New Post Office Building Will Be Built in Carroll

CARROLL—Plans to acquire a new post office building here were announced today by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski.

The new building, Mr. Gronouski said, "is designed to carry out the Post Office Department's objective of a more efficient postal service combined with improved working conditions for our employees."

Alternatives Mr. Gronouski explained would involve remodeling the existing building or moving into other suitable quarters in the same community.

The building in Carroll will be located on the southeast corner of Main and Broadway. Preliminary plans call for 1,096 square feet of floor space, with an area of 2,400 square feet for parking and movement of postal vehicles.

The Postmaster General said the building will be constructed under the Department's Lease Construction program. With the government's capital investment limited to postal requirements, the building will remain under private ownership and the owner will pay local real estate taxes.

Plans and specifications for the new building, as well as bidding forms and other pertinent data, will be made available to prospective bidders at an early date, at which time the Department will advertise for bids.

The site option will be assigned to the successful bidder, who will purchase the land, construct the building and lease it to the Department.

Jan Peerce Sings At WSC Wednesday

Metropolitan Opera tenor Jan Peerce will appear in concert at Wayne State's Rice auditorium next Wednesday night. One of the most celebrated singers of our time, Peerce will sing here on his annual American concert tour under the management of S. Hurak.

The performance begins at 8 p.m. Tickets for the public will be sold at the door.

Peerce has established a reputation of supremacy in any music, from opera to popular tunes, and has received wild ovations for both.

Says Peerce, "Music is either good or bad, not 'pops' or 'long hair.'" And that is probably why he could sing at Radio City Music Hall and then become Toscanini's favorite tenor without change of gears.

He has sung on five continents and was the first American artist to sing with the Bolshoi Opera in Moscow. Last year he made his second tour of Russia, gave his first recitals in Paris, and sang in Israel the world premiere of a Hebrew of Beethoven's "Fidelio."

Mike Karel Is Acting In University Theatre

Mike L. Karel, Wayne, a University of Nebraska music senior, will play seven different character roles in "Peer Gynt" an imaginative folk play when the University of Nebraska theatre competes in the finals for the honor of presenting a play at the formal opening of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Center in Washington, D. C. next Easter week.

The University student players share regional honors in the first tryouts with the University of Missouri and Kansas State University. The three groups will compete for the right to perform at the opening of the Kennedy Center.

The Nebraska students were chosen on the basis of a special audition of players from 17 universities in Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, South Dakota and Nebraska. Twelve university theatre groups will be chosen from among all regional winners to perform.

The play will be seen by Nebraska audiences when the University Theatre opens its season this Thursday through Nov. 1.

The production is written by Henrik Ibsen. Karel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Karel.

Pender Girl Is Named Pork Queen at Banquet Sunday

Miss Joanne Welsh, Pender, was crowned the 1965 Nebraska Pork Queen at the Nebraska Pork banquet here Sunday evening. Miss Welsh is the daughter of T. and Mrs. John Welsh who live on a farm north of Pender.

First runner-up was Miss Joan Nellor, Beemer, and second runner-up was Miss Norma Lutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lutt, Wayne. A total of 15 queen candidates were viewed by approximately 800 people. Congressman Ralph Beermann presented the queen tier crown.

Crowning of the queen climaxed an evening packed with promotion of the pork industry. Chas. T. Morgan, Wayne mayor, stated "This organization has taken the pig by the tail and is promoting its own industry." Governor Frank Morrison noted how the swine industry has transformed itself from the days of the "fast running razor back," and pointed out how responsible people of the swine industry are helping themselves in the role of economic development.

Dr. Cecil Bliss, Sioux City, national speaker for the American Dental Association, told the crowd how personality factors influence a person's success.

Arnold Peterson, WOW, Omaha, announced the swine award winners. The commercial winners were Ted Panning, Hooper; Robert Delap, Lexington; and Delmar Rowe, Herman John R. Cooper, Humboldt, was selected as the person outside of the industry, who had contributed the most to the industry.

The holders award was presented to George McGuire of Wayne for his success as a pig breeder. Mr. McGuire also received a made-up license plate identifying Nebraska as The Pork State.

Iowa hog producers received some competition when Don Shriver, Nebraska Centennial Director, read a telegram sent to presidential candidate Barry Goldwater. The contents of the telegram noted that Lyndon Johnson, President of the United States, had requested an Iowa boar for his ranch in Texas. The Nebraska Swine Council, not to be outdone, offered a "better" boar to Senator Goldwater.

Arrangements for the Pork banquet were handled by members of the Nebraska swine council: Jim Volk, Battle Creek, President of the council, was assisted by George Pick, Hartington, who served as toastmaster. Ticket sales were directed by Leland Nelson, secretary-treasurer who lives near Norfolk. Dick Sorensen, Wayne, was in charge of local arrangements.

Eldon Robinson, Randolph, was in charge of the queen contest. Judges for the queen contest were Mrs. Wanda Owens, Wayne; Mrs. Leo Lucas, Lincoln; and Craighton Knu, WYAK, Yankton.

Plans Announced for Agricultural Census

Plans for taking the 1964 Census of Agriculture in Wayne county were announced today by Joseph R. Molacek, Howells, newly-appointed census crew leader for the county.

The job will be done in three stages. First will come recruiting and training of enumerators to count all farms in the county. About one enumerator for each 150 farms will be needed.

Shortly after Nov. 5, the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U. S. Department of Commerce, will start the second stage by mailing agricultural census questionnaires to all rural boxholders in the county. This will give farm and ranch operators, who are required by law to fill out the forms, a period of time to consult their records and fill in answers to the questions.

