2) Economy and Conditioning Stage: Saves cost by limiting feed intake and conditions sow for easy farrowing.
- 3) Big Pig Stage: Covers last 23 days of gestation. Provides nutrition to build unborn pigs and prepare sow's body reserves for milk production.

Ask us how Nutrena's 3-Stage Sow Program can help you go after big litters of big pigs. Remember, a raise in pigs gives you a raise in pay!

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

The One and Only Attitude

A short time ago the Defense Department closed 26 domestic installations in this country. They had become obsolete, they no longer served a useful purpose and represented a needless drain on the taxpayers' money.

In the days following, news media recorded many cries of protest. Some came from affected business groups, some from civic organizations, some from congressmen of the regions concerned. "But," says a publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, "these adverse reactions were fewer than might be expected."

In contrast, many business organizations in the areas affected expressed their approval although regretting the necessity of the closings. Their reaction can be summarized like this:

"We cannot have our cake and eat it too; we cannot demand reduced government expenditures and then howl like a banshee when an economy move adversely affects our area."

Let us devoutly hope that this is the correct appraisal. For, the attitude it describes is the only one which can make possible, and bring about, urgently needed economies in government — whether in the defense complex or in any other activity.

Capitol News . . . $200 Million Still Needed to Standardize Hiway System

LINCOLN — The price tag for bringing the state's highway system up to desired standards would come to a whopping $200 million.

That was the estimate recently of Merle Kingsbury of Ponce, a member of the state advisory commission at a meeting of the commission and legislative council road classification committee.

Kingsbury believes the committee should study the possibility of rewriting the section in the statutes dealing with additions to the present highway system.

complete the system as quickly as possible.

Presently, plans call for the system of seven stations to be completed about 1969 or 1970 but these dates are far from firm. Some difficulties have been encountered in getting a start on the construction program.

One problem revolves around the proposed height of the network master tower. It was tentatively planned to erect the tower of more than 1,100 feet at Mead, but the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) said having a tower of such height at Mead poses an aviation hazard.

In its present form, Kingsbury said, "The section is too general and all inclusive." He added that delegations from all parts of Nebraska have appeared before the commission asking for additions to the system totaling 1,800 miles.

J. R. McBride of Minden, commission chairman, urged the committee to set out more definite guidelines or come up with a formula the commission could use in considering requests for additions. The same type of formula should be drawn up for construction of roads to recreation areas, McBride said.

Jack McBride of Lincoln, executive director for the ETV commission, said two alternatives are under study—reducing the height of the tower, or moving it to another location. Other than the Mead location difficulty, there are few other geographical problems and even one blessing, according to McBride. He explained the fact that the state's terrain is quite level will allow better coverage at smaller cost.

He estimated it will cost about $3 million to construct the network and about $450,000 annually thereafter to keep it in operation.

He advised the legislative study group that "we can't build all of these roads at one time and we need some kind of priority formula."

During the past eight years the commission has been committed to a policy of converting Nebraska's highways to dustless surfacing rather than add roads to the system. This policy has met with something less than enthusiasm in some instances and was one of the major reasons the 1963 legislature formed the interim study group.

McBride said he believes it would be better if the legislature perMITTED the staff highway department to plan a five-year program, rather than one for two years. Planning two years ahead might have been acceptable a few years ago, the commission chairman said. But he said also that the present broad scope of the present highway program makes short-term planning obsolete.

The committee called on the highway department, the commission, and "other interested parties" to submit specific proposals on revamping the road classification formula.

Wants Early Completion

Vaughn Phelps of Omaha, president of the Nebraska Council for Educational Television, has called for early completion of the statewide educational television (ETV) network.

Phelps, who is also superintendent of the Omaha Westside community schools, proposed a target date of 1967 or 1968 be set by the legislature.

Speaking to a meeting of the legislative council ETV committee, Phelps said the legislature owes it to western Nebraska to

Anti-Smoking Campaign

A three-member subcommittee has begun work on a program aimed at discouraging teenagers from taking up the smoking habit.

The subcommittee of the state health board will meet with Dr. George Pickett, director of the state health department who proposed the program.

Pickett believes the campaign should not debate the hazard of smoking but should operate on the belief that smoking is a serious hazard to health.

Among his suggestions for concrete action were voluntary removal of cigarette machines from hospitals and stricter controls of tobacco sales to youths.

Pickett quit smoking after reading a research report before the federal research panel condemning cigarette smoking released its findings recently. He said an action program is needed before public apathy sets in.

The federal report apparently has encouraged some Nebraskans to quit smoking. Almost 700,000 fewer packages of cigarettes were sold in Nebraska during January than during the same month a year earlier. The state cigarette tax collection office said this January's sales amounted to 12,801,500 packages, compared with 13,479,000 in January of 1963.

More Boundary Talk

The Iowa and Nebraska governors met recently to discuss the recurring controversy over the shifting border between the two states.

At a meeting in Des Moines, the governors agreed that Carter Lake near Omaha should be ceded to Nebraska.

The fate of the little community of approximately 2,300 has proved a stumbling block to settlement of a dispute between the states over a new boundary.

At the Des Moines meeting, Gov. Harold Hughes of Iowa and Gov. Frank Morrison of Nebraska reached agreement on some "basic points." These included the ceding of Carter Lake and establishment of the boundary at the middle of the Missouri River channel.

Both governors emphasized that the final decision will be up to the legislatures of the two states. If the legislatures can ever hammer out an agreement, the matter will still be subject to congressional approval.

Iowa's governor said he would like to have the attorney generals of the states meet soon to work out some of the legal problems involved in establishing a new boundary.

