

Variety Spices Society's Second Show of Hobbies

Variety will spice the second annual hobby show Thursday under sponsorship of the Wayne County Historical Society. Something for everyone, men, women and children is the big idea of the show.

Opening at 10 a.m., the show will run straight through until 8 p.m. Visitors will be allowed to stay as long as they wish and lunch will be served for those who don't want to leave.

Door prizes will be given. Winners need not be present in order to win. Unusual displays such as winter bird feeding, World War I pictures, a 1924 Model T, items from Alaska, model draft horses hand-carved, drawings of years ago and today, collections of all types, hobbies of skills, antiques, new hobbies and others will be featured.

The response has been good for the show. Men have taken more interest than ever. Those who had displays last year have arranged new and different displays this year.

Several hundred people are expected. Schools have arranged for special visits because not only will the displays be interesting but educational.

All displays have to be ready before 10 as that is when first school group is expected. Adults will supervise the displays throughout the day. In many cases, those with displays will stay on hand to tell about their hobbies from the opening moment until the doors are finally closed at night.

Last year's hobby show was a success. This year's is expected to be even better because there is more variety and more to appeal to both men and women. Children always find the shows appealing.

Win Ak-Sar-Ben Livestock Honors

Six Wayne young people have won blue or red ribbons at the big Ak-Sar-Ben 4-H Livestock Show, Omaha. It is the biggest 4-H stock show in the world. Some of the young people still have not learned of their results since different breeds are judged each day. For instance, Shorthorn entries from Wayne County were among Short-horn winners to be judged Wednesday.

John Claus won a red ribbon with a Hereford entry. Blue ribbons went to Herefords entered by Mary Ann Dorsey and Diana Janke.

There were four blue ribbon winners among Angus entries from the county. Lee Nielson and Steve Nielsen each received one blue ribbon and Gloria Pollard had two entries winning blue ribbons.

Fairground Park Plan Still Alive

Even though nothing has been written of it in recent weeks, the idea of a city-county fairground park is still alive. A meeting to discuss it will be held this coming week. The planning commission and the fair board will meet at the Chamber of Commerce office Tuesday. See PARK, pg. 3

Cliff Burris Named New Head of Winside Club

Cliff Burris is the new president of the Winside Community Club. He was named at a Monday night meeting at Trinity Lutheran Church, members of the board of directors making the selection.

He was really named president twice. The old board of directors had named him but then it was brought out that this was a job for the new board of directors so when the club meeting was over they met and named Burris president officially.

Burris, operator of Cliff's Tavern, succeeds Frank Weible as president of the club. Moving up to vice president is Jim Troutman, newly-elected director of the club.

Weible holds over as past president and a board member. Walt Bleich continues a term and Louis Willers and Troutman were elected to the board in close voting among four candidates. Marilyn Monks perennial secretary-treasurer of the club.

Guests at the Monday meeting were Marion Shaffer, game warden in this area, Rev. John Kess, new Methodist minister for Carroll and Winside, and See WINSIDE CLUB, pg. 2

Teachers Learn of Colombia

An educator from Colombia, South America, was a "bonus" attraction for the rural teachers of Wayne County attending a teachers institute in the courthouse Monday. Swere Ortiz told of education in his country where he is a school principal.

Ortiz, who is spending a year with the state department of education, accompanied John Query, jr., and Stanley Carlson, department consultants on reading, to Wayne for the institute. He held a question and answer period following his talk.

County Supt. Gladys Porter was assisted by Mrs. Darold Kraemer in arranging plans. Officers of the Wayne County Rural Teachers' Association also took part.

Edith Cook, Carroll, gave a lecture and showed films on the history institute she attended at Chadron; Helen Kai and Alma Geewe, District 25, told of use of TV in the school, their school being the only one in the county that is able to get educational television stations regularly at present.

Zita Jenkins conducted the business meeting and talked on the workshop attended by officers in Norfolk Sept. 24; Flo Sandahl, Irene Koch, Judy Peters and Edith Cook also talked about the institute; Betty Ream, Edna Wendt and Ed. See INSTITUTE, pg. 2

Drive for $9,000 Begins; Chest Workers' Hopes High

Wayne's 14th annual Community Chest fund drive began Monday with a kickoff breakfast at the Woman's Club Rooms. Workers have high hopes for continuing the unbroken record of success in never failing to meet the city's quota.

This year's quota is $9,000. If that sum is raised, it will be the second highest event though the goal is the highest. In a previous campaign, Wayne raised well over $9,000 in exceeding its quota.

Roger Hobbs, representing Blue Key Society, a service organization of men with high scholastic averages at WSC, reported the dance following the Midland-Wayne game cleared $375. This was turned over to the Community Chest Tuesday.

Don Reed, who heads the business area drive, reported this gift from college students represents 4 per cent of the goal. Howard Witt, president of the Community Chest, agreed that this was a major gift from a source that had not been counted upon for help and was purely voluntary among Blue Key members.

Special prizes were announced. First to complete a drive in the business area will get a windbreaker donated by Swans. First woman to complete her drive in the residential area will get a gift from Larson-Kuhn. All block captains who get their drives completed by noon Thursday, Oct. 3, will get two season tickets to all WSC athletic events for the coming year, a gift from President William Brandenburg and Wayne State College.

The breakfast was served by Bill's Cafe. High school girls called to remind drive members and then helped with the serving.

Around 50 were present for a short pep talk. Reactions were given why this year of all years Wayne See CHEST DRIVE, pg. 2

Newcomers to Move

Newcomers Club is changing its meeting place. It will be meeting in the room above the fire hall from now on. Next meeting is Oct. 3. All newcomers to Wayne are invited to attend. Anyone knowing of newcomers is asked to inform them of this club aimed at helping get acquainted and helping those interested in the same activities to find each other.

L. Hamley Finalist for Merit Tests

Larry Hamley, son of Mrs. Evelyn Hamley, Wayne, is the only local semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test. He was among the highest-scoring pupils in the state.

Tests were given last spring in 17,500 schools, according to Ken Deisler, Wayne High School counselor. Of the hundreds of thousands of seniors taking the tests, only slightly over 14,000 made the semi-finals.

Semi-finalists can advance to a "finalist" status by receiving the endorsement of their schools, proving their performance on the first test by doing equally well on a second and submitting information about interests and achievements.

Merit Scholars for 1967 will be chosen from the finalist group. NMSC officials call the semi-finalists and finalists "the future leaders" of the nation.

About 97 per cent of the semi-finalists become finalists and get certificates of merit. Finalists are eligible for scholarships sponsored by corporations, trusts, unions, foundations, colleges, individuals, associations and other organizations.

Merit Scholars will be announced next May. Over 2,250 are expected to be named. Scholarships are worth as little as $400 and as much as $6,000. Winners choose their own colleges and courses of study.

Homecoming Friday at Wayne High's Grid Tilt

Homecoming will be held Friday in conjunction with the Wayne-Stanton football game at WSC stadium. Crowning ceremonies precede the game and will get underway at 7.

A pep rally downtown Thursday at 7 will start the homecoming festivities. It will be held just south of the First National Bank, where king and queen candidates will be introduced followed by a snake dance to the West Elementary School practice field.

A skit will be given at the bonfire. Coach Allen Hansen will give a talk.

Voting for king and queen will be completed Thursday but results will not be known until just before the game. Bill Blecke and Judy Suhr will crown the royalty with Ann Jenness and Casey Johnson carrying the traditional football and crown.

A grid-dance will be held at the National Guard Armory following the game. Music will be furnished by The Chessmen. Queen candidates are Belinda Bebee, Sallie Bergt, Carla Beck, Marcia Olson and Karen Willis. King candidates are Mark Johnson, Bob Morris, Dan Rees, Dave Rees and Gordon Shupe.

REA Group Convenes

Nebraska REA Accountants Club held its 26th annual meeting in Norfolk Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 26-27. Attending from here were Charles Denesia, office manager for Wayne County Public Power District, and Bernice Marotz and LaVerla Marotz of the WCPDP office staff.

Major candidates of the Democratic Party in Nebraska will be in Wayne Saturday, Oct. 8, at 6:30 p.m. for a dinner in the Wayne City Auditorium. The dinner is being sponsored by the Wayne County Democratic Committee.

Invitations have been accepted by Gov. Frank Morrison, Lt. Gov. Phil Sobel. See DEMOCRATS, pg. 2

The Spook Speaks

A Wayne man, who is almost bald, was given a full-grown Siamese by friends. The cat likes all the family but especially the bald father, delighting in lying on the back of a chair or sitting on the man's shoulders and licking the bald spot. But the best part is, the fellow says his hair is getting thicker where the cat has been licking his head. This may create a demand for Siamese cats in the area.

Over at Wakefield a man was introducing his best friend to a newcomer. The Wakefield man meeting the new man for the first time, blurted out: "Why, Mr. —, he's not nearly as homely as you said he was." This is one way to lose friends but in spite of red faces it was obviously a joke and all are still friends.

A lady in Concord was alone at home late one night last week. Two men had stopped in front of her place and she was a little concerned. Unable to get the marshal, she called the mayor. College and City May Join Forces Against Elm Disease

Wayne State College and the City of Wayne may join forces to combat Dutch Elm Disease which has been detected in the city. Equipment will be checked and the college and city may purchase units to fight the disease and save the trees.

Harold Kimble, WSC engineer, was at the City Council meeting Tuesday night. He proposed the cooperative effort since both city and council have so much at stake in saving the elms.

Samples of suspected infected trees have been sent in to the state and have been confirmed as diseased. The city has been having trees removed and destroyed and is also continuing its program of trimming trees as funds allow.

The thoughtlessness of some area residents has created a danger at the landfill south of town, the council learned. Garbage has been dumped there, attracting rats.

To get rid of them, the city has put in a potent poison. This is deadly for children and pets so parents should keep them away from the landfill area.

Two building improvements are underway. At See ELM DISEASE, pg. 2

Supt. James Christensen, new school administrator in Winside.

Among reports was one on the financing of Old Settlers Day. Not only was it a successful celebration as far as entertainment goes but it was a financial success also, Carl Troutman reported.