In the final stage, enumerators will visit each farm in the county to collect the questionnaires. At the time of this visit, the enumerators will help farmers complete answers to any questions the farmers may have had difficulty with. Enumerator visits are scheduled to begin in this county on Nov. 9, 1964. Enumerators will take about three weeks to complete their work.

Census of Agriculture is taken every five years in the years ending in "4" and "9" to gather up-to-date information on the nation's agricultural resources and production. Such information is vital in making decisions affecting many segments of the U. S. economy. Data gathered include the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock inventory, information on farm equipment and facilities, farm products sold, and use of fertilizers, insecticides and herbicides.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Mr. Editor:

The minority group who is so vigorously trying to change our elected state board of education to an elected commission are certainly going against the major American principle carried out in most enterprises. It is at business, or social, such as education, having an elected governing board and an appointed administrator to carry out its plans and policies, is the American way.

A group who claim that superior education is their foremost concern are very inconsistent in their thinking when they would turn this state's educational system into a completely political playground.

So often we hear the phrases, "an American socialist," "Communist," "in order to run present educational set-up." Maybe it is time to ask ourselves just who is an American? I am voting 301 against the amendment.

Sincerely,
A farmer, a taxpayer,
and a concerned parent

Dear Editor:

There are persons who think it proper to vote when the future education of our children is at stake. I am not one of them. Why shouldn't it be proper to vote for Commissioner of Education? California has gotten a conservative state superintendent by electing him, surely we Nebraskans are intelligent enough to elect one also.

If the Board of Education is appointed and they in turn are a sloppy job of representation there is really one person at fault, therefore the governor had better be pretty careful whom he picks.

As for politics entering in, we had one commissioner that was continually trying to tell the legislature how to vote by lobbying with them. Still another would like to tell the legislature how "the people" should be taxed. We would like to have one tell of the good he can do in the future education of our children and grandchildren. Let's put the Commissioner of Education back into the hands of the people.

Sincerely,
Wayne County Parents,
Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Roberts,
Wakefield, Nebraska

Dear Editor:

I believe the people should have the right to vote directly for the State Commissioner of Education. The children belong to the parents, not the State, and the parents should have the right to tell the top educators what they want for their children.

The present system in the past 12 years has brought about a decline in interest in the part of the public in state level education simply because the system prevents parents and taxpayers to have any real voice in education. They do not hear important matters discussed and debated on a state wide campaign.

A system which distrusts the voters cannot be working in the best interests of the children.

Vote 300.

Sincerely yours,
Virginia Leonard

Dear Editor:

A certain farm owner determined to raise hogs, so he hired a man who knew how to raise hogs and he said to him, "You shall be in charge of my big business, do the best you can and you shall be responsible only unto me."

Then the farm owner went to his farm foreman and he said, "I have hired a man to raise hogs for me. Go hire an advisory board for him. This board shall have one member who raises hogs in single pen hog houses, another who raises hogs in 3 pen houses, another who raises hogs in a central hog house and yet another who raises SPF hogs. The fourth member you may select from any place."

So the foreman thought, "My nephew, Sam, raises hogs in single pen houses. I will get him to serve on the board. My wife's uncle has had a hard go of it lately raising hogs in 3 pen houses. I will give him a job to help him out. Neighbor Jake will qualify because he uses a central hog house. Then if I give Ed, who raises SPF hogs, the honor of being on the board, he may help me get started in SPF hogs if I lose my job here. Any one will do for the other member so I'll just tell Bill I'll put him on if he forgets the $50 I owe him from the poker game last week."

So this is what came to pass, and what do you think happened?

"Sound silly to you?"

that will be implemented if you vote for 300 and it passes. The serious thing is it is your children involved and not pigs. VOTE (X) 301 AGAINST.

Yours truly,
Uriele Hugh from Polzeat Slough

Dear Editor:

The parents of the children in this state, whether city or rural, have the same basic desire and wishes in regard to the education of their children. They wish for good sound basic education and morally sound principles of leadership.

If the people retain the power to a direct vote for their Commissioner of Education, the city voters and rural voters, together, shall be able to direct the future of our children. By popular vote a check and balance will serve the best interest of our youngsters.

At present our state board members who appoint our Commissioner of Education all come from and reside in the metropolitan area of our state. Only 3 classes of schools are represented.

Never has there been so much unhappiness, confusion and frustration as has developed in the past twelve years under our present appointive system.

To regain a direct vote that the people of Nebraska once lost VOTE 300 (X) FOR YOUR RIGHT TO VOTE.

Sincerely,
A parent and former teacher

What have Frogs

to do with Freedom

"There's an old story that says you can't kill a frog by dropping him in boiling water. He reacts so quickly to the sudden heat that he jumps out before he's hurt. But if you put him in cold water and then warm it up gradually, he never decides to jump till it's too late. By then he's cooked!"

"Men are just as foolish. Take away their freedom overnight, and you've got a violent revolution. But steal it from them gradually (under the guise of 'security', 'peace', or 'progress') and soon they have lost self-rule."

THIS TD PASS hit the ground moments after this picture was taken, but Wayne didn't need it as they went on to an easy 16-6 victory.

Devils Down Hartington Cedar Catholic Friday

Wayne High used the effective combination of steam roller attack and stubborn defense in dropping Cedar Catholic of Hartington Friday night 16-6.

Cedar Catholic opened the scoring in the first period. Trojan halfback Hochstein took the ball on the second CC play at the touchdown.

Attempt for the extra point was no good and Cedar Catholic held an early 6-0 lead. After sealing the touchdown run of Hochstein's Coach Jerry Ball said he thought it was going to be a long night. He was right. It was a long night. . . but not for Wayne.