Retaining Site

Nebraska has been selected as the site for a six-state center for retraining the region's unemployed youths to agricultural-related jobs.

State Labor Commissioner Lambert Eitel said the designation was made by the federal government in accordance with the federal manpower and training act. Eitel said he hopes at least 15 types of courses will be offered.

Don Cunningham says

The other night I was listening to a television program, which ended by singing one of the good old hymns. Made me feel like I had been to church. Sort of topped off the day in a wonderful way.

Brought back to my mind a Sunday night spent in Los Angeles several years ago. My hotel was located right across from Pershing Square. Now if you have ever been in Los Angeles you know that Pershing Square is the spot where a lot of "odd balls" congregate. If there is any place in the world where the right of free speech holds full sway, it is here. All the radicals, crackpots, cranks and fanatics gather here, to not merely espouse their cause, but to do it in a vociferous, vehement manner.

So this night when I heard some busy singing going on in that park, I wasn't so surprised. What did make me a bit curious was that it sounded like hymn singing. So I strolled over that way to investigate and here's where I got a pretty good lesson, and one that somehow reached down and touched the chords of my heart.

Here was an old boy, playing a little old broken down piano — not been the piano a bit decrepit, but the player himself had seen better days. One thing for sure was that no matter what his past contained, his heart was in what he was doing this night. For he was playing good old-fashioned hymns with a fervor seldom, if ever heard.

Gathered around him was a group of, I would say, a hundred people. Men and women, young and old — all races, all colors. Intent only on one thing and that was the singing of the good old-fashioned hymns of their mothers and fathers. There were some grand voices, too, in that group, and while some of them weren't too good, yet everybody sang his heart out. Lot different than most of us do, when we join in the singing at church. They weren't self-conscious about letting themselves go.

The Travelers Safety Service

These songs were coming right from their hearts. Everybody had a little old hymn book but the thing that amazed me was that not many had to look at them. They not only knew the tune, but they remembered the words, and I'll venture to say that with a lot of these folks those words brought back nostalgic memories of better days.

You know, folks, I went over there just out of curiosity, but somehow this whole scene took hold of me. It was better than a sermon. Here was a group of folks, temporarily, at least, lifted out of some of life's tragedies and suddenly carried back to the days when life had been much easier and sweeter.

One thing I learned for sure — there can't be too much wrong with a nation or its people, when this sort of a cross section of them, can find solace in giving voice to the spiritual beliefs found in the old hymn books.

These songs were coming right from their hearts. Everybody had a little old hymn book but the thing that amazed me was that not many had to look at them. They not only knew the tune, but they remembered the words, and I'll venture to say that with a lot of these folks those words brought back nostalgic memories of better days.

Cold Weather Ventilation Problems Focused on Insulation

Most cold weather ventilation problems in poultry laying houses are related to lack of sufficient insulation, according to Dr. John L. Adams, chairman of the University of Nebraska's poultry science department.

With a high body temperature of 106.5 degrees Fahrenheit, chickens give off about 45 B.T.U.'s per hour, Dr. Adams explained.

"At this rate 2,000 Leghorn-type hens produce more heat than the average home furnace produces. The problem is to conserve this heat while bringing in cold, dry air and removing the warm, moist air given off by the birds."

Enough House Power?

Is your house adequately wired to give you the full house power needed for modern living? If the fuse box has four circuits or less, it cannot furnish the power required to operate the average home lighting and appliance efficiently today.

The home of today needs three kinds of circuits: namely, general purpose circuits, small appliance circuits, and large appliance circuits.

One general purpose circuit is needed for each 375 to 500 square feet of floor space. Two or three small appliance circuits are needed for kitchen, laundry, dining room, etc., and a separate large appliance circuit for each major appliance stove, washer, refrigerator, etc.

Convenience outlets, one for every 12 feet of wall space (in kitchen, one for every 4 feet) provide a more efficient and safer way of supplying electricity to a light or an appliance than by multiple socket and extension cords.

How Hot Should An Iron Be?

Today's fabrics made from synthetic fibers or combination of natural and synthetic fibers pose a problem when it comes to choosing correct temperature in hand ironing. What temperature is hot enough to remove wrinkles yet not discolor or weaken the fabric excessively? Household equipment specialists from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Beltsville housing and equipment laboratory, determined safe and effective temperatures by ironing widely used synthetic and natural fibers under a wide range of temperatures.

The scientists noted any undesirable changes such as puckering, shrinking, discoloring, sticking to the iron and change in color. Then a panel of judges evaluated the samples for smoothness. Repeated ironing at different temperatures was followed by color measurements and by tearing-strength measurements to assess fabric damage.

Following is a list of the lowest temperatures that produced satisfactory results on various fibers, with no special finishes. These are recommended as the starting point for ironing:

Dynel (Modacrylic), 225 degrees; Orlon (Acrylic); Dacron (Polyester), 250 degrees; Arnel (Triacetate) 275 degrees; Wool; acetate nylon, 300 degrees; Kodol (polyester); rayon; silk, 325 degrees; Cotton; linen, 350 degrees.

Labels on present-day fabrics describe the fiber content. By knowing and using proper ironing temperatures, homemakers can protect the fabric's appearance. Appliance manufacturers who mark hand irons in accord-

Farm Brief

February 17 is the final day for farmers to file their 1963 income tax returns and pay the tax due unless an estimated return was filed in January. The deadline is two days later this year because February 15 falls on Saturday.

Saturday night, for instance, Ed gave the opinion that preaching was a harder job in the old days than it was now. He said when he was a boy they walked two miles and back from his house to the church twice on Sunday and once for prayer meeting ever Wednesday night and the preacher had to be good. He recollected once when the preacher told 'em if they heard any member of his congregation snoring to come up in the pulpit and wake up the preacher.

