Check Licenses

Probationary driver's licenses expire Sept. 1. County Treasurer Leona Bahde reports that all teenagers must renew.

There is a 60-day "grace" period following Sept. 1 for renewing these probationary licenses. However, it is not too early to remind teenagers that they should not wait until the last day of this renewal period before stopping by the treasurer's office.

Renewal fee is $2. This covers one more year of licensed driving.

Nightmare-Like Mishap

A Wayne youth experienced anightmare-type auto accident Thursday when he blacked out just after starting his car. The vehicle went over the curb, onto a lawn, grazed a little girl, narrowly missed another child and came to a stop after knocking over a 10-inch-around tree that was pulled out by the roots.

Gary Munson had just turned on the ignition and remembers nothing else, apparently blacking out. His car went 1228 feet onto terrace in the 500 block of Hillcrest Drive.

Chris Proett, 2½, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marrice Proett, had the closest call. She was playing in the yard and was brushed aside by the car. Her injuries included a cut over her left temple, a chin bruise that turned black and a tooth injury that turned one tooth black.

Mrs. Wayne Wessel saw the car coming atthechildren and managed to snatch her daughter, Brenda, 2, out of the way. She was horrified to see the car pass over the blanket on which her son, Scott, 5, was lying.

Seniors out are Longe, Gary Seniors out are Longe, Gary Redel, Wacker, Keith Krueger, Thies, Brudigan and Dangberg Juniors out are Jacobsen, Wag-ner, Bob Jenkins, Larry Pfeif-fer, Roger Deck, Dan Jaeger, Charles Langenberg and Mark Witt.

Sophomores drilling are Mann, gan won tirst in the second heat, first in the trophy dash and first in A Feature Elarold Briefichan won second in the B Feature.

Coach Peta Kropp has seven lettermen among the 37 out for football at Winside High School. He also has four boys who weigh 200 pounds or more and two more that are over 180 pounds. The Wildcak lettermen are Donald Long, Terry Thies, Randy Brudigan, Reed Wacker, Randy Brudigan, Reed Wacker, Randy Brudigan, Reed Wacker, Bob Dangberg, Randy Jacobsen and Roy Wagner. They are being coached by Kropp and his assistant, Dan Cahill.

Terry Thies Is the behemoth of the Cais, foling 235 pounds. Andrew Manh, a sophomore-weighs 217, Randy Brudigan and Donald Longe, seniors, 205 and 200 respectively.

Right out there with them are some mighty small, eager and hustling freshmen who just barely break the 100-pound mark Included are Robert Meyer and Mike Jaeger at 103, Doug Deck 107, Scott Duering 108 and Mike Jaeffrey 109.

There are 16 freshmen, six sophomores, eight juniors and seven seniors out for the sport. One, Jack Christensen, is the son of the new superintendent and is the only transfer in this year.

Seniors out are Longe, Gary Redel Wacker, Keth Krueger.

There's a difference of opin-tion between Wayne State Head Football Coach John Jermer and his squad—but the kind of difference a coach likes.

"I've been saying this would be a rebuilding year, but the players don't seem to think it is." said Jermier after the flight two days of practice.

The squad of 56 has 20 lettermen, among them six with three letters and nine with two letters.

But missing are a dozen graduated senior lettermen and three others not returning to Wayses. Among the departed are all of the offensive backs except half-back Dennis Kirby, who was elected most valuable player on offense last year.

Peinstein, a sophomore sitarmate at the post last year, is transferring to the University of Minnesota.

This leaves the signal calling post a goal for five or six aspirants, only one of them, Larry Adams, with Wayne experience, and he did not play last year. The others include Steve Gunther of LeMars, ia., who earned a freshman numeral at the University of Nebrasks and a letter at Trinidad (Colo.) Junior College. Freshman quaeterback candidates are Darold Nellist a Sioux City Heelan product. Bob Jurka, an air force vetaran who quarterbacked his Harian High School team in Chicago, and Ron Fink of Schiller Park, Ili., who was an honorable mention all stater at East Leydon High School.

Backfield Coach Kent Stephen-

(Continued from page 4) and he did not play last year, on offense and defense, "said that standard the coach flax Eundstrom, line coach flax Eundstrom, line coach flowever, depth is thin because of lack of experience." Defensive Line Coach Raiph Barclay has further drained the pool of line talent by using three offensive linemen for double offensive linemen for double duty. Dean Geths, Scribber, will be a defensive guard and offensive tackle: Roger Parr, also Scribner, an end both ways, Ron Beck, Exira, la a tackle who transierred from Northwest Missouri State.

The quarterback job is the big question Dean deBuhr, a four-year regular, is given, and Steve fing these prospects in the

"The present squad of 56 is mailler than usual," Jermier noted, "so we can spend more time with individual coaching."

"We brought in some freshmen we feel are outstande, but they lack the sell-important experience to play college foot-ball," Jermier said.

Among the frosh are five who played in the Shrine game recently; Jerry Luedtke, Omaha North product who co-captained is auger thrives on working in tight, congested areas

This Stan-Hoist 33-foot auger will reach as high as competitive 41-footers

Big statement . . . you bet! But then a Stan-Hoist Auger is better. You can get closer to buildings, closer to cribs. A shorter Stan-Hoist Auger will neach those openings easier and better than a bigger, longer competitive auger! So, why spend more for an auger than you have to! Buy Stan-Hoist.

You'll also like Stan-Hoist Augers channel "U" box structure under auger tube for greatest support. 8-foot corn screen is optional. Lengths from 33 to 53 feet. Sealed self-aligning bearings throughout the drive shaft. All galvanized drive shaft won't rust and stick. Auger tube is welded, seamless galvanized.