Christmas and Thanksgiving and other ideas are being considered. For Christmas, Dr. Don Vrbka reported the price of commercial decorations too high. His committee will meet with the town board to see what help can be obtained in financing downtown decorations.

Walt Bleich is chairman of the pancake day committee. This is set for Tuesday, Nov. 8, with details to be announced later.

Bill Hoffman's calendar committee reported the community calendars completed. They will be sold as soon as they arrive and will contain November-to-November dates of special and personal occasions.

Fritz Witt, Jack Swiggard and Ken Fleer were named to fix the downtown "events sign." It will be fixed for general signs instead of loose letters that had been used but fell out too often.

Next meeting will be at the Methodist Church Oct. 24.

VALUATION —

Wayne has a valuation of $6.6 million compared to $6.0 million; Winside is valued at $574,000 compared to $506,000 last year; Carroll is up to $284,000 from $247,000; Hoskins is up to $264,000 from $241,000; Sholes is up to $52,000 from $48,000; and Wakefield (the Wayne County portion) is up from $109,000 to $117,000.

Wayne's total levy (state, city and county) is up to 100.88 mills from 97.42 mills; Winside's up to 85.01 mills from 80.54 mills;

Carroll's down from 95.12 mills to 10.49 mills; Hoskins up from 76.62 to 79.39; Sholes up from 43.00 to 46.16; and Wakefield up from 95.74 to 98.71.

A full report on all the taxes can be obtained by checking the legal notice in the county board of commissioners' proceedings. Included are all district levies (including school districts) for the year.

Anyone wishing to compare them with last year's levies may come in and ask to see the Sept. 30, 1965, issue of The Herald which carried the same legal notice concerning levies for the year ahead.

should not let the drive down. Workers were asked to remind residents that if they did not have such a fund drive, we would probably have a dozen others.

There are only 2,100 communities in the US that have Community Chest drives at present. In other communities they have donations, house calls and charity campaigns of all types throughout the year.

The Wayne way, campaign costs are saved and funds are distributed by local people on the basis of need. Agency books are audited each year.

In two weeks, it is hoped the drive will be over. It will take a real effort on the part of workers and donors to maintain Wayne's record of always reaching the goal.

Pledges can be made and the donations made throughout the year or gifts may be in a lump sum. No matter how it is done, it is far better than the multiple drive system.

Achievement Day Fete Draws Crowd to Carroll

Around 135 registered for the home extension club session in Carroll Tuesday. This is well above the average for the event over the past few years.

In Carroll as special guests for the program were Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Burney, Hartington. He is a former lieutenant governor and the pair had been on a trip to Pakistan, which was the subject of their joint presentation.

Originally sent to Pakistan to study the opportunities for selling Nebraska farm products, they also found time to learn much about the people. They had slides to show, many being of village and farm life.

Their talk and slides proved popular with the large crowd of extension club members and guests. They concluded with the sobering observation that Pakistan's three biggest problems are sanitation, lack of educational facilities and a never-ceasing population explosion.

Happy Homemakers Club took care of the registration for the afternoon. Mrs. Val Danne, county chairman, gave the welcome, followed by the extension club creed in unison.

Program chairman was Mrs. Lynn Roberts, Carroll. Music was provided by Star Extension Club. Following the recognition and installation service, group singing followed after which a coffee hour. An offering collected will be donated to the Norfolk Opportunity Center.

Mrs. Danne was presented a special homemaker's pin as outgoing president. Club presidents from all over the county were installed as council members. Four Gain Top Honors Tuesday in Scout Work

Four men who have been active in Scouting for years were given the top honors at the first Lewis & Clark District Scout Recognition dinner Tuesday night at the Birch Room, WSC.

G. R. "Dick" Manley, Wayne, Merle Yelkin, West Point, Harley Bossman, Ponca, and Gordon Boatman, Laurel, were the four chosen for receiving the award of merit. All were present except Boatman.

Manley was cited for work as a Scoutmaster, community and church service and activities in many ways with Scouts for years; Yelkin has been active in Scouting since 1959; Bossman has been in Scouting since 1958; and Boatman is an institutional representative and neighborhood commissioner at present.

The award of merit reads: For service to boys of the Lewis & Clark District of such high caliber and of such character as to merit a position of distinction among Scouters.

Small cups with state flags on them (governor's cups) were awarded 11 men. They went to Kenneth Carlson, Pilger; Dean Damoude, West Point; Wayne Allen, Pender; Bud Froehlich, Wayne; Donald Luedtke, Wisner; Merle Yelkin, West Point; Bob Brown, Pender; John Neu, jr., Hartington; Dick Manley, Wayne; Eugene Schwartz, Laurel; and Van Steckelberg, Wisner.

J. H. Williams, Rhode Island, was guest speaker. Seldom has so much praise been heard concerning a speech. The consensus seemed to be that everyone in the area (not just Scouters-everyone) should be privileged to hear Williams speak.

He has been in Scouting since 1910 when the first troop was formed in this country. He is known for his speaking ability and work in religious, united fund and civic affairs.

Charles McDermott was master of ceremonies and Claude Harder, Troop 175 Scoutmaster, had the opening ceremony. Tom Lambert of Wayne led singing and Don Reed, Wayne, district chairman, handled recognitions.

Pat Jolley, Wayne, district Scout executive, told of the district's first eight months of existence. Otto Guretzke, assistant district commissioner, West Point, made the award of merit presentations.

Don Kerl, Wayne, is district activities chairman and Dan Titze, Wayne, is district appreciation dinner chairman. Broughton Food Service catered the meal.

Area Scout sponsors are St. Peter's Lutheran Church and the Legion, Pilger; St. Mark's Lutheran Brotherhood, Pender; PTA and Lions, Wakefield; Jaycees, Kiwanis and Izaak Walton's, Wayne; Lions, Laurel; VFD, Winside; PTA, Allen; PTA, Belden; Dixon Citizens and VFD, Dixon; Community Club, Carroll; Lions and VFW, Wisner.

duties as director of student financial aids.

Douglas Spencer replaces Lundstrom as director of special services, with his major duty supervising the placement bureau. A member of the faculty since 1960, Spencer was on leave the past year for doctoral study. During the year before that, he directed special services while Lundstrom took a year's leave for doctoral study.

The college also established four new academic titles, creating heads of departments within divisions. Dr. Robert Sutherland, who returned to WSC after absence of three years for doctoral study, is head of the biology department, and Irvin Brandt is head of the physical science department, both in the division of mathematics and science.

Dr. Walter Peterson is head of the department of elementary education, in the division of education. Dr. Robert G. Johnson heads the department of speech in the division of fine arts.

Area Workers Gain Society Recognition
Several workers from this area were honored by the American Cancer Society last week for their work in the society's program. L. J. Smith, Lincoln, was the top man honored for work in the cancer crusade.

Representatives from 28 counties were honored for "bettering their best" in the cancer fund drive. Included were the heads of drives in Wayne, Thurston, and Cedar Counties.

Wayne County's chairman was Cliff Dahl, Wayne; Thurston County's, Mrs. Fritz Benz, Thurston; and Cedar County's, Mrs. John Bargstadt, Hartington.

NEW DEAN Delora Koelle is the new associate dean of students at Wayne State College, succeeding Mrs. Virginia Anderson, who retired last April. A native of Hull, Ia., she earned her bachelor's degree from Northwestern College, Orange City, Ia., and her master's in educational psychology and a guidance from the University of South Dakota in 1965. Last year she was a junior high counselor in Des Moines. How does she pronounce her name? Like in Chinese, Koelle, says Miss Koelle, with a grin.

Carroll's Papers

Copies of The Wayne Herald can now be purchased in Carroll at Sam's Super Market. For years they have been handled by Janssen's Place, which was closed last week. Sam Zimmerman had requested dealer ship months ago but in deference to Janssen's having first call on them, unadvised dealers were allowed. Zimmerman will carry the same number of papers as Janssen's did and possibly will remain open longer. Attend Clinic at Syracuse Monday

A baton and drum major clinic at Syracuse Monday drew 16 from Wayne. Four mothers accompanied the young people.

There were 312 twirlers and drum majors from 33 schools in Nebraska—those from Wayne coming the greatest distance and having the second largest enrollment for any town. Three schools from Missouri and four from Iowa were also represented.

Instructions were for pre-beginners, beginners, intermediates, advanced twirling and drum majors. Local pupils enrolled in the advanced group and drum majoring.

Classes started at 9 and continued until 4:15 with a lunch break at noon. Strutting, marching routines, individual twirls and baton dance routines were taught. An evening performance was given with seven bands participating.

Jeanne Karel led Wayne High twirlers, pom girls and her advanced group in a marching routine accompanied by the Syracuse band. She was also featured in a one and two fire baton act.

Attending from here were Jeanne, Steve Carman, Lorraine Summers, Marcia Ehlers, Ann Preston, Laurie Wolters, Larsen Nedergaard, Diane Olds, Mary Ellis, LaVon Beckman, Barbara Kay, Lonnie Ritze, Sue Brown, Lizann Otte, Angela Paulson and Jennifer Sandahl. Drivers were Mrs. Mike Karel, Mrs. Fritz Ellis, Mrs. Richard Carman, Wayne, and Mrs. John Paulson, Carroll.

Slow Drizzle Adds Moisture in Area

That rainy day Monday was not as rainy as it seemed. Although it drizzled most of the day, only .30 of an inch of moisture was recorded by the gauges of State National Bank.

Another surprising thing was the fact that Monday was warmer than Tuesday. It did not seem that way but that's the way the Peoples Natural Gas Co. graphs showed it.

Monday was cloudy, cold and wet with a high temperature of 66. Tuesday was sunny and seemed warmer yet the high for the day was 60.

Temperatures in the 30's and 40's are the rule now at night as fall officially takes over. Highest reading for the week was 82 Thursday. Only one other day did the mercury reach the 80 mark.

Two Scout Troops to Go to Scribner Camp

Two Boy Scout Troops, 174 and 175, are planning to take in the Rugged Road Camporee at Dead Timber state recreation area near Scribner Oct. 7-8-9.

Ten boys from Troop 175 and about twice that many from Troop 174 will camp "in the rough" those days. Adults going will include Tom Lambert, Dick Manley, Kent Hall, Gene Fletcher, Claude Harder, Rowan Wiltse and others.