Clem allowed as how he'd have to vote for the preachers of today. At his church, for instance, Clem reported a feller could back slide and git back as good as new. In the old days, claimed Clem, when a feller backslid he either had to change churches or wait till they got a new preacher. Furthermore, Clem claimed his church had the biggest parking lot in the state and they was working on a plan to give trade stamps for perfect attendance.

Persson, Mister Editor, I think the preacher of today has got the hardest job on account of we got more ways to sin and more confusion than in the old days. For instance, we got a family down the road a piece where the wife is a Methodist and a Democrat and her old man is a Baptist and a Republican. Any preacher that can keep religion on an even keel in that household is a Solomon come to judgment.

I didn't take sides Saturday night on account of I learned a long time ago they ain't but one thing worse than being on the wrong side of an argument and that is getting caught in the middle of one. When it comes to arguing about churches and preachers, I'm like the feller that said he belonged to the Round Church. He didn't let none of them get him cornered.

How they ain't no finer calling in life than being a rural preacher. I recollect reading once this statement made by William Jennings Bryan "Doubtless God Almighty could make somebody better than a country preacher, but doubtless He never did."

Yours truly,
Uncle Zeke

Uncle Zeke FROM Plum Creek says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was discussing preachers and religion. For the most part they know about as much on them subjects as a hog knows about Sunday.

We had a feller out here a few year back named Pat Barnwell that claimed he was a authority on these matters. He was always telling everybody how to git to Heaven. He was so ignorant he spelled Jesus with a little 'g' but he was an expert on how to git to Paradise and afore long they give him the nickname of "Paradise Pat."

But ignorance ain't never been no drawback to conversation when the fellers convene at the country store.

Saturday night, for instance, Ed gave the opinion that preaching was a harder job in the old days than it was now. He said when he was a boy they walked two miles and back from his house to the church twice on Sunday and once for prayer meeting ever Wednesday night and the preacher had to be good. He recollected once when the preacher told 'em if they heard any member of his congregation snoring to come up in the pulpit and wake up the preacher.

Clem allowed as how he'd have to vote for the preachers of today. At his church, for instance, Clem reported a feller could back slide and git back as good as new. In the old days, claimed Clem, when a feller backslid he either had to change churches or wait till they got a new preacher. Furthermore, Clem claimed his church had the biggest parking lot in the state and they was working on a plan to give trade stamps for perfect attendance.

Persson, Mister Editor, I think the preacher of today has got the hardest job on account of we got more ways to sin and more confusion than in the old days. For instance, we got a family down the road a piece where the wife is a Methodist and a Democrat and her old man is a Baptist and a Republican. Any preacher that can keep religion on an even keel in that household is a Solomon come to judgment.

I didn't take sides Saturday night on account of I learned a long time ago they ain't but one thing worse than being on the wrong side of an argument and that is getting caught in the middle of one. When it comes to arguing about churches and preachers, I'm like the feller that said he belonged to the Round Church. He didn't let none of them get him cornered.

How they ain't no finer calling in life than being a rural preacher. I recollect reading once this statement made by William Jennings Bryan "Doubtless God Almighty could make somebody better than a country preacher, but doubtless He never did."

General Mills, Inc., sponsor of the program, will award her a "Homemaker of Tomorrow" pin to signify her achievement and her test paper will be entered in competition for state honors.

The state Homemaker of Tomorrow will be awarded a $1,500 college scholarship and will be named a national finalist. Her school will be presented a set of Encyclopedia Britannica, awarded by Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc. The state's second ranking girl will receive a $500 scholarship.

In the spring, state Homemakers of Tomorrow, each accompanied by a school advisor, will enjoy an expense-paid educational tour to Colonial Williamsburg, Va., Washington, D. C., and New York City. The trip will be climaxed with the naming of the 1964 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. New Student Arrives At Wayne High School

The beginning of the second semester brought many changes. Schedules were changed, and students walked into classes looking lost. One student had to make a big adjustment. This dark-haired, brown-eyed boy is Paula, Leslie, and Dick Hanson's cousin, David Hanson.

Dave came to Wayne High at the first of the second semester. Although he is a senior, he is having trouble finding classes that will challenge him. He has already taken most of the senior courses offered.

Wayne Freshmen Lose To Superior Pierce Club

The Wayne freshmen were defeated by the Pierce freshmen on the Pierce court Thursday night 52-31.

Pierce played a good offensive hitting an unbelievable 83% of their field goals to Wayne's 20%. With this 60% difference in the field goals the Devils were left behind when the game was over.

Herbolshaimer was the leading scorer for the Pierce team with 12 points.

Jones was high point man for the Devils with seven points.

The Freshmen play their next game with Plainview at Wayne Thursday night at the city auditorium.

Kern Leads Devil Win Friday Over Bluejays

Jim Kern, a six-foot guard for the Blue Devils, sank an amazing nine field goals and two free throws to spark the Wayne High Warriors.

Wayne never trailed in the contest, as a result of the hustle and desire the boys showed.

Kern led the Devils and all scorers with a 26 point performance, followed by Jim Mau with 19, and Doug Manske with 10. Johnson paced the Warriors with 18 points.

A Dialogue Between Two Friendly Lockers

By Sharon Philleo

About 4:00 one afternoon, two lockers at Wayne High School got into a conversation.

"Hey, Pete," said one. "How are you holding out lately?"

"Pretty bad, Sam, pretty bad. The three girls who fling their books in me are wearing me down. I am about ready to drop my top shelf on them!"