The Devils rolled up 284 yards total offense while holding Cedar Catholic to 132.

The offensive had had little trouble getting the ball into Trojan territory, but could not capitalize on their scoring opportunities.

The first came immediately after the CC touchdown. Wayne moved the ball from their own 41 to the Trojan 11 before a penalty stopped the drive. Wayne lost the ball on downs and CC took over.

Four plays later CC was forced to kick, and the short, 24 yard punt put the ball on the Trojan's own 30.

Devils pushed the ball to the 30 yard line but a penalty put the ball back to the 17 when the quarter ended. The closest Wayne could come this time was the 10 before losing the ball on downs.

Four plays later CC kicked, this time to their own 41. Wayne put the ball on the 3 yard line with a 4th and 3 situation.

Green threw a pass over the middle of the line to Elson, who was all alone under the goal post. But the play was a little too easy for the ball slipped through his fingers and the Trojans once again took over on downs.

We don't think anyone can say he honestly knows how Elson felt after that play, but Coach Ball said "I think it did him more good than harm."

Wayne's defense proved the best

Fumbles recovered by 1 0

- The State Meet will be held Saturday, Oct. 31, in Lincoln at Spalding Field.

Hasebroeck Cops First In Cross Country Meet

An undefeated record by Wayne State's cross country team will get a stiff test Saturday in the Nebraska College Conference meet at Kearney.

Winner of four meets this year, the Wildcats have its sights on a difficult target—downing perennial champion Kearney.

Wayne barriers defeated Chadron State, 16-40, here last Saturday. Carl Owczarzak remained undefeated as he clocked 21:55 on the four-mile course. A. D. Benson came in second for Wayne at 22:16, followed by Larry Reilly of Chadron at 22:37; Ken Katzer, Wayne, 22:33, and Al Gatzemeyer, Wayne, 23:19.

Next in order: John Gard, Wayne; John Bays, Chadron; Barry Johnson, Wayne; Jerry Barak, Wall Dyer; Dick Wasserberger and Ed Groves, Chadron; Pete Strals, Wayne.

Osmond, Niobrara Tie 7-7

Osmond and Niobrara played to a 7-7 tie at Osmond Friday night. Niobrara scored their touchdown in the first quarter. Osmond's TD came in the final period on a 40-yard pass play.

Osmond will host Elgin St. Bonaventure Friday night.

Wakefield Gets Fifth Win

Wakefield's Trojans came up with their fifth victory in six starts Friday night with a 13-7 victory at West Point High.

Fischer scored the first Wakefield touchdown on a 5-yard run in the second quarter. A Fischer to Brownell pass scored the point after.

In the third quarter Nixon went into the end zone from the 1-yard line. The PAT was unsuccessful. An 80-yard run by Ringelhoff scored the West Point TD. Polena kicked the extra point.

Friday night Wakefield will entertain West Point Central Catholic.

Hastings Is Wayne Foe In League Play Saturday

Showdown night in football comes Saturday when Wayne State and Hastings seize the argument on second place in the Nebraska College Conference.

In the game in Wayne's Memorial Stadium matches teams win a conference mark. For the season the Broncos are 5-1, having lost a squeaker to Kearney, 30-28, last Saturday. Wayne is 4-2 and owns a three-game win streak.

Both have been tough on offense and defense, judging by point production for the season. Hastings has scored 174 and given up 94 while Wayne scored 156 and allowed 72.

Over a 120 game series, Hastings has won nine, and the game was a tie. That tie, 7-7 in the last time Wayne managed to break even with the Broncos. The last Wayne victory was in 1958.

Wayne Coach John Jermier reported at mid-week that his squad should be near peak strength physically after a siege of injuries and illness. Halfback Jerry Kill duty after skipping last week's game to let a leg injury mend.

But even if he is below par, he has a formidable substitute in Bruce Miller, a freshman power, nose who took Kicomon's place against Chadron. Miller scored twice and rushed 110 yards with a smashing style that looked more like a fullback than a halfback.

He and fullback Burt Matthies provided most of the offense eleven, 39-14. Burt also scored twice and gained 115 yards to regain the team rushing lead from Kilcison.

It was a Matthies spectacular that jarred Chadron on Wayne's first play. The Eagles, on their first play after the opening kickoff, lost a fumble. Tenen Matthies crashed 34 yards for six points. He missed the extra point kick this time and also the next two times he tried. But it didn't matter in the end.

Chadron refused to play dead, but recovered a Wayne fumble in mid-first period, then scored two plays later on a 45-yard pass from Doug Olson to Gene Basehore. The same passing team added the conversion point.

Wayne retaliated shortly with two more touchdowns, the first on a one-yard plunge by Miller, the second on Van Steckelberg's mighty catch of a 29-yard Dean DeBurr pass.

Still not whipped, the Eagles score again in the second period when Olson connected with Steve Evans on a six-yard pass. Larry Gold kicked the point. Gold also

College Phys Ed Class Holds Olympic Games

Wayne had its own Olympics in recent weeks—in college physical education classes.

Each Friday all members of the PE classes competed in track and field events—100 and 440-yard dashes, high jump, javelin, board jump and shot put.

Instructor Mike Olson had several purposes for the local olympics—to capitalize an interest in the real Olympics, to give the students some inter-class competition, to let them try some events they might never have done, and—candidly—to discover some potential varsity track men.

The first three goals certainly were achieved, and possibly the last. At any rate, Olson noted some startling performances, such as a 5-6 high jump, a 120-foot javelin throw, an 11.4 100-yard dash, a 20-foot broad jump. Most of these marks were accomplished by men with little or no training in the events.

