

C. D. Haskell Is Honored At NE Station Dedication

Richard Adkins, Osmond, president of the University of Nebraska, Board of Regents, was the featured speaker at the dedication of the new office and laboratory building on the University's property east of Concord.

In his address, he announced that the Northeast Nebraska Experiment Station was renamed by the Board of Regents. It will be called the University of Nebraska Northeast Station. The building will be known as the Haskell Building in honor of the C. D. Haskell family of Laurel which donated the 320-acre farm for the Station.

The dedication ceremony was the climax of a busy day at the Northeast Station last Friday. Beginning at 10 a. m., the Board of Regents along with Chancellor Clifford Hardin and his staff from the University, held a Regent's meeting in the farm shop. At 11 a. m., the Board of Directors of the Northeast Nebraska Experimental Farm Association met with the Regents.

Honor Oschner, Madison, president of the board of directors introduced Warren Patefield, Laurel; John Kinney, Wakefield; and John Kroger, Jr., Rosalie; who along with other members of the board emphasized the contributions of the Station for agriculture in Northeast Nebraska.

Following a noon luncheon, the dedication ceremony was held inside the building. Persons on the program included the Rev. Keith Cook, Laurel; Dr. Dale Flowerday, Lincoln; Chancellor Clifford Hardin, Lincoln; Mr. E. W. Janike, Dean of Extension, Lincoln; Dr. E. F. Frolik, Dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, Lincoln; and Richard Adkins, Osmond.

The speakers pointed out that the Northeast Station will become the front door of the University in Northeast Nebraska. The Station will serve the needs of Research and Extension and other areas of the entire University.

Following the dedication, the visitors were able to tour the Station. Points of interest included the sorghum, castorbean, soybean and corn rootworm plots, livestock on feed, chrysanthemum bed, and the conservation work.

Physical Fitness Test For Schools Saturday

A physical fitness testing clinic at Wayne State College will give high school boys and girls a chance to check their physical abilities Saturday, September 19.

Dr. Robert Clayton of the WSC physical education faculty, has invited high schools of the area to send as many boys and girls as possible to this third annual clinic.

They will take the seven-event AAHPER Physical Fitness Test—the same one recommended by the President's Council on Youth Fitness. It includes pull-ups, sit-ups, standing broad jump, shuttle run, 50-yard dash, softball throw, and the 600-yard walk-run.

White the clinic does not promote inter-school competition, Dr. Clayton will send scores to the participating high schools. In addition, if a school has at least five students entered, the boy or girl who achieves the highest score in that school will receive an award. If five boys and five girls enter from a school, the high scoring boy and girl will get awards.

SCS Stakes Terraces On Seven Area Farms

Arnold R. Marr of the Soil Conservation Service, announced that terraces have been staked on the farms of Florenz Nieman, Cora Smith, and Ernest Muhs, Winside; Alex Eddie and Mac Auker, Carroll; and Fred Brummels and George Langenberg, Hoskins.

A dam has been constructed on Fred Johnson's farm west of Winside. The dam will provide livestock water as well as prevent flooding and silting of land below the dam.

Marr advised that this is the time of year to check waterways for maintenance. Small rills in waterway can be stopped by making check dams with sacks of soil staked down. It also may be necessary to re-shape and reseed parts of waterways.

According to Marr, well established waterways should be mowed and cleaned off each fall. If waterways are not mowed they tend to build up with silt and the water begins to run on the outside of the waterway.

Venezuelan "IYFE" Is Amazed At U. S. Mechanized Farming

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ring, who farm four miles east of Wayne, are hosting an "IYFE" in their home. This IYFE is Oslando Martinez of Venezuela, who is in the United States under the auspices of the International Farm Youth Exchange program.

Martinez, who manages his father's 2,200 acre ranch near Maracaibo Estado Zulia, Venezuela, expressed amazement over the mechanized methods of feeding cattle on the Ring farm.

He explained that all work done on his father's ranch is by hand labor. They have about 700 head of cattle, half of them dairy cattle. Nearly 200 cows are milked daily by hand.

He explained that imparted machinery is very expensive and hand labor is very cheap. He said 170 acres of corn was planted on his father's ranch and they expect a yield of 100 bushels per acre. Planting was done by hand and they expect to pick the crop by hand. Other crops include plantain-banana, fruit trees, cassava or manioc (tapioca).

The youth celebrated his 20th birthday Sept. 7 in the Ring home, complete with birthday cake and trimmings. He has accompanied Merle Ring to the stockyards in Sioux City, to a packing plant and to a P-TA meeting. A visit to the Felix Dorsey farm to see the milking operation is planned in the near future.

Martinez visited 20 days in Thayer county before coming to Wayne. After a 20-day stay with the Rings, he will attend the State 4-H camp at Halsey and will spend 13 days in Furnas county. He will visit the World's Fair before leaving for his homeland Oct. 22.

The International Farm Youth Exchange is 4-H's world-wide program to improve people-to-people understanding. By two-way exchanges, young people spend six months learning another way of life by living it. U. S. delegates for IYFE are nominated by county and state Extension services.