"I'm bad off, too. Besides the rough treatment, they make me look disgraceful. I have papers, scarfs, old trenchcoats, and other paraphernalia falling out of me and all over the floor. I'm completely ashamed."

"I wish we could do something about it. The maddening thing is we can't tell them off. I'd hate to, since my girls are so cute, and besides they'd faint if we spoke."

"I know. I have boys, who are rougher, but the men who made me forbaded me to speak to anyone."

"Hey! I've got an idea. Let's go on strike. We'll make our doors stick, let the mice in, and make our top shelves loose."

"Pete, that's a great idea! Then maybe they'll do something about us."

Wayne 'B' Squad Slams An Off Warrior Team

The Wayne "B" team boosted their record to 9-1 by beating the Neligh Warriors, 75-37.

The tough Devils sank 27 field goals to the Warriors 12 and hit 62% from the charity stripe.

Bob Reeg led all scorers with 12 points followed closely by Maurice Beckenhauer and Glen Nichols, with 10 each.

B. Bennett led the Warriors with a total of 10 points.

Three Cheers and a Heave Ho . . . Pepsi

By Betty Harrison

This is a familiar scene on the Wayne High Pep Club bus. All those girls running for the back seats, usually by the heater.

When you enter the bus you're well-groomed, neatly dressed, and behaving like the perfect lady. That's just the beginning! You're pushed, trampled, and yanked until you reach a suitable seat for two which will be, in the end, occupied by three. After all seats are taken, the popular roll call is taken when you suddenly find two passengers who are on the wrong bus. That takes 10 minutes to straighten out. But at last we're on our way.

Singing is the next thing on the of the animals. "Farming is the main source of livelihood for the people of Nebraska. In New York our source of living comes from industry. That is one of the main differences in the subjects taught in the two schools," says Harry.

The grading of the schools is very much the same. Wayne High's scale ranges between 100 and 70 whereas New York's scale ranges between 100 and 65."

Harry likes the town and the assortment of people of Wayne and has made a lot of friends. One sure way you can tell Harry from the rest of the fellows is by his accent.

Harry says it is a lot cheaper to date girls here than in New York. One reason for this is you don't have as great a distance to drive to get to the entertainment because Wayne isn't that big. The kind of entertainment Wayne has is the same as New York. Shows and dancing are popular in both places.

WH Music Department Finishes Magazine Sale

The Wayne Music Department has recently finished their 5th annual campaign of selling well-known magazines. Has not the younger blood more ambition?

Tommy Karel, a sixth grader, was the high salesman selling $76.30 worth of magazines. Jean Christensen, a junior, sold $54.86 worth, being the highest in the High School.

The music boosters made the sales campaign more interesting by offering prizes to persons who sold certain amounts in the different price brackets. Such prizes available were: a tape recorder, a hair dryer, a camera, stuffed animals, basketballs, transistor radios, and pen and pencil sets.

There was a total of 62 prize winners.

The magazines were sold in conjunction with the Curtis Publishing Company. There were numerous magazines to pick from such as: Look, Post, Inquire, Seventeen, Popular Mechanics, and even Jack and Jill for the younger children.

The music boosters felt it was a successful drive with $1,764.13 worth of magazines sold. This gave the music department a profit of $370.00 in round figures, being $225.00 more than last year. They hope to keep their old customers and to gain new customers next winter when they will again present their magazines.

"Make love a crime and we shall have lust." Emerson

by Ann Williams

Censorship is an unsuccessful means of controlling thought. Traditionally violent reactions have followed any type of suppression. Most people tend to be dead to the outside world unless their interest is roused by the forbidden. Books that have been banned in Boston garner huge profits merely because they are considered to be sensational, while a copy of Boccaccio's Decameron, containing lurid, erotic, and adventurous tales, gathers dust on library shelves.

Censorship is also an affront to the mature mind. Even a child has the right to be exposed to every human experience. Because life is very short, a person must be at least aware of the world around him, yet censorship prohibits a person from learning by any means other than by direct experience.

The only effective censorship is the censorship an individual imposes on himself. An individual must take the responsibility for evaluating ideas if he has clearly viewed the facets of life.

An intelligent person can determine whether an idea has been presented well or badly; and if it is a valid argument, he can decide whether it is acceptable to him personally. However, thought control removes all standards by which a person can judge the honesty of artistic creation. There can be, therefore, few discerning people in a nation such as the Soviet Union where the state's purpose is to achieve control of the mass by censoring all independent opinion. Indeed, there is no hope of progress in a society in which the evils and wrongs of the society are hidden from public view.

Censorship is an artificial block to honest expression. It must frustrate good art as well as bad art. It must force arbitrary standards on human thought. Since a creation cannot be intrinsically immoral, a painting, a dance, a philosophy, a book, a symphony, or a statue can be made lewd only in the mind of man, for "nothing is either good or bad, but thinking makes it so."

If you're still lugging wet clothes to the line, it's time you checked into a new automatic gas clothes dryer. The first thing you'll find out is that gas dries clothes for one-fourth the cost of running the other type dryer. Gas is faster, too... fast enough to keep pace with your automatic washer. A gas dryer can finish off your work on washday with greater speed, convenience and much less cost. With a new gas clothes dryer, every day (and every evening) becomes a perfect, work-free washday.

Science for the world's well-being

"There's no guesswork with this system," explained Robert A. Doles, Rural Route 7, Greensburg, (Decatur County) Indiana about his system for weighing all feed that his cattle eat. "My sons and I have worked out a method of weighing every bite of feed fed to our cattle — without taking any extra work or time at feeding. With today's competitive markets, we figure we better know what we're feeding so we can keep check on production costs."

