Early day inbreds were uniform, but often small in size, spindly and lacked productive capacity. Such inbreds often had marked weaknesses which had to be covered up by other inbreds on a 4-way cross. The inbred pictured is one of the earlier ones and is about 4 feet high.

Modern inbreds are larger, more vigorous, resistant to enemies, selected for tolerance to thick planting and with a potential to produce good seed yields. They have almost no weaknesses and proper combinations produce outstanding single crosses. This newer inbred is approximately 6 feet tall.

This is the single cross which results from planting the seed produced on an inbred having been fertilized by another inbred. Note the uniformity of size, shape and placement of ears. The plants are equally as uniform.

DeKalb "Breakthru" Hybrids established outstanding yield records on Cornbelt farms in 1963. Exacting "on-the-farm" checks of DeKalb performance on "Measured Acreages" were authenticated by unbiased, reliable, local people. Many of these DeKalb yields are shown below . . . they demonstrate that the extra concentration of vigor by DeKalb "Breakthru" breeding can stand the extra stresses of Modern, intensive farming. Single Cross Hybrids are Taking Over Single cross seed corn hybrids seem to be sweeping the corn belt. Old-timers will be reminded of the 1930's and the introduction of 4-way crosses . . . usually referred to as double crosses. True, the increase in yield was more sensational with 4-ways over open pollinated varieties, but, nonetheless, single crosses are still performing some sort of agronomic miracle.

All of the major seed corn producers and a good many of the smaller companies are rapidly, if not frantically, increasing their acreage of single cross seed. Even at this early date, good single cross seed corn is available in every maturity.

This magazine decided to find out more about single crosses, how they are performing, how they are being accepted and what the future looks like for them. We visited a major producer of seed corn and also made on-the-farm interviews. If our impressions are correct, not only are they here to stay, but they'll be increasing in popularity by leaps and bounds in the next several years.

Let's take a look at results in the two-year summary columns of the official Iowa Corn Yield Tests. In 1961 and 1962, only 9 percent of all entries were single crosses. Yet, this 9 percent ranked first or second in yields 90 percent of the time. It seems as though the average yield of all hybrids (including the singles) was 115.2 bushels per acre. The high ranking singles topped 130 bushels.

A yield of 208 bushels per acre was achieved by a single cross in Nebraska in a state trial. A two-year average of 160 bushels was recorded in Indiana.

In discussing single cross hybrids with those in the know in the DeKalb Agricultural Association, much light was shed on the "whys" of recent success. In the first place, there is little to compare between today's single crosses and those of 15 to 20 years ago. The parent inbreds of today are far superior. Breeders continue to narrow the base with greater parental control, achieving greatly increased vigor.

Corn breeders also tell us that they can control the specific qualities much easier when they only have to consider crossing two inbreds to produce a commercial hybrid. Many more factors entered into the genetic picture when it was necessary to cross 4 inbreds to get a commercial double cross.

Actually, there is nothing new about single cross hybrids. They're as old as hybrid corn itself. Producing a 4-way hybrid simply calls for the crossing of 2 single crosses. (See the diagram).

Production of single cross commercial seed is accomplished like this. Two inbreds (A and B) are planted. Inbred A is detasseled. Pollen from the tassels of inbred B fertilized inbred A plants. The harvested seed is sold to farmers as a single cross.

One of the reasons that single cross seed costs more than 4-way cross seed is that production of the latter is about twice as great per acre. Kernel size is generally larger, too. Some companies are marketing single cross seed by count rather than by the bushel as in the past, because of the smaller size of the seed. The average "bushel" of single cross seed probably counts around 80-thousand kernels.

Many of the misgivings concerning single crosses have been dispelled by recent developments in corn breeding. DeKalb researchers tell us that some of the early day inbreds had some decided weaknesses which had to be "covered up" in 4-way crosses to make acceptable hybrids. The early inbreds were often very small and made mighty poor seed producers. This made single cross seed very difficult to produce and much more expensive than today. The newer inbreds are larger and more vigorous. The newer lines are packed with greater resistance to such things as stalk rots, blight and borer.

Single cross fields are extremely uniform making them attractive and easier to harvest. Ears are truly show-type corn.

Three way crosses are sort of midway in the scale of hybrids. They are developed by crossing a single cross with a third inbred. They are not new. DeKalb has been marketing "3X" hybrids in the western corn belt for years. Drought resistance has been a strong characteristic, as well as yields that often surpassed those of 4-ways.

Now that we may conclude that single cross hybrids and 3-way crosses are destined to take over, let's visit a few farms and see what farmers are experiencing with them.

Fred Fiebig, Fort Morgan, Colorado, displays a bushel of ears of single cross corn. He produced 204 bushels per acre and made it look easy.

Ron Harling, Belvidere, Illinois, is still in high school. He'll graduate this year. He helps his father farm 325 acres of good land. Ron's one interest is good farming. He produced a measured yield of 168 bushels per acre with a single cross.

FARMERS FIND... YIELDS UP

Many farmers, not unlike other business men, are always ready to try promising new developments. They view with excitement an opportunity to see what they can do with it on their own farm. Literally thousands of farmers from all parts of the corn belt have planted single crosses in the last couple of years. And, it doesn't end in the corn belt.

Take Fred Fiebig for instance. His farm is located near Fort Morgan, Colorado. He irrigates his corn. Planting a variety designated XL-45, Fred produced a yield of 204.3 bushels per acre. This was a part of the competition found in the DeKalb 200 Bushel Club. The yield was high in the nation.

Ron Harling is a senior in high school in Belvidere, Illinois. Partially as a project and partially because his curiosity would have it no other way, Ron planted a single cross last year. When the planting was just a few inches out, a torrential like rain left much of the field under water for several days. Later in the growing season the area experienced a lack of rainfall. He planted the corn in 38 inch rows and, at picking time had a population of 22-thousand plants per acre. The yield was 168 bushels.

Ron helps his father on 325 acres and takes farming very seriously. He says that talk around school, at meetings and among workaday farmers is favorable for single crosses.

As a rule of thumb, 3-way crosses should out-yield 4-way crosses by about 5 percent. Single crosses should out-yield 4-way hybrids by 10 percent. If a normal yield has been 100 bushels, you might expect a single cross to produce 110 bushels. This is more than enough to offset the higher selling price.

As near as can be figured, about 8 percent of the corn planted in 1963 was single cross. A conservative projection for 1964 would be for at least 10 percent of the acreage, or about 6% million acres.

It's no secret, both large and small seed corn producers are throwing their single cross efforts into high gear. These companies know that they can't go any further than single cross seed corn. From that point on, improvements will have to come from the developments and selection of inbreds. And, the magnificent progress made in development of better inbreds is a real story in itself.