Cattle Grub Control Should Begin Now

Now is the time to treat cattle for grubs, according to University of Nebraska livestock specialists.

Fall treatment—from July to November—has been found to be the most effective in reducing cattle grubs so that there is little or no heel fly activity the following spring.

For a grub control program to be successful, all in an area need to work together. Fences keep the cattle at home, but not the heel fly points out Dr. E. C. Howe, NU Extension animal hygienist.

There are three types of treatment: sprays—Coral and Ruelene; Pour-on—Co-Ral or Ruelene; and Feed additives—Trolene (tonnel). Details regarding methods of application and amounts of material can be obtained at county Extension offices.

Treatments—regardless of material or method—should be applied before Nov. 1. Cattle imported from the South should be treated before they are shipped, as grub activity is earlier in Southern states.

Finally, read the label, the NU specialists urge. All insecticides are required by law to state the amounts to use, time to use the materials, mixtures, waiting periods and cautions.

NFO, Wisconsin Executives Meet

At the request of Governor John W. Reynolds, representatives of the National Farmers Organization — Mr. Oren Lee Staley, Mr. Roland Waters, Mr. Bob Manke, Mr. Ed Graf and Mr. Ray Johnson; of the Wisconsin District Attorney's Association — Mr. Jack Steinhilber and Mr. John Flynn; and of the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association — Mr. Merle A. Spehcer and Mr. Donald Caylor, met with the governor, his legal counsel, Mr. Leonard Zubrensky, Attorney General George Thompson and his staff; Mr. Morris Slavney, chairman of the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board, and Mr. Don McDowell, Director of the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture.
This meeting was characterized by a frank exchange of views with respect to the rights and responsibilities of all those affected by the events of the past three weeks.
All of those present recognized that law and order must be maintained during this situation.
It was also recognized that farmers have the right to hold, the right to sell, and the right to lawfully demonstrate.
Law enforcement officials and NFO officials have agreed to cooperate in the enforcement of the law.
It is regrettable that leaders of the American Farm Bureau Federation fail to recognize the seriousness of the farm problem and have once again joined the processors in requesting that farmers discontinue their efforts to obtain fair and equitable prices for their commodities; thus trying to keep farmers in the position of continuing to take low farm prices.

New John Deere 237 Corn Picker raises the speed limit in high-yield corn
Shift up! Pick at speeds up to 5 mph, even when yields run well over 100 bushels. Long, tapered gatherers and high inside shield, funnel stalks right in. Even tangled stalks seldom escape three roller-type gathering chains. There's new gathering and snapping speed. And the 237's spiral snapping rolls cut shelling loss in half. Faster elevators with higher flights move corn up fast. Trash goes too, aided by new rotating trash paddles. New husking rolls — cast-iron spirals against serrated rubber — peel husks, pull trash through. You pick clean. See the new 237 soon. Ask about the Credit Plan.

STITCH IN TIME

Connie's Column by Constance Frame

Too early to start Christmas gifts? Not for wise needle-worriers. On brown wrapping paper, draw a cute pillow-shape... heart, fish, elephant, teddy-bear, donkey, star, bowing pin, posy. Cut it from two pieces of bright felt; it's even more zesty when they're different colors. Pin cotton fringe just inside, between the pieces. Sew with a simple running stitch; in six strands embroidery floss or three strands linen thread, leaving a space to stuff through. Plump the inside with cotton, foam scraps or old nylon stockings, then sew the opening. Whose family room couldn't use a pair of these?

DAY-STARTER SCOOP

Do young-uns at your house grumble about school? Start their day with a bang-up breakfast: ice cream on dry cereal! Nutrition-wise, it's great. Eye-wise, it's twice as appealing! Crunchies dwindle fast, with fruity flavors on top. Have you a teen-ager who'd rather skip breakfast? Try this idea. Greet her some morning with a milkshake. Whip a raw egg into it, for extra zip. She'll glow right through till noon!

EIGHT WAYS BEST

Which fuel is eight ways nicer to use? Natural gas, naturally! It's cleaner... burns completely, without smoke or residue. Faster? You bet; gives instantaneous heat. Gas is versatile, too—from cooking to cooling, to heating, lighting and drying. It's economical... convenient... dependable... plentiful. And gas is so modern! Researchers have developed wonderful new ways we'll use it tomorrow. Your Peoples Natural Gas Company brings you this wonder-fuel 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. They get it from the pipelines of Northern Natural Gas Company. Who gets those eight big benefits? You do!

ELECTION NIGHT (ENTERTAINING)

November 3—election night across the nation—will no doubt find you in front of the TV or with your ear tuned to the radio. Your friends and neighbors will be listening and watching too. Why not enjoy the evening together? Take advantage of the occasion with lots of snacks geared for the long, exciting hours of election night.