Doles and Sons have one of the slickest cattle feeding systems in the country. It's a setup designed to feed 350 head at a time. Three feed bunks — under one roof and equipped with augers — run out from a central feed room. Feed storage is provided by two 20 x 50 Harvestores.

"We used to have an unhandy feeding system where we fed in four different barns," said Doles. "Now we do the whole job from one feed room at a central point."

"It's comfortable to feed here in all kinds of weather. By looking through the windows, we can watch the cattle from inside comfort while they're eating."

The Doles feed cattle the year around. With their three bunks they can feed three different rations to various size groups of cattle. Feeders get a mixture of haylage and high-moisture shelled corn, in varying amounts.

Their measuring system is simple and makes use of parts that are easy to obtain. Basically, here's how it works: The unit with shelled corn empties into a metal hopper mounted on an old platform scales. This hopper holds 600 lbs. of shelled corn. In the bottom of this hopper is an auger powered by an electric motor through a variable-speed drive, so it can be set to empty the shelled corn at varying rates.

The hopper on scales that weighs the shelled corn.

New reduced application rates now approved. For most soils you now use $\frac{1}{3}$ less Amiben per acre—cut costs by the same amount.

Put on Amiben—full season pre-emergence control of most annual broadleaf weeds and grasses—safe to soybeans—no volatility hazard—no harmful residues to affect rotational crops.

Amiben is easy to use, requires no protective clothing. One basic rate for most soil and rainfall conditions. Available as liquid concentrate or granules.

(PRE-EMERGENCE HERBICIDE)

From here the corn is augered into a crimper after which it drops into a cross auger mounted in the floor.

At the other side of the feed room is another hopper that also has an unloading auger in the bottom. The unloader drops haylage into this hopper first. (This hopper is used because the unloading rate of the Harvestore isn't uniform—the unloader gets into different densities of haylage.) The unloading rate of the hopper is exactly 175 pounds per minute, according to tests Doles made.

"When we turn on the unloading auger of the haylage hopper, the same switch also starts an electric clock," he explains. "We watch this to know how much haylage has been fed."

To feed, they first start the corn machinery—that has been adjusted to the rate desired. Then they turn on the haylage hopper that fills the feeder at the rate of 175 lbs. per minute. All this machinery is controlled from the panel of switches pictured.

Doles likes haylage and high-moisture corn for cattle. "Haylage, properly prepared, is just as good as any cattle feed you can get," he declares.

Doles likes haylage extra dry and thinks 30% to 35% is just right.

"This system lets us feed directly from storage—without touching the haylage or corn by hand," he says. "After pouring the seed corn into the planter, machinery takes care of everything else right on up through the time when it is fed to the cattle—without any hand labor at all."

DETOUR TO THE STARS

Did You Ever See a Star Fall?

by Pete Simone

Two years ago a South Dakota farm wife saw a star fall. And everything she'd dreamed of, and worked hard for, fell with it. A lingering illness killed her husband. He left her a run-down 80 acres, two cows, two under-teen boys. There was no insurance. The future seemed incurably blighted. She had taught piano for youngsters prior to her marriage, but had no other special talents which might be turned to a "get by" living. She loved her farm, however, and just couldn't bring herself to selling out and moving into some town. In the first place, her boys one day would be old enough to take over where then dad was forced to leave off, and perhaps resurrect the farm they all loved. Meantime, piano lessons. But how? That was the problem . . .

Would it be humanly possible, in such a way out, sparsely-settled area, to get enough paying pupils to come to her home for lessons? No, she wisely decided. So she'd just have to sit herself down and think up another way. And she did.

Letting all bills go hang for a while, she sold one of the cows, then the family "rattle-trap of a car" in order to amass sufficient cash to purchase a "yearling" panel truck. Then, relying on ingenuity in lieu of muscle, she and the boys converted the panel into an almost perfect piano studio on wheels.

The instrument itself sits on foam-rubber-padded feet, and is securely strapped into position for farm-to-farm travel. "The children couldn't come to the piano," she said, smiling prettily, "so I took the piano to the children." And she's still doing it — quite profitably, thank you.

Detouring, but never taking her eyes off her farm home, she'd reached for and grabbed off a "get by" star, gambled almost everything on it, and won — an accomplishment which no doubt makes her the most musical, if not courageous, female trucker in our nation.

Convict - Author reaches for a Star

The author of this article is an inmate in a Michigan prison. The story he has written on this page is a masterpiece! May we suggest that before you read his "Detour to the Stars," you read the author's note below which was written by Mr. Simone, himself.

—The Editors

Author's Note

Even as I write, wall lights slant a grim pattern across my paper, placing some of the words behind bars . . . just as life treats people, however deservedly.

I've come a long way since I was nine, at which age I worked the streets of Detroit for my dad. He was the odd-jobbingest man imaginable. He always got paid in personal checks. My job was to cash these checks for him. They bounced all over town.

Years later, a grade school diploma under my belt and the Depression on everybody's back, I courted the notion that I could live high without working.

Up went a private little underworld of my own. Counting time off for three wives, four youngsters and six penitentiaries, I've spent 43 years "working" for myself.

The underworld has many stars. I reached for a few, found each was phony. I thought I spotted a real one in a $22,000 check fraud. They nabbed me in Baltimore (4-6-62). The sentence: 12-14 years.

Fortunately, prisons offer self-betterment programs. I decided to detour toward a legitimate star; to try free lance writing.

Further, I have a steady prison job. It pays $2.10 for a seven-day week, and consists of aiding the guard captain in counting some 4,700 inmates.

There's Always Another Star to Reach for.

Have you ever seen a star fall?