Business Notes

Bob Lund of Sav-Mor Drug is going sloing with the drive to keep flithy literature off the newstand. The store is not offering indecent books or magaratnes, he said. Lund pointed out that most literature today is in good taste and mest stores can headle it with pride but in the interest of goot health and clean minds, the drug store is not stocking ebjectionable publications.

church attend Kingdom Hall worship at Norfolk, Several others from the Norfolk area are expected at the conference.

Purpose of the session is to discuss the growing tide of lawlessness and loss of real religious faith in the U. S. Members believe that a vigorous application of Bible principles will save families from being engulfed in tensions and problems arising daily.

Church members are also carrying out their daily schedule of Bible study. This begins at the family level and continues through congregational and conference levels.

Speaker at Kiwanis Dislikes New Bill

Dislikes New Bill

Leo Ringer, Norfolk relator, was speaker at the Monday noon meeting of Kiwanis Club at the Woman's Club Rooms. He told why realtors in general and he in particular dd not like the new bill requiring free and open sale of housing to all regardless of race or creed.

According to Ringer, who is past president of the state realtor association, most realtors are in favor of open sale of housing but do not like the bill as written. He cited some paragraphs "buried" in the bill which are designed to take away some freedoms.

He feels the bill is contrary to the right of free enterprise Americans are supposed to possess. As a Christian interested in Negro rights, he still feels that education of the people would be a way to build up proper relationship and would bring wider acceptance than forced adoption of the bill.

Jack Niles was introduced as newest member of the club. Loy Marotz, son of Lyle Marotz, Hoskins, was a guest of the club. Lyle Marotz is a club member.

Oyster Shells May Play Bigger Role

Additional research is needed to determine it oyster shells will play a role in feeding beef cattle, Dr. Walter Woods told a group at the livestock field day at Northeast Station, Concord, Thursday.

Dr. Woods said that oyster shells can aid in rations as a roughage substitute in high grain rations. However, adding oyster shells to rations already containing adequate roughage has no merit, he said.

ready containing accequate roughage has no merit, he said.

He pointed out two reasons for adding roughage to high grain rations. Adding nutrients and contributing to livestock and feed management to avoid digestive upets and founder in cattle.

Current research at Concord and other stations is being made to determine if roughage substitutes could be used in rations because of difficulty in handling conventional crop roughage and expense associated with it in certain feeding programs.

roughage and expense associated with it in certain feeding programs.
Lists Suggestions.

Dr. Woods listed these suggestions for feeders using oyster shell: Use one pound of hay or hay equivalent in high grain fattening rations where oyster shell is being fed; level of oyster shell should be one-half pound per animal per day (although additional research is being made to determine results of other amounts);
Calcium as fed above
would meet calcium needs of animals while greater amounts; oculd create difficulties; attention should be given to trace mineral and vitamin supplements;
phosphotous level in rations should be about three per cent; and protein supplement must be adequate to balance the ration, espoically in rations previously based on alfalfa hay.

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem, and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have operlooked.

COMMENT

Each year is full of "days." This does not refer to the ordinary Tuesday, Thursday, Sunday or Friday type days but the days dedicated to someone or something. In Wayne every day is one group's special "day."

This is not to be an indictment of Mother's Day, Father's Day, Veterans Day, Labor Day, Memorial Day, Dollar, Day, Independence Day, Columbus Day, New Year's Day or any of the lesser days which are marked veryly.

New Year's Day or any of the lesser days which are marked yearly.

A day should be designated for appreciation of business and professional people of Wayne. No one forgets them when money or assistance is needed-they're remembered the year-round in those instances. So it is proposed that they be remembered in an appreciative way the year-round also.

These are the people who make the Chamber of Commerce possible. They also put out special effort and funds for Silver Dollar Night and other promotions throughout the year.

When service projects are considered, someone invariably suggests: "We could take up a collection." By "collection," they mean: Solicit the business and professional places.

By "collection," they mean: Solicit the business and professional places.

Naming a few offhand, one can cite the litter cans, the baseball fence, the centennial queen contest, the fair book, the auto license directory, the barbecue, the recreation transportation fund and others.

When it comes to the Community Chest drive, the biggest share of the money comes from the business division. When other fund drives are held (poppies, cancer, heart, polio, etc.) the business section is the principal stomping ground.

Who makes it possible for the area to have a newspaper? The business places and professional firms.

Every Day Their 'Day'

Their 'Day'

Who supports Radio Wayne, The Morning Shopper and other advertising designed to contribute something to area. life? Business and professional people. Who sponsors bowling teams? You know. Seat cushions, college newspaper, playbills, you name them. The same ones make them possible.

As far as is known, they have not asked for any accolades or any respite. Some give more than others but all contribute. The fact that they deserve a little more credit is just being pointed out.

One businessman said recently that a week never goes by but what he is solicited for a donation, contribution or financial support of one kind or another. To his credit, it should be pointed out that he is one of the most consistent supporters of almost every drive and undertaking.

This "routine" of just depending on the business people is a way of life. It has been going on for such a long period of time everyone is just doing what comes naturally.

But it is about time they get a little more recognition for support exceedingly generous every day of the year. These business and professional people are the pulsing heart of our area and make so many things possible all could not be listed.

They deserve a day. Today. Tomorrow. Every day. They're behind you and your group all year, You should be behind them the same amount of time. The best way to let them know they're appreciated is to support them. Give them a first chance at your business. Next week you may be around raising money for a project and getting some of your own money back.—CEG

There Must

There Must

It is not necessary to go far to find out that something is drastically wrong with Nebraska's highway set-up.

In spite of the refusal of state officials and groups to press for a special legislative session to line up a "crash" program of highway modernization, the need is there. Even if the Nebraska Highway Commission reports Nebraska is ahead of other states on a percentage basis in Interstate work, the fact remains that this state lags considerably.