Serve it simply. Set up a serve-it-yourself buffet. Make use of TV trays and hostess cart. That way you too can enjoy the talk about "trends" in California or Vermont and the hot local battles that swing first one way and then another:

SNACK-TIME FAVORITES

- | | |
|------------------------|--|
| 1 cup sugar | 1 teaspoon salt |
| ¼ cup margarine | 1 package (6-oz.) butterscotch morsels (1 cup) |
| 2 eggs | ½ cup chopped walnuts |
| 2 cups flour | 1 package (6-oz.) semi-sweet chocolate morsels (1 cup) |
| 1 teaspoon cinnamon | |
| 1 teaspoon baking soda | |

Combine sugar and butter and beat till creamy. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Sift flour, cinnamon, baking soda and salt together and gradually stir in. Add butterscotch morsels and nuts; mix well. Spread in greased 13 x 9 x 2-inch pan. Sprinkle top with semi-sweet chocolate morsels. Bake in 350°F. oven for 30 minutes. Cool; cut into 2-inch squares. Makes 24 squares.

FAMILY-STYLE CHEESE TRAY

Select a variety of cheese. We recommend Swiss, Provolone, Munster, Cheddar, Blue and Gouda. Remove cheese from refrigerator at least half hour before serving as low temperature numbs the flavor. Cut Cheddar in wedges, slices, fingers or cubes. Serve Swiss, Provolone, and Munster in thin slices. Place the entire wedge of Blue cheese along with a knife on the tray—guests can take as much as they want. Cut the bright red Gouda in wedges much the same as an apple. Garnish cheese tray with green onions, ripe and pimiento stuffed olives, radishes and pickles. Serve with a variety of breads and crackers.

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 can (2¼-oz.) deviled ham | 10 rye crackers finely rolled (about ¼ cup crumbs) |
| 1 teaspoon lemon juice | 2 slices Swiss cheese, at room temperature |
| 1 tablespoon finely chopped green onions | |

Blend the deviled ham, lemon juice, green onions and crumbs. Spread equal amount of mixture on Swiss cheese slices and roll. Wrap rolls in wax paper. Chill until firm. Each roll makes about 8 slices to be served between rye crackers.

PANCAKE SANDWICH

Make light, fluffy pancakes* using pancake mix and following directions on package.

Offer guests a variety of batters, fillings and toppings. Prepare sandwich makings ahead and encourage guests to use the electric griddle or skillet at the buffet table to make their own.

Batter Variations: Add fruit or nuts to the batter—a half cup of well-drained crushed pineapple, fresh or frozen blueberries, chopped raw apple, thinly sliced bananas; ¼ cup broken or chopped nuts.

Topping Ideas: Offer guests warmed honey, maple syrup, melted currant jelly and a sugar and cinnamon mixture.

Tasty Fillings: Scrambled eggs and sausage or ham, creamed foods such as chicken, ham, tuna, mushrooms in a rich white sauce all make good pancake sandwiches.

WALNUT-GINGERED BEEF PASTRIES

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 cup toasted walnuts | 1 tablespoon finely chopped preserved ginger (or ½ teaspoon powdered ginger) |
| 2 tablespoons margarine | 48 pastry rounds (2½-inches in diameter) |
| ½ teaspoon curry powder | Seasoned salt |
| ¾ cup ground lean beef (about ½ pound) | |
| 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion | |
| ½ teaspoon garlic salt | |

Chop walnuts fine. Melt margarine with curry powder; add beef, onion and garlic salt. Cook, stirring, until beef loses its pink color. Remove from heat; add walnuts and ginger. Cool slightly. Pile generously in center of half the pastry rounds. Top each with a second round. Press edges lightly to seal. Prick tops with tines of fork and sprinkle each pastry with seasoned salt. Bake in 450°F. oven for 12 to 15 minutes, or until crisp and golden brown. Serve hot or cold. Makes 24.

To toast walnuts drop the kernels into boiling water for about 3 minutes. Then drain well, and spread in a shallow pan and toast in 350°F. oven for 15 to 20 minutes. Stir them frequently, until they're golden all over.

- | | |
|--------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| 2 cups flour | ¾ cup shortening |
| 1 teaspoon seasoned salt | 4 or 5 tablespoons cold milk or water |

Sift flour and salt into mixing bowl. Cut in shortening until in fine pieces. Add just enough water or milk to hold mixture together. Roll dough to about ⅜-inch thickness. Cut into 48 rounds using a fluted or plain edge cutter about 2½-inches in diameter.

WALNUT MYSTERY BON BONS

- | | |
|---|----------------------------------|
| 1 cup plain or toasted California walnuts | 1 package (8-oz.) cream cheese |
| 36 pitted ripe olives, stuffed green olives and pickled onions (assorted mixture) | 1 teaspoon prepared horse-radish |
| | ½ teaspoon dried dill |
| | ½ teaspoon seasoned salt |

Chop walnuts fairly fine. Dry olives and pickled onions. Beat cheese to soften; beat in horse-radish, dill and seasoned salt. Cover olives and onions with thin coating of seasoned cheese. Roll each bon bon in chopped walnuts to cover. Refrigerate until ready to serve. Makes 3 dozen.