But, so far as the present is concerned, you might just as well start buying and planting single cross hybrids for 1964. It looks like you and all your neighbors will be doing it in a few years anyhow.

Farmer's Daughters "almost" Run Dairy Farm

"If there are two things that I have plenty of around here, it's kids and cows . . . and I love them both." Doing the talking was John Wagner, a most successful Waunakee, Wisconsin dairy farmer.

John has eleven youngsters to back up his statement. Ten girls and John, Jr. enrich the Wagner household. John and the Mrs. had 10 straight girls before John, Jr. came along. But, he's here and the other 12 members of the family couldn't be more pleased.

So far as his herd is concerned, it's the first one in Dane county to push over the 600 pounds of butterfat mark. Last year's DHIA records show that his 70 Holsteins set milk production at 16,887 pounds with a 3.6 test and butterfat average of 603 pounds. His top cow gushed forth with 997 pounds of fat in 380 days.

John just has a knack of doing things in a big way on his 200-acre place.

With his operation geared to grassland farming, John finds his work easier today than when he had hired men working on the place. He now works the place alone, with lots of feminine help. His daughters have taken over many of the routine dairy chores. Diane, 17, feeds the silage in the barn. Susie, 15, feeds the young stock across the road. She simply pushes buttons. The unloader and bunk auger do the rest. Then there's 14-year-old Vickie. Her job is to throw down the ground corn from the silo. Flushing pipeline, assembling milkers, washing down the bulk tank falls to 13-year-old Rosie. And, according to dad, she does one swell job of it.

"We've mechanized a lot in the last few years. We're putting the money right back into the operation here on the farm, too," explains John. "The only thing I lug during the milking, weighs just 7 pounds. Sure is an easy way to milk."

"The kids all get an allowance. That was the way I was brought up. It's good for them. Teaches them how to handle money. Then, too, at the end of the year, we deposit a sum in each one's saving account. This cash will be waiting for them when they reach 21."

John does the grain feeding of the milking animals himself. He also handles the milking alone. Each of the milk maids has her job to do. Every little bit counts. In fact, John flatly states they can do their assigned tasks as well as he can.

"I probably take as good care of my cows as I do of my children," he says. "I feel that the best feed I can put into my animals is grass. I formerly mow dried my hay, but now it all goes into the silos." John has several which he uses for haylage. "It's much cleaner and there is less feed loss. I have also eliminated the fire hazard, and it sure is a lot easier," says Mr. Wagner.

Cutting alfalfa on the Wagner farm starts the last week in May. Sometimes you can't even find the buds when he starts cutting. The second crop is cut the 10th of June and the third around July 20th. He could make the fourth cutting, but he holds this back for pasturing after the 1st of October.

This rich tender haylage helps John get his calves off to a good start. He wants a medium size cow, that weighs from 1,500-1,600 pounds at maturity. He wants them deep bodied. Running a calf heavy on grain just won't do the job according to John Wagner.

"Good forage helps build the deep body . . . helps achieve the capacity we need in the milking line. I've tried the heavy grain ration with a group of my calves, it just doesn't work for me." So says one of the most outstanding dairymen in the world. So says John Wagner, one of the outstanding fathers in the world.

Good cows, fed good rations and properly cared for, is John Wagner's secret to dairy success. His 70 excellent cows averaged 16,887 pounds of milk and 603 pounds of butterfat in 1963.

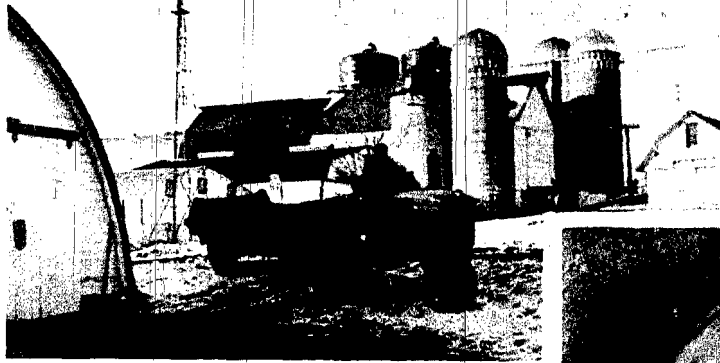

Susie, 15, feeds the young stock. She just pushes buttons and keeps her eyes open. The unloader and the auger feed bunk do the work.

Diane, 17, starts her day at 5:15 in the morning by feeding silage. Back home from school in the afternoon, she'll be feeding haylage and corn silage again. Dad takes care of A.M. feeding of haylage during school days.

Rosie, 13, is stuck with cleanup chores. She gets the milking equipment ready, cleans up the milker, pipeline and bulk tank.

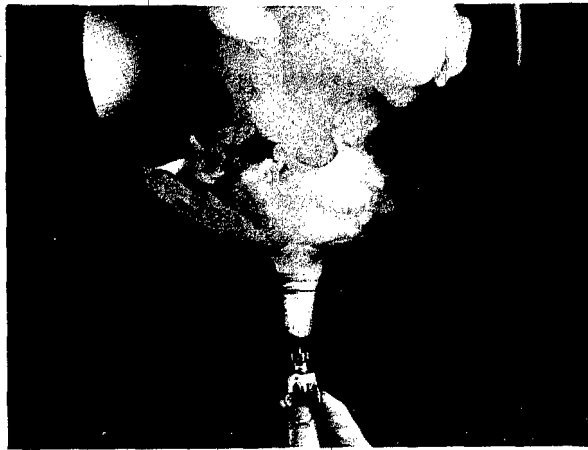

Vickie, 14 years old, pitches corn down from a storage unit attached to the milk barn. Her job includes feeding the young stock in the barn and the herd sires in their loose housing barn.

John Wagner, without hired help, manages his big dairy operation. Winter or not, the loafing sheds have to be cleaned out. John says, "When the weather gets down to zero, it just means moving faster to keep warm."

EVERY OTHER MASTITIS TREATMENT WOULD BE LIKE THIS IF IT COULD

when they're not all liquid

The all-liquid formula of Terramycin for Mastitis helps it spread throughout the milk and udder—in the fastest possible time. In fact, Terramycin for Mastitis is so clear and mixes so fast that it was necessary to add an opaque pigment to it in order to make this water demonstration.

Not only that, but every bit of the Terramycin is predissolved in this liquid formula. There's nothing to hold back its fighting power. It's instantly available with all its broad-range mastitis-fighting action.

Every other mastitis treatment would be like this if it could. But they can't if they're not all liquid. To protect their potency, most others have to be made up in oils or ointments. You can see why there's never as fast or complete dispersion or as fast release of antibiotic activity when the treatment value is tied up in a sticky goo.