Four years ago, a Wisconsin youth had been well on his way. Hard work, coupled with common sense, had paid off in a hurry. At 24, his military obligation already under his belt, he'd been moneyed enough to make a substantial down payment on an idle, run-down dairy farm. And off he'd gone, garnishing muscles and ambition with ingenuity, farming toward the stars in the way he'd dreamed about "ever since I was knee-high to a whippersnapper." He'd known busy, contented days and nights full of promises of profits to come. Within three years, he'd hired a hand, and bought the second new tractor. The world on a blue ribbon seemed to be his. Then the ribbon was unraveled by a cerebrovascular accident (the stark naked word for it is stroke).

It was neither the 19 weeks of being laid up nor the physical discomfort itself that finally got him down and out, however. What did it was watching his dreams shatter and fall into the great dismal swamp of bankruptcy. Everything was lost. He had none of life's goodies left — and little will. And now, as he ventured out into the clear Madison night to walk some strength back into the stricken half of his body, he'd begun to be seriously concerned about next week's room rent.

He stopped at a small restaurant, ordered black coffee and a hamburger, then changed his mind. "Skip the burger," he said. "Just coffee." The gnawing he felt inside wasn't hunger. It was worse; hopelessness.

But the waitress offered a dazzling smile with his coffee. Then, as he sat there staring at the cup, right out of the blue, she asked, "Did you ever see a star fall?"

He looked up at once. "Yeah," he replied, staring briefly at the girl, noting her pretty face; that her eyes were alive with blue-white facets. "It's supposed to mean good luck, isn't it? Or that your wishest wish'll come true, or something like that?"

Then he got up, twirled a coin on the counter, and walked out — just like that.

He walked and he walked. It was like walking a tight rope over Tartarus, each step threatening to be the last before he lost his mental balance and plunged into the seething pit of self-pity. He walked right up on the place — a laundromat, of all things!

Resting for a moment, he stared at the two women inside. They sat in comfortable-looking lounge chairs, sipping Coca Colas, and reading while the automatic washers did the work. Somehow this made him recall a vacation he'd had with his parents when he'd been nine years old — just before they'd both been killed in a car-train crash.

They'd gone to a northern wilderness for two weeks of fishing and fun. They'd camped out, and roughed it good. And what a wonderful time it had been! He even recalled seeing his mother wash out some necessaries in a campsite stream. If only she had had an automatic washer away up there . . .

And suddenly a whopper of an idea came whirring down the highway of his mind.

"Of course," he told himself, "I'll have to borrow money for a tractor and semi-trailer, but the outfit could be a used one. And I've still got a friend or two left back home in Minnesota . . ."

"Hey, blue eyes," he felt like shouting, "look who's reaching for another star!"

If you happen to be numbered among the hardies who like to rough it in our state or national parks or any other big wilderness vacationland, you just might discover a huge truck with a semi-trailer parked out in the woods where water is handy. And you just might require the convenience it offers, because the rig is completely equipped with its own electric plant and water-heating system. Inside the long semi are eight automatic washers, four dryers — and even outlets for its steam-electric irons. Also, you're apt to see a young lady with living facets in her blue eyes. Not only does she "wait tables" almost exclusively for him now but, because he is still not well enough to drive any great distance yet, she is his pilot-in-chief. If you do see this happy pair, let the sight remind you of a young man who, at one of life's lowest ebbs, dared to travel toward another star . . . on which he found the golden contentment of a good outdoor life.

Springtime (ALL-AMERICAN) BRUNCH

Rising in popularity with young and old alike is a great weekend institution—the breakfast that's really lunch, or the lunch that's really breakfast. It's a hearty spread that seems to say, "This should hold you over until dinnertime."

For the hostess brunch has the advantage of informality combined with an air of cozy hospitality. It's best served buffet style—indoors or out, depending upon the weather.

One or two main dishes, interesting breads, and plenty of coffee are the backbone of most brunches. Eggs are always good—and especially when given a "New Look" in Cheese and Egg Puffs, Western Style Omelet, or Fruited Cheese Ham Souffle. Or try a grilled or creamed dish served from a casserole or on toast points, waffles, or pancakes. Unless griddle cakes or waffles are the main course of your brunch, be sure to have lots of fresh hot rolls ready for your hungry guests. Dessert certainly isn't necessary for this type of meal, but a first course of fruit or juice add just the right touch.

Chilled fruit, an icy sauce, coconut and marshmallows make this Ambrosia a perfect appetizer for your brunch.

Hot Cross Buns — The old-time favorite should be a MUST recipe on every homemaker's cooking repertoire.

HOT CROSS BUNS

- 1 packet active dry yeast (or 1 cake compressed yeast)
- 1/2 cup warm water
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1/2 cup hot scalded milk
- 2 beaten eggs (reserve 2 tablespoons to brush tops)
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1/4 cup currants, if desired
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cardamom, if desired
- 3 to 3 1/2 cups all purpose flour

Soften yeast in warm water. Combine in large bowl sugar, salt, shortening and milk; stir to melt shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Blend in eggs and the softened yeast. Stir in raisins, currants, cinnamon and cardamom. Gradually add flour, beating well after each addition to form a dough. Cover and let stand 15 minutes.

Toss on well floured surface until coated with flour and no longer sticky. Shape into buns. Place on greased cookie sheet. Let rise in warm place (85° to 95°F.) until light and doubled in size, 45 to 60 minutes. Brush with the reserved egg. Bake at 400° for 15 to 20 minutes. Drizzle Icing over buns to form a cross. Makes 1 1/2 dozen buns.

