Blue Devils Open Baseball Season with Creighton and Emerson Parochial Schools

Wayne high school's baseball team was scheduled to play two games this week against parochial schools from Creighton and Emerson. A limited season is in prospect because not too many schools in the area offer baseball.

Creighton St. Ludger's was to be the Wednesday afternoon foe, according to Mike Mallette, who is being assisted by Hank Overin. Friday at 3:30 Wayne goes against Emerson Sacred Heart on the latter's diamond.

Scheduled starting batting order for the St. Ludger's tilt looked like this: Mark Johnson 2b, Terry Luff, Doug Manske p, Dick Helgren 3b, Randy Olson c, Glen Keltion 1b, Jerry Wehrer e, Phil Nichols lf, and Jack Manske ss.

Neal Adams is scheduled to start on the mound in the Sacred Heart tilt. Dean Elosen will be relief pitcher for both games. No pitcher is expected to go the full seven innings this early in the season.

Wayne has been entered in the state baseball tournament but has not been assigned to a class yet. The state puts the top 16 schools in Class B. The last two years Wayne has been in the fourteenth to sixteenth spot and could be in a same position this season.

There are 22 cut for practice and they will continue to practice with the squad as long as possible. Only 20 can be taken to the state meet, however. A schedule will include return games at St. Ludger's and with Sacred Heart here but beyond that there are no commitments.

Making up the mound staff are three veterans and two newcomers. Vets are Doug Manske, Neil Adams and Dean Elosen. George Eynon and Delmer Wacker are new hurlers on the squad.

Jerry Wehrer and Bob Morris are catchers back from last year's team with Gordie Jorgensen also working behind the plate.

Interlopers returning are Phil Keltion, Mark Johnson, Rick Helgren, Jack Manske and Terry Luff. Newcomers are Steve Schram, Steve Karl, and Herb Swan.

There are only two back from last year's team playing outfield positions. Glen Nichols and Randy Olson. Newcomers out are Duane Schell, Calvin Comstock, Melvin Meyer, Steve Johnson, Robert Barr, Steve Pfeiffer, Doug Farrans and Barry Bilthoff.

Dredging Adds Surface Area to Lake for Ikes

Wayne area Izaak Waltons are due for a surprise when they see the best of the lake. Considerable surface area is being added to make it a much bigger body of water.

The dredging of the main part of the lake is almost finished and the rest of the dredging work should be done this week. Final work will be to dredge the bank on the south side to build it up.

Izaak Walton members plan to have a recreation area for young and old. They have invested a lot of money into enlarging the horseshoe-shaped lake fed by springs so more water will be retained for fishing and other such recreation.

Norris Weible, president of the organization, said more members are wanted. The lake is for members and their families. The more who join now, the more facilities the organization can provide near at hand. Anyone interested should contact Weible, secretary Ed Seymour, or any Ike member.

Farmer Finally Find Fields Fit

Wayne county farmers have finally found the fields fit for farming and spring work is underway. It took a long time for all the fields to dry out enough for cultivation.

The drying out process has also opened up roads that have been next to impassable at times. No longer do you find cars parked along the highways because farmers could not get into their own yards.

Farming is behind normal in the area due to the heavy accumulation of snow and the slow drying process. By the first of this week most farmers had at least started field work.

Temperatures were in the 40's to 70's the past week but winds helped dry the roads and fields. Stock in feedlots which had been frozen or mucky for weeks, found out what it was like to stand on solid dry dirt again.

Four WHS Pupils Get Summer Scholarships

Four outstanding Wayne high school music pupils have received one-half scholarships for the all-state fine arts festival to be held in Lincoln in June. Confirmation of applications came the first of this week.

The four, Kathy Christensen, Carol Maciejewski, Jeanne Karol and John Brandstotter, were among those who had indicated an interest in such a course. Applications were considered by the board and music teachers and recommendations made.

Not all who apply are accepted but the four WHS pupils all received word of being accepted this week. They were chosen on scholarship, citizenship, participation in musical groups and musical ability.

Wayne High Music Booster club sponsors the one-half scholarships, believing that pupils who sincerely want to participate will find ways

Sen. Gale McGee Addresses Graduates Friday at WSC, School He Once Attended

U. S. Senator Gale McGee addressed 178 graduates of Wayne State college at commencement exercises Friday, Apr. 16, in Rice auditorium. Senator McGee, currently serving his second six-year term from Wyoming, is a Wayne graduate, class of 1936, and returned to his alma mater accompanied by his wife, Lorraine, and his mother, Mrs. Garton McGee of Norfolk.

The spring commencement exercises, traditionally held in the Wilford bowl, were moved indoors because of cool weather. As a result the largest crowd ever assembled in Rice filled the building to overflow capacity.