"Sometimes," said Olson, "a fellow discovers talent he didn't know he had, then goes on to develop it from such an event as this."

provided most of Chadron's offensive power with 112 yards in 21 carries.

The Wildcats promptly moved 93 yards to the pay line, Matthies slamming the final yard and Dennis Kirby kicking the point for a 25-14 half lead.

Wayne took the second half kickoff on a sustained drive that scored on a DeBurr to Roger Bentley pass for 14 yards. Kirby again kicked the point. Chadron's following drive stalled on the Wayne 15, and the Cats marched again for their sixth tally. Miller and freshman quarterback Steve Feinstein contributed several long runs, Miller going the last 13 yards and Kirby converting.

Jermier used his entire squad in the last quarter.

Wisner Still Winning
Wisner took a holiday Friday night as they traveled to Oakland and rolled over their hosts 40-6.

A big second quarter saw three Wisner men cross the goal as the Bulldogs held a half-time lead of 27-0.

Wisner added one more in the third period and another in the fourth. Oakland's lone TD came in the fourth.

'65 Comet completes 16,200-mile durability run from Cape Horn to Fairbanks, Alaska, in 40 days

Livellor Comet proves once again why it's the World's Durability Champion. Uses show-room models in day-and-night grind from the bottom to the top of the world.

FAIRBANKS, Oct. 22 — Three Mercury Comets today finished a run no car has ever attempted in so short a time—the rugged 16,200-mile grind from Cape Horn to Fairbanks.

En route, day and night, the cars had no major repairs, just routine maintenance. That's ample proof that 1965 Comets are powerful and tough, not just lively and beautiful.

Bottom to top, 16,200 miles.

Shades of Daytonal Comet is famous for durability. Last year, specially equipped Comets ran 100,000 miles at Daytona in 40 days.

Regular production-model Comets used, just like show-room Comets. Want to see the car that made it from Cape Horn to Fairbanks? Visit your Mercury dealer's. Check a 1965 Comet Caliente, with smooth Multi-Drive Merc-O-Matic. The only difference, the run cars had an extra gas tank, because service stations are frequently so far apart in South America.

In South America, Spring was near. Thaws flooded the roads.

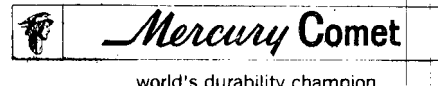

Passing abandoned gold refinery at Antofagasta, northern Chile.

Good city roads were relief for drivers after rugged stretches.

Comets are ready for immediate delivery. No waiting, if you order yours now.

CHARLES THONE LEADS IN LT. GOVERNOR RACE

A substantial lead in the Lt. Governor race is what Democrats and Republicans alike credit to popular Charles Thone, GOP candidate in his campaign for the state's number two office.

Long a volunteer worker in statewide civic, educational and youth activities, Thone has also served well in responsible public office. He is stressing "Experience" — "Still the Best Teacher" in his first race for elective office.

Looking for a sizeable vote in the Nov. 3 General Election, Thone is building on his near 2 to 1 victory over 6 opponents in the May Primary Election.

Thone, a 40-year-old Lincoln attorney who was born and raised on a farm near Hartington, has promised to "preside impartially and fairly over the Legislature" and to do all he could to shorten the length of the sessions if elected.

"It is my intention to work closely with all committees of the Legislature and provide the best leadership I can as a hard-working Lieutenant Governor," said Thone. "As a public official, I would also be very careful with taxpayer dollars," he said.

Deputy secretary of state under the late Frank Marshall, Sr. from 1949-59, Thone was an assistant attorney general from 1950 to 1951, then assistant U.S. District Attorney from 1952 to 1953. He then served four years as top aid to Senator Hruska in Washington. Of German ancestry, he is married to the former Ruth Raymond of Scottsbluff and they have three children.

The world's leading acoustical experts made the test.
The U. S. Auto Club certified the results: at 20 mph... at 40 mph... at 60 mph...

The 1965 Ford rides quieter than a Rolls-Royce!

Prior to the introduction of the 1965 Fords, the country's leading automotive writers drove the new models at Dearborn. Most of these experts remarked about the extraordinary quietness and smoothness of the Ford ride. An automotive writer in Mechanix Illustrated, said, "If there is a quieter car made in this country, I haven't driven it."

Quiet Means Quality . . . Since quiet is a traditional measure of car quality, Ford engineers designed the '65 Ford for maximum quietness. To illustrate to be slightly quieter at all speeds.

The official test report reads, in part: "At all moving speeds, on both courses, the Fords were quieter than the Rolls-Royces."

The Difference . . . The sound level difference, to be sure, is small—but it is there. At 60 miles an hour, Ford was actually 2.8 decibels* quieter than Rolls-Royce. At 40, Ford was 5.5 decibels* quieter. At 20, Ford was 4.9 decibels* quieter. However small these advantages over Rolls-Royce may be, they are significant evidence of quality—important to anyone buying a car in Ford's class.

Take A Test Drive . . . A key—and a warm welcome—await you at your Ford Dealer's. The key, incidentally, fits in the lock no matter which side is up—symbolic of the hundreds of advances you'll find in any Ford you road-test. Come in and see for yourself.

*Decibels are the universally recognized units for measuring the volume of sound.

LET'S TALK COMMON SENSE ABOUT YOUR CHILDREN'S EDUCATION

• Do You Want To Lose Your Right To Vote For Your State Board-of-Education?

At present you elect your State Board of Education which means you have choice in selecting those who decide your children's education.

The proponents of the amendment would deny you a vote in the selection of this obviously important body of policy-makers. Instead they would fill these positions through political appointment, and you know what this would mean.