So rough is the camp, the boys and leaders will hike in from the highway. For about 1/2 miles they will carry packs containing all their needs for the camporee—return trips for other supplies will be allowed.

Scouts will set up camp, pitch tents, fix fires, cook food, practice skills, and compete against set standards. Those exceeding standards set for such camps will receive awards.

The Scouts have been holding short campouts in the area to get ready for the camporee. They have also been practicing some of the events in which they will try to reach standards set by the BSA.

Allen Team Defeats Winside Fresh-Sops
Allen High School's freshman-sophomore football team defeated Winside fresh-sops in the rain Monday afternoon on the AHS gridiron. The Eaglets scored with 11 seconds in the game to make the final count 12-0.
Coach Dan Cahill's WHS team will host Randolph in a game Monday afternoon at 4. There may be some changes in the starting roles for the Winside team that has not scored in two contests.
Bob Wacker and Dave Witt did the major ground-gaining jobs for Winside with Terry Cleveland at quarterback. Andy Mann, Lee Trautwein and Jack Christensen were defensive standouts.
The defense from Winside had a good chance to show up because WHS was on the defense most of the time. Offensively, the team was unable to mount a sustained drive.
Winside never threatened to score in the game. The Red and Black did hold off some Allenthrats or the score might have been more one-sided.

Peru Defeats Wayne Saturday in Running

Peru State defeated Wayne State, 24 to 32, in the season's first cross-country meet for both teams at Wayne Saturday.
Tim Hendricks of Peru and A.D. Benson of Wayne dueling shoulder to shoulder through the three-mile grind until Hendricks pulled ahead for a three-second margin at 15:27.
Dennis Kasischke, Wayne, and Steve Cornelius, Peru, fought their battle for third, with Kasischke finishing third at 16:21, Cornelius fourth at 16:27.
Jim O'Donoghue and Jim Watson of Peru placed fifth and sixth, followed by Mark Robinson, Wayne; Van Allen, Peru; Jim Betts, Wayne; Dick Warkins, Peru; and Peter Strals, Wayne.
Also finishing for Wayne were Joe Byrne, Rod Shropshire and Dan Castor.
Wayne goes to Vermillion Saturday for a dual with South Dakota University.

Reserves of WHS Beat West Point

Starting off slow, the Wayne High School reserves warmed up to the task ahead of them Monday afternoon and defeated the West Point reserves 13-0 on the latter's field which was wet from an earlier drizzle.
Coach John Tollakson's team has now won two games. Monday they take on an ever-tough foe, Wisner, at 4:15 on the latter's field.
The ball was slippery Monday due to the wet field. There were numerous fumbles by both teams.
West Point took the opening kickoff, moved to the Wayne 10, and never featured again the rest of the game. Wayne couldn't move the ball at first, kicked out of the end zone area and the rest of the first quarter was played at mid-field.
The deadlock was broken in the second quarter when Harvey Hansen ran 65 yards around end for a TD. The extra point was good and Wayne led 7-0.
From that moment on Wayne players blocked hard, ran harder, tackled harder and charged harder. They moved the ball to the West Point 1 but time ran out on them.
In the second half, WPHS kicked off. Bernie Binger, Wayne, end, receiving on the 35 and running 61 yards to the West Point 4 where he was dragged down from behind. Wayne moved to the 1, fumbled and lost the ball, recovered the ball two plays later on a West Point fumble and moved in to score. Don Skokan going over to make it 13-0.

Again Wayne kicked off, held the Pointers and forced a kick. Hansen returned to the West Point 20, Wayne moved to the 5, lost 10 yards on a play mixup and a penalty and then scored on a slanting pass from Dave Tietgen to Gene Hansen good for 15 yards and six points.
Coach Allen Hansen had charge of the boys for the games. He used everyone in the tilt as the locals grew more confident in their offensive and defensive assignments as the afternoon passed.

St. Mary's Gridders Undefeated Thus Far

St. Mary's Catholic School played its first football game Saturday. In flag football, the parochial elementary school's junior high team defeated Wayne Elementary's sixth grade 9-7.
For Coach Hank Overin it meant a 1-1 record, one win and one loss as he coaches both groups. Next action for St. Mary's will be with the elementary school seventh grade boys.
Some of the St. Mary's team members play in the school program through physical education classes conducted by Overin. They also take part in the recreation program sponsored by the city and coached by Overin.
The first quarter ended 0-0 but St. Mary's gained

Hastings College Here Saturday for Parents Day Game with Wayne State

Injury-ridden Wayne State entertains Hastings College in football here 7:30 Saturday night as a climax to Parents Day on campus.
Dads of the Wayne grid-ders will be special guests with a sideline view of the game from the bench. And if any of the dads have football eligibility left, Coach John Jermier might just recruit them for duty, to fill in for the wounded.
At this point, the injury problem is beyond the joking stage. No less than eight lettermen and regulars are out of action, at least five of them for the season and the other three doubtful for this week's game.
Casualties of the 17-9 loss to Midland last Saturday—before a Band Day crowd of nearly 4,000—were halfback Dennis Radtke, the No. 1 rusher, and linebacker Randy Bernard, with a spine injury that probably will end his senior year football. Radtke, who dislocated a shoulder again, may or may not play problems. At least 10 of the most promising freshmen will stay in Wayne to play with the varsity against Hastings that night—thanks to varsity injuries.
Two more freshman games are scheduled at home against Morningside frosh Oct. 5, and at Seward against Concordia frosh Oct. 10.
Saturday.
Loss of Bernard on defense is crippling, Jermier commented. Randy is the kind of defender who meets the action if it's anywhere within range.
Halfbacks Denny Kirby and his understudy, Don Orubaugh, may be ready for play this week. If not, their heirs apparent are freshmen Jerry Luedtke and Jerry Lenz, who took over last week and proved they can run.
Predicting the Hastings opposition is difficult. The Broncos were idle last week after tying Concordia, 6-6. Wayne scouts report Hastings should be able to make the game tough for Wayne.
Whatever the foe's strength, one thing is certain, Jermier said. Wayne can't afford as many mistakes as the Wildcats committed against both South Dakota and Midland. Actually, both those Wayne opponents were guilty of numerous bobbles, too, but not at crucial times or near the enemy goal.
Wayne began its attack on Midland convincingly with a quick drive from the opening kickoff to a touchdown on a 30-yard pass from Steve Gunther to Radtke, alone in the end zone. The conversion failed.
The Warriors tied the count late in the first quarter after a wild Wayne pass from center canceled a punt attempt and Midland look over on the 30. Eight plays produced a TD with fullback Bruce Green plunging five yards. He kicked the go-ahead point.
Neither team mustered any threat in the second quarter. Midway through the third, Wayne captured a Midland fumble on the Warrior seven, but three plays went backwards, and Wayne chose to try a field goal. It fell short.
Another Midland fumble two plays later gave Wayne another chance on the 25. Again the Warriors held, and a second Wayne field goal try by Bill Mimick, Columbus freshman, succeeded. The Wildcats led, 9-7.
Then came the disastrous fourth period. Midland blocked a Wayne punt after a wild pass from center. Three plays covered the 12 yards to a touchdown by halfback Del Blair, followed by Green's conversion, and Midland was ahead, 14-7.
Wayne lost a fumble at the 30 on the first play after the kickoff. The Wildcats yielded one first down, then drove the Warriors back to the 28. On fourth down, Green boomed a field goal about 48 yards, giving Midland a 17-7 margin with 6:16 left.
Statistically, the two teams were fairly even.

Reflecting Tape on More Wayne Bicycles

Thanks to the 3-M Company (Scotch and reflecting tape manufacturers) and the Wayne VFW, there are 210 more bikes equipped with safety reflecting tape this week than there were last week.
Five VFW members put silver tape on handlebars and red tape on back fenders of bicycles at five schools Tuesday. They took in all the bikes at Wayne High, West Elementary and St. Mary's Parochial.
They still have tape left and if any young people want their bikes to have the tape they can take them to Roy Sommerfeldt, 213 East Third, where the remaining tape is being kept.
Clete Sharer, commander of the VFW post, was pleased with the number of bikes brought to school for the tape. He also praised Walter Chinn, Ed Johnson, J. C. Powers, John Owens and Roy Beeks who spent a good share of the day putting tape on the bikes.

Hoskins Firemen Won't Burn Food

Hoskins Volunteer Fire Department members will not let anything burn if they can help it. This especially holds true Sunday, Oct. 9, when they will be serving their annual fried chicken dinner.
No extinguishers or fire hoses will be needed; they just won't let the food burn. The food will be going out too fast to burn anyway. Last year over 500 people turned out for the fried chicken dinner in this town of 300 population.
This year they will serve from 5 to 8 p.m. in the fire hall a week from Sunday. They will offer fried chicken, baked potatoes, salad, dessert, drink, rolls and other food at a low price.
Money used will go to the VFD treasury. In the past Hoskins firemen have used the money they earned at the feed to buy self-contained air masks, uniforms, protective clothing and other articles.
Fire Chief Herman "Dutch" Opler feels the Hoskins unit is one of the best in the area at putting out fires and at serving chicken dinners.

Dixon (Pop. 150) Serves Over 700

Dixon, a town of 150 population, was 4 1/2 times bigger than that Sunday night. St. Anne's Catholic Church served its annual dinner and held a bazaar and one of the largest crowds in history turned out.

Serving started at 4 p.m. and there was a line waiting then. The last of the line was gone at 8 o'clock with many a let-up for men, women and children of the church who were serving.

Mrs. Anthony McGowen was chairman and Mrs. Alden Serven co-chairman. They report that for the first time that they can remember they almost ran out of food.

Most of the food was donated for the meal and for the candy booth. What little food was left over was a reminder of how close the women came to not having enough.

Men of the church helped in many ways but were especially helpful for dishwashing, stacking and helping putting away things in the Dixon Town Hall. It was a big success, as every tired member of Father John Rizzo's parish could attest late that night.