Rev. Robert Shirck, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Wayne, delivered the invocation and benediction and Dr. Gordon Shupe, Wayne, vice president of the state normal board, delivered greetings from the governing board. President W. A. Brandenburg conferred the various degrees.

Senator McGee's address, entitled "Shades of Rip Van Winkle," depicted today's world in danger of sleeping through a revolution as great as the American revolution. Rip Van Winkle slept through the 18th century. It is desperately imperative, the Senator said, "that we attune ourselves to the forces of change rather than run the risk of sleeping through this revolution."

Senator Says Package Ag Bill Seems Likely

Sen. Carl Curtis, speaking before a Farm Bureau meeting in Laurel Monday, said he expects a single "package" agriculture bill dealing with programs affecting a wide range of commodities to be brought to the senate for consideration this year.

He said Ag Committee Chairman Ellender of Louisiana is known to favor this approach. Curtis said the wheat program, feed grains bill, wool act, sugar legislation and some legislation affecting tobacco, cotton and dairy products expire this year.

Curtis called for reversal of the legislative and administrative trend where prices drop and cash payments to farmers make up for them. Last year such payments reached $2.2 billion, 17 percent of the farm income.

"I think this trend is bad," Curtis said. "I believe that all agricultural legislation and all actions of the USDA should be directed to ward raising the farmers' prices in the market place. It is for this reason the USDA exists and agricultural programs are enacted. Actions of the USDA should never be to lower prices and compel farmers to sign up for programs."

It's Spring!

Spring has arrived in Wayne county as this trio of pictures attest.

Also in Winside was a service station operator who skates and helps operate the roller rink at the Winside City auditorium. He didn't know his picture was being taken as he came down hill on a skate board. His beard is being grown for the Winside diamond jubilee in July. Charlie Jackson proved the town may be old but he is young and spring's a great time for all ages to be outdoors.

Boy Scouts Put in Day Down at Dump

Wayne Boy Scouts were down in the dumps Monday and worked in an adjoining area where material that should have been in the dumps wasn't.

Mayor Chris Tietgen had been asked to get paper and debris cleaned off the Wayne Gilliland land where it had blown. He called on Troop 175 to clean it up, payment going to the troop for the camp fund and for dues. Mert Ellis and Sam Fuoss took a truck and helped the boys clean up debris that had blown on the Gilliland property southeast of the dump so the owner could start farming it. Almost two truck loads had been cleared off by noon.

Scouts working on the project were Kirk and Kit Russell, David and Terry Ellis, Billy Fletcher, Jay Williams, Ted Armbruster, Billy McNatt, Scott Kraemaer, Doug Maurer, Mike Liveringhouse, Jim Gray and Tom Love. Scoutmaster Darold Kraemaer reports three Scouts camped out Thursday night, Friday and Saturday to earn camping merit badges. Scott Kraemaer, Steve Hall and Terry Ellis camped north of the airport, worked on Scout projects, fixed their own meals, fished at the falls on the creek and accomplished other Scout work.

Dog Licenses Will Be Due Next Month

In the spring a police department's thoughts turn to dogs and the dog-licensing days are almost here. Chief of Police Garth Dawson reports all dogs in the city must be licensed and vaccinated.

May 1 is when tags will be issued and the deadline is May 10. After that date, any unlicensed dogs on the street will be picked up, held in the pound three days and then disposed of if not claimed.

The license tags themselves can be picked up at the office of City Clerk Howard Witt. Vaccinations can be obtained from any veterinarian and the certificates of vaccination must be presented when applying for tags. Dogs are vaccinated every two or three years so you can check to see if your dog needs the shots before going after tags. With spring showing signs of arriving at last, lawns start getting green. With greener lawns, property owners start being more dog-conscious and, the police department gets more complaints about loose dogs. Wayne has a law providing that dogs must be penned, on leashes or in the owner's control at all times. Getting licenses for them is just the first step of a sumner-long job of keeping them law-abiding.

State Action —

(Continued from page 1) erly carries a fine about equal to that for "spitting on the sidewalk." A court can levy a fine of from $10 to $100 should a defendant be found guilty.

The case has received far more publicity than any misdemeanor case usually gets. There is speculation that the state labor department sought the publicity to emphasize to others that the laws must be followed.

DEMONSTRATING how the head of a patient must be tilted back and the nostrils held closed is Clete Sharer of the WYFD. Bud Froehlich and Paul Koplin look on as "Resuscitation Annie," as she is known locally, does the job for which she was intended.

Norwegian 'Girl' to Help Save Lives in Wayne Area

A "girl" who came to Wayne from Stavanger, Norway, may according to Fire Chief Ivan help save lives in Wayne county. Beeks and AFD president Bud Froehlich. "Resusci-Annie," better known locally as "Resuscitation Annie," is here to help firemen help themselves and help others help themselves. She and a spot of firemen are available for appearances at any group meetings.