Icing: Blend together 1 cup sifted powdered sugar, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla and 1 tablespoon milk. If necessary thin with a few drops more milk. If desired, knead 5 to 8 minutes. Place in greased bowl; cover. Let rise 1 to 1 1/2 hours. Shape buns; let rise 1 to 1 1/2 hours. Brush with reserved egg and bake as directed.

If desired, cut a cross in top of each bun with scissors. After baking fill cross with Icing.

Springtime SEAFOOD (SPECIALTIES)

Ash Wednesday, February 12, marks the beginning of another Lenten Season. And with this seafood takes on added importance in our menu planning. Meals can be interesting and ever so tasty when fish gets a bit of special treatment, be it sauce, stuffing or unusual seasoning.

Be "Fish Wise" when you go shopping. Don't let the sight or names of many different fish throw you. Buy your fish with kitchen work in mind. This is easy because fish can be purchased as steaks, dressed and fillets.

A real boon to the homemaker today is the vast variety of frozen seafood available in the supermarkets. Frozen fish may be purchased in household-size packages which can be conveniently stored in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator until time for use. Once frozen fish is thawed, it should not be refrozen.

Easy and delicious, these Fish Fillet Roli-Polies are something you'll want to serve often during the Lenten season.

There's no better time of the year for entertaining than Spring. This year include a tea on your list of social events. It can be one of the most pleasant of entertainments — also one of the easiest and most comfortable meals to serve, if properly planned. Teas are a charming way to welcome a new neighbor, honor the graduating senior girls, acquaint friends with a favorite house guest.

By all means serve tea — and coffee, punch or chocolate, if you like. And with the tea serve dainty refreshments. Something savory, something crisp, something sweet is the time honored rule for a tea menu. There's no limit to what you serve, except that imposed by your own time and taste. In general, the larger and more formal the tea, the more elaborate and the greater the variety of foods.

When it's a small group, of a dozen guests or less, the tea service or tray can be put on a cart or table beside the hostess. You then pass a cup of tea to each guest and offer food throughout the party. When it's a larger party, say 25 or so, this individual service isn't practical and a buffet works best. Most people use the dining room table with everything set out for easy "serve yourself" fare.

Cut chiffon cake into fancy shapes and decorate in pretty ways to make these Pineapple Petits Fours.

Springtime CAKES PLAIN and FANCY

A cake, more than any other creation of the kitchen, truly expresses the spirit of festivity. And the magic of a cake extends beyond the festive occasion, into the cozy family world of everyday. The cake that Mom whips up for a family dinner gives a party air to the most modest meal.

England was beginning to develop the fine art of cake baking back in the 16th Century. By Colonial times there was no higher evidence of good housekeeping than the baking of a perfect cake. In olden days most cakes resembled a yeast bread enriched with eggs, sugar and fruit. These cakes were huge in size. Flour was measured by the peck, other ingredients by the pound and eggs by the dozen. Since sugar came in large hunks, it took hours to blend it with the butter.

Today with the specialized ingredients such as cake flour and baking powder and established techniques and rules to follow, cake baking can be quick and easy. Fine cakes are still the mark of a good cook, but recipes are no longer written in complicated manuscript form or trusted to memory. Instead, we have cake recipes — plain and fancy — carefully developed in test kitchens across the country. The recipes here will guide you on the way to successful cake baking every time. Try them all — obey your creative impulse — BAKE A CAKE!

Welcome Spring with this Daisy Cake. It's easy when you use a Seven Minute Frosting and decorate with marshmallows.

GRASSROOTS GLEANINGS

by Bill Stokes

Do women drive better under water? They seem to do more driving under water than men, according to the Dickinson (N.D.) Press. The Press carried a brief item about two Montana women who drove their cars into the Blackfoot river at Missoula.

What this may suggest is an answer to the traffic problem of men and women driving on the same roads, and there can be little doubt that such a problem exists. I, for one, am perfectly willing to let women drivers have the river bottoms all to themselves — if they will promise to stay off the roads.

While we're on the road, the Gladwin County Record, Gladwin, Mich., reports that it is safer on the nation's highways than it is at home. More people are injured at home than are hurt in traffic accidents, the story goes.

A look at weekend traffic indicates that most of the people are hurt at home as they rush to get into the car on Friday.

Doesn't anybody stay home anymore? We tried it one weekend, but people kept driving by and staring at us until we couldn't stand it. We leaped into the car and joined them.

A truck driver in Ohio was fined $25 for not resting, The Evening Journal, Lisbon, Ohio, reports. The charge was that he didn't rest, as state law requires, after driving for ten hours.

The people of Ohio have taken a giant step toward establishing some of the finest law of the land. I would like to suggest that they require a father who drives with five children of assorted sizes, to stop and submerge his head in cold water once each thirty minutes.

It isn't necessary to force a driver with kids to rest. There are other things that automatically keep him alert, not the least of which is a half-eaten ice cream cone that slides down the back of his neck, or a bottle of carbonated strawberry drink that someone shakes and then loses control of.

Ohio should take their rest law and apply it to life in general, particularly home life. We all ought to have a twenty-minute break every half hour while mowing the lawn or shoveling the driveway free of snow.

Did you ever have eraserophagia? Don't be too sure. Eraserophagia is the habit of nibbling — and swallowing — the erasers from pencils, the Weekly Valley Herald, Chaska, Minn., relates.

It is most common among school children, and it is not serious, thank goodness, because some of us still have it.

Our youngest has a severe case of something similar to eraserophagia, except that he often chews on the business end of a ballpoint pen. This, of course, gives him a blue mouth. We're trying to interest him in erasers.

Someday they'll sneak vitamins into pencil erasers, and this will end eraserophagia for all time. No school boy is going to sit in a classroom and chew a vitamin.