But it's easy to see why Terramycin's all-liquid formula can do its work, then milk out clean and completely. It works and goes. Treats and milks out.

Now can you understand why Terramycin for Mastitis is by far the best-selling treatment on the market?

Little Children Need A Lot...

DR. BURL HUNT
School of Education
Kansas State University

Love and affection, attention, food, sleep and rest, comfort, independence, and adventure are only a few of the things small children need. Supplying these, and other needs, can be a full-time job for parents. If these needs are not met, behavior problems or conflict arise.

Among the problems which often cause parents to be concerned are those which show a return to infantile behavior. Every parent must be impressed with the fact that thumb-sucking, blanket-chewing, nail-biting, or bed-wetting may indicate that the child is not well-adjusted because he has an unfulfilled need. Psychologists say that it is important that the parents identify the child's unfulfilled psychological needs and try to fulfill them.

The well-known authority on child-care, Dr. Benjamin Spock, has said that the constructive thing to do is to survey the child's daily life to see whether he has enough playthings, play space, and playmates to make life interesting. Dr. Spock advised parents to make no direct efforts to stop the thumb-sucking or blanket-chewing. He felt that efforts to stop the habit from the outside, whether they consisted of physical restraints, punishment, nagging, or teasing, seemed only to increase the child's return to infantile behavior.

According to many psychologists, anything that takes away a child's accustomed feeling of security may cause him to become a "problem child." Thus, moving to a new house, a trip away from home, separation from one or both parents, or the addition of a new baby to the family—may cause the child to revert unconsciously to the traits of his babyhood.

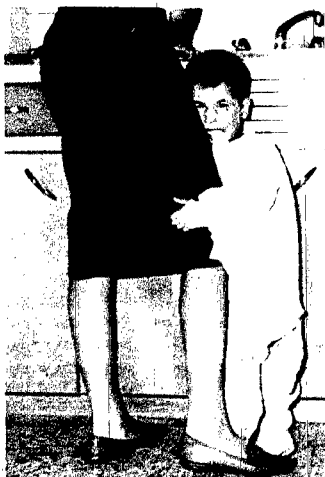

Love and affection, basic needs of all children, should be provided by a happy home and family life. This need for affection is shown very early in life and is necessary to a well-developed personality at all ages of life. Most small children, but not all, get an adequate amount of love and affection from their parents and other members of the family.

Most children need 10 to 12 hours of sleep a night. Children under school-age need to take a nap every day. Most schools have rest periods for the primary grades and many of the children fall asleep during these periods. This seems to indicate that they had a definite need for sleep and rest.

One psychologist has given a summary of the needs of children by saying: "The young child needs a chance to live in a young child's world, where companionship with others of his age, and opportunities for spontaneous exploration and creation are provided by adults who can give love as well as discipline, who can help him to understand himself and the world."

One toy plus two children may add up to a conflict of interests and needs.

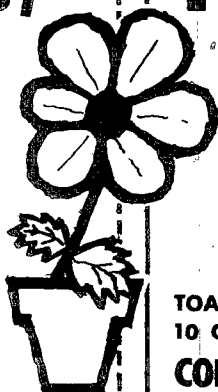

A long telephone conversation is seldom welcomed by small children. The needs of children often interfere with adult needs.

Out of sorts with the whole wide world. This little one obviously needs "something."

Community rivalry in some north Nebraska towns, The Frontier of O'Neill, Neb., says, is over which one had the biggest storm.

If there's anything we all like to brag about it is our storms. And while we're on the subject, did I ever tell you about the one we had back in '39? Snow? Why you . . .

"American teenage boys are amazing," quotes The Evening Journal of Lisbon, Ohio. "The same ones who are too tired to walk two blocks to school fight for the chance to run 100 yards on a football field."

Also, the same ones capable of flipping a basketball neatly through a small hoop cannot hit a large closet with their jacket.

An interview with a trapper appeared some time ago in The Osceola County Herald of Reed City, Mich. with the trapper saying that he had never known of timber wolves to attack people.

I wonder what kind of a wolf is gnawing at our door. It can't be a timber wolf because it sure enough is attacking people.

The help-wanted column in The West Bend (Wis.) News advertised for a woman with "hand dexterity" to work on a butter wrapping machine.

Is it hand dexterity when you hold a baby, stir a bowl, salt the potatoes, wave a youngster out of the cupboard, etc? Most women have hand dexterity.

I'd like to know if the Snappy Eight Card Club, with activities recorded in The Anoka County (Minn.) Union, changed its name to the Shivering Seven?

An account of the club meeting late last fall said if it got too cold one of the members was moving to Arizona for the winter.

That's not taking card playing very seriously.

There are over nine million teenagers in U.S. secondary schools, the Pocahontas (Iowa) Record-Democrat reports, which explains why it is impossible to complete a telephone call in the evening.

Men don't go down into manholes anymore, because the work down there is being done through automation, The Columbia (Mo.) Missourian reports. There's something sad about that. A man should have a reason to crawl into a manhole once in awhile. It gives him a chance to think a little.

The Jaycees of Tell City, Ind. used an outhouse to help in a membership drive. The Tell City News said the outhouse was moved into the frontyard of a member who failed to sign a new member.

At least all the Tell City citizens got a look at the rapidly disappearing piece of architecture. A good two-holer is getting doggone scarce.

A banking advertisement in The Denison (Iowa) Review said, "When the Indians were running the country there were no taxes, no debts and the women did all the work. What ever made the white man think he could improve on that?"

A writer in The Salem (S.D.) Special says she has trouble with her second grade girls who were not satisfied with their school class picture. The writer worries that if the girls are unhappy with pictures at their present age, they'll really be in trouble at high school age.

What is there about a camera that renders it immediately inaccurate when aimed at a female?

Little Boy Blue come blow your horn.

The sheep are not in the meadow or the corn.

A want-ad in The Wells County Free Press of Fessenden, N.D., says that 22 head of sheep strayed or were stolen. Leave them alone, and if they don't come home it will probably be because they didn't read the Free Press ad.

Mailmen are now allowed to have blinking yellow lights, The Hankinson (N.D.) News reports, which means that it is going to be easier for the farm boy to spot the mailman when an important order from the mail order house is expected.

The first woman pilot graduated from the Marshall county airport, The Lacon (Ill.) Home Journal recorded.

The lady flyer obviously had to take a lot of kidding, so we're only going to say that more women should take up flying. It would make the roads a lot safer.

There was a move to legalize horse race betting in North Dakota, The Hettinger County Herald of that state reported. We don't have legalized gambling in my state either, but we still bet on a lot of things. A policeman stopped me the other day, for example, and I won a bet from him. "I'll bet you think I went through that arterial," I said to him.