Drive into Iowa and you find highways with three-lanes for hills. The slow traffic going up, hills keeps to the right. This keeps traffic from building up and eliminates cases such as the irritated driver crawling up a hill behind a tractor who finally decides to take a chance and pass as the crest draws nearer—sometimes making it safely and sometimes not.

Minnesota and lowa both offer examples of what is being done in new highway construction. They offer four-lane highways in many areas. Nebraska's work on four-lane roads has been confined almost entirely don't find new four-lane roads in this state.

In Dodge County, Minn., with a population of about 3,000 more than Wayne County, Nebr., the county has around 100 miles of good surfaced county roads and more are added each year. In Wayne County, there is little county road surfacing if any. Kasson and Dodge Cente (1,800 and 1,500 population) are the biggest towns in Dodge County yet surfaced roads radiate out of those towns and others.

Dodge County, Minn., is served by state highways 30, 56 and 57 plus US 14. This might appear adequate but the county has found a way to provide many more miles of all-weather road.

If it can be done in Dodge County, Minn., (and all other counties in that state) it should be possible here. Wayne County might well find out how Dodge County does it.

Here's what the Wayne County situation might be if it were in Minnesota instead of Nebraska. Highways 35 and 15 would both include some four-lane stretches, probably around Wayne itself. County roads such as from Carroll east to Highway 15, Hoskins north to Highway 98, Winside east to Highway 15, Wayne, southeast to Pender and Waketield west be surfaced.

Nebraska state and county road departments have undoubtedly done the best jobs they could under the circumstances. However, it must be about time to get out the horse and buggy era and change those circumstances.

get out the horse and ouggy era and concumstances.

Wayne County should investigate avenues of improvement. If we get something done, maybe Newraska might start catching up too. It's not to seen to start looking forward to a better second century than has been endured the first century. CEG

Carl Curtis CAPITOL COMMENTS

Both labor and management are losing the fight against inflation because of the failure of the Johnson Administration to exert. the leader, ship necessary to cope with the problem of rising costs.

This is evident from the latest figures available from the Department of Labor on new wage contracts, strike activity and the cost of living.

Collective bargaining agreements negotiated during the first six months of 1966 provided average hourly pay increases of 3.8 per cent for the first contract year, exceeding President Johnson's wage-price guidelines by more than half a per cent.

No one can blame the workers for wanting more than the President's 3.2 per cent increase, for the consumer price index rose nearly four per cent during the first seven months of 1966.

As a matter of fact, the average factory worker with three dependents has suffered a net "real" income loss for the year which ended July 31, due to the combined effect of rising consumer prices and the increase in Social Security taxes.

This reduction in real income has been accompanied by a sharp increase in strike activity. In May, when contracts in the construction industry normally expire, time lost because of strikes rose to 2,870,000 man days, the highest for that month since 1959.

2,870,000 man days, the highest for that month since 1959. The Costly 43-day airline strike followed, and more strikes are predicted as the frustration of rising prices and falling income is felt by more people. Union leaders are blaming 'big profits' of corporations and management spokesmen have hit 'big wage demands' of unions, while the Johnson Administration has been pointing fingers of shame at both labor and business.

But the real culprit is neither labor nor management. The real culprit is runa ay government spending.

The 'Administration has delayed capital construction projects as an anti-inflation step, but it has moved at the same time to increase rather than decreased government spending.

TEST SAMPLING
Taking soil samples for testing now offers many advantages. Samples are easy to get and the results are available to help plan next year's cropping and fertilizer program. Everyone involved is less busy now and the test can be completed without turmoil.
The majority of samples tested are taken in late winter or early spring when the testing laboratory is overloaded. It is not at all unusual to have over-wet samples brought in which have been taken from under snow cover or chopped from frozen ground with an axe.

snow cover or chopped from frozen ground with an axe.

Most of us are inclined to put off tasks until absolutely necessary. The factors in favor of fall testing are too many to be ignored.

The first step to determining what and how much fertilizer to apply is to have the soil tested. While soil tests are not infallible, they are the best indicator of your soil's needs. Be sure to start with representative soil samples. Sampling instructions and soil containers are available in the County Extension Office. Soil samples brought in will likewise be forwarded from the Extension office.

Phosphate is our most deficient element, particularly on limey hill land. Phosphate is essential to grow legumes and enhances the value of nitrogen fertilizer when needed. About one third of the samples tested in Wayne County show lime shortage. These are generally from more nearly level lands, alt is essential to correct lime deficiency where needed. There is no substitute for a good soil test as a guide to wise fertilizer use.

In major mile growing areas, most producers are equipped with combines and supplemental firrying facilities. The toost of these is probably not justified in view of our limited acreaget Supplemental dryling may not be needed, depending on seasonal variation. dry enough for binning.

Making grain sorghum silage has several advantages. First, a combine is not required. The crop can be harvested early and stored at low cost. Milb silage is a high value product because of the low ratio of stalk to grain. This can be increased by taking little of the stalk at harvest. Hogs as well as cattle will make good use of this type feed.

Buying Beet For Freezer

If you own a home freezer, chances are you've thought about stocking it with beef. Whether you plan to buy several cuts, a quarter, or a whole carcass, there are several factors to consider if you want to be sure of getting the best buy for your money.

If you want tender, juicy, flavorful meat, it is best to freeze only high-quality beef. This is why U.S. Choice, the most popular grade of beef, is widely used in home freezing.

If you plan to buy part of a carcass, you should decide whether you want to get more steaks and roasts or more steaks and roasts or more steaks and roasts or more stewing and ground meat. A hind-quarter gives you more steaks—porterhouse, club, and T-bone—and oven roasts. The forequarter will contain more cuts, such as those from the chuck, which must be pot roasted or made into ground and stew meat.