Farm Bureau of Allen

Dixon County Farm Bureau will hold its annual meeting Monday, Oct. 3, at 7 p.m. in the Farm Bureau building, Allen. Following a potluck dinner, the business session will be held including election of new officers and distribution of Bureau rebates. A free 1967 membership will be given as a door prize. All members of the organization are asked to attend. The county officers will furnish coffee and soft drinks.

A new honor for the NORVELL Agency

When the president of a billion dollar company travels almost 1000 miles to present a trophy, you can be sure that award really means something.

Such was the occasion last week when M. Rey Dodson, President of The Ohio National Life Insurance Company, was on hand to present his firm's highest award — The President's Trophy — to the William L. Norvell Agency.

This award is given annually to an agency for outstanding performance during a special month set aside for sales and service to policyowners. The President's Trophy is a coveted agency honor, awarded for a team effort. However, any team honor is the result of individual effort. So it is at the Norvell agency. Five career agents qualified as members of Ohio National's "Wall of Fame" for outstanding performance during the President's Month.

What do all these honors mean? To the people who won them, they mean a very real sense of achievement. To you, they mean professionalism, a high degree of competence and the assurance that you can trust your life and health insurance needs — both personal and business — to the men of the Norvell Agency.

If you'd like to learn how your individual financial needs can best be served, call anyone from the Norvell agency. They're all experts.

County's Soil Conservation District Gets Good Start on Several Projects

Wayne County's Soil Conservation District is getting off to a good start on conservation work this fall, according to Arnold Marr, work unit conservator. He urges farmers to make plans at once for the work they will want done.

George Farran, Bill Fenske and Walt Gutzman are having terraces constructed on their farms. Constructed on these farms and on the Venus Weichand Bob Peterson farms are grassed waterways.

On the Fredrick Janke farm, a drainage ditch has been constructed by the SCS. Tile drainage is a feature of the work being done on the Dean Meyer and Alfred Frevert farms.

According to Marr, several good stock-water and erosion control dams are being constructed. These are on the farms of Melvin Meierhenry, Walt Gutzman, Laverle Schnoor and Hans Burmester.

There seems to be a demand for more conservation work than usual this fall. Several cooperators have already made plans to plant plow for windbreak planting next year, fall plowing helping to control weeds as well as to store moisture. Well-prepared planting sites also insure good tree survival.

Any Wayne County Farmers interested in conservation work should contact the SCS office at once. The Agricultural Stabilization Service has money available to help share the cost of needed conservation practices and conservation contractors are available to do the work.

mer Christensen home, Bennington, and with other relatives at Arlington Sunday.

The open house in honor of Pastor and Mrs. A. W. Gode of Immanuel Lutheran church Sunday afternoon honoring their 45th wedding anniversary was well attended. The program consisted of musical numbers and remarks by neighboring ministers. A monetary gift was presented the honored couple.

Herald Gets Award From US Treasury

The Wayne Herald has been presented a United States Treasury citation for "Patriotic services rendered in support of US Savings Bonds and Savings Stamps Programs."

Presentation of the certificate was made by Dewey Nemetz, Blair, official representative for the treasury department, and Henry Ley, Wayne County savings bonds and stamps volunteer chairman.

According to Ley and Nemetz, Wayne County is near the top of the list in Nebraska in percentage of 1966 bond sales quota achieved to date. Over $9 million in series E and H bonds are held by Wayne County people as savings. Legion Auxiliary units in Wayne and Carroll and the PTA at Winside were commended by Nemetz for sponsoring the savings stamps programs in the schools.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Did You Read the List?

Two weeks ago The Herald carried a list of 4-H members' stock sold at the annual sale. The last part of each line of tabulation was devoted to the name of the firm or individual buying the animal.

Those names were Wayne County businessmen and individuals for the most part. Once again they came through with unbelievable support for the 4-H livestock feeders of the county.

Not every business place can afford to participate but those that can are more than generous. They get some satisfaction from doing their part but they deserve more credit for the eagerness they show in supporting this project.

It is not necessary to list each one again, but all readers could go down the list and see who is helping and let them know the next time they are in certain stores or business places that they appreciate what is being done.

Each 4-H boy or girl who sold stock owes it to their benefactor to say thanks in person or with a written note. Even more important, they owe it to the county and buyers to earn that support by living up to the confidence shown in them and the 4-H program.

These young people of Wayne County farms are among the finest young people to be found. It isn't pure coincidence, for the men and women who support this show and sale are among the finest adults to be found too. — CEG

Once Upon a Time

Once upon a time there was a town that did not have a Community Chest drive. It did have other drives. In fact, there were more weeks when funds were being collected than there were weeks when funds were not being collected.

Once upon a time there was a town that had no fund drives to speak of because people just rebelled against them and refused to support them. Consequently their youth program was dropped, their emergency needs could not be met and their Girl Scout and Boy Scout programs were so neglected they became all but extinct.

Once upon a time there was a town that had a Community Chest. It started out great but as years went by something was lacking. Efficient leaders could not be found. Too many had served before so decided they should let someone else do the work. The drive floundered one year. The next year the drive was not even started. The town is back to having a multitude of drives each year.

Once upon a time there was a town that had a Community Chest and it still has one. But, the goal is never quite reached. Consequently, some cuts have had to be made in dispensing funds. Some charitable organizations were dissatisfied, pulled out and now conduct their own drives in addition to the Community Chest drive.

Now all of these cases are true. Maybe you should hear about one more.

Once upon a time there was a town that established a Community Chest. The drive took the place of several fund drives, provided a tremendous youth program usually found only in much larger cities, took care of all charitable drives that agreed to belong and was successful year after year.

Busy men and women found time to help. Some were ready each year. Some doubled by taking on two or more jobs. For 13 years that town never missed once making its goal. It sounds too good to be true. But, it is true.

There is no need to identify the other towns, but the town in the last instance is Wayne. This year is the 14th year of Community Chest drives. Because we have a dedicated group of men and women here, because we have businesses and individuals that respond generously, Wayne should make it 14 years in a row topping the goal.

Don't give a dollar because that's what you give for all drives. Give $10 (or more) because that's how many drives you're supporting in one short two-week period.

Once upon a time there was a town starting its new Community Chest fund drive. You can help this story have a happy ending. — CEG

Kids!

Kids! Who can understand kids today?

Not us. But, it is quite possible the adults of 30 and more years ago couldn't figure our group out even if we didn't get designated as the "open generation" or "teenagers" or anything else. Personally, kids seem to be great, especially kids in Northeast Nebraska. There are some who imitate their London or Hollywood counterparts, but there are more who bear resemblance only in looking young.

Their music is unbearable. But, they probably wouldn't enjoy our semi-classics.

Teenage hair styles: In some cases appalling. But, we detect smiles at our "runway-down-the-center" hairline.

Dancing: fine, since you don't need a partner. However, they would not do the Charleston for love nor money and jitterbugging has as much appeal as cauliflower.

These kids are growing up in hectic times. We had an advantage — if you can call a depression an advantage. At least we think we had less problems and fewer needs than the young people of today.

We'll try to remember we were young once and we did as the other young people did — in our area, that is, not the young people in Cucamonga, Escanaba and Liverpool.

Wayne area kids are about 95 per cent okay. We like them. We'll stand behind them. Some may smoke, some won't; some may excel in studies, some may just barely get by; some may wear odd hair styles and clothes and others may dress like typical American teenagers ought to. (In our opinion and apparently in the opinion of their folks and possibly in their own opinion). Regardless, we think the kids are great.

Were you ever young? Sure you were. Remember that when you judge that bunch of kids. You weren't perfect. Neither are they. Someone had high hopes in you turning out all right. About 95 per cent of you did.

Young people today show the same potential for turning out successful in about the same percentage. We could hardly ask for more! — CEG

Fence Law Discussed

There are six types of fences declared lawful in Nebraska for divisions between farms and ranches.

In any dispute that arises out of the construction or maintenance of fences, the law provides for the selection of three fence viewers. And each fence viewer is entitled to three dollars per day for the time spent in settling disputes.

Many fences now used to partition property in Nebraska are not on the exact boundary line. These and other pertinent facts are contained in a University of Nebraska Extension Circular, 65-829, "Nebraska Fence Laws".

The publication, authored by Harvey Perlman, University of Nebraska College of Law student and Editor-in-Chief of the Nebraska Law Review, 1965-66, amendments and the referendum are presented in a manner designed to help the voter understand the issues involved. The major arguments are both sides of each issue are presented, along with an explanation as to the effect of each amendment. Copies of the publication, Extension Circular 66-832, "1966 Proposed Constitutional Amendments," can be obtained from County Extension offices.

Just because carpet padding can't be seen that doesn't indicate it's not important. Leading carpet experts report that too often shoppers will spend hours studying guides and brand names of carpeting and then as an afterthought consider the purchase of an underlay. Yet this padding is vital to long wear and resilient feeling in a carpet.

Carpet underlay comes in a variety of material. The shopper must decide between all-hair, waffle sponge rubber, all-jute, or a combination hair and jute. Most preferred for large contract jobs are the all-hair or the flat rubber underlays. The advantages apply equally well to the single family home. The "all-hair" underlay provides unusual resilience throughout its life. The flat rubber gives a reasonable bounce without causing the problems which high, stiff, etto heels cause with waffle sponge rubber. If high-heel traffic is expected to be heavy, the flat rubber is a better investment.

Waffle sponge contains about 58 ounces of rubber per yard, while the flat rubber has 75. Yet the Waffle sponge gives more bounce, or trampolane effect, which many women seem to prefer. One caution—the Waffle sponge pad should not be used under an area rug as there is a tendency for the pad to "walk out from under". The less expensive "all-jute" or "combination" underlay is suitable for some carpeting installations but not for others; it depends on the location and expected wear and use. The only carpeting not needing a pad is the outdoor-indoor on-grade polypropylene. The wise shopper will find it a must to give attention to the carpet underlay. Capitol News - State's Chief Bookkeeper Must Be Figure-Conscious LINCOLN—Nebraska's state auditor must be a figure-conscious individual who carries his arithmetic mind to work in an instant nearly every minute of the day.

As the state's chief bookkeeper, he needs to know what his being spent for what, and how it all adds up to efficient government.

It's no easy task. The job has been described as one of the most pressure-packed in the Statehouse—and with good reason.

