Police Get Many Calls During Hot Weather

Maybe it's the heat. At any rate, the Wayne Police Department has had more calls than usual for police services in the past week.

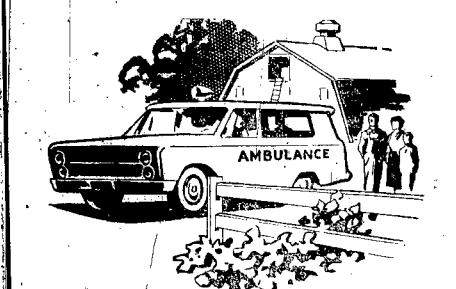

No monkeys escaped and no one threw a pop bottle through a windshield as last week but there were a variety. No fingerprints were sent to the state as was the case with the pop bottle thrower (not the monkey) last week.

One firm's front door was found open during the night due to door checks, the owner came down and found nothing missing; a truck rolled into the street and stopped so the truck owner had to be called to remove it.

A woman fell at her home, cracked a bone in her leg and the police were called to check, finding her in need of a doctor's services. A neighbor's complaint was made on a neighbor's dog spending too much time in a neighbor's yard.

A bicycle reportedly left in a hedge over three weeks was picked up; a woman called at 4 a.m. and said someone was trying to break into her home, police found the back broken and a safe lock broken but no sign of a white car the woman saw in front of her place.

Prices are higher on nearly everything you buy — but prescription prices are up only a fraction of the increases for other goods and services.

When measured in terms of CURE, the cost of prescribed medicine was never LOWER. With today's fast, safe drugs, you are well again in days instead of weeks — with fewer and smaller medical bills, and shorter, less costly convalescence. Surely this is the biggest bargain money can buy.

Farm Safety in Week's Promotion

July 24-30 is Farm Safety Week. Wayne County Public Power District and all farm groups are joining in calling attention to the week and urging observance.

In a proclamation designating the week, President Lyndon Johnson points out that American farmers have made more progress in the last 30 years than in all previous history, enabling one farmer to do the work once done by four. One farmer now feeds and clothes 33 people.

The dark spot on the farm record is in accidents. Around 750,000 men, women and children are killed or disabled every year.

Progress toward safer farms is urged during the observance of the week. The safety play goes out not only to those who live on farms but to those who serve with agriculture or are allied with agriculture. In the agricultural area, that takes in most of us.

Another Reminder Offered Farmers

Wayne County farmers were reminded this week of the national "drawn near on price-support loans on 1965 crops of corn and soybeans. Growers who have corn and soybeans under loan may reloan their crops through Aug. 1 by paying off the loan plus interest.

John Mohr, chairman of the ASCS county committee, points out that the program cut-off date is July 31, a Sunday. Therefore, the date of maturity is extended through Monday, Aug. 1. Substantial quantities of 1965 crop corn and soybeans have been on under price-support loans this year, he said. Many loans have already been repaid so that amounts remaining under loan are moderate.

"Producers are encouraged to redeem their crops and sell them when prices are most favorable and above support price," Mohr said. "This is an over-riding purpose of the price-support program."

He pointed out that price supports were devised to protect the farmer's price and promote order in marketing by making it possible to store crops and not have to rush them to market at sacrifice harvest prices. This way, both market supplies and prices are established with benefits to farmers and other consumers. The larger the redemption of loans, the lower the acquisition and other price-support costs of the government program.

Decision Awaited on Cleaning Concord Lots

Concord's town board met Thursday night. It has not reached a decision on who is to clean off vacant lots that are county-owned. Representatives of Concord had gone to Ponca to meet with Dixon County commissioners and officials there indicated they would check the lots. However, it was also thought the lots owned by the county might be turned over to the town.

In the meantime, Concord people are being urged by the board to clean up their own lots and the lots they possess that are vacant. If it takes all year, they're determined Concord will be a cleaner town. The title of "mum city" is still being sought also and it is reported more mums than ever before have been planted. The town's own main garden along Spur 1118 through town will be exceptionally colorful this fall as there are many more plants than there were last year.

Firemen Called Tuesday
Wayne Volunteer Fire Department was called Tuesday evening to the Kenny Hamer home on Circle Drive. Hamer was burning trash when fire jumped to dry grass. The department was called but Hamer had the fire out with a garden hose before the truck could arrive and they were waved back without stopping. There was little or no fire damage.