Another factor to consider is cost. Becausethey contain more desirable cuts, hindquarters generally cost several cents per pound more than forequarters of the same grade.

As a prospective buyer, you should also consider the meat is packaged in portions which fit the size of your family or which will be easy to cook, Most dealers will cut the meat to suit your needs.

dealers will cut the meat to suit your needs.

Supermarket specials on particular cuts also offer a good way to stock your freezer with the tamily's favorites. Buying meat this way assures you of getting only the cuts you prefer.

Home freezers are designed to save money on grocery bills by allowing you to stock up on foods when supplies are plantiful and prices favorable. But buying beef in such cuts or such quality that do not meet your family's preference can hardly be called money-saving.

The majority of firms are reputable in their dealings with customers and in their advertising. However, there are some who will take advantage of a customer who lacks a knowledge of the product he is buying.

Misrepresentation may include leading the buyer.

is buying.

Misrepresentation may include leading the buying a special grade, while in fact, supplying him with meat of a lower grade. "Bait and switch" advertising refers to the practice of advertising meat at a price designed to attract customers and then switching the customer to a higher priced meat...

Don't be taken in by advertising which offers "something for nothing". No dealer can afford to give beef away, and reputable ones will not pretend to do so.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1966

cy drops of rain rattled against the reeds of the duck blind, and sailed with the howling wind to beat at the man and the boy and the black, shivering dog

The boy looked at the dog and felt himself shiver beneath the heavy mackinaw that his father had wrapped around him. He could not tell if the shivering was from excitement or cold, because it had started in the warm darkness of his room when his father had shaken his shoulder and said. "Come on Fim. It's going to be a fine morning for ducks."

They are breakfast together, and the shivering deep inside the boy was the tremor of faintly stirring manhood that was spawned by the comradeship with his father and the hot coffee that was strange in his mouth

In the black early morning, they had driven to the marsh and rowed across the open water to the blind. They tossed decoys out to bob up and down on the dark waves, and then they hid the boat and sloshed into the blind to sit humped over on low stools with the shivering dog between them

The wild, forlorn cry of a Canada goose whipped past them on the wind. The man remembered a night long ago when he stood in a farm yard as a boy and stared into a starlite October sky to first feel the nebulous emotions that the honk of the mighty bird stirs. He felt it again now, and the boy felt it with him

"Geese," the boy whispered, and his father nodded

The dog whined suddenly, and then the man said, "Here come some bluebills, Tim. Get ready."

The boy slid the mitten from his right hand and pulled the 16 gauge single-shot closer to him. He was not shivering now. He was warm. He watched his father stand suddenly to fire his shotgun at small black shapes that hurtled past like cannon balls.

One of the shapes splashed down into the water, and the dog bounded out and swam back to the blind with he duck in its mouth.

The boy was ashamed that he had not shot his gun like he should have, but his father said quickly, "It takes a while to get used to shooting at anything that flies as fast as a duck."

Next time the ducks came, the boy did shoot, but he knew even before the gun recoiled against his shoulder that he would miss

Then a flock of mallards pumped up the marsh and circled once to look at the decoys.

"They're your birds," the boy's father said. "Let them come in close."

The boy blinked back wind-tears as he watched the ducks circle again and set their wings in front of the decoys. They were close now, but the boy waited until his father whispered, "OK!"

He stood then, aimed the shotgun and fired. A duck flopped down onto the water, and the dog leaped out after it

The boy sat down. His legs were weak. He glanced at his father and returned the man's wide grin with a hesitant smile. The dog came in with the duck, a fat mallard drake, and the boy felt a pang of regret that he would come to know as a part of successful hunting.

The dog dropped the bird and shook himself, sending a spray of cold water over the hunters. They laughed together as they brushed the moisture from their faces

They shared a cup of coffee, and the man talked to the boy

"You know, Tim, we're lucky we can hunt ducks today," he said. "Why?" asked the boy

"Well, it wasn't too many years ago that there weren't enough ducks in this part of the country for anyone to hunt"

"What happened to them?"

"Several things. The story starts way back in Grandpa's day when there were great clouds of ducks all over the country. There weren't even any hunting laws until 1918, and then you could still take 25 ducks and eight geese every day for 100 days.

"Then people started draining lots of wetlands that ducks need for nesting, and then along came the dry years of the 1930's when many of the remaining marshes dried up. The number of ducks dropped to such a low point that people realized that if something wasn't done, we probably wouldn't have any ducks."

"What did they do?" the boy asked, rubbing the dog's wet head.

"For one thing," the man continued, "the government started buying marshes so that they could be saved for nesting area. In 1934 they started the duck stamp program to finance the wetland buying.

"Ducks came back in good numbers, and then in the late 1950's there was another dry period that knocked them for a loop. In 1961 Congress passed a law that set up a loan fund of $105 million for speeding up wetland buying. This program is supposed to be finished by 1968, but there are some people who say it isn't moving the way it should. Anyway, these things have given the ducks a big lift."

"But this isn't government marsh, is it?" the boy asked. "I thought it belonged to Mr. Jackson, the farmer where we parked the car."

"It does. In fact, most of the wetland is still privately owned, and for this reason there is a lot of strong feeling that the land owner should somehow be more rewarded for providing nest area for ducks that are appreciated by everyone

"One thing that was done was to start a program whereby the government helped the landowner build farm and ranch ponds. There are more than two million of these ponds now, and many of them are used by waterfowl

"Our government also signed treaties with Canada and Mexico to work out cooperative protection for the birds that migrate across all of North America.

"The reason that it is important for us to do all we can now to save ducks is that in 30 years there will be about 300 million people in this country, and this is going to mean a lot of people who at least want to see ducks, if not hunt them the way we are today."