To toast walnuts drop the kernels into boiling water for about 3 minutes. Then drain them well, and spread in a shallow pan and toast in 350°F. oven for 15 to 20 minutes. Stir them frequently, until they're golden all over.

| 1½ cups milk | ¼ cup Parmesan or Swiss cheese, grated |
| 3 slightly beaten egg yolks | Margarine for dotting |

Reheat the soup, but do not allow to boil. Serves 6 to 8.

QUICK RUSSIAN BORSCH

ASPARAGUS CREAM SOUP

2 packages (9-oz.) cut up asparagus	1 teaspoon chicken stock base
1 3/4 cups water	1/4 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
2 tablespoons margarine	Pepper
2 tablespoons flour	3 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt	1 cup sour cream

In a saucepan place asparagus in water; cover, bring to boil; turn heat to simmer and cook until very tender. Meanwhile, in another saucepan, melt butter; blend in flour, salt, chicken stock base, monosodium glutamate and pepper. Gradually add milk; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and loses starchy taste. Using a blender or food mill puree asparagus with cooking liquid; blend in sour cream. Just before serving combine asparagus mixture with white sauce. Heat and serve immediately. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Boil raisins and water for 15 minutes, cool. Sift together flour, salt, soda, nutmeg and cinnamon; set aside. Cream shortening; add sugar and beaten eggs and beat until fluffy. Add the cooled raisin-water mixture alternately with flour mixture; mix well. Bake in greased and floured jelly roll pan (approx. 15 x 10 x 1-inch) in 350° oven for 20 to 25 minutes. When cool frost with a thin layer of vanilla or lemon confectioners' sugar frosting.

YOU, TOO, CAN FLY TO ANY SPOT IN THE WORLD

by Jerry Charles

Farm and Home Travel Consultant

Do you dream of visiting the Old World liederland of Vienna and Budapest, or of strolling through the ancient Inca ruins of Macchu Picchu? Or if you're a sporting man, how would you like to take in the wild game parks of East Africa? And if you are the real adventurous type, how about going around the world in 40 days by Jet Clipper, elephant, camel, luxury train and vintage car?

Why just sit at home and dream about it . . . GO! Packing up and taking off for these places is now made easy for you. First, you have to make up your mind that you want to leave your homestead for a short while and see some of this wonderful world we live in. Then decide what places in this world you would like to see and let a reputable travel agent make the arrangements (or if you don't know of a good travel agent in your area, write to Farm and Home Section in care of this newspaper, and we will see that you are taken care of).

Money? Don't let that bother you. Drive the family car for an extra year or two—it should be able to stand the added, extra mileage. And the money you save by not trading off the car as early as you usually do will go a long way toward paying for that dream trip of yours.

Let's hop a Jet Clipper travelling through the air at nearly 600 miles per hour. You hardly know you're off the ground and yet in a few magic hours you're whisking across the continent . . . the ocean . . . from New York to Paris in 7 hours, for example. This is truly a new age in air travel . . . and it costs so little for you to be a part of it, right now, and your speedy air ride will allow you more time at the place of your dreams.

Take Europe—the traveler's true dream. Europe, where many cultures and nationalities in a compact area offer you more varied experiences, more memorable sights than any other portion of the globe. Go on a tour. You're more independent . . . start any day you wish, with or without a guide . . . choose from dozens of possible routings, sidetrips and stopovers that add individuality to your holiday at little or no extra cost to you.

Perhaps when planning your package tour of Europe you want to find points where you wish to explore the countryside in a car. This is fine, a rented car can be provided in advance as part of your travel arrangements. For example, you have chosen in your tour to fly and visit London, Paris and Rome. However, between Paris and Rome you prefer to drive, just wandering across the continent and seeing the Europe others miss.

Then drive from Paris to Rome and turn in your rented auto at the rental office in Rome and begin enjoying the special features of that city or, travel within Europe by bus. When it is time to leave for home, hop aboard your Jet Clipper and wing home in a matter of hours.

Knowing that most newcomers to world travel would rather travel as a member of a tour than alone, perhaps you would like a sketchy look at a new program of Holiday tours ranging throughout the world.

In Europe, five tours extending from 21 to 32 days crisscross the continent, penetrating the Scandinavian fjords and the Iron Curtain, skirting the Mediterranean, and visiting the major cities of England and France. Rates on these and the other tours briefly described herein would include air and land transportation, accommodations and sightseeing.

A 44-day Africa circle tour, via Lisbon, hops from the newest nations to prehistoric sites, visiting open-air night clubs, modern cities, parks where wild animals roam freely and protected, and the deserts of Egypt.

An around-the-Pacific package covers Japan, Hong Kong, the Philippines, Thailand, Malaysia, Australia, New Zealand, Fiji, Tahiti and Hawaii.