Bike Safety School Draws Concord Kids

A bike safety school was conducted Monday in Concord under sponsorship of the Three C's Club. Around 30 youngsters attended the July 17 and July 18 sessions. Mrs. Bill Riehl, Mrs. Clarence Pearson and E. E. Fisher conducted the course. "Diplomas" were given to those who demonstrated that they had gained the knowledge imparted.

A bicycle safety film has been shown two weeks ago by Trooper James O'Dell, Nebraska Safety Patrol. Then the school was scheduled to teach proper signals, dangerous practices, meaning of high way signs, need for lights on bikes, and other related information. In the past, some Concord kids have been "hooking rides" by hanging on to the back of a truck. Now that the course has been given, such practices are frowned upon by both adults and children. What is more, the youngsters can be observed giving signals when they turn and in other ways demonstrating that they learned something in school.

Wayne Girls Report on Unidentified Objects

Don't tell Wayne Girl Scouts there are no such things as unidentified flying objects. They saw what they believe to be a UFO Wednesday night. The same night other sightings were reported.

The girls saw a burning light that appeared first one place and then the other. They were camping at Ponca State Park and older girls in two tents witnessed the spectacle. When they returned home, they found that television stations had reported others sighting the UFO's. They also learned a Wayne family had seen the objects in the night sky at 10 p.m., which is about the same time they saw them.

Girl Scouts of Troop 191 and 257 (Junior Scouts) except for two Cadettes slept in tents Wednesday night. Mrs. Max Lundstrom, Mrs. Loren Kamish, Mrs. Leroy Middleton and Mrs. Arline Ulrich accompanied them. As a troop ceremony, badges work made it for which some were played and songs sung. Margie Lundstrom reported on the troop activities, including the UFO sightings.

Five Types Violations Reported in Hearings

Five types of traffic violations were taken up by Judge David Hamer in county court during the period of July 17-18. A report was also made on a case heard July 6. In the July 6 hearing, Robert Schenck, Wakefield, was charged with speeding. He was charged by Patrolman Matejka and paid $10 fine and $5 costs.

In the July 7 hearing, Robert Schenck, Wakefield, was charged with speeding. He was charged by Patrolman Matejka and paid $10 fine and $5 costs. The first involved William Clark Sioux City, charged with illegal parking. He paid $15 in fine and costs on charges brought by Police Vern Fairchild.

There were also two hearings July 13. The first involved Dennis Smith, Winside. He paid $10 fine and $5 costs on speeding charges with Trooper Matejka filing the complaint.

Wayne's Tom Rindolph was fined $25 plus $16.60 court costs that day, charged with failure to report a personal property accident within 12 hours. He also paid $31 damage to a fence at the Stables CCC Farm storage site.

Winside Club Has One Thing in Mind

Just one thing was on the minds of most Winside Community Club members at the meeting Monday night. The 35 members present were concerned with the Old Settlers Reunion coming up this Thursday.

Committee reports were given and final plans discussed. Details of the celebration itself are contained in another article on the front page.

A report was given on the recent queen contest and the club decided Winside should be represented. Two girls are to be sponsored in Winside, details of that also being in a front page story. Rev. E. J. Kess and George Gaul were guests of the club. Rev. Kess is new pastor of the Methodist Church, where the meeting was held, and Gaul is the new owner of Jake's Grocery. It was announced that Robert Carhart, Wayne, would be featured club Carhart steering committee chairman for the proposed area trade school. Will explain the proposal to members.

KAISER ALUMINUM

"In Arizona, working on environmental control studies, KAISER ALUMINUM agricultural engineers built custom types of range shade shelters for livestock. Some had galvanized steel roofs, some had wood slats, and some had aluminum."

Which shade shelter would prove the coolest?
No fancy instruments were needed. All they had to do was wait for a hot day—something one doesn't wait for very long in Arizona. The cows decided for themselves—seven out of ten cows took cover under the Kaiser aluminum-roofed shelters—the coolest place they could find.

For your own environmental controls—for the house, barn, milking parlor, poultry runs, grain storage, utility buildings—anywhere you want temperature control, low maintenance, and attractive appearance...

YOU'LL find a difference in—
KAISER ALUMINUM, too!

Wayne Girls Camp at State 4-H Campground

Five Wayne girls spent Monday to Friday at the State 4-H Camp near Halsey. Mrs. Fred Janke took them to camp and County Agent Harold Ingals brought them back. Gloria Pollard, Sally Zapp, Jan Zach and Diana Janke were representatives of the Buys Bee Club attending. Kathy Dunklau of the Loyal Lassies was the fifth member of the group.