A duck swung suddenly overhead, and the man and boy acted instinctively, bringing their guns to bear on the bird

"Hold it," the man said, "that's one of the protected species."

They watched as the duck winged out of sight in the clearing sky.

"Some species of ducks are harder hit than others during periods of dry weather," the boy's father said, "and that's why we have different bag limits on different ducks."

It was mid forenoon now. The rain had stopped, the wind had died, and the ducks had stopped flying. The man and the boy left the marsh and drove to a river that wound down through an alder valley.

"We'll try some jump shooting," the man said. "It will give us a chance to shake the kinks out of our legs from sitting in the blind."

They moved slowly up opposite sides of the river. A trio of wood duck drakes exploded up out of the stream on the boy's side of the river. The light glistened on their plumage as they squeaked out of range over a grove of oak trees.

The boy's gun had stopped halfway to his shoulder, halted by the flash of beauty before him and by the doubt of proper bird identification that his father had impressed him with.

The man watched his son stand immobile for long seconds after the birds were out of sight.

"He's going to be a fine duck hunter," the man said, but only loud enough for the dog to hear him.

'They're sure pretty, aren't they, Son," the man said in a louder voice.

They sure are," the boy said, and he stepped forward with new confidence and understanding of the hunt.

I didn't believe Andy when he insisted the new Remington Model 1100 automatic had less "kick" than any other shotgun going.

So we bet on it. He won.

Andy really knew what he was talking about.

He let me try his 12-gauge Remington Model 1100, and I could have sworn I was shooting a 20! All the power is there. But Remington's new system of gas operation handles recoil so efficiently I hardly felt it.

Best of all, I was able to get off faster, more accurate second shots. With less "kick," the 1100 didn't "climb" and throw me off target.

And the balance was so right, it let the 1100 point and swing as if it were part of my arm.

Then Andy really opened my eyes with the inside story of how the 1100 is built to last longer than other automatics. He explained that the receiver is machined from a solid block of ordnance steel. Key parts are beefed up for greater strength. Working surfaces are highly polished to reduce friction. And points of greatest impact get special buffer "cushions". No wonder the 1100 lasts longer!

Same dependability holds true for the outside, too. The custom-checkered American walnut stock is protected by Du Pont RK-W "bowling-pin" finish—toughest ever put on a gun. And the highly polished metal finish is extra rust-resistant.

I have my own Model 1100

now. Holds up to five shots, handles all 234-inch loads (even baby magnums) without adjustment. Mine is a 12-gauge, but you can get a 16 or 20, too. All standard chokes and barrels. Plus trap, skeet and magnum models, and the new deer model with rifle sights.

Expensive? Not at all. Prices start at just $154.95*.

TOUR

GOING SOUTH?

WHY NOT GO WAY SOUTH ... TO SOUTH AMERICA

The ninth through eleventh day we will leave Lima by air for Santiago, Chile along the Andes Mountains. In Santiago, we will stay at the Carrera Hilton. You will have ample time for shopping and relaxing. These visits will include a stop at cool Santa Lucia park; a drive to the top of the Cerro San Cristobal where you will see a spectacular view of the city and the foothills of the Andes. Then a full day's trip will take you to Chile's major seaport of Valparaiso and the beach resort of

The twelfth through the sixteenth day will find you in Buenos Aires after a spectacular flight over the Andes from Santiago. While in Buenos Aires, your home will be the Plaza Hotel located on the tree filled San Martin Plaza.

Those who want, while we are in Buenos Aires, can take an optional side trip to the Lake District of Argentina which will only cost $195 additional per person. This is an area of snowcapped mountains, deep blue lakes, green forests and gleaming glaciers. We'll fly to the Lake District and have comprehensive sightseeing of the entire area.

The seventeenth through the nineteenth day will find us all in Sao Paulo. We will fly up north from Buenos Aires over the green fertile cattle region of Uruguay and Southern Brazil to this most dynamic city in South America. This is the industrial, commercial, and nerve center of the largest country in the southern hemisphere.

At Sao Paulo, those who wish can take another optional side trip for an additional $125 per person to the world famous Iguassu Falls. This is an overnight trip to the second largest falls in the world. You will fly from Sao Paulo to the falls near the border of Brazil, Argentina and Paraguay.

The twentieth through the twenty-fourth day, after a short flight from Sao Paulo, will find us in Rio de Janiero. Your arrival will be at sunset, a dramatic time to make your entrance into this picturesque set city around its noted emerald blue bay with the many gray granite peaks shooting out of deep green foliage. Your hotel in Rio de Janerio will be the modern new Leme Palace, located on Copacabana Beach. While in Rio, you will be taken to the top of the city's most noted landmark, Sugar

And doesn't that sound like one of the greatest trips you have ever heard of? If you think you want to go on this trip, clip the coupon appearing elsewhere on this page and send it to Farm and Home Tours, 20 North Carroll Street, Madison, Wisconsin 53703. Indicate on the coupon which departure you will be most interested in and we will send you colorful brochure outlining all services, all costs, and all places to be visited. But act fast, because as you know people go south for the winter and this year is the winter to go way south . . . to South America!

BY JERRY C. CURREN

The major South American travel season is fast approaching with a record number of travelers expected to visit our hemispheric neighbors for the first time.

And, nothing could be more satisfying on a wintery day than taking a jet to join the Farm and Home tour to South America. If it has been your practice in the past to spend a month or two in the warmer climates of the United States . . . Arizona or Florida or Texas or California . . . then this year dare to be a little different and spend 25 days with Farm and Home Section on a tour to South America.

You have your choice, you know, of departure dates. You can leave on December 11, January 15 (this departure date also coincides with the Carnival Time in Rio de Janeiro), February 5, March 5, or April 9.