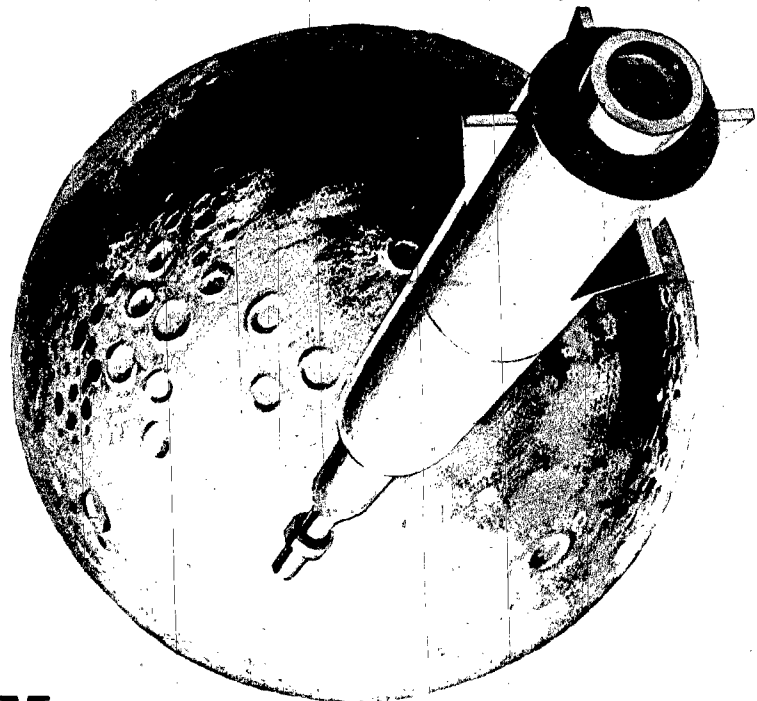

The Hartford (Mich.) Day Spring says, "When has Son grown up? When he ceases to ask, 'Mom, do you want your dessert? No? Well, may I have it?'"

My sons will never grow up, but then neither did my mother's son.

Easter Brunch

by Doris Bouril

This year March is heralding in Spring as Easter is one of its 31 days. Easter foretells of the warmer days to come with the colorful blooms of many flowers.

The hats blooming forth now and the plentiful tables set forth spell Easter too! Invite your friends for Easter Sunday brunch. It's a wonderful time to entertain because it gives everyone a chance to go to Sunrise Easter services and still have time to meet early for a pleasant informal meal.

The brunch should be hearty enough to double as breakfast and lunch besides being fun. Usually the foods served are breakfast choices, this time in glamour dress.

One suggestion for an Easter brunch menu offers plump canned peach halves and the thinnest of pancakes folded over a tasty cream cheese filling served with maple-syrup and crisp bacon slices.

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 (1 pound) can peach halves, drained | 1 cup pancake mix |
| 1 (8 oz.) pkg. cream cheese at room temperature | 1 1/4 cups milk |
| 2 tablespoons maple syrup | 2 eggs |
| 1/2 cup chopped nuts | 2 tablespoons cooking oil |
| | 8 to 12 slices bacon, cooked as desired |
| | Maple syrup |

Chop 2 of the peach halves. Save remaining halves to serve with pancakes. Combine cream cheese and 2 tablespoons maple syrup. Blend until smooth. Stir in nuts and chopped peaches. Set aside while preparing pancakes. Combine pancake mix, milk, eggs, oil. Stir until smooth. Use 3 to 4 tablespoons of batter for each pancake. Bake on hot griddle, turning pancakes when tops are bubbly and edges dry. Spread pancakes with cheese mixture. Fold in half, then in half again, the opposite way. Serve with peach halves, bacon and maple syrup. Makes 12 pancakes or 4 to 6 servings.

tender pork sausage links served with fluffy scrambled eggs.

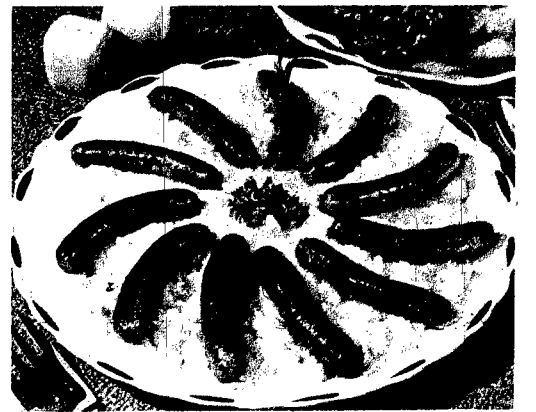

The easiest way to prepare sausage links is to steam them first in a little water, then pan-fry until well browned.

Place sausage links in a cold skillet with three tablespoons water. Cover and simmer for five minutes. Uncover the skillet and drain off any water. Then pan-fry the links over low heat, turning often, for about 10 minutes.

SCRAMBLING EGGS

To prepare scrambled eggs, add one tablespoon of milk for each egg and salt and pepper. Beat slightly. Cook in a small amount of hot fat in a skillet over low heat, stirring frequently, until thick and not dry. Serve at once; if left in pan, eggs continue to cook.

Arrange the sausage links on top of the eggs and serve with pecan rolls and chilled juice.

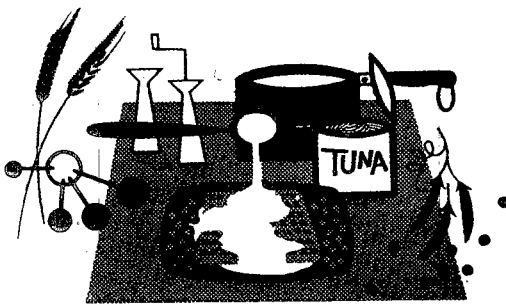

PEANUT BUTTER BAKED BANANAS

- | | |
|-------------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| 1/2 cup corn flake crumbs | 4 medium bananas, green-tipped |
| 2 tablespoons crunchy peanut butter | 2 tablespoons butter, melted |
| 2 tablespoons orange juice | |

Mix together crumbs, peanut butter and 1 tablespoon orange juice. Brush bananas with remaining orange juice, then butter. Press crumb mixture onto bananas; arrange in greased baking dish. Sprinkle remaining butter over bananas; bake in 375° (moderate) oven 15 minutes or until tender. Serve with meat. Makes 4 servings.