The "girl" is a fold-up dummy equipped for mouth-to-mouth resuscitation demonstration practice. She is the counterpart of such dummies being used throughout the world to save lives.

When not working, she folds neatly into her own trunk. When needed, she can be taken out, inflated and is ready to go to work.

Most of the firemen in Wayne already know the principles of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation but all will be learning now that Annie is here to help. In addition, the junior fire patrol has had work on this life-saving procedure and will get valuable experience trying it out with Annie.

Two lives in this area have already been saved because mouth-to-mouth resuscitation instruction has been taught. One involved a man who was covered by dirt and the other involved a girl whose father learned the resuscitation method and had to use it to save her life.

A borrowed Resusci-Annie had been used for instruction prior to both of these incidents. Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation or MMR is recognized as the most effective way of getting air into another person's lungs and can be affected while others are getting ready to give resuscitation. More air can be exchanged than by other methods, resuscitation can start the minute a victim is reached and no special equipment is needed.

Drowning, electrical shock, gas poisoning, drugs, blows, smoke inhalation, fainting and shock are the usual causes of stoppage of breathing. Time is important and the sooner resuscitation can start the better the chance of complete recovery is.

Wayne firemen are prepared to show how anyone with proper instruction can give life-saving resuscitation while waiting for doctors. They feel that knowing the method may save a life that otherwise would be lost and they have Annie for practice. Using her the students in instruction know at once whether they're doing it properly or not. Annie lets them know when MMR is done right.

Mern Nordhorst, Bill Kugler, Kent Hall, Pat Halley, Paul Koplin and Clete Sharer are ready to take Annie to any meeting.

They have been schooled in instruction and will appear before Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, women's clubs, extension clubs, men's groups or special meetings to show and teach the proper MMR system.

All appearances in Wayne are free of charge for schools and groups. If they are asked to appear out of town, their only charge will be a nominal one to cover transportation expenses. Contact the chief, president, or firemen for information on getting them to be on programs.

The purchase of Resuscitation Annie was made possible by Ak-Sar-Ben and many known and unknown donors. Ak-Sar-Ben has given the department money in the past and firemen have also been given money after fighting fires. They voted to use the money to buy Annie for local use.

Annie is a newcomer to Wayne. Her presence may not interest the population, but she could help prevent a decrease in population with her life-saving ability and cooperation of groups willing to learn the methods she teaches.

Animals Give Police Department Troubles

The animal world gave the police troubles the past week. The police department was called on four cases involving dogs or cats.

One call involved a vicious dog, the story being covered in another article. Another call concerned a sick cat acting strangely — a call later revealed the cat was better. Dogs running loose drew complaints from neighbors and a three-year-old boy was bitten by a dog. The

Lambrecht-Whittington Wedding Held At Grace Lutheran Church April 11

Geraldine Lambrecht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Lambrecht, Plainview, and Thomas Whittington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Whittington, West Liberty, Ia., were married in ceremonies April 11 at Grace Lutheran church, Wayne.

Rev. E. J. Bernthal officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Martin Volk, Plainview, was organist. The church was decorated with a white aisle cloth, white pew bows, randelabra and altar vases of white flowers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a sheath gown fashioned of silk organza with Schiffl embroidery. The fitted bod-dog's owner penned him to have him checked the next day. There were human troubles too. A fight took place behind the Sateway store but by the time the police got there the participants had left so no one knows who won. An intoxicated man was unable to get up but his wife finally told police she would take him home to sober him up. Trucks parked five or six days in one spot drew complaints from residents of one area.

Otte Construction Co., Wayne, has been given the contract for construction of an addition to Laurel high school, according to the Laurel Advocate.

The Wayne firm's bid on the general contract was $118,795. Amount of contract with alternates was $117,488.93.

Lallard Plumbing, Laurel, was low on plumbing and heating at $35,079.73, with alternates $33,750.25. Clausen Electric, South Sioux City, had the low electric bid at $9,077.00, with alternates $8,777.00. Total cost comes to $160,025.18.

Voters of the district approved the $170,000 bond issue in a special election last December. Construction on the west of the present high school is expected to get underway soon.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Let's Keep Faith

District 17 voters have failed almost 2-1 approval to a new high school. They indicated they have faith in what is being planned and what has been promised.

Now comes the test: can that faith be justified? Can all that was promised be realized?

A good share of the $867,000 will come back into the community, according to statistics. The Herald aims to keep contact and inform the public on expenditures.

Equipment can be bought here; local firms can be given a chance to take part in the building; shirt-sleeve labor can be employed here; Wayne county people can do some of the required preparatory work; and Wayne county money can be used in Wayne county purchases.