The second through the fifth day we spend in Lima, Peru. You will take a look at the modern residential districts and stop at historic Olive Grove and other points of interest. Another afternoon of your Lima visit will be devoted to the Inca Ruins of Pachacamac located on a bluff overlooking the Pacific Ocean and the National Archaeological Museum.

The sixth through the eighth day will find you in Cuzco. We'll fly to Cuzco on a morning flight from Lima over the mighty Andes mountains. Cuzco was the one time capitol of the most advanced pre-Columbus civilizations in Latin America. While in Cuzco, we will stop at the Inca Fortress of Sacsayhuaman as well as drive out of town to visit the Inca Baths at Tambomachay. Then we will take a full day trip by train to visit the mysteries of Machupicchu. These ruins are located in the semi-tropical headwater section of the Amazon River.

What to leave out of your trip to South America.

Braniff International's 29 day tour of South America is well worth the time

Unfortunately, not everyone has

So we called in our tour director to see if he could do a little trimming. "Perhaps we could leave out the Gold Museum and the Salt Cathedral in Bogotá," we asked cautiously

"Could you face your passengers after having done a thing like that?" he said coldly.

"Well, then, how about saving time on the Amazon? After all, Americans are used to seeing Indians.

'Naked Indians?" He shot us a knowing glance."Now, you could bypass the Inca ruins in

"We could" we asked hopefully "Yes. But you would have to be monsters to do it Shame on you."

"But - " we stammered.

"Now I would strike Argentina But then I've been through Argentina 86 times. Your passengers would have a perfect right to strike you'

At this point our patience was growing thin. "Surely, there must be something you could eliminate," we cried "Try me"

Montevideo?" we pleaded.

"I wouldn't hear of it. Such a charming seaport."

São Paulo?" we begged

"The fastest growing metropolis in the world? Out of the question "

Santos''' we implored.

"And miss the sight of those glorious orchids? You have no soul.'

"But don't you have any recommendations at all," we asked breathlessly as he rose to leave.

"Yes," he said. "By all means, add two days in Rio."

Note: Ever since our tour director became our former tour director, we have been working on a 17 day tour of South America. It's almost as good as our 29 day tour. only 12 days shorter.

TEMPTING BAR COOKIES

BY BETTY STERN

Can you imagine a home without a cookie jar full of cookies for little ones coming in from outside or for teenagers around the kitchen? I can't. But if you're as busy as most Moms with youngsters, cookies need to be quick and easy to bake. Bar cookies are the answer!

Bars cut down on preparation time — there's no dropping individual cookies by teaspoonfuls or shaping tiny quantities of dough into small round shapes. Simply spread the cookie batter evenly with a spatula in the recommended size pan and your cookies are ready to go into the oven. Some need frosting, but many can be served straight from the oven.

I teaspoon vanilla extract

3 eggs or 6 egg yolks 1% cups sifted flour 1 teaspoon baking powder 1/2 teasboon salt 1 cup chopped dates 1 cup chopped California walnuts Confectioners' supar

Blend margarine, honey and vanilla until creamy. Beat in eggs one at a time. Sift dry ingredients into egg mixture. Blend. Add dates and walnuts and stir just enough to distribute evenly.

Spread into greased 13 x 9 x 2-inch pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) until golden brown, 30 to 35 minutes. Cool. Cut into bars and roll in confectioners' sugar. Makes three dozen 1"

FUDGE STICKS FUDGE LAYER

1 package semi-sweet chocolate morsels 1/2 cup powdered sugar

3/4 cup ground California walnuts

Pour the chocolate morsels into a small saucepan or top of a double boiler. Melt over low heat. Stir in sugar and walnuts; mix well, then spread in a thin layer on waxed paper. Let cool.

COOKIE DOUGH LAYER

2 teaspoons vanilla 24 cups cake flour

l cup margarine I cup powdered sugar

Cream margarine and sugar until light and fluffy; add vanilla. Stir in flour, adding about one third at a time. Mix well after each addition. Shape dough into rectangular strips about 2" to 21/2" wide and 1/2" thick. Chill in refrigerator about 20 minutes, or until the dough will hold its shape.

To put the fudge sticks together, slice the cookie dough in length-wise strips about 1/2" wide. In between each strip put a strip of fudge and press tightly together. (At this point you can wrap the dough in waxed paper or foil and refrigerate or freeze for future baking.)

To bake, slice in ½" to 1" strips. Put on ungreased cookie sheets and bake in slow oven (300°) about 20 minutes or until delicately browned.

PLAYING CARD COOKIES

For playing card cookies, shape cookie dough in a rectangular block, wrap in wax paper and chill. When ready to bake, slice thin and put on ungreased cookie sheet. Then cut fudge, using small cookie cutters in various shapes. Place a fudge heart, club, spade or diamond in center of each cookie and bake as directed above.

COOK ITALIAN

BY BETTY STERN

Sunny Italy is the home of Mozzarella cheese, olive oil, tomatoes, peppers of all kinds, artichokes, and eggplant. And Italians learned long ago how to use them all in mouth-watering dishes so characteristic of this European peninsula country. Recipes included here are designed to bring a cross-section sample of Italian cooking right to your American dining Italians love good food. And they spend long hours at mealtime. Seafoods of all kinds are popular. Vegetables and salads are served at almost every lunch and dinner. Except on festive occasions, desserts are simple most meals end with fresh fruit and cheese, eaten together.