If the books don't jive, the auditor must come up with the answer. If accounts don't match, the auditor must find the problem. If a voucher is wrong, the auditor must pinpoint the error.

And if this isn't enough, the auditor must keep State's financial books, seeing to it that all records are current. This is a multi-million dollar job.

The state auditor is authorized to question the expenditure of any sum of state money. This has been done in the past.

The auditor must also provide the legislature with detailed information on the fiscal affairs of state, and report if any spending problems are expected.

The Nebraska auditor has the additional responsibility of seeing that the state never encumbers debt beyond $100,000 since the State Constitution prohibits a re-dink ledger. Most states do not have this ban against debt.

The auditor's office must examine books, accounts and affairs of all county officers' audit books of all county officers annually and establish a uniform system of bookkeeping for all county officers.

It must also certify names of new towns or changes of names.

Some of the auditor's lesser-known duties include: --Examining and registering state, county, municipal and other public bonds. This requires a deep knowledge of public financing and intricacies of bonded indebtedness. --Directing prosecutions for official delinquencies in relation to assessment and revenue. A thorough legal background is necessary for this phase. --Examining surety insurance companies, and inspecting books of certain charitable institutions. An understanding of non-profit structures from a financial standpoint is needed here. --Settling accounts with all collectors of state revenues. The state auditor is a member of the power State Board of Equalization and often is called upon by the board to provide accurate dollar estimates on the amount of money needed to operate state government in the next fiscal year. The board needs accurate figures so it can determine the state property tax mill levy, which it sets annually. The auditor is also a member of the Board of Canvasers, Sundry Claims Board, State Records Board and secretary of the Nebraska State Board of Public Accountancy. In the latter post, he is responsible for conducting and certifying the annual certified public accountants' examination. This test is held in the Capitol during the summer and includes several hundred recent college graduates. The state auditor now receives $10,500 a year. Two years ago, the post paid $9,000. The office's monthly payroll averages about $16,000. Ray C. Johnson of Lincoln, who has held the job for 28 years, is the Republican nominee in November. Carrying the Democratic Party banner into the general election is Arthur Case of Lincoln.

Carl Curtis CAPITOL COMMENTS

The suggestion is being made seriously at the national level that state governments are fading and may eventually cease to exist.

It is not without some basis in fact. State Senator Richard Marvel, chairman of the Nebraska Legislature's Budget Committee, warned several years ago of the declining role of state governments.

He said they had to assume more responsibility or be swallowed by Federal encroachment. Ronald Reagan told a gathering of Washington newsmen recently that the state government of California is dangerously close to becoming a mere administrative unit of the Federal government.

He cited the vast amounts of Federal aid being funneled into new and expanded programs administered by state agencies under rules laid down by Federal authority.

The trend now is for the Federal government to provide sizeable amounts of aid to states for administration of the Federal programs. With this type of assistance has come Federal standards for selecting the employees to administer the programs at the state level. State legislatures, heed-figure out his problem, although the wisest most famous of them stated that he suspected some deep sense of guilt was afflicting the pt. but what it was and how to get to him about it no one could discover. His conferees nodded wisely at this analysis, which was the only way they could nod. But the case could not be ameliorated, indeed the gossip had it that he was getting worse & worse, and as the years wore on others took his place, none so well, but he became forgotten. Few even recalled him when the President's Memoires were published, as promised, post-humously reprinted all persons mentioned therein. And there was the answer to the mystery. This President, in his younger years, acted rather in the older school of administration, but with the trend of those times he grew in wisdom, gathering about him a hard core of elite lieutenants who could listen and hand down the line chores which they understood were to be done if their increases in stipend and salaries were to continue, so that when he performed he himself might say he knew nothing about the matter, that he left such details to his lieutenants, did not interfere with their performances of duty as was proper in his standards of academic freedom, and whenever anything did go wrong, that is if somebody raised a fuss he could and would say he did not know about that which some thought was not always wholly absolutely correct because those who thought these thoughts suspected he watched every little detail with great care. So he was promoted to the title of educator, that is he escaped from any part of the work of the school in classroom and laboratory to a stipend three times that of those who did this work. The Memoires, after corrections in spelling and syntax by a Wayne High sophomore told what had happened in his office the day the famous coach lost his marbles: the President had called the coach in, and even coaches go when called, to tell him that he disapproved of the coach's protest of a referee's decision. Here are the President's very words: "He took this censure manfully, lowered his head, and I thought even smiled weakly. But when I said: 'After all, such a thing might tarnish the image of the College in the public eye', he broke. This too severe criticism of mine of our greatest coach in all our great history has been a grievous burden upon me; not even this making of my confession can assuage the pain."

The above sad tale, Mr. Editor, is fictitious. But you might sometime wonder just how seriously juveniles are supposed to take admonitions for sporting conduct when they see how some coaches behave and get paid vel.

Yours astutely possible
John H. Violette
pronounced "luh-buh-RUH-luh-ree" according to Wuhlyum Muhrus, P.S. If you would like a piece on how the lieutenants spend their spare time I would be willing to try to make it the subject of another sociologic analysis.

This was stolen from Rev. Frank Pedersen's Baptist bulletin: A professor was obligated to hold a series of weekly classes some 400 miles from his home. He grew weary of making that weekly trip, so he just sent tape recordings of his lectures each week. A few weeks later, he dropped into the school. As he neared the room he heard his tape recorder faithfully playing back his lecture. But when he looked in the seats where the students should have been sitting, there were only tape recorders taking down his lecture. Wyoming and Iowa are two of the three states losing population. Nebraska is gaining. We have stressed before how important Omaha's growth is to Nebraska. Without Omaha's ascendancy as a metropolitan area, Nebraska would be losing. Last week's list of school enrollments (boys only) shows how true this is. Including Bellevue, 14 of the 32 Class A schools in the state are in the Omaha Metro area. Looking down the list we find that if Ralston had enrolled four more boys it would have beaten out Nebraska City for Class A. Papillion was within 32 of exceeding Nebraska City, Plattsmouth needed 47 more, Millard 75 more and Omaha Cathedral 77 more. If these grow as all Omaha is growing, it could mean 18 of the 32 biggest schools in the state will soon be Omaha-area schools. And there could be one or two more new high schools built in Omaha making it possible that before long 20 of the top 32 would be in that area. Now will you believe us when we say Omaha is growing and Nebraska's future growth and progress are tied to Omaha's?

One week (at Emerson) the camera we used blew out due to a worn cord on the flash strobe. The next week another camera was used for the Winside-Allen game and we had a different malfunction. This week, it's either or else. You'll know when you turn to the sports section. If we don't have pictures we will just stop shooting pictures and shoot ourselves (and if we can't shoot a gun any better than we can a camera, we'll miss).

'Miracle Worker' Production Starts

"The Miracle Worker," dramatization of the work of Annie Sullivan who helped Helen Keller overcome her handicaps to go on to greatness, will be this year's first dramatic production at Wayne State College. Work is underway on all phases of production.

Dr. Helen Russell, director of the WSC drama department, reports season tickets for the full series of presentations are available at the Fine Arts Center, Room 110, or from any drama department member. One-fourth the cost can be saved by advance purchases and gives preference for reserved seats.

Other WSC productions will include "Tonight at Eight," three student-directed one-act plays; Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night"; and "Sleeping Beauty." Ticket purchasers may use season passes for one production to take friends or see each of the four presentations.

Competitive tryouts resulted in these cast choices for "Miracle Worker": Sandra Foster as Helen Keller; Arda Meyensberg as Annie Sullivan; Bruce Dickenson as Helen's father; and Dianna Frank as Helen's mother.

Others in the cast are Arne Nelson, Susan Cook,

Edward Miller, Pat Kip, Ron Wachholz, Ron Slade, Irene Kulozawski, Cynthia Fisher, Carole Maciejewski and Kathy Milander.

Dixon Farmer Still

Waits for Painters

One Dixon farmer admits he was "taken" and hopes his costly lesson will be of help to others. It's that time of years when strangers come in with bargain offers and he's recalling a "bargain" offered him a year ago.

Two men came to his farm, offered to "treat" a building so it would last longer than any other building. The plan was to spray on the treatment, come back in six months and paint the building, the spray supposedly soaking through by then.

Six months passed, the spray never soaked through, the building in no better shape than before and the strangers had not returned. Now it has been a year and he does not expect to see the men again.

Farmers (and town residents) in Dixon and other area towns should be leery of special deals offered by bargainers, especially if the offer includes payment now and the rest of the bargain later. It happens every day somewhere. This is just an instance of it happening in this area.

Painting is not the only specialty of some bargain offers. There are others. Some are legitimate. The Better Business Bureau suggests buying from the business places you know will be around to make good on deals of else check with the BBB office in Omaha before signing papers.

Look what's happening at Mercury!

Mercury unleashes Cougar!

Untamed elegance! America's first luxury sports car at a popular price.

This is the day of the Cougar. An entirely new kind of driving machine from Mercury.

Mercury Cougar is a true luxury car. With an ice-cool elegance. With a European flair and thrust to its styling. With a roomy, full-width rear seat. With standard features found, until now, only in expensive cars. Examples:

Sequential rear turn signals are standard! They flash in three steps (at the rate of 70 times a minute) to point the way you're turning.

Concealed headlamps are standard! They hide by day and, cat-like, open at night.

Inside, vinyl-covered bucket seats, cushioned with molded foam, are standard! Wall-to-wall deep-loop carpeting, standard! 3-spoke steering wheel, standard!

cu. in. V-8. Compression ratio: 9.3:1. And it uses regular fuel.

When we say Mercury unleashes Cougar, we mean it. Cougar is a superb sports car. It moves on cat feet. Tracks true. Rides smoother, quieter.

The price! Less than you'd expect. At previews, people have overguessed by $1,000!

We believe Cougar is the best-equipped luxury sports car for the money. And at Cougar's price, you can indulge yourself in such better-idea options as: Roof. Sports Console. 4-barrel Marauder 390 CF V-8. Vinyl-covered Oxford wheel. Tilt-Away steering wheel. Power disc-brakes up front. A finger-tip speed control mounted on the turn signal lever. But first: See Mercury Cougar. Untamed elegance. At your Mercury Man's, your Mercury dealer's.