They were among 105 girls and 45 boys spending the week at camp. They stayed in cabins and took part in a variety of activities: canoeing, archery, dance, sports, skills, contests, square dancing, barbecues, banquets and other activities were in the form of recreation. There was also work in "kitchen police" and in cleaning cabins but mostly it was a week of fun and outdoor living.

Pastor Will Serve Two Area Churches

A 7:30 service at Trinity will include a sermon by Rev. L. Hedemann, St. Paul's, Wisner, who assisted during the period when there was no pastor at Trinity.

A luncheon and reception will follow in the First Trinity school basement.

VA Hospitals Admit Some Vets at Once

Veterans Administration hospitals in Omaha, Lincoln and all over the U.S. have been directed to admit recently discharged veterans without waiting for eligibility determination if the vets think they may have malaria, according to Chris Bargholz, Wayne County service officer.

Bargholz said the director of the VA hospital in Lincoln advises veterans who have been home from Southeast Asia 100 days or less to be alert for symptoms of the disease. Armed forces medical departments report an increase in malaria among servicemen returning from that area.

The Lincoln hospital director said many of the cases reported are a type where chills and fever are not symptoms and symptoms are so mild they may be overlooked. Use of a new anti-malaria drug can cut in half the number of men stricken, cut length of illness and help prevent relapse.

Hoskins Rescue Unit Makes Emergency Run

The Hoskins Rescue Unit made an emergency run to Norfolk July 6. A resident of the town, John Rieck, had been found unconscious by his car.

Rieck was at the Marvin Kleen-sang farm north of Hoskins when found. The rescue unit was called, oxygen was administered and Rieck continued to receive oxygen while being taken to Norfolk to a hospital.

Jim Fink and Carl Mann took the rescue unit for the emergency run. They reported they understood Rieck had been lying near the car for about 1 1/2 hours before being found.

Rieck was hospitalized two days before being allowed to return home. Cause of his passing out was not learned and he is once again in apparent good health.

Randolph Youth's Auto Hits CCC Bins Fencing

Roger Lewis, Randolph, was found to be the driver of a car that struck and damaged government grain storage bin fencing at Sholes July 10. He was in court July 13 for a hearing on the mishap.

Deputy Sheriff S. C. Thompson and Randolph Police Department officers worked together to solve the case. Lewis was charged with failure to report a property damage accident.

Lewis said he was looking for a cigarette that had fallen on the floor of the car. His vehicle drifted to the left and struck the fence. The Randolph youth paid for the damage to the fence, which was estimated at $21.

PRACTICING DENTISTRY 66 years in Northeast Nebraska, Dr. G. E. Hartman is alert, active and amiable today although he passed his 98th birthday earlier this month. He could be the oldest practicing dentist in the nation.

TYPIING LETTERS and other information is a common activity for 98-year-old Dr. Hartman.

Dr. G. E. Hartman, Wayne - Nebraska's Oldest Active Dentist; Nation's Also?

Dr. G. E. Hartman, Wayne, may not be the oldest practicing dentist in the United States but he is not far behind whoever is.

The Wayne dentist is 98, but you couldn't prove it by looking at him. Talking to him makes that age seem even more unlikely.

Acknowledged as the oldest practicing dentist in Nebraska, he is now compiling information for the publication of the American Dental Association which may establish him as the nation's oldest active dentist. He doesn't really care whether he's the longtime king of dentists or second or third in line. He just wants to keep on practicing.

You can count his years in dental work from any one of three mileposts. In 1893 he worked in a father-daughter "dental firm" in South Dakota. In 1897 he enrolled in a two-year dental course in Kansas City. In April, 1899, he enrolled in the Omaha Dental College and was graduated from that school in 1900.

Born July 10, 1868, in Shelby County, Ill., he was left by his older brothers to help his father on the farm. He saw no hope of ever getting ahead, so with the help of a sympathetic mother, he gained the gumption necessary to leave home, something his father did not approve of his ever doing.

George Hartman (and that's the last time he wants to be referred to as "George"), accompanied his little sister to Decatur, Ill., on the many years he had cared for some of his patients' dental work but admitted some had come to him for almost half a century.

Modern devices have come and gone. He has tried some, but admits that some "innovations" now gone were not around long enough for him to try. Burners, Jeweler's lamp with gasoline blow pipe and other devices have been used by him in his practice.

In 1966 he combines his work in making partial and full sets of teeth. He still has most of his own teeth and wishes his patients had been as conscientious about taking care of their teeth as he has his. Leisure time does not bang heavily on his hands. He reads a lot, two daily papers, dental publications and several magazines. He also spends a lot of time at the typewriter, writing letters to relatives and friends and typing items he does not want to forget.