Two around-the-world flights will take you in 25 days to Japan, Hong Kong, Thailand, India, Iran and Turkey; and in 48 days adding Malaysia, Indonesia, India, Middle Eastern countries, Egypt, Greece and Italy.

There's a new 21-day Excursion Fare to make a European Holiday more practical, from a budget viewpoint than ever before. Now do you see why you, too, can afford to go almost any place in the world?

Just what are you doing this winter? Staying at home . . . watching the snow fly? Nothing? You know what you ought to do, hop a Jet Clipper and fly to the area of your dreams. It doesn't cost that much and, oh, the time you'll have! Investigate the costs. Find out for yourself that yes, you can go to Europe, to the Caribbean, to Hawaii, to the Far East or all around the world for a great deal less money than you thought it would cost.

Here are a few basic facts about travel you should know:

TRAVEL AGENTS:

The advice of a travel agent is yours for the asking and most of his services cost you nothing extra. Travel agents render a convenient and valuable service for the would-be traveler. Besides securing reservations, they are prepared to lend friendly counsel and furnish necessary and useful travel information. Often their experience and knowledge of routes, rates, facilities and local customs abroad can save you time as well as expense.

TIPS ON TIPPING:

Tipping practices are quite uniform everywhere except in some areas where restaurants include a 15 percent service charge on the bill. A glance at your check will reveal if a separate tip is applicable. Taxi drivers abroad are usually tipped about 10 percent. In addition, porters at terminals and hotels receive a small fee per bag. Also expecting small tips are washroom and cloakroom attendants, croupiers, theater ushers, etc.

CUSTOMS RESTRICTIONS:

Please check with your travel agent before leaving home, because many nations impose duties or prohibitions on certain items. Commonly restricted items include film, and photographic equipment, tobacco products and alcoholic beverages.

FOREIGN DRIVING:

If you don't want to take advantage of drive-yourself arrangements, you'll need (in addition to your own driver's license) an International Driving Permit for use in Austria, Greece, Portugal, Spain, Singapore and the nations of Eastern Europe. The International Driving Permit is obtainable in your country of residence and your travel agent can provide further information.

If a smallpox epidemic should take the lives of all the people in just one small town, an all-out effort would be made to eliminate the cause of death. However, when accidents take thousands of lives annually only a few work to eliminate such tragedies.

Accidents are responsible for approximately 12,000 deaths among farm and ranch residents in the United States each year. This is equal to the combined populations of Waunakee in Wisconsin; Pochahontas in Iowa; Lacon in Illinois; Auburn in Nebraska; Fessenden in North Dakota; and Hartford in Michigan.

In one year, 1,349 Ohio people held an accidental rendezvous with death in a place that is normally thought to be safe—the home.

The records and statistics unit of the Ohio department of public health show the leading causes of accidental farm deaths are falls, accidents caused by machinery, drowning, and poisoning.

In Iowa, last year, death showed little respect for the age of victims. Agricultural deaths included a one-year-old child drowning in an irrigation ditch and a 79-year-old dying from a fall. In Nebraska death held little respect for the occupation of the victims. Farm and ranch accidents took the lives of farmers, ranchers, crane operators, retired persons, well drillers, students and laborers.

In the Dakotas death uses a variety of methods to claim its victims. In 1962 and 1963, farm and farm home accidents that claimed lives were caused by poisoning, suffocation, falls, machinery, electric current, fire, explosion, firearms, drowning, excessive cold and animals.

Agricultural accidents claim more lives than any other industry in Kansas. There, 55 accidental deaths to Kansas farm residents in one year included only those that occurred in the performance of agricultural work. Thirty-four of the deaths came from tractor accidents. Other machinery was responsible for another 15 percent of the deaths. In short, three out of four of the fatal working accidents happened while working with tractors and farm machines.

Extension cords are not a safe plaything for children. Rope and heavy cord can be equally dangerous.

"PEEK-A-BOO . . . you'll never find me." A good hiding place, but when she is found, electrocution could make this game tragic.

WORSE THAN SMALLPOX

by Burl Hunt
Kansas State University

Half of the deaths caused by farm machinery accidents in Michigan last year were to children and youth 20 years old and less. In some cases, perhaps, the young people were not properly trained to operate the equipment and that lack of training led to an accident.

The National Institute for Farm Safety has recommended six steps for training operators of farm machinery:

1. Make a complete list of the skills needed for safe and efficient operation.
2. Have the learner observe from a safe position while the instructor demonstrates.
3. Demonstrate each skill and give explanations of each step.
4. Give the demonstration more than once if the learner has any questions.
5. Have the learner demonstrate each skill and explain the process as he is doing it.
6. Have the learner repeat the demonstration until he has mastered each skill.

Youth often think that if they obey safety rules life automatically becomes dull and uninteresting. Young people often do not realize that to live useful and exciting lives, adequate safety precautions must be taken to insure that their lives will not be cut short by accidents.

A tractor operator should know that he has very little chance to escape being crushed by a rearing or over-turning tractor. Studies on time and motion prove that a rearing tractor gives the driver approximately two-fifths of a second to get out of the way before it flips backward and pins him underneath.