Every person from this area who has a part in the actual work on the new school will have a part in building for the future. Even if they voted against the building they can share in the pride of taking part.

The board has indicated it merits the trust people displayed when the individual members were elected. Now is the time to show continued right to merit that faith. It's your school and as many as possible of you should have a part in building it. —CEG.

Men in Uniforms

After the editorial on Wayne's competent police department, another editorial of praise might not be thought necessary; but one is.

Twice questions have been heard regarding duties of the firemen and policemen. "Why didn't they call the owner?" was heard after one fire. "Why wasn't the store manager notified when a door glass was broken?" was another.

Going to the people involved can be most revealing. In each case there seems justifiable cause.

The firemen were busy fighting the biggest fire in years. One police officer was on duty. He called for added help but was unable to contact anyone. Rather than stay in his car and continue trying to make radio contact, he had to get out and direct traffic away from the fire area so congestion did not increase. Someone should have called the owner but in the excitement the oversight is understandable.

A glass door was broken at 4 a.m. The door had been checked earlier by an officer and it was locked. With a small police force it is impossible in a town of 4,500 to check every door every hour. Consequently the police did not know the glass was broken until the manager called at 8 a.m. Hundreds of times in the past they have called owners and managers if windows or doors were found unlocked. But one door is

Major Questions Lie Ahead For Industrious Legislature

LINCOLN — The 1965 Nebraska Legislature, described by many as a most industrious body, ground out a lot of work over the past three months.

Just how good the work was will be argued the length and breadth of the state between now and the November 1965 elections when 25 and maybe more seats will be at stake.

Liberal senators generally contend its early accomplishments were many and significant. Conservative lawmakers don't entirely subscribe to that. Their position is that the record of the Legislature demonstrates the need for more economy in government.

Although the 75th anniversary session apparently has passed the halfway mark, the senators unanimously agree the major problems are still ahead.

These include spending, taxation, public power, education, trade schools and civil rights legislation.

A possible early decision in the titanic struggle over spending and taxes is expected after the lawmakers return from their first vacation since the unicameral convened Jan. 5.

Sen. Richard Marvel, Hastings, chairman of the influential Budget Committee, has promised to deliver the first in a series of fiscal 1965-67 appropriations packages. It will include the major spending agencies such as the University of Nebraska and State Welfare Department.

Linked to the discussion will be the need for new taxes through a broad-based tax system. Both sales and income tax proposals await floor determination.

In the past, the spending-taxation issues have been mostly general.

Marvel has warned his colleagues that the initial spending proposals may "blow the roof off the capitol and send the sower into orbit."

Also in the mill are an expanded Kerr-Mills medical care to the aged program; major salary increases; retirement plans; and, as usual, another installment of state aid to local school districts and junior colleges.

The issue of apportionment, as expected, took the spotlight in the early months of the session.

The senators hammered out a legislative redistricting bill palatable to just about everyone except the state AFL-CIO. It increased membership from 49 to 50, gave populous Douglas county 12 instead of 10 legislators, left 29 districts unchanged and tossed only two incumbent senators into the same district.

Other noteworthy action to date includes the raising of excise taxes on pari-mutuel horse race wagering, cigarettes, beer and gasoline; enactment of a bill to tighten state property tax laws, and establishment of a long-sought rural youth scholarship program for needy farm and ranch youths.

The Legislators in 73 working days passed 26 bills, compared to 12 at this time in 1963; withdrew 44, compared to 27, and killed 159, compared to 146. Sixty-nine more bills, however, have been introduced this, ground.

Gets Federal Approval

The Federal Government has given final approval to contracts for a $3.44 million hospital and nurses' training facility at Scottsbluff.

Vernie Pangborn, State Hospital Division Director, said he expects construction at the West Nebraska General Hospital to begin immediately.

Pangborn said about $13 million in federal Hill-Burton hospital construction funds will be available for the project.

The complex includes an 82-bed hospital and 52-student residence and educational facility.

Schools Show Interest

Nebraska schools are showing early signs of interest in the federal government's massive new aid to education program, State Education Commissioner Floyd A. Miller reports.

Miller said letters from local schools have begun coming in asking how they can prepare to get in on provisions of the new program.

Nebraska will receive some $8.6 billion during the next fiscal period under the program. The lion's share of the money is earmarked for programs for children from low-income families.

Miller said there are about 36,000 school-age children in this category.

Contract Submitted

A contract under which Nebraska would begin a program to aid youths rejected by the armed forces has been submitted to the federal government by the State Health Department.

Health Director E. A. Rogers said it all goes well, the program will begin July 1.

The purpose of the program is to help draftees with emotional or physical problems where they can turn for assistance.