In Randolph he found time to serve. His activities over the years included the school board, library board and mayor. Now he is satisfied to read about what others are doing, not only in Randolph, Wayne and all Nebraska but around the world and out in space.

Television? He doesn't need it. I don't have time to catch up on my reading now," declared Dr. Hartman.

The general dentist a life member of the American Dental Association since 1956, keeps dental books and magazines close at hand. He has an extensive library and includes McGuffey's Sixth Reader, Best Loved Poems, Roge's Thesaurus and many related and unrelated volumes.

His first wife died in 1922. His second in 1932. His family includes Mrs. Margaret Boggs, head of the language department at Leon High School, Tallahassee, Fla.; Mrs. Ruth Ellis, Wayne, high school secretary; Mrs. Miles Reese, Riverside, Calif., a nurse; Mrs. E. L. Hiter, Overland Park, Kan., a practical nurse; Harold Hartman, Omaha, sheet metal and air conditioning plant operator; and Robert Hartman, Chicago, research department of Swift & Co. Dr. Hartman has 11 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Dr. Hartman does not smoke or drink but does not necessarily attribute his longevity or his activity to this abstinence. He feels both are foolish, however. He has outlived a smug of people who disagreed with him.

Following his own recommendations, he has kept his teeth, has abstained from drinking and smoking, retained an interest in life by understanding the changes that necessarily must come and has let others live their lives as they see fit — something he thought he might never get to do when his father kept him on the Illinois farm. Because G. E. Hartman did get away to live the life he wanted to live, he is more understanding of those who do not choose to live their lives the way he does.

His way of life may not be the best for everyone, but it has been mighty good to him for 98 years.

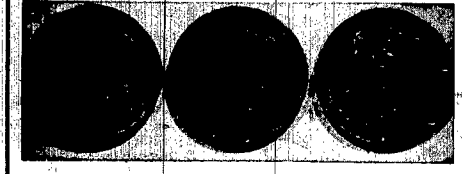

Taking time off from mowing a lawn, a job he does not mind at all, the white-haired dentist was happy to talk of the past, or the present or the future. The lawn could wait, he enjoys visitors.

"Mowing the lawn is out in plain sight where people can see me and can stop to suggest I get someone else to do it," Dr. Hartman said. However, they cannot see the work he does in the house-office combination and that never bothers anyone.

He does most of his own cooking. He is also responsible for the housework, although a neighbor lady does help out at times. Then there's the dental work to be done, something he will continue to do as long as possible.

His practice is not as great as it used to be but it is still steady enough to keep him alert to the needs. He declined to tell how Mommy...is our water safe today?

Just because water comes out of your faucet doesn't mean that it is safe. Particularly if your home relies on water from a well, lake, river or pond and has a septic tank or cesspool.

Danger of a home's water supply becoming contaminated with bacteria that cause dysentery, food poisoning, strep-throat and other mysteriously appearing diseases is ever-present.

For Vigilant Family Protection . . . Bacteria Guard Water Purifier. This compact, low-cost unit, easily installed provides water that meets the bacteriological requirements established by the U.S. Public Health Standards for Drinking Water. You'll be in Winside this Thursday we presume. Even if the Old Settlers Reunion is only one half as successful as last year's diamond jubilee celebration, it will still be a big event. If you can't stay all day, at least go over for part of the celebration. Last year we were a new comer here and we enjoyed it. This year we're an old timer and we anticipate double the pleasure.

Invitations have been extended to neighboring towns to enter the parade. Clubs, religious groups and other organizations are also welcome.

Dixon County Groups Join in Fair Planning

The Dixon County Fair Board and the Dixon County Centennial

Committee held a joint meeting Wednesday night at last week in Concord to coordinate plans for the fair, centennial promotion and the centennial queen contest.

Two were named from each town in the county to help put on the queen contest. Mrs. Virgil Ekberg, Wakefield, was named chairman and she has information on the contest in another article in this week's paper.

Final work is proceeding in lining up the program for the fair at Concord Aug. 25-27. Detailed information will be given as soon as all arrangements are complete.

The fast rising popularity of traveling contests has been considered and such a contest is definitely being considered but that is less definite.

Mrs. T. P. Roberts, David Rees and Frank Rees were notified of the death of a nephew, George Rees, 38 Virginia. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Rees.