Fatal farm accidents are largely concentrated among males. This reflects the fact that they generally do the hazardous work around the farm or ranch. However, hazardous work is not the only source of injury and death. There are many other sources waiting for an opportunity to take advantage of a careless person.

Accidents in the home take an alarming toll of lives. The most common cause of death and injury in the home is falls. The majority of falls occur on steps, makeshift ladders, and in bathrooms. Following falls

This all-too-common pleasure for farm and ranch youngsters is a good way to get "plowed under."

The natural curiosity of small children leads them into dangerous situations.

as killers and cripplers of home residents are burns, explosions, gunshots and poisonings.

In the bathroom, the medicine cabinet should be placed out of the reach of children. All medicine should be clearly labeled. It is rather easy to get electrocuted in the bathroom. Many people have proven this by reaching out and turning on an electric switch while standing in a shower or bathtub.

Stairs and hallways should be well-lighted and kept free of litter and toys. All stairs and steps should be kept in good repair. Many home accidents have resulted from stairways that needed repair, or, were cluttered with toys.

"Just being tired" deserves a large share of the blame for accidents in the farm home. Farm homemakers, more than any other group, are guilty of working when overtired. According to the safety specialists, fatigue causes reflexes to slow down. Slow reflexes create a perfect setting for an accident.

Many home accidents occur in the kitchen. Reaching for the top shelf in the kitchen cabinet, while using a chair and mail order house catalog for a ladder, has been the cause of more than one fall. Leaving handles of pots and pans projecting over the front of the stove has been the invitation for many small children to "have a scalding." Poisons, cleaning fluids, detergents, and other dangerous mixtures should not be stored under the kitchen sink within easy reach of inquisitive children.

Even the living room is not always a safe place for living. Small rugs without safety rubberized pads or backs may slip and cause an accident. Makeshift ladders, or reaching out too far from a good ladder, are common causes of living room accidents.

Living room fireplaces should have screens in front of them. A screen may prevent clothing from catching fire, or, it may prevent sparks from setting the house ablaze.

Entire families often lose their lives in home fires. Most home fires are preventable. However, with the approach of each winter the "home fires" continue to burn and many people burn with them.

Only a few of the dangers of farm and ranch life have been mentioned here. There are many others. Thus, it seems we must draw the conclusion that—accidents are worse than smallpox.

Modern surgeons are very skillful at grafting and replacing skin that has been removed by burns and boiling water.

Some accidents cause temporary pain, others cause permanent injury and financial burdens. And then there are those that cause death.

The long white sedan skidded to a stop beside Walter Hansen's back pasture, and the doors burst open, two men and a pair of dogs got out. The men—guns in hand—shouted to the dogs and started over the fence into the pasture.

Their weight pulled staples from several posts, causing the wires to sag nearly to the ground. A pheasant flushed wildly ahead of the dogs—it was the bird the men had spotted crossing the road in front of them. They both fired, though the bird was out of range.

One of the hunters cursed, and then they called the dogs, stepped back over the downed wires and roared off in a cloud of dust.

The story doesn't end there. It ends with Walter Hansen's cows stepping through the damaged fence and out onto the road where one of them was killed by a truck coming over the top of a rise.

Now, along Walter's pasture fence there are "No Trespassing" signs on every other post, and he enforces them with a bitterness that he sometimes doesn't take the trouble to explain.

This is a case of farmer-hunter relationship at its worst. Fortunately it is not the rule, for there are three cases for every one like the one just cited where farmers and hunters get along fine. And if there is one single thing on which the successful relationships are based it must be respect.

The farmer and the hunter must first of all respect each other as individuals. Today's farmer is head of an operation fully as complex and demanding as that of any of his city cousins' enterprises. He is not a hick from over the hill who hooks his thumbs in his overalls and spits tobacco juice at the grasshoppers.

He must be respected for what he is, and by the same token, the hunter deserves like respect. In most cases he is a responsible citizen who owns only a tiny hunk of suburbia and must look elsewhere for a place to stretch his legs with a dog and a gun.

The hunter must turn to those who are guardians of the broad fields and the rolling woodlots. And he must do this turning not like the two men in the white sedan, but like a gentleman. If he does this—minds his manners—then the farmer owes it to him to treat him accordingly.

The rules for the hunter are so basic they hardly warrant repeating, but just for the record, they include asking permission to hunt, parking in the farmer's yard if he so desires, respecting crops and equipment—avoiding areas that might be damaged by man or dog trespass—crossing fences without damaging them, and being most careful of targets and the direction of shots.

Landowners, like Walter Hansen, often have good reasons for not allowing hunters on their land. There are the cases of pigs being shot, of gates left open, or of crops damaged.

But these are the careless deeds done by a minority who cannot be called sportsmen. They ruin things for everyone, and their destruction makes it easy to understand why the farmer wants some control of his land and at least a look at the fellow who is tramping across his property.