"Often men don't know why they've been rejected. They don't understand the seriousness of the problem, if it can be corrected, or where to go for help," Dr. Rogers said.

Health Unit Pushes Bill

The State Health Department is pushing hard for legislative action on a bill which will help curb stream pollution in Nebraska.

LB 259 would make it unlawful for a city or private citizen to use Nebraska waters for garbage dumps. It has been approved by the Public Health Committee, and handed initial okay by the Legislature.

William Rapp, Health Department entomologist, said the legislation would make it possible to stop the cluttering of the state's waters.

But he cautioned it will work only if local law enforcement authorities enforce it and prosecute offenders.

Enrollment Crush Hits

The predicted enrollment crush next fall at Nebraska's four state colleges is making itself felt already, Normal Board Coordinator Dr. Freeman Decker reports.

He said entrance applications at the colleges are "almost as high right now as they were just before school started last year."

Requests for dormitory rooms, too, are at about the same level now as they were Sept. 1, 1964.

The colleges are located at Wayne, Kearney, Chadron and Peru.

Analysis Key to Value

If you are curious about the value of fertilizers, just read the label.

A little pencil work on the basis of this analysis will tell you how much of the fertilizer you need to apply per acre.

One brand is registered at the Nebraska Department of Agriculture with guaranteed analysis of 5-2-2. This means that 100 pounds of the fertilizer, whether solid or liquid, contains 5 pounds of nitrogen, 2 pounds of phosphoric acid and 2 pounds of potash.

According to tests in Nebraska, Iowa, and other states, the nitrogen in chemical fertilizers such as ammonium nitrate, ammonia, ammonium sulfate and urea is more effective than the nitrogen in organic materials.

There is no magic in organic nitrogen. There is no magic and no profit in applying insignificant amounts of any fertilizer, whatever it comes from.

There is no magic in spraying middling amounts of nitrogen and phosphorus on the leaves of the crop. Feeding the normal needed amounts through the roots in the normal way is the road to bigger crop yield, better quality and more profit.

Land Grant Colleges

There are ninety-seven major state and land-grant universities and colleges in the United States. They are located in each of the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

Although the 57 institutions comprise only about 5 per cent of the nation's more than 2,000 colleges and universities, they are attended by over 27 per cent of the nation's college and university students, over 36 per cent of the nation's graduate students.

As a group, they are the chief suppliers of the nation's intellectual talent, granting more than half of all living doctorates, educating more than half of all living Nobel Prize winners and just under half of all National Academy of Science members.

Most recently, they awarded 68 per cent of all doctorates in the biological sciences, 62 per cent of those in engineering, 56 per cent of those in education and 55 percent of those in mathematics.

They are also, as a group, major suppliers of talent in other national fields. They have educated almost half of all U.S. Senators, Congressmen and Governors; one-fourth of the civilian executives of the Federal government; one-fifth of the country's leading industrialists; half of the nation's potential supply of school teachers.

These institutions devote over 25 per cent of their operating budgets to organized research. They have made massive contributions in developing agricultural techniques, the peace-time use of nuclear energy, the space program. They account for 35 per cent of the money spent nationally on college engineering research. From them have come such wide-ranging discoveries as streptomycin, the television tube, helium, hybrid corn, isolation of the first enzyme.

On the other hand the Hanoi government had voiced some nearly insurmountable obstacles to which we could hardly be expected to conform, preliminary to starting any talks or conferences that might be beneficial.

It has always seemed to me that something could have been started ere this if Hanoi had known what we really wanted and intended to do and what our policy really was. Think any of us might be reluctant to try and reach an agreement with the other fellow if we didn't know what to expect of him and if he left us no ground upon which to maneuver.

There is a growing conviction on Capitol Hill that Congress will not accept Administration recommendations for:

1. A $100 million cutback in agriculture conservation program cost-sharing funds, and
2. Establishment of a "revolving fund" through which land owners would be charged some $20 million for Soil Conservation Service technical assistance to local districts.

These proposals are widely regarded as a step backward in conservation efforts, and are not being received enthusiastically.

Carl Curtis CAPITOL COMMENTS

There is a growing conviction on Capitol Hill that Congress will not accept Administration recommendations for:

1. A $100 million cutback in agriculture conservation program cost-sharing funds, and
2. Establishment of a "revolving fund" through which land owners would be charged some $20 million for Soil Conservation Service technical assistance to local districts.

These proposals are widely regarded as a step backward in conservation efforts, and are not being received enthusiastically.

The major farm organizations are strongly opposing the recommendations, and they have been joined by many other groups. For example, a National Reclamation Association statement said "the proposed cutback would adversely affect district programs on every reclamation project throughout the West." And the Wildlife Management Institute said the revolving fund concept would "severely cripple the encouraging headway that is being made in stimulating conservation practices on America's farms and ranches."