SPICY ADVICE

Spices age, just like the rest of us! Never just add to a jar. Empty it, and start in fresh. Keep spices out where they can be seen and used, but not where the sun comes in strong through the window. And don't leave a spice can opened, even when you're rushing to concoct a special dish! Imported oils slip away when spices and herbs are exposed to the air—and with them goes the flavor.

SHERBET SUPREME

HEATING HINT

Have you given a thought to winter lately? You should—and I'm not bawling from too much July! This is the time to have your local gas company or gas heating consultant give you a free estimate on a fine gas heating system. Winter will be back, we can count on it! Be sure you can count on clean, dependable, automatic gas heat when the time comes. That's the word from Northern Natural Gas Company, pipeline suppliers to your Peoples Natural Gas, who wants you to live comfortably and economically all year around.

PAINTING POINTERS

Mrs. Robert Smiley of Minneapolis, Minn., paints every other step right up the stairs, and lets them dry. The young Smileys simply take the steps two-at-a-time for 24 hours. Then she paints the other set. Pretty clever, huh? She also ties big plastic bags over the light fixtures, so ceiling paint won't splatter over them. And she paints a stripe on the outside of the paint can, so she knows the shade when it's time for touch-ups.

CAMPFIRE SING

Group-singing gets folks sentimental 'round a Summer campfire! Follow National Rotary Club rules to organize it: Choose a peppy, strong-voiced leader. Start with a song everybody knows. Include "oldies" and new ones! To make sure nobody's too shy, encourage loud singing! Don't start till the meal is finished—and stop after approximately a dozen songs. Otherwise, some of the group will tire.

SELECTIVE SERVICE

Gas lights repel flying insects . . . but how they do draw compliments! Place one near your patio, so guests can admire your garden in its pretty glow. Many happy gas light purchasers are now ordering seconds and thirds, for other spots around their home. It's nice to have a light you needn't turn on at sunset . . . nice, too, to know they cost so little to operate. See the new styles at your Peoples Natural Gas; you'll love the way they flatter your home's architecture.

BICYCLE SAFETY finals were being held as this picture was taken Saturday. Larry Creighton, on the left, won two of the divisions, the slow race and the long race. The others in the picture are not identified.

Forty Youngsters Finish Bicycle School; Get Police Department Operator Permits

Forty youngsters in the 5-10 age group now possess "Bicycle Operator's Licenses." They earned them by completing the course offered by Officer E. L. "Pat" Hailey of the Wayne Police Department.

The bicycle safety school offered the chance to teach youngsters the need for safety, for observing traffic laws, for knowing what signs mean, for giving signals and for showing courtesy. The little permits given them are official and a real reward for taking in the classes.

Saturday was the final day of bicycle safety school and Officer Hailey was assisted by Dale Peterson, Terry Ellis and Don Mau in carrying out competitive and skill events such as handicap race, skill riding, shoe scramble, slow race and long race.

Hailey thanked the children for coming, the three older boys who helped with the events, the college for use of the facilities and the City Council and Super Valu for the treats. Following school, treats were given and operator permits were issued.

Kevin Jach won the handicap race. Karen Niles and Alice Bergholz were tops for girls in the slow race and Larry Creighton, David Nuss, Dan Pinkelman, Robert Mitchell and Ricky Barner were tops for boys in the same race.

Kerri Schmidt and Kristy Jech were the best for girls in the long race. Larry Creighton, Ricky Barner, Steve Johnson and Kevin Jach finished in that order for the boys' long race.

Bicycle operator's licenses signed by Officer Hailey bear the pledge: "I promise to obey all traffic rules and regulations when riding my bicycle. I will be careful, courteous and always ride my bicycle safely. They went to the following:

Michael Schmidt, David Fry, Mickey Kemp, Kristy Jech, Kevin Jach, Kerry Jech, Mike Manes, Tommy Nissen, Steve Niles, Karen Niles, Brian Johnson, Eric Johnson, Jay Kohl, Randy Pinkelman, Peggy Pinkelman, Danny Pinkelman, Kelly Stammer, Virgil Kardell, Phil Koerber, Jackie Beeks,

"NO DIFFERENT THAN THE ONE IN OUR STORE!"

Allis-Chalmers Gleaners are all the same—great! Great capacity. That's the whole story.

Winning the National Corn Combining Contest last year (that's 3 out of 4 years in a row) or harvesting on your farm, it's the same story. Great capacity.

Why such capacity? (We'll let competition in on a little secret): Because it's built from snout to snout for capacity as well as years of low upkeep. We'll be proud to cover its every feature in our store when you come in.