• Do You Want A Capable Commissioner Of Education, Or Do You Want Your Children's Future Thrown Into A Campaign Where Political Ability Counts More Than Competence?

At present the State Board of Education, which you elect, considers all the applicants for commissioner, sifts through their qualifications, visits them on the job, and then appoints the man MOST COMPETENT to care for your children.

Under the proposed Amendment, you the voter, lose the right to this careful selection. Instead, from two men on the ballot one will be elected, not on his abilities as an educator, but on his abilities as a "vote-getter."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

An Informed Electorate

Get-out-the-vote campaigns have been a part of national elections for a great many years. Of late, however, something new and eminently worthwhile has been added. More and more of these campaigns stress that it is the duty of the voter to seriously and thoroughly study the issues and evaluate the candidates before entering the polling booth.

An uninformed vote is worse than no vote at all. The policies and principles that are adopted now, with the consent

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. of the electorate, are those which will do much to determine this nation's future. They will, in many instances, profoundly affect the lives and opportunities of our children and our children's children. It cannot too often be repeated that an informed people is the first essential to the perpetuation of our institutions and our freedoms.

Recommendation from Iowa Gets Nebraska's Approval

LINCOLN — Nebraska's interest in an Iowa recommendation that a six-state river authority be formed to plan recreational development along the Mississippi, Missouri and Big Sioux Rivers.

Met O. Steen, Nebraska Game Commission director, reports that the plan has some excellent possibilities. He feels Nebraska would greatly benefit by any program to accelerate Missouri River recreational development.

Steen notes that one-third of the Cornhusker State's population resides in the 14 counties bordering on the Missouri River. He said, though, the eastern part of the state is far from having realized its full recreational potential.

"You bet we're interested," the veteran game chief commented. "We want to get together with Iowa officials and see exactly what they have in mind."

The proposal envisions a river authority responsible for working out coordinated plans for orderly recreational development and use of common boundary waters and adjacent scenic areas.

It's hoped the plan would prompt the setting of the boundary between Nebraska and Iowa at the center of the new established river channel.

Neither state has been able to agree on a permanent boundary and this has resulted in a U. S. Supreme Court argument between the states.

The proposed authority would embrace Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, South Dakota and Illinois as well as Nebraska. It would mainly be concerned with conservation and outdoor resources.

Vocational Funds An allotment of $439,000 in federal matching funds is available for guidance services in Nebraska schools for the 1965-67 biennium, according to Cecil E. Stanley, head of the vocational education division of the Nebraska Department of Education.

The figures more than double the 1963-65 allotment of $219,000, Stanley said. The money is earmarked for testing, guidance and counseling in public schools. Stanley said the schools have been providing about 80 per cent of the money spent for guidance activities, with a 20 per cent reimbursement from the federal government.

He said the percentage of reimbursement to the schools probably will be increased, and guidance services will be improved and expanded to elementary students. All matching funds for guidance are provided by individual schools.

Taxes Richard P. Vinal, district director of the Internal Revenue Service, urges tax-exempt organizations in Nebraska who have received questionnaires from the IRS as to their current status to complete and submit them at once.

Vinal says Internal Revenue needs the data for dating its records prior to conversion to automatic data processing.

Organizations not responding to the questionnaires will be presumed to be either inactive or no longer interested in maintaining their exempt status.

Vinal said they will not be included in the official roster and listings of exempt organizations soon to be issued. Additionally, they may also be required to file federal income tax returns.

Figure Grain in Field If your harvesting equipment is tuned to the ultimate and you still think you are leaving too much grain in the field, there are ways of determining just how much loss you are suffering.

Shelled corn losses are determined by figuring the number of kernels per square foot. One and one half to two kernels per square foot is equivalent to a loss of one bushel of shelled corn per acre.

Ear corn losses with 40 inch rows can be estimated by picking the dropped ears between 2 rows in a distance of 185 feet. The ears are then weighed. The total weight is equal to the ear corn loss in bushels per acre. This method should also be duplicated to obtain an average.

The kernels per square foot that equal a bushel per acre loss for the fall crops are: grain sorghum, 28 to 30; soybeans, 4 to 5.

Repeal Invaders If you find your home besieged by the annual fall army of insects trying to get out of the cold, Robert Roselle, University of Nebraska Extension entomologist has some advice.

The most common types of insect invaders, Roselle said are crickets, roaches, ground beetles, spiders, millipedes, sowbugs, boxelder bugs and clover mites.

Chlordane sprays around the foundation and about 5 to 10 feet into the lawn will help control crickets, ground beetles and some roaches. Use about 3 table-spoons of Chlordane 45 percent liquid concentrate per gallon of water.

Boxelder bugs are harder to control. They usually must be sprayed directly to kill them, Roselle says.

The numbers entering your home can be cut down by spraying them where they gather around foundations with a 45% chlordane liquid concentrate mixed 4/5 of a pint to a gallon of water, or Sevin 50 percent wettable powder mixed at the rate of one cup to a gallon water.

After they are in the house, your best weapons are fly swatter and a vacuum cleaner.

The Fire Safe Home Few things can cost you your home and one or more of your family more quickly and tragically than fire.

es and smoking, good housekeeping to get rid of rubbish, proper use of electrical fuses, appliances, and extension cords, and a constant general awareness of ways fires start and how to avoid them.