— CTC —

The Soil Conservation Service, which would be affected by an Administration recommendation to establish a revolving fund through which landowners would be charged for SCS technical services, is one of the best run of all government programs.

Through creation of local districts, managed by conservation leaders in the local communities, the SCS districts are truly farm-oriented. The local people perform public service, without compensation, and further the conservation practices so important to our part of the country where soil and water are the very essence of economic life.

Nebraska is a leader in the soil and water conservation effort, with all its farmlands included in the 86 districts which blanket the State.

According to a nationally circulated Health Bulletin, Nebraska cancer researchers are trying to determine why the farm population of a six-county area is especially susceptible to leukemias and lymphomas. It has been found that the rate for these diseases is nearly equal to that of the second most common types of malignancy, cancer of the colon and rectum.

Thus far, it appears that animals in the farming area may be transmitting a leukemia virus. Among 63 of the leukemia and lymphoma patients studied, many were found to have very close contact with animals. Sixty-one butchered their own animals; 49 cleaned animal quarters; 58 had consistently drunk milk from cattle on their own farms, and 58 had eaten primarily the eggs from their own chickens.

Quotable quotes: Congressman Leslie C. Andrews (R-Ill.)— "The programs outlined by President Johnson, if carried to the ends that he proposes, would create a nation dominated by the Federal government, dependent for decisions on public planners in Washington. I do not believe that the election last November was a mandate for any such type change."

President proposed unconditional conference with no harassing restrictions being imposed, he went on to say that in order to better conditions in Southeast Asia that he was willing to recommend and would pledge a billion dollars as America's share of a varied and vast program for the betterment of this area.

Frankly to me this sounded like a sop being offered or an offer to pay tribute if the boys of Southeast Asia would be good. No doubt in my mind that they would take the billion and milk the program dry (just as a lot of other countries have taken our billions) but once again the question comes to me as to whether they really want such a program outside the billion dollar involved. The question arises in my mind as to whether or not we are trying to impose our own way of life upon a people, who are not by nature, background or their processes of thought ready for it, don't care for it and are reluctant to accept the radical changes involved. In short they seem to be pretty well satisfied with their lot and sometimes I wonder if our big mistake is the fact that we have tried to make nations and people over so that they conform to the image we set up.

I'm afraid that this proposed billion and maybe a couple more might be just a temporary stop in the arm and once the effects of it have worn off we could well see these nations lapsing back into the state of mind and the way of life that has been theirs for so long, many years. Things don't change much, and it is still pretty hard to make a whistle out of a pig's tail.

The other night I listened to our President talk about the situation in Viet Nam and some proposals to resolve the problems which exist in that area.

Very definitely it was a check in the armor that encased our Viet Nam policy (if we have ever had a lucid one) inasmuch as it attached no conditions relative to starting talks or conferences that might be beneficial.

It has always seemed to me that something could have been started ere this if Hanoi had known what we really wanted and intended to do and what our policy really was. Think any of us might be reluctant to try and reach an agreement with the other fellow if we didn't know what to expect of him and if he left us no ground upon which to maneuver.

Letters to The Editor

Dear Editor:

The Wayne voters made a goof in their study of the school question but came up with the proper answer.

Now they should make a study of the location and how the new building can be placed in the elementary school, especially its playground, north side and west side.

I think a good study of those buildings will show that the group of structures would appear intended for a school system, tied together and serving the district and the city—not just another group of buildings.

It may be better to think now of what is best and let future needs be covered as they arise as there will remain land on the west and south.

A school is not like a business house that should be on the highway for show.

Edw. Seymour

(We also think now is the time to make such a study. The way these buildings are tied together will determine the way they look for 40 or 160 years. Beautification of the area around the grade school is needed and if we plan now to beautify as we go along, Wayne's school campus in that area will have a credit for all to enjoy and appreciate as they pass by. Certainly landscaping will have to be done. Planning is needed for a joint beautification program to cover the area of both schools and to make it serve needs of pupils of all ages while creating a beauty spot.—Editor)

An Appliance Check-up

On that spring house-cleaning agenda should appear a safety check list on gas appliances. To keep them in proper working order for the sake of economy, efficiency and the safety of your family, the following are suggested:

1. Be sure the burners on the range are free of spilled food. There must be a proper balance between air and gas for both heat and safety.
2. Don't use the gas range to "take the chill off" a room these spring days. The oven is not built to be used as a heater.
3. Clean the flinned coils on the back of the gas refrigerator. This should be done at least once a year on most models.
4. Take a look at the lint trap on the dryer. Is it clogged with fuzz and threads? And, just a reminder, all gas dryers should be vented to the outside to remove moisture and flue gases.
5. Check the vent pipe of the gas water heater. For safety's sake, replace the vent to the outside when the pipe shows signs of rusting.
6. Check the gas furnace filter. It should be replaced or cleaned at regular intervals, not only as a safety precaution but also to help the furnace burn gas more efficiently.