Another suggestion for the Easter brunch means good eating with real relaxation and "talk time". The choice is a big platter of well browned,

A chafing dish is the thing to graduate the Easter brunch to a "very special meal". A good recipe to make and serve from the dish is:

EASTER TUNA SURPRISE

1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter	1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons flour	2 1/4 cups (2-9 1/4 oz. cans tuna)
1 teaspoon salt	16 oz. can peas
Pepper
2 cups milk

Melt butter, remove from heat and add flour, salt and pepper. Gradually add the milk; heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Add a small amount of this mixture to the egg and return to the pan. Add the tuna and drained peas. Continue heating until mixture is completely warm. Serves 6 to 8.

EASTER RISE RAISIN CAKE

1 pkg. yeast	3 1/2 cups flour
1/4 cup lukewarm water	1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 cup butter	1/2 teaspoon cardamom
1/2 cup sugar	1 tablespoon citron, finely cut
Nutmeg	5 medium size apples, peeled and cut into 1/2 inch slices
1 cup buttermilk
1/2 cup raisins
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, beaten

Dissolve yeast in water and let stand for 10 minutes. Cream butter and sugar. Add salt and eggs.

Alternately add dry ingredients and buttermilk. Add yeast, raisins and citron, mix well.

Cover bowl and set in a warm place to rise until it is double in bulk. Turn dough out on a floured board and knead until it can be handled. Cut dough in half and press each half into a greased pan, 11 x 7 x 1 1/2 in. Cover and let rise 30 minutes. Press edge of apples into the dough in parallel rows. Sprinkle with a mixture of 1/4 cup sugar and 2 tablespoons flour. Dot with butter. Let rise another 15 minutes. Bake at 350° for 25-30 minutes. Frost and decorate with jelly beans and Easter candies.

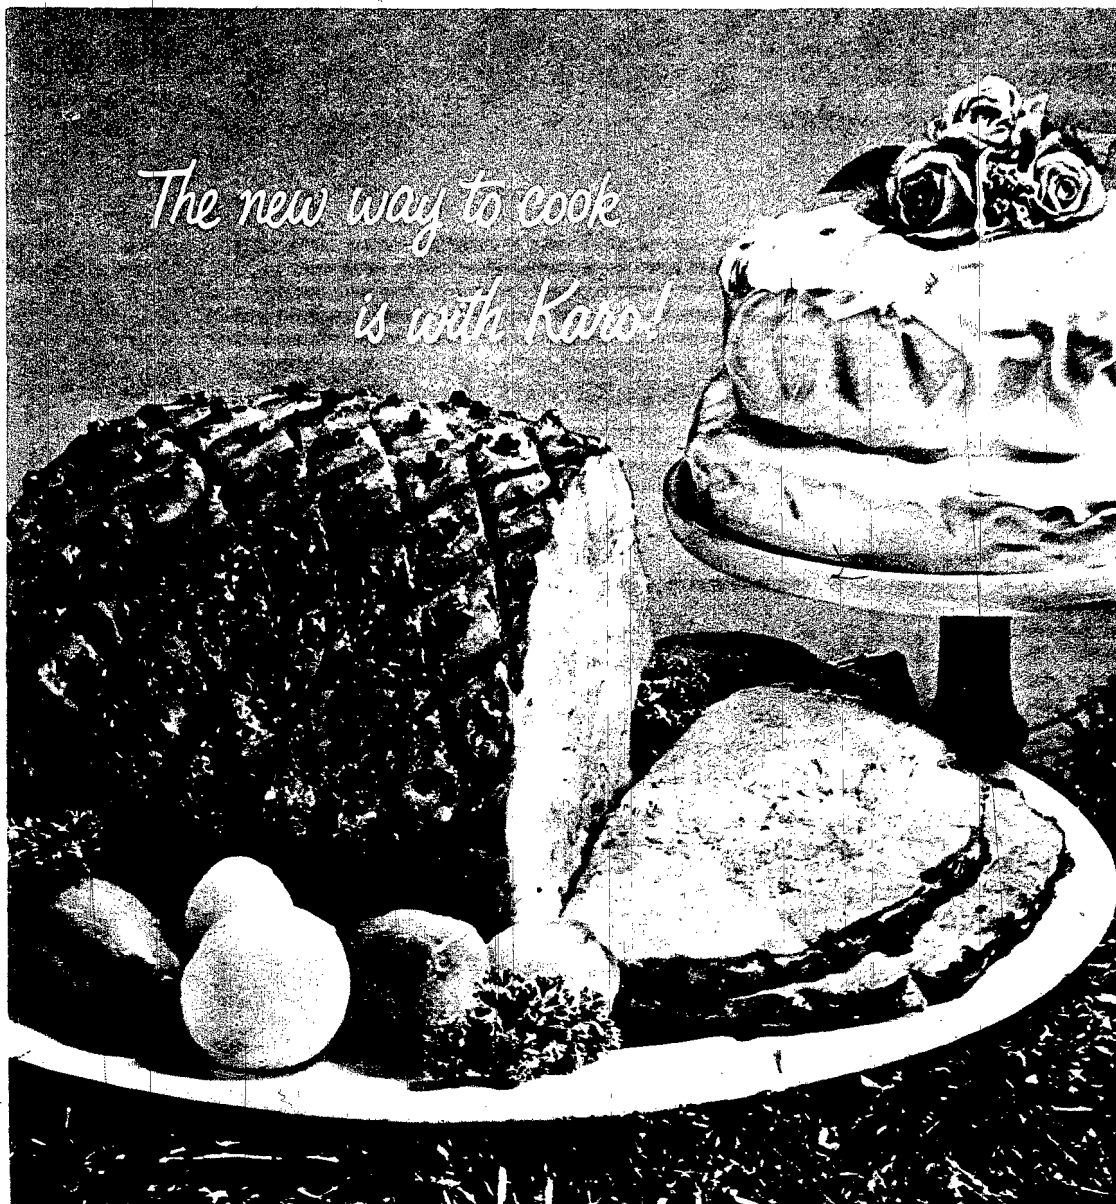

PARSLEY RICE CUSTARD RING

3 1/2 cups cooked rice	1/2 cup minced parsley
2 eggs, slightly beaten	2 tablespoons grated onion
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter, melted	1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese	1 teaspoon salt
	1 cup milk

In mixing bowl combine ingredients; mix lightly but thoroughly. Spoon into ring mold. Place mold in shallow pan; pour water into pan around mold to 1-inch depth. Bake 45 minutes to 1 hour in pre-heated 350° oven or until knife inserted in center of custard comes out clean. Unmold and serve with Easter Tuna Surprise. Serves 6 to 8.

Scrambled eggs served in bread baskets are an easy treat. Cut the crusts from thin slices of bread and push each slice into a muffin pan so that the four points stick up. Brown them very lightly in a medium oven. Don't let the little baskets get hard... Butter the insides, fill with scrambled eggs, and garnish with a curl of bacon or a sprig of parsley. Salt and pepper to taste.