Dixon School Bell's Tower Gets New Use

The Dixon Grade School bell tower no longer stands near the school. In fact, it is laying on its side downtown where it has been hauled.

However, it will rise again. It is destined to be erected next to the town hall in Dixon's business district.

John Young, who keeps busy operating a service station, serving as fire chief and handling other chores, is fixing the tower to hold a siren. When he is able to find time to get that done, the tower will go up and the siren will be connected.

At present Dixon firemen are summoned when the siren on the truck. It is not loud but it has served fairly well along with the telephone call system. There is no race to see who will get to have the first fire to summon firemen with the new siren. In fact, it may be a few more weeks before the siren and tower are ready.

Dixon Boy in Germany

Pfc. Joe Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mason, Dixon, is in Ludwigsburg, Germany, where he is driving a truck at present but where he is soon to be assigned to office work. In the army since Dec. 27, he was sent to Germany in March and was promoted to private first class in July. His full address is: Pfc. Joseph Mason, US 5585564, Co. Ride the Wide-Track winning streak!

From the same drawing board that gave you Grand Prix, GTO and Overhead Cam Six now come the newest Pontiacs since the invention of Wide-Track.

You're looking at the most beautiful Pontiacs ever to ride on Wide-Track. The incomparable GTO returns with a 335-hp 400 cubic inch engine under a magnificently refined new skin. Or you can order the 255-hp version or the fabulous new 360-hp Quadra-Power 400. And for the first time, you can order your GTO with our famous three-speed Turbo Hydra-Matic.

The Le Mans and Tempests come back better than ever. Bright new interiors. Bold new colors.

A 165-hp Overhead Cam Six is standard. Or you can specify a 215-hp version, a 250-hp regular gas V-8 or its 285-hp premium gas cousin. Or step into the nearest grand touring car this side of the Atlantic with our OHC 6 Sprint package.

Our big Pontiacs are new from the famous split grille to the slickest innovation of the year—disappearing windshield wipers! They're less subject to freezing. And only Pontiac has them.

Also new a Grand Prix convertible! There are new 400 and 428 cubic inch V-8s. New safety features, such as front seat belt retractors, a four-way trigger hazard flasher, folding front seat back latches, and General Motors new energy absorbing steering column.

Of course, all Pontiacs come with the road hugging security of Wide-Track.

Speed Reading on Winside Agenda

A six-week course in speed reading will be offered at Winside High School in conjunction with the remedial reading course. John Picard will be the instructor and all high school pupils will take the speed reading course.

Sup. James Christensen pointed out that the pupils will be tested two days this week for speed and comprehension. They will then be put in the group where they rate according to the tests.

For six weeks the pupils will be taught through special methods ways to read and comprehend faster. At the end of six weeks they will be tested to see if they have shown any improvement in speed and comprehension.

One of the devices flashes a light on one word in a sentence at a time. The light stays on each word a split second. At first, for instance, it may stay one-tenth of a second as it moves from word to word through a paragraph.

After practice, the timing is cut and it may stay on the word 1/25th of a second, then 1/50th, then 100th and so on. As pupils learn to get the words faster, they will also be expected to get the thoughts faster and will thus benefit in all classes in improved reading speed and comprehension ability.

Everingham-Finch Wedding Held in Elkhorn Church

Karen Everingham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Everingham, Wakefield, and Phillip Finch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Finch, Elkhorn, were married Sept. 24 at Bethany Lutheran Church, Elkhorn.
Rev. W. K. Schmidt officiated at the double ring candlelight ceremony. The altar was decorated with bouquets of yellow glads, bronze pompons and bronze mums. "Jolene" Pearson lighted the candles preceding the ceremony.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white wool knit suit with matching veiled headpiece. She carried a floral Bible marker of white pompons accented with gold pompons on a white Bible. The same arrangement was carried by her mother at her wedding.
Darol Cooper, Decatur, was maid of honor. She wore a gold knit suit with matching headpiece and she carried a nosegay of pompons in bronze tones. Miss Cooper sang "The Lord's Prayer."
Jack Witt, Elkhorn, served as best man. Ken Everingham and Tony Finch were ushers.
A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. Mrs. Larry Weibs, Portsmouth, Ia., served the cake. Mrs. Dale Black, Halston, poured. Lynda Lucy, Fullerton served punch. Guests were registered by Monte Cline. Gifts were arranged by Nancy Inman and Barbara Clausen.
The bridegroom is employed by Union Pacific, Omaha. The couple will reside at 17400 West Dodge, Omaha.

Robert Swan Coming

Robert Swan, a field representative of the Social Security Administration, will be in Wayne Thursday, Oct. 6, from 1 to 3 p.m. to talk to anyone who cares to consult him about Medicare or Social Security. He will be at the courthouse.
Swan, who comes from the Norfolk office, suggests appointments for those who want to see him at any certain time. One can be secured by writing the SSA office, Box 884, Norfolk, 68701. No appointment is necessary, however.
He has also pointed out that people applying for social security or any other type of government pension can receive special benefits. This service is relatively new so there may be many who are affected by this program.

Winside Youth Trains

Seaman Dwight Troutman is aboard the USS Providence (CLG-6) which is in the first fleet unit participating in "Eager Angler" in the Pacific. It is a mine exercise involving 29 ships ranging from aircraft carriers to minesweepers getting them ready for combat roles in the Western Pacific. Stressed are air and anti-air operations, including aerial strikes with live ordnance in the bombing ranges of the Chocoma Mountains and San Clemente Island. Shore bombardment, close air support and aerial reconnaissance are also in the training. Troutman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Troutman, Winside.

ONE DOWN, another coming in fast, was the situation facing Keith Wacker, Winside, as he carried around end against Hartington. Dan Gildersleeve, 20, is coming in for the tackle. No. 28 for WHS is Bob Jackson and No. 53 is Dave Witt.

Winside Wildcats Keep Rolling Along; Travel to Pilger for Friday's Contest

Winside's Wildcats rolled to their third victory in a row Friday, defeating a crippled Hartington team 26-6. IHHS was playing without three of its starters but even with them could not have overcome the advantage the Red and Black displayed.

Coach Pete Kropp takes the Wildcats to Pilger Friday for a 7:30 game. Pilger has been down but could bounce back the way Pierce bounced back to defeat Laurel last week so the Wildcats will have to be wary of over-confidence.

Roger Deck, WHS guard, scored a touchdown against Hartington. He recovered a fumble in the end zone for six points, one of those rare opportunities when linemen grab a little glory and a fumbled ball at the same time.

Missing from Hartington's lineup were Mick Christensen, tackle, sprained ankle; Dennis Cummins, halfback, neck injury; and Loyal MacFarland, end, broken leg.

Receiving the opening kickoff, Winside put the ball in play on the 38 following Bob Dangberg's return from the 9. Hartington lost no time scoring after Marvin Grindvold intercepted on the first play, returning to the 30. Gildersleeve, Tuttle and Grindvold carried, Don Longe set them back and Eickhoff passed to Tuttle for 11. A one-yard plunge by Gildersleeve produced Hartington's TD.

Again Winside received, Dangberg returning to the 43 from the 11. Reed Wacker gained 29. Dangberg 18 (nullified by penalty), Wacker 5, Dangberg 2 and IHHS took over on downs. The visitors fumbled twice with Terry Thies recovering the second. This time Winside was not to be stopped, Dangberg going 24, 6 and the final 2 with Wacker picking up 5 just before the score. Wacker kicked the extra point to give WHS both teams the rest of the game.

Wacker kicked to the 27 with HHS returning to the 41. Hartington managed 29 yards before Winside held. Larry Pfeiffer went for 14, Dave Witt added 14 more and then 2. Keith Wacker gained 2 but HHS held. Krueger threw the visitors back 8 and Winside again took over. Dangberg gained 1, Wacker 7 and 3 and a pass went astray. Hartington intercepting, Longe and Helgel threw the visitors back 2 and Longe tossed in another 12-yard loss as the game ended.

In tackling, Don Longe had 10, Randy Brudigan 9,

Reed Wacker 7, Keith Krueger, Gary Redel and Terry Thies 3, Bob Dangberg, Dan Jaeger and Lee Trautwein 2 and Roger Deck, Randy Jacobsen, Roy Wagner, Andy Mann and Bob Wacker 1.

Here are the team statistics:

	Win	Har.
First Downs	12	7
Yards rushing	199	68
Yards passing	59	47
Total Yards	258	115
Passes thrown	12	17
Passes complete	3	7
Fumbles	6	2
Own recovered	3	7
Opponent's rec.	2	5
Yards penalized	30	10

RANDY JACOBSEN, 37, has just handed off to Bob Dangberg against Hartington. Roy Wagner is blocking out Dan Gildersleeve and Randy Brudigan is coming in to take out Jim Tuttle, 23.

Blue Devil Freshmen Outlast Tough Laurel

Scoring their second win of the season, the Wayne High freshmen downed a stubborn Laurel team here 12-0. It was a warm-up for an eventuality assignment this Thursday when the frosh play Norfolk High freshmen at 4 in Norfolk.

Coach Ron Carnes' team found Laurel much tougher than Pierce. Both Wayne and Laurel showed an excellent brand of football defensively and offensively throughout the contest.

Jerry Titzze kicked off for the locals, boosting to the 25 with HHS returning to the 41. Titzze threw a terrific tackle to help hold Laurel to six yards, forcing a kick, Randy Helgren returning from the 20 to the 26.

Larry Biltoff gained but that's all Wayne could manage so Titzze punted, Laurel carrying back from the 50 to the Wayne 22. Vaughn Korh threw the Bear Cubs back 3 and again they had to kick, the ball going to the end zone. Doug Maurer made 4, Biltoff 1 and Titzze kicked to the 38, raced down and pounced on the ball to give Wayne possession on the 38. Laurel having fumbled.

Maurer picked up 4 but the locals lost 6. Helgren passed to Biltoff for 8 and Wayne had to kick, Titzze's punt going to the 30 and being returned to the 41. Maurer threw Laurel back 8 as the quarter ended and once again Laurel had to kick.