LASAGNA

Tomato-Meat Sauce:

bound hamburger I small onion, diced

small amount margarine

I large can tomatoes, use juice (3½ cups)

1 can tomato puree (1½ cups)

l can tomato paste

½ green pepper, diced

1/2 cup celery, diced

3 garlic cloves (left whole)

% teaspoon ground oregano 1/8 teaspoon marjoram

1 bay leaf Salt *

1/2 pound lasagna noodles

2 tablespoons salt

2 teaspoons margarine

egg, hard cooked

4 pound Mozzarella cheese

2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese, grated

¼ teaspoon pepper

1/4 pound Ricotta cheese (1/2 cup)

Prepare Tomato-Meat Sauce first, allowing 31/2 hours to cook—this can be done the afternoon before. Brown meat and onion in margarine, drain off excess fat. Add other ingredients and simmer about three hours. Remove garlic before using. Bring to a boil in a large saucepan 4 to 6 quarts water; add salt and margarine. Gradually add lasagna noodles. Boil rapidly uncovered about 15 minutes or until noodles are tender. (Test tenderness by pressing a piece against side of pan with fork or spoon.) Drain noodles by pouring into a colander or large sieve. Pour a small amount of the sauce into an 8-inch square baking dish—just enough to barely coat the bottom. Top with ½ of the noodles—spread out in a thin layer. Top this with half of the Mozzarella cheese. Then add ½ of the hard cooked egg, sliced. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon Parmesan cheese and ½ teaspoon pepper. Top with about 1/4 cup Ricotta cheese. Beginning with sauce repeat layering ending with Ricotta cheese. Top Ricotta cheese with small amount of sauce. Make one more layer of lasagna noodles, then top with more sauce. You should have some sauce left over. Bake in 350° oven for about 30 minutes or until mixture is bubbling. Let stand 5 to 10 minutes to set layers. Cut into 2-inch squares and serve topped with remaining sauce which has been reheated.

FETTUCINI AMERICANO

3 tablespoons salt 4-6 quarts water I pound Fettucini (or spaghetti) noodles cup margarine, melted

1 cup grated Parmesan cheese

4 cup chopped parsley

Add 3 tablespoons salt to 4 to 6 quarts rapidly boiling water. Gradually add Fettucini so that the water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally to prevent noodles from sticking to the pan, for about 15 minutes or un-til noodles are tender. Drain in colander (rinsing is not necessary); place in serving casserole and add the melted margarine, grated Parmesan cheese and chopped parsley. Using two forks, quickly toss noodles thoroughly coating each with margarine, cheese and parsley. Serve with additional melted margarine and grated Parmesan cheese.

ZABAGLIONE (Vanilla Fluff)

2 cups cold milk

3 cups cold light cream 2 packages vanilla instant pudding 2 egg whites

Pour the milk and cream into a mixing bowl. Add the pudding mix and beat slowly with an egg beater just until well mixed—about 1 minute. Do not over beat; mixture will be thin. Let stand to set—about 5 minutes.

Meanwhile, beat egg whites until stiff but not 5 day. Gradually beat in sugar, sprinkling a little at a time over the surface of the egg white. Continue beating until very smooth and glossy. Fold egg white mixture into pudding. Chill, if desired. Just before serving stir sherry. Serve in sherbets or dessert dishes. Sprinkle with cinnamon, if desired.

Whoever Heard of "Ironing" in a Dryer?

Now-with "Durable Press" Fabrics your Speed Queen does the Ironing!

"The man's shirt and child's dress shown above were worn and laundered 12 times in a Speed Queen dryer — yet never required ironing. Speed Queen's special Durable Press cycle with its high volume air flow, balanced heat and cool-off responds beautifully to the wrinkle-free magic of laundering durable press fabrics . . . as well as wash and wear and synthetic fabrics.

The Lima (Ohio) News labels this as a horrible thought: "In a few years, today's wierdo teenagers will be the society they are rebelling against."

The Coon Rapids (Minn.) Herald warns a husband to listen carefully if his wife, who is taking driving lessons, says, "Guess who I ran into today."

It's a real compliment when somebody says something nice about you behind your back, says The Times Record of Aledo, Ill.

"If all the cars in the world were driving end to end to end," says the Renville (Minn.) Star-Farmer, "someone would pull out to pass."

"Here's an uplifting item:" claims The Sisseton (S.D.) Courier, "U.S. women now buy 40 million girdles and 120 million brassieres a year."

"I'm after TDN . . . not tonnage"

Automation has been a great help to Bloch in meeting time and labor requirements . . . his one-man operation produces over 800,000 lbs. of milk a year, and he's confident he'll reach 850,000 lbs. in 1966.

TDN is becoming far more important than tonnage to most livestock-grain farmers. And that includes dairymen as well as beef and hog feeders. Milk producer Richard Bloch, Plainfield, Wisconsin, is pretty typical:

"I'm after high energy feed. That's what turns out big milk production," Bloch says. "I'm not half as interested in tonnage as I am in Total Digestible Nutrients. That's why I put up most of my corn as silage, so that I get as many nutrients as each acre can deliver."

Bloch's thinking follows the same line as many farmers who use corn silage as a major part of their ration. These livestock feeders are casting about for methods to make a concentrated product with high energy.

Three different approaches are currently being used to achieve this goal: 1. Leave part of the stalk in the field, using the center-cut method or a new attachment which picks one row and chops the other. 2. "Soup up" the protein content of the material once it is in the silo by adding feed-grade urea and high-calcium limestone. 3. Plant a high-yielding hybrid which has a short stalk, thereby producing a high grain content silage without leaving any fodder in the field.

The latter is the route preferred by Bloch: "I was after more grain per ton of silage, so I turned to a short stalk hybrid, DeKalb XL 45. The higher grain content more than compensates for the shorter stalks.

"In fact, since the short stalks let me plant a much higher population and use more fertilizer, I feel I actually got more tons of silage per acre last fall with the short stalk than I did in previous years with special silage hybrids. And a lot more of that tonnage was grain in the 1965 crop."