Glazed Ham on Parade

Cook ham as directed for type and size. About 1/2 hour before ham is done, remove from oven, score fat, stud with cloves. Then pour Karo All-Purpose Syrup over ham. Continue to bake in 350° F oven, pouring Karo over ham several times more, until it is well glazed. To glaze vegetables: dot cooked, seasoned vegetables with Mazola Margarine in oven proof dish. Pour Karo All-Purpose Syrup over vegetables. Bake in 400° F (hot) oven, basting often, about 15 minutes. Arrange around ham on platter just before serving.

Easter Bonnet Cake

Using your favorite recipe or cake mix bake 2 layers, a 9 inch and an 8 inch. Cool. To make "No-Cook" Marshmallow Frosting: beat 1/4 tsp. salt with 2 egg whites with electric mixer or rotary beater until white and frothy. Gradually beat in 1/4 cup sugar until mixture is smooth and glossy. Beat in 3/4 cup Karo Crystal Clear Syrup, a little at a time; beating to firm peaks. Fold in 1-1/4 tsp. vanilla. Add food coloring to make it a delicate yellow. Frost 9 inch layer; place 8 inch layer on top to form a bonnet. Frost entire cake. Decorate with real flowers.

Karo® Syrup adds a wholesome kind of sweetness that's easy to digest!

... because it supplies DEXTROSE, a quick energy sugar. Karo gives delicious new flavor and appetizing new texture to food. Makes everyday dishes more interesting and appealing, too. That's why the new way to cook is with Karo. Whenever the recipe in your cookbook calls for corn syrup, it means Karo. Karo All-Purpose (Dark Corn Syrup) and Crystal-Clear (Light Corn Syrup) are both ideal for cooking, baking and table use. So wholesome, doctors prescribe them for babies' formulas, too. Karo is available in pint and quart bottles; also in 5 and 10 lb. cans.

ASPARAGUS EASTER WAFFLES

2 cups pancake mix 2 eggs, beaten
 1 1/2 cups milk 1/2 cup grated cheese
 1/4 cup melted butter

Blend all ingredients together. Beat with rotary beater until smooth. Bake on hot waffle iron until steaming stops. Serve with asparagus tips and Cheese Sauce.

Cheese Sauce

2 tablespoons butter 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 2 tablespoons flour 1 cup milk
 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup grated cheese

Melt the butter in top of a double boiler. Blend in the flour and seasonings. Gradually add the milk and stir until thickened. Add the cheese and heat until it is melted.

Pour the sauce over asparagus tips on half waffles. Served with browned Canadian bacon, this is a good brunch suggestion. Serves 6.

SAUSAGE CORN SQUARES

2 eggs 2-8 oz. pkg. brown and serve
 1 3/4 cups water pork sausage
 1-14 oz. pkg. corn muffin mix

Blend eggs, water and the corn muffin mix. Beat until batter is smooth. Spread in greased jelly roll pan, 15 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 1-in. Arrange the pork sausage over the batter so there are two in the center of each square. Bake 25-30 minutes in a preheated 400°F. oven.

Cut into 12 squares. Serve hot with butter, syrup and glazed apple rings.

Soups like Grandma used to Make

by Susan Lowe

Remember how Grandma used to keep her delicious soups bubbling on the stove for hours? Um-m-m, they smelled good!

Soup was an all day job then . . . boil the meat for stock, go down to the cellar for vegetables, peel, dice, and cook.

Today it can be a short job with the help of canned, dried, and frozen foods. Soups can be ready in less than an hour!

Tuna Vegetable Chowder can come off your kitchen shelf in a jiffy, offering rich protein and other body building vitamins and minerals. The recipe calls for canned corn, lima beans, and tuna. To add texture contrast to this meal-in-one soup, serve it with crispy, cucumber sticks, radish roses and crackers.

Quick frozen vegetables are also a home-maker's helper since they cook more quickly and are already cleaned and trimmed. There's no "down to the cellar, dice, chop, and cook" with these. Hearty Tomato Vegetable Chowder, reminiscent of Grandma's chunky, luscious soups, uses frozen or canned peas and a modern dried vegetable soup mix.

For an unusual taste treat, offer snacks of chopped, salted peanuts, crumbled blue cheese, bite-sized wheat biscuits, or sliced pimento olives with Cream of Chicken Tomato Soup.

Royal Cheese Soup has the flavor of Welsh rarebit. It's a wholesome, delicious soup that you will enjoy for a change. Just remember to beware of long cooking or high heat. You won't want stringy soup.

Dakota Couple-in Holland

Herm, Ginny and Debbie out for a Sunday afternoon ride "Dutch style." It is common to have special "kiddie seats" for children. Bicycles are the most common form of transportation in Holland. Herm used his regularly for going to the University Administration Building where he had his office.

Ginny learned a good selection of Dutch words by buying from these door to door delivery men. The usual practice is to leave them a note in a basket outside the door. The green grocer and his assistant then have only to fill the baskets and return them to the door.

by Ginny and Herm Felstehausen

Have you ever wondered what it would be like to go to another country to live? "It's a rewarding experience," say Herm and Ginny Felstehausen from South Dakota, just back from a year in Wageningen, The Netherlands.

"Our 1½ year old daughter, Debbie, learned Dutch faster than English," say the Felstehausens.

Studying in the Netherlands was a sharp contrast from life on a farm near Clark, South Dakota, where Herm grew up. He and Ginny met five years ago as students. They spent the year as Fulbright exchange students in Wageningen, a small Dutch town on the Rhine River and center of one of Europe's leading agricultural universities.

Herm mastered Dutch well enough to interview Dutch farmers about their understanding of economics. He hopes to use the results as the basis for a doctor's degree at the University of Wisconsin.

The Netherlands is a small country only one-fourth the size of South Dakota, but it has many contrasts and a charm visitors enjoy. In Wageningen, the Felstehausens lived in a furnished apartment near the edge of town overlooking the Dutch countryside. Housing was difficult to find. There has been a severe housing shortage in Holland since the war. Their apartment building and many like it were constructed quickly and as cheaply as possible.

There was no insulation or central heating, no storm windows and no draft-tight doors and windows. But someone soon discovered a big sheet of clear plastic would solve the storm window problem.

Wageningen's cobbled streets are always busy with bicycles, carts, delivery vans and small European cars. Bicycles, scooters and motor bikes are the most common forms of transportation in the Netherlands. There's a bicycle for every two persons.