However, since the destruction and carelessness result from an unthinking minority, the farmer should not lump all those who like the out-of-doors into the same category. Certainly the landowner has no time for interviews and investigations, but most men of the land are shrewd judges of character. It is this judgment that the sportsman deserves, even if he is getting a refusal to use the farmer's land. He should not be made to feel that he is attempting some sort of crime, simply by requesting permission to hunt.

There is a growing trend to let money solve the problem—hunters paying the farmers a fee to get certain hunting rights, and maybe this, along with public hunting grounds, is the final answer.

But there must still remain for years, and hopefully for generations, a relationship between the farmer and the hunter that is based on respect.

Those of us on both sides of the fence owe it to those coming generations to help foster this respect.

Don't destroy fencing.

Ask for permission to hunt.

Respect crops, equipment.

Know what you're shooting at.

Should we put a one-to-a-customer limit on the Model 1100?

When we introduced this extraordinary automatic shotgun last season, it created a sensation among America's shooters. Now that it's also available in 16 and 20 gauges, we're working full steam just to keep up with the demand. Not surprising, though, when you consider these facts:

Greatly increased shooting life. Why? Because the entire gun is built more ruggedly than other automatics. The receiver is machined from solid steel. Parts of greatest stress are specially reinforced; others have been highly polished to reduce friction. And areas of greatest impact have special buffering cushions. Finally, the metal finish is extremely rust-resistant, and the rich American walnut stock has the toughest finish ever put on a gun.

Far less "kick" than other automatics. And even greater recoil reduction in comparison with non-automatics. That's because a completely new gas-operated system spreads out recoil effect more evenly. All the power is still there, but you feel the "kick" far, far less.

Most punishing testing ever given a shotgun. For example, we poured 37,000 consecutive rounds through a Model 1100 without a hitch... subjected it to severe conditions of water, dirt and cold with no difficulties. As for looks? Well, see for yourself. And balance? Perfect.

Now in 12, 16 and 20 gauges. So there's really no reason for not shooting a Model 1100 this season, no matter what kind of shooting you do. We won't put a one-to-a-customer limit on it just yet. But it's still a good idea to see your Remington dealer now while he has a number of them in stock. Plain and ventilated-rib barrels. All standard chokes and barrel lengths. 5-shot capacity. No adjustment for all 2¾" loads. Trap, skeet and magnum models. From $149.95*

YOU'LL ENJOY READING ABOUT THIS ILLINOIS FARM COUPLE

Applying ammonia is the first step in the spring for Clyde Hight.

Nobody who has visited the Clyde Hight place near Moweaqua, Illinois, would think for a minute that it isn't a going farm business . . . one that requires hard work and an unusual managerial ability.

Take Clyde Hight, for instance. He's up to his ears in corn. This year he has 500 acres of close to the best corn you'll find anywhere. His past results look like this: 1961—126 bu. per acre; 1962—140 bu. per acre; and 1963—157 bushels. This year he has it figured to hit the 180-bushel average.

How does he do it? He can point to no one single thing for his success. It's a series of things, he says, "We're using heavy fertilizer applications, herbicides and insecticides—plus test plots to know where we are going, plus a tilth improvement program. On top of this, we are planting better hybrids."

Each year Clyde has increased his plant population. Last year it was 20,000 plants per acre; this year it is 23,000. He plants earlier, too, than most farmers in the area. "We start about April 24 and we are through when a lot of others are just thinking about it," Clyde told us.

He has all of his corn laid-by about June 20 and the cultivator is in the shed when others are just starting to cultivate. For two years running he has found his early corn to be best.

The soil is in far better condition now because of minimum tillage. It is looser, holds water better and has fewer weeds. Starting in the fall after he is through combining and shelling his corn, he goes over the field with a chopper. Also in the fall he spreads phosphate and potash and plows it under.

Minimum tillage is another reason Clyde Hight figures he can produce big corn yields at low cost. Once over with this equipment and he has planted, applied herbicide, insecticide and harrowed.

To be able to turn out such works of art right in her own home is a source of great enjoyment and satisfaction for Mrs. Hight.

plates bring $1.65 and cake plates bring $3.00. The price varies with the quality of blank plates you buy.

"Clyde gets a kick out of pouring the slip into the molds sometimes," she volunteered. The slip is a thin mix of clay and water. This is put into the mold and left to set for a short period. The excess is poured out and the remainder becomes leathery from the slip. When the clay in the mold is tough enough, the mold is opened and out comes a replica of the original.

The Hight kiln has produced figurines, sagged glass, tiles and many other beautiful things. Now Mrs. Hight is looking forward to doing some portrait and scenic tiles for framing. Some of these may end up as nice Christmas presents for friends like the Santa mugs she made and painted one Christmas.

In the spring the ground is not touched except for putting on anhydrous ammonia, field cultivating (including a harrow but no disc), planting and a single cultivation when the corn is about knee high. Herbicides and pesticides are put on at planting.