Two passes went incomplete and Laurel interfered to give Wayne a first down on the third pass. Next play Wayne fumbled and Laurel had possession. Dan Sutherland, hobbled by a groin injury, joined Biltoff to throw the visitors back 1 and they had to kick, Ted Armbruster returning from the 30 to the 35.

Maurer picked up 3, Helgren 27 and 2 but then Laurel held, Titzze punting to the 25. Laurel gained one yard in three plays so kicked, Les Echtenkamp returning from the 47 to the 37. Echtenkamp gained 2, a fumble lost 3. Helgren passed to Maurer for 20 and to Gary Heithold for 17 and on the last play of the half Sutherland went 2 yards to score.

Helgren received the second half kick on the 16 and scooted back to the 36. Laurel held. Titzze kicked to the 35 and Laurel scored on the next play, Tim Hattig making a spectacular 55-yard run only to have an offside penalty nullify the score. Wayne held and Laurel had to kick, Helgren returning 13 yards to the 40.

A Helgren to Titzze pass was good for 11, Helgren plunged for 2 and passed to Maurer for 27. Helgren went 2 and Laurel intercepted to stop the drive

New Camaro makes

Six Distinct Car Lines for Chevrolet in 1967

Five 1967 Chevrolet models appear to be standing at attention as the CAMARO, newest member of the family, makes its introductory bow to the public (foreground, CAMARO Super Sport). While each Chevrolet model has distinctive styling motifs, the all new CAMARO features a new approach to the "long hood-short deck" design so successfully introduced to U.S. buyers by the Corvette. All Chevrolet-built passenger cars go on public display at Coryell Auto Co. Sept. 29.

the 37, returning to the 49 as the game ended.

Wayne led in first downs 9-2; yards rushing 84-16; yards passing 95-81; total yards 179-30; passes 13-4; passes completed 6-2; fumbles 6-2; and fumble recoveries 6-2. Laurel led in pass interceptions 1-0 and yards penalized 25-0.

Wayne Junior High Wins Over Stanton

Wayne seventh and eighth grade boys won over Stanton in flag football Wednesday evening on the local baseball diamond field (80 yards). The score was 18-0, a real surprise since Stanton outweighed Wayne 10-20 pounds per man.

Coach Hank Overin's teams continue to show that savvy of sports passed on by the coach. They will get a chance this Friday at 4:30 on the West Elementary field to see how they shape up against the freshmen reserves from Wayne High.

Against Stanton in the first quarter, the visitors kicked off and from then on it was a matter of exchanging possession several times. A TD was finally set up when Dwight Clatenoff, versatile transfer to Wayne from Wisner, moved from the 40 to the 10 and Lonnie Biltoff over from there. It was 6-0 when the PAT at-

WINSIDE COACH Pete Kropp was having a talk with Roger Deck along the sidelines during the Hartington Winside game when the cameraman took this shot.

Clatenoff took the ball on a keeper and went 20 yards to score only to have a penalty nullify the tally. Stanton held, was in turn forced to kick and on the first play from scrimmage Biltoff spun and swivel-hipped 60 yards to score. No extra point was made so it was 18-0.

Stanton scored with four minutes left in the final period on a 15-yard running play. On the final play of the game, Todd Hornbott broke loose for Wayne, ran 50 yards and all but went 20 more, the only man between him and the goal line grabbing the flag to stop him and end the game.

Officials for the tilt were Ray Artiska, Jerry Keenan and Larry Hix.

Will Clean Feathers There was such a demand for the feather pillow cleaning services the last time Wayne VFW Auxiliary sponsored the project, another feather cleaning date has been set up. It will be held Tuesday, Oct. 11, at the Roy Sommerfeldt home, 213 E. Third. Anyone bringing in items for cleaning will be able to pick them up later in the day. Nothing is to be brought to the site until that day, however. Funds will be used for VFW Auxiliary activities and projects.

Business Notes

J. J. "Jack" Anderson, Norfolk, is opening a grocery store to be known as Anderson's Grocery in Carroll. A formal opening is scheduled later. Anderson has been a wholesale jobber serving the area. For the time being, he and his wife will commute between Norfolk and Carroll. The store is located in the building formerly occupied by Janssen's Place, a defunct store.

WAYNE-NELIGH action finds versatile Neligh quarterback Dennis Ptak blocking for halfback Dave Shrader. Gene Hansen and Doug Ritze (80) arrive too late to make the stop.

Neligh Slaps Wayne 13-0; Stanton Homecoming Foe

Wayne High School grid-ders dropped their second game of the season to an alert Neligh team 13-0 on the Neligh gridiron Friday night.

The Devils with a break at the right moment could have broken the Warriors, but the breaks went the other way. After Wayne kicked off to open the game, Neligh and Wayne exchanged punts and Wayne started to roll with three consecutive first downs with Steve Kerl and Lynn Lessman sparking the offensive running game. With Wayne having a first and ten on the Neligh 26, a clipping penalty knocked the wind out of Wayne's offense enough to bog the threat.

An incomplete pass, illegal procedure call and punt gave Neligh the ball on their own 31. After making a first down the quarter ended scoreless. Neligh then punted to Wayne, and after three attempts to move the ball Wayne's attempt to kick out of trouble failed when the snap from center sailed over Mark Johnson's head and Neligh took over on the Wayne 37 yard line. Neligh racked up a first down but Wayne's defense stiffened when Doug Ritze, Don Skokan, Bernie Binger and Dave Roberts made key tackles to force Neligh to try a field goal from the 21. The try had the distance but was wide to the right. The first half ended after an exchange of punts and Kerl intercepted a Neligh pass with 31 seconds remaining. Wayne's field position made it too dangerous to try the long scoring bomb before the half so Wayne was content to go along with the scoreless first half.

A fourth down and inches to go situation failed for Wayne after intermission which may have been the turning point in the ball game, for it took Neligh just six plays to score with 8:06 remaining in the third quarter. Quarterback Dennis Ptak going the final four yards to score. Neligh's PAT was good but a penalty nullified the kick. The second attempt was wide and Neligh led 6-0.

Wayne could never generate another potent offensive as A. J. Melcher of Neligh led the Warrior defense and almost single handedly stopped Wayne. The fourth quarter was a repetition of the scoreless first two with Wayne never really threatening but always within reach of Neligh's 6-0 lead. But with just one minute and seven seconds left in the game Larry Johnson grabbed a Ptak aerial (the second completion for Neligh) and went on in to score, the play covering 43 yards. The extra point was good of the fine backs Neligh had in Ptak, Rich Bollwitt, Dennis Maple and Dave Shrader. End Larry Johnson of Neligh seemed to read Wayne plays and Guard A. J. Melcher was the difference between the two ball clubs. Steve Kerl would have to be picked as star of the week for Wayne, as his offensive play progressed and coming into his own on defense.

This week Wayne entertains Stanton here at a Homecoming tilt with pregame activities beginning at 7 p.m. Coach Hansen is quick to state Wayne is not a team that is 13 points poorer than Neligh and says "we are going to surprise a few teams this year. Some of the blocking has not been sharp enough although the blockers are moving out good they have to learn to hit and hit harder. We are starting from scratch this week on some fundamentals we seem to be weak on. The boys haven't given up and are hungry, so we want some more wins."

and Neligh held the upper hand 13 to 0.

The Blue Devils never really threatened, although Neligh was not out of reach until the last minute of play. Coach Allen Hansen was generous with his praise of the defense, reminding us

MOST IMPROVED player in Midget baseball this year was George Eynon, kneeling, right. Beside him is the 1965 most improved player, Delmar Wacker. They hold the Jerry Meyer Memorial Trophy. In back (left to right) are the runnersup for this year's MIP honor, Doug Farrants and Steve Kerl.

'Most Improved' Honor to Eynon

George Eynon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Eynon, has been named winner of the Jerry Meyer Memorial Trophy. The trophy is given each year to the "midget player who has shown the most improvement during the baseball season."

The trophy was first given last year. Winner then was also a pitcher, Delmar Wacker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerhardt Wacker, Carroll.

Two other junior classmates of Eynon were close runnersup for the honor this year. They are Doug Farrants and Steve Kerl, both of whom improved remarkably in the period from the first game to the state championship tilt.

Eynon won only one game and lost two in 1965. This year, he pitched in eight games and won them all. His batting prowess also increased as he raised his average from less than .100 in 1965 to .430 in 1966.

The trophy, which is kept at the Boys Club, was provided from funds given in memory of Jerry Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Meyer, who drowned several summers ago. He was a member of the Wayne Midget team that year.

Names of the winners are to be engraved on the trophy. It will be kept permanently at the Boys Club.

Local Youth on Champion Team

Lauren Boeckenhauer, Wayne, is a member of the 1966 Intercollegiate Champion Swine Judging Team. With the University of Nebraska team he helped establish a new record in the event.

Nebraska ranked first with 3193 points. Iowa State was second with 3002; Illinois 2981; South Dakota State 2979; Georgia 2957; North Dakota State 2932; South Illinois 2911; Illinois State 2899; Minnesota 2858; and Wisconsin 2847.

Jules Uldrich, Tobias, was high point man with 630 points in individual competition. Clayton Miller, Elmwood, was second with 620; Brian Riddell, Oakland, had 619; and Boeckenhauer, Gene Wehrbein, Louisville, and an ISU student finished with 617.

Of the 67 contestants competing, Nebraska had five of the first six place finishers, including the local youth. Only one other school, ISU, had more than one man in the top ten individuals.

Boeckenhauer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boeckenhauer, Wayne.

A Little Variety in Policemen's Routine

Last week's activities offered a little bit of everything in the routine of police work in Wayne. There was nothing unusual or earth-shaking going on, but something different each day. A business place front door found unlocked during night patrol. This was not so unusual (not anymore) but the police also found a key in the front door of an office building.

A prowler was reported at one home but no prowler located. In another home, no prowler was reported, but a shotgun was reported missing from an upstairs bedroom.

The police took one car because it was left on Main and blocked the Band 100 parade route. Someone else took another car—for a joy ride and when they were through they took the car keys with them after parking the car a few blocks away from the owner's home.

Trash was dumped in a no-dumping area at the south edge of town, the trash dumper being warned to get it moved to a dump at once. Traffic control was provided for funerals and the parade.