The family circle was much disturbed. The eldest of the clan, Josphiah, 88, decided to get married. What worried his relatives was the fact that the bride he selected was a young man healthy 22-year-old. One of his sons pulled-holed him and pleaded: "Look, Pop, you must give this more thought. It's serious. In fact, a thing like this could prove fatal."

"So what," answered Josphiah unperturbed. "If she dies, I'll marry again."

They've gone and done it for the kids now. Automation has taken over. One little Wayne lot has a new swing. It is automatic and no one needs to push her, she doesn't need any pushing herself and the darned thing just swings her. Granny has her chair that rocks automatically and now the babes are swung and rocked the same way. That pretty well takes care of most of the period from the cradle to the grave.

"My gosh," said the father, "where is he? I'll kill him! GIVE me his address and I'll murder him."

Dashing to the rich man's home he cornered him and in a loud voice told him what he intended to do.

The rich Mr. Grab remained calm. "Don't get excited," he said. "I'm not running away, and I intend to do right by your daughter. If she has a boy, she gets $50,000. If it's a girl, she gets $20,000. Is that fair?"

The father halted, while the look of anger on his face faded. "And if it's a failure," he pleaded, "will you give her another chance."

Our sympathy goes out to these Winside men who have to grow beards for the diamond jubilee. The women ought to have to go through something similar. No, we don't think the winsome Winside women should grow beards but they should grow their hair different or something equally sacrificial to compare with beard-growing efforts of the men. Maybe they could wear their hair stretched so it would stand straight up. That would attract attention. Maybe they could wear dozens of brass rings around their necks like some African tribes do. Or, they might take a lesson from the saucers' ibangi women wear—well, let's forget that one. Their dresses are beautiful but they don't have to wear them at all times. Maybe the men are stuck with their beards 24 hours a day through July. Maybe you Winside women can think of some stunt to put on (like chasing an editor out of the county if he gets any more bright ideas).

The newly-appointed navy captain showing off the efficiency of his destroyer to the visiting senator during maneuvers when a sailor approached, saluted and announced he had a message from the admiral. The captain, beaming proudly, said, "Read it to me."

The sailor read "Of all the stupid, bungling morons, you take the cake. You nearly rammed the flagship."

The captain pursed his lips, glanced sideways at the senator and then snapped: "Very well. Now take the message below and have it decoded."

Publisher Alan Cramer saw the item about The Herald's award after the paper was out. He thought we should have included the names of others who helped during the period he was editor and the paper won the top prize. We agree. Jim Marsh was in charge of ads, Marie Pretzer wrote socials and gobs of other news, Dorothy Jorgensen kept books, Diane Kratie called for personal items, Warren Price was shop foreman, Lloyd Manske and Max Rageth set type, Jack Schreiber did make-up work, Ray Murray ran the press, Bob Shirck worked part time and all our correspondents did their part to make the paper better. We'd like to point out to the critical lady that the steering wheel is in a fixed position. If anyone sits close it's the girl—and we've seen some sit so close that if they moved any closer the boy would have to be on the running board. (You kids, ask your folks what a running board is).

Kerry Leggett in the Ord Quiz tells of the vacant lost look so many of the young people have nowadays, losing sight of life and its enjoyable features, shutting themselves off from humanity and living a life where they just don't care. Those kids probably attend big colleges. Nowadays you go to a big university and you run into these kids from all over the country, spreading their type of do-what-you-want-to-do and to-hack-with-the-way-you-were-brought-up ideas. They couldn't care less. This is another good reason why schools like Wayne State are the best you

Chevy II. No car so trim has a right to be so thrifty. But thrifty it is, with money-savers like brakes that adjust themselves and a long-lived exhaust system.

Corvair. Ask any '65 Corvair owner how it feels to drive a car with such easy steering, tenacious traction and responsive re-engage power. And be ready to do lots of listening.

Almost 100 in Winside South of Border Event

Mrs. Bill Schmitt directed a "South of the Border" production in Winside Tuesday night of last week that included almost 100 pupils. There were 96 Spanish students in the colorful presentation before a large crowd.

In the Latin tradition, colors dominated the evening in spots, plaids, polka dots and other patterns. Oranges, pinks, blues and greens dominated with blacks and other colors thrown in.

A bullfight, Spanish Christmas with the breaking of the pinata, a love scene between Bob Wacker and Kathy Pfeiffer, serenades by the girls of the high school Spanish classes, a Mexican ball dance by the eighth grade girls and a finale featuring a solo, "South of the Border," by Kathy Deek were featured.