"Another thing that has helped us," Clyde remarked, "is slow planting . . . 2 to 3 miles per hour, 1 kernel every 7 inches." This figures 23,800 kernels per acre. Actually, he is varying the actual weight of his seed planted from 100 to 140 pounds per acre.

It's a good thing to increase yields per acre, but certainly just as important . . . maybe more important . . . is reducing the cost of producing each bushel. Clyde has reduced his cost steadily. In 1961 it cost him 71¢ per bushel; in 1962, 68¢; in 1963, 59½¢. This year he hopes to do even better. And these figures include interest, tax, fertilizer, equipment, seed—everything.

His profit per acre in 1960 was $27.00 per acre. In 1963 his profit went up to $80.60 per acre. You might say he doubled or tripled the size of the farm without adding an acre.

Clyde isn't stopping with 180 bushels either. He figures he'll be able to hit 200 bushels by 1965. To do this he is relying to great extent on his test plots to let him know where he might make economical improvements in his program. In Clyde's words, "I believe a man can make a big season's wages by putting out a test plot. But he has to accurately check and study results—then act accordingly."

Like her husband, Mrs. Clyde Hight is an inspiration to those who know her. She helps out in the field by driving a tractor or whatever is necessary. (In turn Clyde pitches in and helps with the housework when necessary.)

One of her most outstanding talents is her ceramics work. This dates back to 1956 when she was introduced to the hobby by a friend. Once a week she drove 35 miles into Decatur to attend adult education classes in ceramics. Then later she took some instruction in a private home.

"Once you get started you want to branch out," she told us. "You see all the nice things other people are doing so you want to try to do them, too."

But she found the key ingredient to having a lot of enjoyment is having her own kiln. Her's cost $125.00, including the supports used for the kiln.

"Getting started in painting ceramics is not too costly," Mrs. Hight added. "For $15.00 you can buy brushes, paints, and still have money left over to get a blank plate to work on." If you buy a dozen the size she uses, the cost will be about one dollar each. Fancy

TERRAMYCIN'S DOUBLE ATTACK

...it works in the gut and the blood

FIGHT SCOURS BEST

...with Terramycin Scours Tablets

HERE'S WHY: You may have to use two or more ordinary drugs or drug combinations to start duplicating the double attack against disease (see below) you get with Terramycin Scours Tablets.

1. They start to work instantly in the stomach and intestines to fight scours and other mixed bacterial infections. Most drugs stop there. But not Terramycin.

2. It's absorbed into the blood stream to fight disease in the respiratory tract and throughout the body without need for injection. But that's not all. Terramycin fights more kinds of organisms than most other drugs. And it's especially valuable for:

SCOURS: infectious diarrheas, enteritis, dysentery, vibrio, necro, salmonella and bacillary infections, colitis, paratyphoid dysentery, hemorrhagic enteritis (black or bloody scours).

RESPIRATORY DISEASES: pneumonia, shipping fever, bronchitis, pleurisy. NAVEL ILL

Fortified with Vitamins A, D and niacinamide, too, to help spur appetites and growth, build healthy bones and support the treatment of disease. It's the best you can buy at any price.

It works in the gut and the blood

Terramycin fights disease in the digestive tract.

No other drug has a broader spectrum than Terramycin.

It's absorbed into the blood without need for injection.

It stops germs throughout the body, not just the gut.

GRASSROOTS GLEANINGS

by Bill Stokes

Teeth from one person have been successfully transplanted into the mouth of another person, reports The Devil's Lake (N.D.) Journal.

I, for one, could never get used to the idea that someone was chewing beefsteak with one of my teeth. Could you?

The Marshall (Minn.) Messenger tells this one—said the doctor gravely after examining the patient, "I don't like the looks of your husband, Mrs. Smith."

Mrs. Smith: "Neither do I, doctor, but he's good to the children."

Remember when all a smoker had to worry about was whether that strange thing on the coffee table was an ash tray, asks The Sisseton (S.D.) Courier.

The Mountrail County Promoter, Stanley, N. D., tells the one of the matron who walked into the department store and asked the pretty young thing in the information booth to direct her to the perfume counter.

"Just walk this way," said the young lady, taking the lead.

"Humpf!" the matron said, "if I could walk that way I wouldn't need perfume."

The Wayne County Press, Fairfield, Ill., says that last year's birth statistics indicate a lot of people went stork mad.

At least four of my kids should be in college by 1970, so it was cheering to read in The Enterprise of Blair, Nebraska that the cost of education will be twice as much as it is now when 1970 rolls around.

On the same subject, The Review of Portageville, Mo., says that it costs more to amuse a child than it once did to educate his father.

"I note with some sadness," says a writer in the The Osceola (Neb.) Record, "that a dollar won't do as much for me as it used to, but also I note that I won't do as much for a dollar as I used to."

For some people, life is forever an effort to make the best of a bad situation, claims The Mercer County Chronicle, Coldwater, Ohio.

"Middle age is when you can do everything you used to do, but not until tomorrow," says The Huntingburg (Indiana) Independent.