Good construction for a fire safe home, according to the National Fire Protection Association, includes:

- 1. Built-in fire stops. These are barriers of wood or masonry between studs, joists, rafters or stringers that serve to prevent the spread of smoke and fire.
2. Solid doors for every room. An ordinary wooden door can keep smoke and fire out of a room for as long as 30 minutes.
3. Good escape routes. Best exits lead directly outside, not through other rooms. Windows should be large enough and low enough to climb through, and operate easily enough for the youngest member of the family.
4. Interior finish of materials with low flame-spread characteristics. Wallboards made of gypsum, cement, asbestos and similar materials are non-combustible and resist flame spread.
5. Fire-resistant roofing materials, such as asphalt shingles, slate, asbestos or metal. Wood shingles never should be used as a roof covering.
6. Proper wiring. Qualified electricians follow the provisions of the National Electrical Code when installing wiring, which means a fire safe installation.
7. A good heating plant properly installed and located, regularly inspected and cleaned. A furnace should never be located under stairs or near an entrance where fire originating in the heater might block escape.

Biscuits Though biscuits are traditionally round, you can cut them into other shapes as well. After rolling the dough, use a sharp knife to cut it into squares or diamonds. There's no waste when you cut biscuits this way because you can use every bit of the dough. It's a good trick to remember when you're in a hurry, to really faster than using a cutter.

Should you discover that there is not quite enough bacon to serve everyone his breakfast quota, try this: cook the bacon until crisp, then crumble and stir into the dry ingredients called for in basic biscuit or muffin recipe. Mix and bake as directed, then serve hot with butter or margarine.

Vote '300' or '301'? Examine Both

Editor's Note: For about 10 years Nebraska has met its educational responsibilities with a five-man elected State Board of Education that appoints the State Commissioner of Education. All members of the board are non-educators elected on a non-partisan ballot for staggered six-year terms from the six Supreme Court Judicial Districts. The State Board and the Commissioner constitute the State Department of Education, jointly charged in the constitution with "general supervision and administration of the school system of the State."

The amendment put on the ballot by the petition campaign of the Nebraska School Improvement Association would make the following changes:

- 1. It would enlarge the State Board of Education to eight members.
2. It would provide for their appointment by the Governor with the approval of the Legislature, instead of election by the people.
3. It would provide for at least one representative from each of the six classes of Nebraska School districts, a representative of private or - parochial schools, and possibly a member of large.

4. It would make the office of Commissioner elective, for a four-year term.
5. It would give the Commissioner alone "general supervision and administration of the school system of the state."
6. It would leave it up to the Legislature to decide what responsibilities and authority, if any, the State Board of Education would have.

So that both sides of the question might be heard, the editor has requested both sides of the argument to offer their viewpoints. Below are printed the remarks of these organizations. We advise the readers to examine the issues carefully for their factual importance.

We also caution voters against becoming confused. The issue appears on the ballot in two parts: 300 and 301. If you are in favor of the amendment, mark the 300 box. If you wish to defeat the amendment and retain the present system vote for 301.

"I know of no safe depository of the ultimate powers of society, but the people themselves; and if we think them not enlightened enough to exercise their control with a wholesome discretion, the remedy is not to take it from them, but to inform their discretion by education."

The present system is not comparable to the school board superintendent arrangement of the local school district. Any resemblance or similarity begins and ends with an elected Board hiring the Commissioner or superintendent.

The influence and power of the appointed Commissioner of Education is enormous and second only to that of the Governor. He not only administers school law, but supervises and provides direction for all elementary, secondary educational systems in the state both public and private. By the very nature of his lofty position, he is able to generate and establish trends which not only can affect the quality of education, but which can increase state control and decrease local control over education. He is able to create an atmosphere of economy or extravagance in the cost of education. His attitude and approach to the solution of problems is reflected through his staff and the policy statements of the State Board of Education.

The appointed State Commissioner of Education's each and every act or decision reaches down to touch the lives of every man, woman and child living in this state. His interpretation of law and enforcement of regulatory acts mold and shape the school systems of the state which in turn shape and mold the minds, lives, and futures of our youngsters.

Through the influence of his office, the appointee is able to reshape the over-all educational philosophy of the state without the general public's knowledge and consent or their having had the benefit of full and open debate on the desirability or wisdom of the proposed changes.

Since he is not directly responsible to the public for his office or accountable to them, he is virtually free to lead in whatever direction he chooses without fear of voter reaction and reprisal. The members of the State Board of Education, though elected, are not elected in the manner in which the local school board members are elected.

A voter can vote for only one member of the State Board of Education and then only at six-year intervals. The other five members always will represent a majority, regardless of the district in which you live. When the State Board appoints a Commissioner of Education, a vote becomes only one-sixth of a whole vote which for all practical purposes is about the same as no vote at all.

Conversely, you vote for all members of your local school board with one, two, or three of the members coming up for election each year, depending on the size of your school board. This method of electing local boards has proven satisfactory at the local level, but would be impractical and totally unworkable on the state level.

Candidates for the State Board of Education are completely unknown to the rank and file voter. They do not campaign extensively in their district, therefore, their views are known to only a few. Voter interest as a result is very low. This condition has permitted a highly organized minority block of voters to control the outcome of elections and thereby win state-level control of education.

Candidates for the local board of education, on the other hand, are generally well-known in the community, and their views known are easily ascertained before they have been elected.

The present system in ten years has wrought a decline both in interest and informed participation on the part of the public in state-level education simply because the system prevents parents and taxpayers having any real or meaningful voice in education.

It denies them an effective means to bring about change of direction or emphasis when reform is called for and needed.

There is honest difference of opinion between educational leaders in how to improve education. These present issues are not in a forum by which these opposing views can be publicly aired which could compare to a campaign of two or more candidates running for the office of State Commissioner of Education.

Should the proposed Amendment "300" be adopted, the State Legislature will be re-established as the sole con-

The poet Robert Frost once said, "Before I build a wall, I'd ask to know what I was walling in or walling out. Before we would vote for a change that would take away our important right to vote for our State Board of Education, we would like to know."