Bloch has plenty of evidence that his high energy grain rations are paying off. His Holstein herd is averaging 13,500 lbs. of milk and 508 lbs. of butterfat, almost twice the U.S. average of 7,885 lbs. of milk and 291 lbs. of fat. The 62 cows he presently has in production produced 817,000 lbs. of milk last year.

Still, Bloch is aiming higher: "I'll be up at least 30,000 lbs. next year. Without a doubt, these 62 cows will produce 850,000 lbs. of milk."

In fact, his 110 acres of corn produced 150 tons more silage than he needed and could store last fall. "A year ago, with fewer cows, I had to buy over $2,000 worth of feed," says Bloch. "But after harvest last fall, I pocketed an extra $3,000 in cash from the surplus silage I was able to sell at $20 a ton."

As previously stated, Bloch harvests the majority of his corn as silage, so most of his yield figures are in tons. But on one plot he harvested as grain, he averaged 160 bushels of corn an acre. All of his corn was planted in 30-inch rows at high populations and with heavy fertilization.

Bloch was highly impressed with the results of his 30-inch rows. "I feel narrow rows give additional yields that are equivalent to what I could get from farming extra land. The narrow rows spread the plants more evenly over the ground and allow higher populations.

"I switched to narrow 30-inch rows in the spring of '65 after reading and hearing about those extra high yields other farmers were getting," explains Bloch. "With the right hybrids, it works out fine. Of course, we have a pretty short growing season here and have to use an early maturing corn."

Planting time is usually around May 7th for Bloch, but he started planting last spring's crop around April 26th. He planted 22,000 kernels per acre in the 30-inch rows, putting them down in land that had been broadcast with 250 lbs. of potash the previous fall, with an additional 200 lbs. of 16-48-0 in the spring. Then he added 90 lbs. of actual nitrogen in granular form at planting.

Bloch has planted corn on the same ground for the last five years with great success. He tests his soil every two years, and adds whatever it requires. He limes his alfalfa ground regularly, keeping the soil at a pH level of 6.5.

"I spray 1-%lbs. of Atrazine on my corn ground at planting time, eliminating all the hours I used to spend cultivating. You won't find a pigweed or ragweed in my fields. Considering the hours of cultivating I no longer have to do, the herbicide cost is almost incidental."

When Bloch took over his father-in-law's 200-acre farm nine years ago, he didn't dream he'd be running an operation that might expand one day to a size larger than he could comfortably handle. But, even with a one-man production of 817,000 lbs. of milk, he makes ends meet somehow in time and labor.

Automation has helped a good deal—all three of his silos unload automatically, and push-button power augers move feed from the silos to the bunks.

Bloch is particularly enthused about harvesting corn as high energy silage instead of just harvesting the grain. College tests support his thinking there. One study showed that 18 tons of corn silage produces 7,200 lbs. of TDN and is equal to about 100 bushels grain yield in product.

Read how new Anti-Germ 50, the versatile, low-cost disinfectant-sanitizer-deodorizer, can make you money.

Infarrowinghouses. Use Anti-Germ 50 on floors, walls and bedding before and after farrowing to insure a healthful environment for young animals. Use Anti-Germ 50 on the sow's udder and flanks before and after farrowing to reduce chances of infection and sickness. Disinfect castration and medication equipment with Anti-Germ 50 to prevent infection

In feeding pens and waterers. After cleaning, disinfect feeding troughs and waterers with Anti-Germ 50 to help prevent bacteria buildup that can cause scours and other diseases. Used in a regular sanitation program, Anti-Germ 50 gives positive algae control in troughs and water storage areas...adds no unpleasant odor to water.

In confinement areas. Use Anti-Germ 50 in pens, on walls, floors and equipment to insure a sanitary environment for bred sows, or for feeder pigs being brought onto the premises. This practice can help halt disease before it spreads to healthy animals...help you market better, healthier animals at lower cost.

In foot baths. Anti-Germ 50's broad spectrum germicidal activity plus high hard water tolerance level make it ideal for use in visitor foot baths. Used at recommended levels, Anti-Germ 50 kills disease causing bacteria, viruses and fungi including Staphylococci, Pseudomonas, Streptococci, E. coli and Salmonella

The prevention of disease and maintenance of health are critical to the successful swine operation. Don't depend on drugs alone. Check these Anti-Germ 50 advantages:

- 1. Dual quaternary action...higher killing power and less irritating than chlorine disinfectants.
- High phenol coefficients, kill dilutions and fungicidal/fungistatic titers. Economical, too. Often less than half as much Anti-Germ 50 produces the same rate of kill as other leading products.
- 3. High hard water tolerance. Mineral salts in hard water can reduce the rate of kill of disinfectants. Anti-Germ 50, however, has a hard water tolerance of 850 ppm., gives maximum germicidal activity even in elevated hard water areas.
- 4. Broader-spectrum germicidal activity. Anti-Germ 50 is effective against a wide range of bacteria, viruses and fungi which can cause severe problems, including Staphylococci, Pseudomonas, Streptococci and E. coli.
- 5. Positive deodorant action. Anti-Germ 50 actually kills many germs that cause decay odors instead of merely limiting their growth.

6. Safe, non-irritating at use dilutions and concentra-

7. Stable, non-volatile.

8. Easy-to-apply. Anti-Germ 50 can be used in dip, spraying and fogging operations.

9. Solubility not affected by pH or flammable solvents.
10. Highly concentrated for use and storage. For example, one tablespoon makes 2½ gallons of spray for use in livestock houses.

11. Freezing point: -15° F. (in concentrated form).

12. In fogging, produces a non-tacky, fast-drying, noncorroding, bactericidal film.

13. Germicidal activity retained up to 180°F. (82.5°C.)
14. Can be used as drinking water sanitizer to keep water clean, fresh and sweet.