Ginny found the weekly open-air market one of the most colorful aspects of shopping in Wageningen. On Wednesday mornings one could purchase almost any desired items from food, clothing, household items and flowers to books and French fries. Men and women stood in the village square in small booths and behind tables with their goods. Most prices are set, although there is an occasional item that can be "dickered" for. And things were slightly lower in price at the market than in the stores.

Herm and Ginny both agree their European experience has helped them understand both the Europeans and the Americans better. The Dutch, for example, often view Americans as rich, practical and reckless with most of their trust in the future and little in the past. Yet Americans are regarded highly in Holland even if the Dutch do disagree with our style of living.

DEVILS AT "STATE" TODAY

Devils End Drought with State Tournament Berth

The Wayne Blue Devils will meet David City Aqueduct today (Thursday) at 12 p.m. at the Pershing Auditorium. Regular tournament participants over the years, this is the first state berth for the Devils in the past three years.

Mac's boys are headed for "State". It has been three long years since Harold Macnewski has piloted a club to the State Tournament in Lincoln, but the drought ended at Bloomfield Friday night with a 61 to 52 victory over neighbor to the north, Laurel.

The Bears pulled an upset victory over Wayne in the Devil's own territory early this year, 75 to 62, and a repeat upset was undoubtedly on the minds of fans from both towns.

Laurel got the opening tip and Bear Captain Denny Sutton registered the first field goal. Their lead lasted only momentarily as the Devils took the ball to their end of the floor and Jim Mau executed a three-point play for a 32 lead.

Both teams scored once more before Cam Sutton sank a free-throw to put the game into a dead-end, 55.

Wayne pulled into as much a lead as 11-6 during the period, and increased it to 17-10 at the end of the first period. Wayne continued to score in the second quarter and ran their lead to 22-10 before Laurel found the range.

The Devil's lead at one point in the second period was 30-15, but Laurel narrowed it to 34-23, the score at intermission.

Period number three turned into a short quarter for both clubs, as they each scored just nine points. Careless ball handling and low field goal percentages fairly well dominated the entire period.

Wayne hit three of 12 attempts from the floor plus three free throws. Their time, while Laurel came up with four of 13 and one free-throw. The Devils still held their margin of 11, 43 to 32.

The fourth quarter held something for nearly everyone in the auditorium as it saw Wayne hold its lead for a few minutes, put down a Laurel rally, and increase their margin of victory.

Wayne held their lead of eleven points for nearly two and a half minutes when Laurel began to slowly creep in and put pressure on the Devils.

Wayne's 49 to 38 lead slowly dwindled until four straight points by Denny Sutton and two more by his brother Cam put the Bears to the ball out of the reach of Bear players until just 11 seconds were left on the clock, and Wayne called "time" once again.

The Devils were apparently trying to feed the ball inside to Jim Mau, but the Devils center was well covered and in no position to get off a good shot. So Jim Kern, with five seconds showing, took a jumper from about the free-throw line which sliced the net.

Wayne came up with 11 of 21 on free-throws, and were credited with 55 percent. North had 13 of 16 for 81 percent. Jim Kern led Wayne scoring with 21, followed by Jim Mau with 15 and Rick Barnhoff with 12. B. Waddleton, R. Schrader and D. Johnson led North with 20, 17, and 12 points, respectively.

Wayne City Schools Band Concert Sunday

NE Feeders Group Banquet at Pender

The banquet will be held at the Pender high school auditorium at 7 p.m. Featured speaker will be Warren Cook, Norfolk, executive secretary of Nebraska Livestock Markets Association.

Schedule Science Fair at Wayne State Mar. 20

Science Fair time is approaching fast for NE Nebraska students planning to enter the annual event March 20 at Wayne State College. The fair promises to attract bigger crowds than ever this year—mainly because it will last about twice as long. Exhibits are to be set up by 10 a.m. in Rice auditorium and remain until 9 p.m. Previously, the show closed in mid-afternoon.

But that early closing prevented hundreds of potential visitors from seeing the hundreds of fascinating science projects, many of them complex products of great effort.

An innovation this year for sponsors and other interested is an evening dinner, 5:30 to 7:30 in the Student Center.

Any student in elementary or high school may enter exhibits dealing with physical or biological sciences or mathematics.

A number of health associations are planning to exhibit at the fair again this year.

Rev. Frank Pedersen, N. D., has accepted a call as pastor of the First Baptist church, Wayne. The family will move into the church parsonage about May 31.

Over 150 High School Students at Workshop

About 150 students from 18 high schools in NE Nebraska attended the Annual District III Publications Workshop Saturday at Wayne State.

Thirty-four of them from six schools came with a double purpose. They also competed in the district journalism contest—their goal, to win a chance in the state contest next May.

Ruth Wagner, Norfolk, director of the workshop and contest, considered both programs successful and looks forward to larger participation in the contest next year. The Wayne contest was one of seven in Nebraska.

Duane Swanson Killed in Automobile Mishap Sunday

The possibility of one or possibly two cars being at the scene of the accident that killed Duane Swanson Sunday night is being investigated by the State Highway Patrol and Cedar county officials.

Investigator L. Claude Whitney of the patrol, said progress is being made in the theory that more than one auto was at the scene.

Whitney said positively that the Swanson was not physically pushed from the highway. He said the investigation of the auto had not had contact with any other auto.

But he said there were indications that one or possibly two other autos were at the scene at the time of the accident.

Swanson was killed in the accident according to L. Whitney, when the northbound vehicle was off the west side of the road, leaving about 125 feet after it struck the road before hitting the car.

At this point, Whitney said, he left the car, apparently traveling another 57 feet before striking one of the cars, knocking down a few. A witness said the car was "cut" foot above the road when it hit the trees, Whitney said.

The mishap occurred 10 miles north of the scene of the accident, about 10:30 p.m. Also injured in the accident and still hospitalized is Dale Nelson, 20, Wayne.

The patrolman said both youths were apparently thrown out of the car, which traveled 31 feet after striking the tree. The car was a total loss.

Funeral services for Duane Swanson were held Wednesday at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Wayne. Rev. Robert Shreck and Rev. H. P. Orth Mueller officiated.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Harry (Gloria) Lesoberg, Wayne, and Mrs. Edon (Gerardine) Woods, Platte, Calif., a brother, Edgar, Jr., El Sobrante, Calif., and a grandmother, Mrs. Katie Wade, Wayne.

SILAGE IMPORTANCE ... studied at Wayne

Silage Part Important In Beef Cattle Feeding

"Silage will play an important role in beef cattle feeding since it works well with a wide range of feeding situations," Dr. Walter Woods, University of Nebraska, expressed this view at the silage judging and information clinic at Wayne, March 5. According to Dr. Woods, farmers should consider two points when they evaluate the production of silage. These are, (1) the feeding value produced per acre, and (2) the feeding value per unit of material.