Has the present system proved effective? Usually no one suggests change unless a setup is not working well, but conspicuously lacking in the present campaign are any facts proving that the State Board or Commissioner have not carried out their duties to the advantage of the children of Nebraska. Is it not significant that, as far as we can find out, not one organization has joined the proponents of this amendment in its support?

On the other hand, outstanding groups favoring better education have united against this amendment. Those opposing the 300 amendment include the Nebraska American Legion, the Nebraska P-T-A, the Nebraska Business and Professional Women, Nebraska State School Boards Association, Catholic school superintendents, Nebraska AFL-CIO, and many other educational organizations. Dwight Burney has said he will vote against the 300 amendment; Gov. Morrison has said he is definitely opposed to the 300 amendment and that time has tested the present plan and proved that the best way is to have the policy-making board elected and the commissioner appointed.

Significant accomplishments have been achieved under the present setup in improving curriculum, school organization, teacher standards, and the rehabilitation program. Special education programs have been added until 5,748 children are now being served. Why change a system that has done much for Nebraska's children?

Are the arguments of the proponents of Amendment 300 based on good reasoning? The proponents say this amendment would give fairer representation. Under the present plan the six judicial districts from which the people choose their state board members are somewhat unequal in population. If this variance in population is serious enough to demand action, the logical step would be an amendment proposing to change the lines of the six districts, not to change our whole setup that has worked well for over ten years. But what does the proposed amendment do?

Instead of geographical representation on the board, it calls for political appointment on the basis of classes of schools. It is possible for all members of the board to come from Lancaster (Lincoln) and Douglas (Omaha). After all, that's where the votes are. Furthermore, and here is the significant fact,

On the basis of classes of schools, one board member would represent over 50% of the pupils while another would represent less than one percent (0.9%). Does that sound like a well-thought out attempt to gain "fairer" representation?

They say that passage of the amendment would restore the Constitution to its original status. True enough, but the framers of our constitution wisely provided a way to amend it, knowing that no document is perfect and that later events often show a need for change. Such a need was shown in Nebraska some years ago when a man was elected state superintendent of schools who was totally unable to serve. For four long years Nebraska was without leadership in this vital field. This could not happen today because our present system, passed overwhelmingly in 1952 by the people, gives the board the power of immediate action, not once every four years. Paul Steffins, district executive secretary for the Missouri Synod Lutheran Church's Southern Nebraska District, in commenting on the 300 amendment, said in a Lincoln paper, "We are definitely opposed. We see no need for change." Those who know education say there is no need for a change.

They say only a few states have an appointed commissioner. Again, is this a reasonable argument? On the basis of that argument would they have us also give up our public power and our unicameral legislature? The question is not how many have a state educational system like Nebraska's but how well is it working for Nebraska? The long list of people and organizations who want to keep the present system testify that it is working well.

They say it is vitally important to vote for policy making officials. Are not the proponents confused in using this as an argument for change? Under our Rolling elected body. The State Commissioner of Education will derive whatever power or authority they decide he shall have from them.

The State Board of Education will be enlarged from six to eight members. The Board members terms of office will be four years with half the members appointed each two years. The Board members will be appointed by the Governor with the approval of a majority of the members of the Legislature. The Governor will select one member from each of the six classes of public school districts in the state, one to represent the private or parochial schools' interest, and one from the state at large. The non-public schools, as well as, all public school districts large and small will have an official representative.

The duties and responsibilities of the Board shall be as determined by the Legislature.

This system is not only more democratic than the one we now have, but will restore the balance necessary to more readily respond to the needs and will of the people.

Critics of the proposed Amendment have injected four major issues into the discussion which deserve comment:

1. They charge that a candidate for the office of State Commissioner of Education could be any, unqualified person.

The Amendment specifically authorizes and requires the Legislature to set requirements to qualify as a candidate for the office of Commissioner of Education.

2. Critics have charged partisan politics would become involved in education. The proposed Amendment states candidates for the office of Commissioner of Education shall file and run on a non-political ballot, Board members though they will be appointed by a Democratic or Republican Governor, their appointments must be confirmed by our State Legislature. The Legislature would be in the position to neutralize and reject any appointment submitted to them by the Governor which they determined was for purely partisan reasons or personal political advantage.

3. Opponents contend that the present system of electing the Board who in turn appoints the state's chief school official is the same type of administrative system used in a majority of the states. This argument is without factual foundation and is completely false. There were only eight states including Nebraska as of January 1, 1964, who elected their State Boards of Education which in turn appointed the chief school official. The states are: Colorado, Michigan, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Ohio, Texas and Utah (Exhibit B).

There are 20 states as of January 1, 1964, who use the system of electing the chief state school official and a Governor-appointed State Board of Education.

There are a total of thirty states in which the Governor appoints the Board, nine in which the Board is elected by the people, nine in which there are both elected and appointed Board members and two which have no State Board.

4. The proposed Amendment's critics have declared it possesses a serious Constitutional question. They contend it is possibly a violation of the separation of church and state clause of our Federal Constitution since one member of the Board is specifically named to be appointed from and to represent private and parochial school interests.

The State Board of Education, under existing law has the power and authority to adopt rules and regulations which control and regulate the operation and teacher requirements and qualifications of private and parochial school systems as well as the public schools.

If there was a violation of the Federal Constitution regarding separation of church and state in education, it took place when the state in the interest of the children, began regulating private and parochial schools.

If there was no violation at that time, there just as surely can be no violation now just by giving these interests an official voice in the body whose regulatory acts affect their costs of operation and future existence just as much as they affect the costs and future existence of the public schools.