Barbara Jackson accompanied some numbers on the guitar and Cheryl Behmer accompanied others at the piano. Keith Schmode narrated the program as master of ceremonies. Charles Prince was lighting technician in charge of special effects and Kirk Troutman furnished the musical background for the entire show.

The school dance band played two Latin-type numbers. Mexican decorations included saddles, purses, belts, dishes, sombreros, caracas and other such items.

Vicki Wade, Mary Jane Hansen, Claire Bleich and Linda Gehring painted the background scenery. Eighth grade boys made palm trees. Hot tacos and cold pop were served after the program. Winside residents donated many of the items used in the successful Spanish classes production.

ASPARGUS ON TOAST

To prepare for cooking - Break off stalks as far down as they break off easily. Wash thoroughly, using a brush. Remove scales on stalk.

To cook - Stand stalks upright in 1 1/2 inch boiling salted water in a high pot such as the top of a double boiler. Cover and cook 15 or 20 minutes, or until just tender. Lift out with tongs.

To serve - Allow 2 pounds asparagus, 8 pieces toast, 1 cup butter. Place 2 pieces toast on each plate. Lay cooked asparagus on toast. Pour melted butter over and serve with a piece of crisp bacon.

Super Tip - Asparagus is one of the richest sources of a substance called "beta" which chafes the walls of the vocal tract, thus preventing hemorrhage.

One spray of Atrazine controls weeds and grasses in corn.

Spray Atrazine 80W herbicide at planting and you'll get season-long control of most annual broadleaf weeds and grasses. Growing corn with Atrazine means your crop won't have weed competition for moisture and soil nutrients. So your yields will be higher. Profits, too. And, you'll free labor and equipment for other farm tasks. This year, take advantage of weedy control in corn with Atrazine - the herbicide you spray just once for season-long control. New Baptistry at Church to Be Used

A new baptistry, installed and paid for, is ready for use at the Wayne Baptist church. Rev. Frank Pedersen, pastor of the church, said it would be used for baptisms planned for this coming Sunday's worship service.

It was just a few weeks ago that the congregation was informed of the need for a new baptistry. Yet donations have come in so well it was not necessary to have a special collection and enough came in to cover costs.

The new baptistry, like the one being replaced, provides for complete immersion. Coming out will be a baptizing tank that has been used since the church was erected.

Repairs on repairs had been made to keep the baptistry usable. It finally reached the point where it was thought it was more economical to get a new one than to put in more repairs on the old one.

One Minor Accident in City Mars Safety Mark

A minor accident involving a car backing away from a curb was the only mishap to mar the week on Wayne's streets. Had it not occurred, Wayne would have had its first accident-free week in several months.

Chief of Police Garth Dawson investigated the accident which occurred on Main between Third and Fourth streets. No one was injured and total damage came to only $10.

Paul Mines, Wayne, was backing from the curb, his car striking the side of a car driven by Pat Alderson, Wayne. The damage was confined to the Alderson vehicle.

Students Pay Off Debt

Adon Jeffrey of First National Bank, Wayne, reports that the banks of the country, providing the United Student Aid Funds, have had exceptionally good luck with students paying back the loans their local banks provide. In Nebraska there were 969 loans outstanding totaling $554,880 as of Dec. 1. Only one loan was in poor standing at the time. Banks have been offering low-interest loans to college students on a business-like basis, averaging $30 million in loans to students each year. More than 99 per cent in this country are in good standing. Students do not even start repayment until they have been out of school four months. With 10 million students expected to flood campuses in the next few years, many more loans of this type are expected.

Census Bureau Will Ask More Questions in Area

Ruth Koehler, representing the census bureau, will be an interviewer who will call on families in this area in April, according to the department of commerce, which is going to find out consumers' plans for purchasing homes, cars and major appliances.

Questions on consumer intentions will be asked in addition to the regular inquiries on employment and unemployment asked by the census bureau each month for the department of labor's bureau of labor statistics. Selected households will be selected for the questioning after April 19 in the United States.

The purpose will be to find out consumer's plans to buy a house within the next year for their own use; if it is new or has been lived in before; and whether plans are being made to buy a car, washing machine, refrigerator, television set, air conditioner, clothes dryer, dishwasher or hi-fi equipment within the next six months.

NOT INTERESTED!

Some people immediately take this attitude when an insurance man calls. Why? Could it be because they hate to be reminded of a fact they'd prefer to forget? Their families—the wives and children they love so much—are not adequately protected. The truth is most men can't afford to be "not interested." The average American father owns only enough life insurance to carry his family for a year or two. We can show you any number of John Hancock Plans which will give your family a better chance. Absolutely no obligation, of course.