Tuna Lenten Triumphs

by Shari Gruits

When we realize that "creative cookery" is possible with tuna, many of us will look forward to this Lenten season. It might be that canned tuna means only the time honored casserole to you. However, that's certainly not the case.

Tuna can come to the company table as Tuna Sweet 'N Sour or it can delight the gathering of girls when served as Tuna Rare-bit. Another item about tuna to please the girls is its calorie content.

The United States Department of Agriculture quickly shows canned, drained, solid tuna to be lower in fat, lower in calories and higher in protein than any meat listed! This refers to the "drained" tuna. The best selling packs have a little vegetable oil, about an ounce, added to keep the tuna moist and at high quality during the pasteurizing process.

Once opened this oil has served its purpose. Today many recipes call specifically for drained tuna, since even the small amount of oil would unbalance the amount of butter in a cream sauce. And most women "pour" off anyway.

Tuna readily ranks first in United States canned fish, and probably can be accorded that place on an international basis. For as the main dish of the meal, tuna can be used instead of meat or another high protein food.

TUNA SWEET 'N SOUR

This delicious new idea makes a little gourmet meal in itself. It tastes as good as it looks. Add the tuna last in the recipe, and handle it carefully so the meaty chunks will maintain their identity in this attractive and colorful dish. Bright red pimiento, sunny pineapple tidbits and chopped green pepper and celery make a dish worthy of your prettiest serving bowl or platter, and provide a variety of important food elements. Try Tuna Sweet 'N Sour for a Sunday supper.

1½ cups pineapple tidbits and juice	½ cup water
½ cup coarsely chopped green pepper	½ cup sugar
½ cup sliced celery	1 tablespoon soy sauce
½ cup coarsely chopped pimiento	Tabasco
¼ cup vinegar	3 tablespoons cornstarch
	2 regular size 6½ oz. cans OR
	1 giant size 12½ oz. can tuna

Mix pineapple tidbits and juice, green pepper, celery, pimiento, vinegar, water, sugar, soy sauce and few drops tabasco in saucepan. Bring to boil. Combine cornstarch with water to form paste. Add to vegetable mixture. Boil 1 minute. Add tuna. Heat to serving temperature. Serve over Chinese noodles. Serves 6.

TUNA PILAF

Tuna blossoms into a fine family meal when it's combined with rice, bits of flavorful vegetables and aromatic herbs. The pilaf can be prepared in short order, and, because tuna is so rich in protein, supplies first-class nourishment.

2 cans (6½ ounces each) tuna	1 teaspoon salt
1 cup diced celery	½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
½ cup chopped onion	¼ teaspoon pepper
1 large green pepper, diced	1 teaspoon each, rosemary and marjoram
3 cups cooked rice
½ cup diced pimiento
1 can (3 or 4 ounces) sliced mushrooms

Drain oil from tuna into skillet; heat. Add celery, onion and green pepper; cook until vegetables are crisp tender (about 3 minutes). Add tuna, rice, pimiento, mushrooms with liquid and seasonings. Heat to serving temperature. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

TUNA TIP #12

TUNA CHOWDER

Well, it's about time! This hearty tuna chowder is truly a gourmet experience. Because we want the tuna chunks to maintain their firmness and character in the chowder, use tuna that's all prime fillet (the one with the mermaid on the label).

3/4 cup sliced green onion	1 1/2 teaspoons salt
3/4 cup sliced celery	1 1/2 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons melted butter	1/4 cup milk
3 cups peeled, diced raw potatoes	1 3/4 cups milk
2 1/2 cups water	2 6 1/2 oz. cans OR 1 giant size can tuna

Brown green onion and celery in melted butter for 5 minutes. Add potatoes, water and salt. Heat to boiling; cook over medium heat about 15 minutes. Blend flour with 1/4 cup milk. Add 1 3/4 cups milk. Stir into potato mixture. Cook until thick. Add tuna. Heat and serve at once. Makes 1 1/2 quarts.

TUNA RAREBIT

The popular Welsh Rarebit, featured as a luncheon specialty in the finest restaurants, comes home to dinner now — with the addition of tender chunks of protein-rich tuna to make it a well-rounded mainstay. Hearty, cheesy, quick and easy — it is sure to be a classic with your family! Use tuna generously in this recipe, since it is to be the protein mainstay of the meal.

3 tablespoons butter	1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup flour	1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/4 teaspoon salt	9 1/4 oz. family size can tuna OR
2 cups milk	2 regular size 6 1/2 oz. cans
2 cups grated Cheddar cheese	Parsley

Melt butter in saucepan. Stir in flour and salt. Add milk. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened and smooth. Stir in cheese, Worcestershire sauce, mustard. Heat to melt cheese. Add tuna. Garnish with parsley and serve on toasted English muffins (or toasted rye or French bread slices). Serves 4.

Saucy Winter Casserole

1/2 pound bacon, diced, 1/2 cup chopped onion
 4 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
 1 cup Karo All-Purpose Blue Label Syrup
 3/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika
 1/3 cup lemon juice, 3/4 cup water
 1-1/2 cups chili sauce, 1 pound frankfurters
 1 tablespoon Argo Corn Starch
 2 tablespoons water. Cooked spaghetti or macaroni.

Combine bacon and onion in skillet, fry until bacon is crisp and onion is soft. Drain off excess fat. Stir in Worcestershire sauce, syrup, salt, paprika, lemon juice, water and chili sauce. Bring to boil. Reduce heat; cover, simmer 10 minutes. Add franks, simmer until franks are hot, about 8 minutes. Blend corn starch with 2 tablespoons water, stir into sauce; stir and boil 1 minute.