THE DEBATE L.B.J. DUCKED THE ISSUE IS FOREIGN AID

Barry Goldwater

Lyndon Johnson

"Foreign aid was designed to bolster our allies, not to bribe our enemies. My opponent refuses to debate the issue. How can he afford to discuss it when today Foreign Aid is being used to support some governments — Indonesia and Egypt are two prime examples — whose commitment to the free world is dubious at best. Foreign economic aid cannot end poverty around the world nor can it win the allegiance of so-called 'uncommitted' nations. It is a fact that pro-Communist regimes and anti-American sentiment have spread, despite the 100 billion dollars we have spent on foreign aid programs. Recent riots from Ghana to Cambodia and from Panama to Gabon — are cases in point. We cannot buy friends; nor should we try. But we can help teach people to apply the lessons of organization, productivity, freedom and skill that have worked so well for us. Our aid will be truly effective only if those we help have the desire and the will to become self supporting."

present system we elect the policymakers — the State Board of Education. The board sets the policy; the appointed Commissioner carries it out, being at all times responsible to the board. They hire him; they can fire him any time he is derelict in his duty. An elected Commissioner would be in for four long years before the citizens could vote him out.

The proponents say in trying to find a reason why all the educational organizations are opposing the amendment, that the organizations feel their "self-interest, power structure slipping away." Is this accusation not unfair to all the men and women who have served our children through the years? The Nebraska State Teachers' Association is made up of teachers like the ones you know who are teaching your children. The Nebraska School Boards Association is composed of local school board members like the ones in Wayne County schools who serve without pay in the cause of education. The only interest these dedicated people have is the interest of the boys and girls of Nebraska. To accuse them of "self-interest" just doesn't seem very sensible. And what about the American Legion, the AAUW, the Business and Professional Women, Dwight Burney and Gov. Morrison? How do the proponents of the amendment explain the opposition of these outstanding groups and individuals?

On the local level the school board, elected by the people, has as one of its truly important jobs the selection of the superintendent. The board is in a position to investigate and choose the best man for the job by a careful consideration of his on-the-job performance. On the local level we elect our school board members on staggered terms. The same is done on the state level, but because of the size of Nebraska we are split into six districts. The proponents have complained that they don't get a "voice" in selecting members from all the districts, but objectors say that they believe the people in Burwell and Kimball and Nebraska City should do some of the picking, too, just as we do for our unicameral legislature.

The proponents of this amendment brought Max Rafferty to Omaha from California, and he said he favored an elected commissioner. In his book in a section called "Toward Improvement of Status of State Superintendent," p. 36, he states that commissioners will more and more be relieved of the necessity of running for office and that it appears selection by a state board for an indefinite term "increases the likelihood of securing for the office a person of high professional qualification and talent." On page 35 in discussing state organization, he states, "The dual system, in which the state board of education is responsible to a different authority from the chief state school official, has been productive of considerable friction."

This unfortunate dual control that Rafferty says leads to friction is exactly what the amendment proposes to create. The unified type he recommends as the trend of the future is exactly what Nebraska has now — an elected state board with an appointed superintendent responsible to the board. On the basis of Rafferty's book, you are urged to vote 301 against this amendment.

The proponents say Amendment 300 would keep teachers in Nebraska and they point to the large number who leave Nebraska for California each year. We need only say here that California pays among the highest salaries in the nation. They rank second in highest average salary while Nebraska ranks 40th.

Perhaps the two strongest arguments against an elected Commissioner are these: (a) popular election would limit the field of selection. Men might be highly qualified but not have the funds or the time to wage a statewide campaign. When the present Commissioner was chosen, he was appointed from a field of over 40 candidates; such selection would be impossible under an elective system.

(b) It would be impossible for the elected Commissioner to devote all his energies to the advancement of education because of the need to devote time to his campaign for re-election. The voter has only to think about the hours and hours that unicameral candidates devote to their campaigns to realize that an elected Commissioner would be spending much of his time working for re-election rather than working for the children of Nebraska.

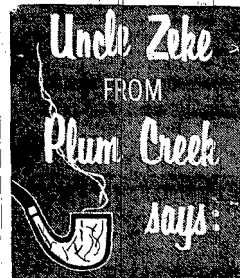

soft praying Baptist, claimed he was winning both ways. He allowed Slim to be elected and the Republicans was out in front and the Baptists was gradual taking over the country.

Ed, that is supporting Johnson, offered to compromise. He said he was willing to concede the Baptists was beginning to outnumber the English sparrow. Any church, claimed Ed, that had plenty of parking space, like the Baptists and preachers known for the shortness of their sermons was bound to git ahead. In fact, allowed Ed, he was thinking about shifting over to the Baptist himself. But he wouldn't budge a inch on the President's race. He was of the opinion Johnson was headed for the coronal with Goldwater limping behind like a calf half sick with the tick fever.

Slim, that votes both ways, depending on how farm prices was on election day, announced he was leaning a little on the Democratic side. Slim reported he had seen in the papers where turnip

Personal, Mister Editor, I don't think the price of things has got nothing to do with prosperity. Turnip greens can go to $1.50 a bunch and we still ain't getting no place until the Government quits wasting so much money. I was just reading in the papers where they was installing 345 clocks in a new $12.5 million Federal building in Memphis. This reporter figured they had about one clock for ever 2 Government workers in the building. He said he visited one office with 5 workers and they had 8 clocks. And the way the Government operates they ain't no hope of ever making the biscuits and molasses come out even. It probabke takes 4 Civil Service employees to keep all their clocks set right and running. Then they got to make out reports in duplicates of six, or seven, about once a week and then typers in Washington has