Dr. Charles Rogers, widely known agricultural consultant, Wooster, Ohio, identified the key factors in judging a sample of silage. For corn or sorghum silage the grain content, drymatter, color and flavor are important. For grass silage or haylage the stage of growth, moistness, feel, color, odor and taste are important. Dr. Rogers emphasized the need for cutting a silage crop when it has the feeding value wanted. Once the cutting has started, it is important to do the job quickly making sure to exclude air.

Other persons assisting with the silage clinic were Walt Toiman, of the Experiment Station; Leland Herman, Wayne; Dr. Deniz Clegg, Area Extension Supervisor, Wayne; and Roland Dorn, sales representative for Reimers Kaufman, Lincoln.

In Nebraska... after bowling, beer is a natural

After you've bowled a game or two, or when you're winding up the evening at the neighborhood bowling center, it's good to relax with friends and compare scores. What better way to add to the sport and the sociableness than with a refreshing glass of beer? However you take your fun—skiing, skating, or at your ease in the game room—beer always makes a welcome addition to the party.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

In Nebraska... beer goes with fun, with relaxation

Seven Wayne State Mat Men In NIAA Wrestling Tourney

Seven Wayne State College wrestlers will compete in the National NIAA wrestling tournament March 19-21, Coach J. B. Merriman said Monday.

Decision to enter the meet at Black Hills State College, Spearfish, S. D., followed Wayne's team victory in the Nebraska College Conference meet Friday at Kearney. Wildcat grapplers won seven of 10 titles at that event.

The seven individual champions who will go for national honors are Jim Mills and Jim McGrath, second-time conference champions in the 123 and 130-pound classes; Ron Tote, 137; Larry Gray, 147; Roger Felt, 167; Larry Lechhardt, 177, and Bob Knapp, 191.

Wayne performers won first-round matches in all but one weight class—the 115, in which the team never competed during the dual season. Losers in the final round were Gary Klindt, decided by defeating champion, Ted Erlevine of Chadron in the 157-pound class, and Gary Palmer, loser by default to Don Hather of Kearney in the heavyweight division.

Tote and Gray are undefeated in 12 matches this year as freshmen. Knapp was charged from the season with only one loss, to Hather in a dual meet with Kearney. Lechhardt and Mills had one loss and one draw each; McGrath and Felt, two losses—all in 12 matches.

Wayne compiled 98 team points in the conference meet, Kearney 63, Chadron 53, Hastings, 18. Dwayne and Peru did not compete.

Globetrotters to Perform At Wayne State Monday

The Harlem Globetrotters will bring their famed sports and variety program to Wayne State's Rice gymnasium Monday night at 8. Tickets are on sale at the college athletic office in Rice and will be available at the door that night, the program is sponsored by the W Club, athletic lettermen's organization.

Leading the hi-jinks for the Globetrotters will be the 13-year veteran funnyman Bob "Showboat" Hall, who has performed his tricks in more than 60 of the 80 countries in which the Trotters have appeared during their 37 years of traveling.

Globetrotters owner-coach Abe Saperstein will have one of his best show referees, Louis Carry, and announcer Bill Collins, present to mediate the clash between the Trotters and the San Francisco Golden Gators.

Bob "Showboat" Hall

Besides Showboat, the Trotter squad will include dribbling wizard Murphy Simmons, 15-year player-coach Clarence Wilson, play-maker Junior Morgan, Ken Glenn, Bill Brown, Grady McCollum, Doug Hines, Walt Kennedy and Mel Davis.

The game itself—as practically everybody knows—will combine fine basketball and comedy. Then there is the pre-game and halftime entertainment, equally interesting: the unicyclist team of Bob and Lilly Foy of England; Australian juggler Jackie Concut; Mexican juggler Ramon Esqueda; the comic acrobat team called the—overs; trick bicyclists, the Lemands, and the Minnesota trampoline artists, the Parry Kids.

Running into debt is bad — but running into your creditors is much worse.

There are a lot of reasons that people save. One of them is the desire to feel secure against the uncertainties — that they may have the comfort and satisfaction that comes from "money in the bank".

It is a real pleasure — as hundreds of satisfied customers will tell you. There's no use of you denying that pleasure to yourself. Why not get in on the good things of life — now — at the First National Bank — with a growing and satisfying savings account.

People of mediocre ability sometimes achieve outstanding success because they don't know enough to quit.

Half of the Russian population today is engaged in agriculture, trying to produce enough food for the other half of the population.

In the United States the 12% of our population living on farms provide more than enough food for our population and the world markets.

We've made great medical progress in the last generation. What used to be merely an itch is now an allergy.

The golfer's cart has a big advantage over the caddy: it can't count.

Cadillac

THIS OWNER LOVES IT!

THIS OWNER LOVES IT!

THIS OWNER LOVES IT!

The three pictures above illustrate one reason for their enthusiasm. The top car is a 1963 model... the center car is a 1962 Cadillac... and the lower car is four years old. The styling through the years has evolved and refined, but each is unmistakably a Cadillac.

These owners share a common knowledge. Not even most new motor cars offer the degree of pleasure and reliability that comes with a previously owned Cadillac.

First, there is Cadillac's renowned craftsmanship, which results in a car of unusual endurance.

Next, consider value. The equipment on a Cadillac of older vintage is still extra cost on most new cars... and includes such features as Hydra-Matic, power steering, power brakes, power windows on most models... plus many Cadillac engineering advancements that still have not found their way into other new 1964 cars.

And don't overlook Cadillac's reputation for operating economy—comparable to many smaller cars.

So when you make your next motor car investment, new or used, consider only one name—Cadillac.

'64 Chevy II Super Sport with V8 power

...and just the place to enjoy it

Find out for yourself what this Chevy II can really do. If there are hills nearby, let it give them a good going-over. Then see it give slow-moving trucks the run-around. With its new extra-cost V8 you need not give the accelerator an inch, and this Super Sport will take a mile. And this great highway performer looks the part it plays so well. A glance at its all-vinyl interior and door-to-door carpeting will tell you that. There's your choice of either the floor-mounted Powerglide or Four-Speed Synchro-Mesh transmission. Both are optional at extra cost, along with a Positraction rear axle, AM-FM radio, and many other accessories. And for all its new power, Chevy II rides so softly it seems to glide along the highway. That's because it has high-mounted independent coil springs in the front and Mono-Plate single-leaf springs in the rear. With everything Chevy II Super Sport has going for it, it's no surprise your Chevrolet dealer is anxious to show you its price tag. Because that's the only thing about it that isn't super.