In addition, the police investigated three accidents, appeared in court cases, made out the required reports for state and local bodies, checked front and back doors in business places, and patrolled the streets.

Truck Loses Wheels; Parked Vehicles Hit

Wayne had three traffic accidents the past week. The most unusual was one in which a truck lost two wheels, one tire damaging two parked vehicles.

Anton Schlickbernd, Beemer, was southbound on Main Sept. 19. At Twelfth, one wheel on the left side came off, brushed two cars turning on the WSC campus and did no damage.

The second wheel of the duals came off between Twelfth and Eleventh. It rolled down the street and in front of the truck which came to a stop against the west curb, according to L. I. Hailey, investigating officer.

At Arnie's Sav-Mor parking lot, the tire and wheel hit the parked car of Mrs. A. G. Sydow. Wayne, bounced off the front bumper and hit the right rear panel of a car belonging to Arnie Reeg, Wayne. The truck had $10 damage but there was no estimate of damage to the other cars.

Sept. 25 at Seventh and Main, two more vehicles were southbound. Larry Luoss, Wayne, stopped to turn left off Main, Deborah Armbruster, Wayne, did not see him in time to stop and her car hit his car in the rear, doing $120.15 damage to the Luoss car.

Miss Armbruster did not see the turn signals. Luoss said they were operating. Investigating officer was Van Beck.

Chief of Police Vern Fairchild investigated an accident Sept. 26. It was another mishap involving southbound vehicles on Main. Sterling Borg, Dixon, stopped to allow the car ahead to make a left turn onto the WSC campus. Janet Heithold, Wayn, applied brakes but was unable to stop on the rain-slick surface, her car hitting the rear of the Borg vehicle.

Men Outnumber Women at Meet

Men outnumbered the women at the Wayne County 4-H Council meeting Thursday night at the courthouse. It was an unusual session in other ways, the 75 present making up one of the largest groups to ever attend such a meeting here.

Achievement Day was set for November with final plans to be announced later. Plans were also discussed for other 4-H events during the next 12 months.

County Agent Harold Ingalls, Hugo Zimmerman from Northeast Station and Area Extension Homemakers Margaret Stahly, Myrtle Anderson and Anna Marie Kreifels were among those in attendance.

A discussion concerning the 4-H section of the fair premium book was held. Action on proposed changes will be taken later.

School Saving Stamp Program Gets Start

Wayne elementary school children will again be offered a chance to learn the advantages of savings while taking part in a United States bond program this term. The saving stamp program starts Wednesday, Oct. 5.

Mrs. Julia Haas is chairman for the committee of the American Legion Auxiliary which sponsors the program. She reports only stamps of 1-cent denomination will be sold.

Stamps will be sold each Wednesday and children will be allowed to buy as many stamps as they wish. When they fill a stamp book, they can exchange the book for a government bond at any bank.

Albums for keeping stamps will be provided. Children will also be given stamp and coin envelopes for carrying money to and from school.

"Space Minute Man" awards will go to each child purchasing a bond. Similar programs are offered in 48 other schools in 81 counties. Last year they purchased $275,000 in stamps.

Courthouse Keeps Cool

Wayne County Courthouse has been cool the past week. The air-conditioning has not been on either. Temperatures have dipped into the 90's, and there hasn't been much anyone could do to keep the building warm as workmen are putting in a new furnace. Some brought electric heaters to help keep areas warm, but in general it was just a matter of wearing extra clothing to keep warm. One office, where there is usually a sign that reads: "Air Conditioned; Walk In," had a sign Monday that said: "Barely Warm; Walk In."

Wayne High Will Have Newspaper

Wayne High School is going to have a school newspaper. After years of not having any, then having a section in The Herald, then going back to none at all, the school is to have one this term.

Robert Porter will teach an elective course, creative writing. This class will put out the paper on an irregular basis for the time being with various members of the class taking turns editing the publication.

The course is offered for a semester's credit and will cover many types of composition. Journalistic writing is just one type of writing experience to be offered.

First issue of the paper, which will go to press on a duplicating machine, is scheduled to come out this week. It is strictly an out-of-class project so those pupils taking part are devoting time they could be having free in order to get the paper ready.

No name has been selected yet. All pupils in school will be asked to submit suggestions for the newspaper's name.

Thresher Reunion Set

Oct. 1-2 on the Bill Mavberry farm between 100th and Nebraska the tenth annual threshers' reunion will be held. Old-fashioned steam threshers will parade. Displays will include miniature steamers, threshing machine and old-time harvesting equipment still in operating condition. Twelve powerful Belgian horses will operate a "huly" sweep as they did years ago. An afternoon parade will include the antique cars and the steam engines. Other attractions will be a saw mill ripping logs, hand-fed straw baler, stone burr mill, broom machine, rooper, a log house full of antiques and many cunning-order machines that are part of the Mayberry collection. The affair starts at 11:30 and events are scheduled all day with lunch being served on the grounds.

Annuals Handed Out

"The Winner," yearbook for Winside High School, was handed out Friday following the Winside-Hartington football game. It is the 1966 edition of the annual. A sock hop was also held in the gym with music provided by records. Autographing copies of the yearbooks, which for the first time have color photographs of local origin, occupied much of the evening.

Prizes Offered in Six Boys' Divisions

Three prizes are being offered in each of six age groups for boys competing in the Punt, Pass and Kick Contest being sponsored Sunday, Oct. 9, at 1:30 p.m. on the WSC gridiron by the Wayne Lions Club, Wortman Auto Co. and Ford Motor Co.

Divisions will be by ages. There will be competition for boys eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve and thirteen years old.

Medallions of different types will be given. Top winners in each division will have their marks sent in for comparison with other winners in the zone to see who will go on to further competition.

Around 800,000 boys will compete around the nation. This will be cut down to 2,160 in a short time and then at a National Football League game the six champions will be given their special prizes.

Entry blanks may be obtained at Wortman's by boys desiring to take part. They should be accompanied by at least one parent when applying.

Harold Maciejewski, Lions president, and Ken Daugherty of Wortman's will be in charge. A dinner Oct. 18 will honor the prize winners in the contest, here open to all boys in the region.

Vets Can Study in VA Plan Via Mails

According to County Service Officer Chris Bargholz, Wayne County veterans may not realize educational assistance for veterans can be pursued by correspondence if one cannot attend college. However, not all correspondence schools are approved so this should be checked before enrolling anywhere for lessons by mail.

The new GI bill does not provide any life insurance. Bargholz said. It has education, loan and hospital benefits but not government life insurance.

Finally, he said service in Vietnam or the Dominican Republic is not a requirement for educational benefits under the new GI bill. In fact, veterans still did not serve overseas still qualify if they were in the service 180 days or more any time after Jan. 31, 1955.

Dramatic new styling marks the 1967 Ford which has received a major sheet metal change for the third time in three years. Pictured here are the X/L Convertible (above) and the X/L 2-Door Hardtop, both of which offer Ford's Select Shift Cruise-O-Matic transmission as standard equipment. Featured only on the Fairlane, GTA in 1966, Select Shift permits the driver to shift manually or automatically. Ford's new styling features sculptured side panels and a gull-wing design grille that is die-cast in the X/L LTD and Country Squire series. Engineering improvements give the 1967 Ford an even quieter and smoother ride. All Ford models will be on display at Wortman Auto Co. showrooms Friday, Sept. 30.

Wayne Physician In Both Berlins

Included in the people-to-people visit Dr. Robert Benthack and other Nebraska physicians took to Russia recently were side trips to other points. One highlight was Berlin--both sides of the wall.

Getting into West Berlin is simple. You fly in, land at Tempelhof and you're in a beautiful bustling rebuilt city. Getting from West Berlin into East Berlin is something else.

Dr. Benthack described Checkpoint Charlie where you go through the wall. The gateway is not exactly a boulevard. In fact, concrete block barricades in a zig-zag pattern are so narrow that there are marks all over the concrete, left by trucks that just barely scraped through.

The bus on which the doctors went into East Berlin weaved in and out through the entry and finally backed into a side street. There it was inspected by East German border guards who took previously prepared money declarations, checked passports and asked to see German money. One guard seemed concerned only with making sure that the person who was pictured on the passport was the person holding it.

While this personal inspection was going on, a third guard was inspecting the bus. He had the driver open all luggage compartments.

Dr. Benthack and the other doctors stayed on the bus throughout the time they were in East Berlin. For two hours they toured the city. No medical facilities were made available to them and no one was particularly interested in getting out anyway.

They did find a lot of new construction, in fact, some of it quite impressive and much better than they had been led to believe. However, they also found great areas still needing restoration more than 20 years after the end of the war.

There was a marked contrast in the number of people and cars on the streets in the east section as compared to the west section. People were more poorly dressed. Also noticeable was the fact that people never tended to congregate in groups. Two or three might chat together but rarely were any clusters of people seen.

Enroute out, the bus reversed the process at Checkpoint Charlie. This time an additional check was made in East Berlin. A large mirror was passed under the bus to make sure that no one was underneath.

Inspectors in all cases were not the same ones who had checked the bus when it entered the section.

The Nebraska doctors were amazed to find out that many West Berlin residents work in East Berlin and go in daily. Many of them are doctors since there is a shortage in the east section. They found not one single instance of an East Berlin resident working in West Berlin. Leaving Berlin's Tempelhof was as thrilling as coming in. Tempelhof is surrounded by tall buildings (apartments-- tall for Europe) and as you come in or leave you look up at buildings on all sides, the airframe being right in the heart of the city.

Behind the Iron Curtain another stop was Warsaw, Poland. There the people talked more freely. They did not seem to be as "controlled" as some people, even those of Budapest. Most of Warsaw is rebuilt from terrible war damage and pre-war historic sites have been restored.

In Warsaw Dr. Benthack recalled seeing a maternity hospital, an old building. It was in this hospital where five delivery tables were in one room with not so much as a screen between. In a previous article this hospital was described as being in Russia.

Budapest was a "cold" city as people were cautious. Thirty miles away in a farming community the people were friendlier, word getting around that Americans were in town and everyone peering out to see the visitors, some even speaking.

Water in homes was unsafe to drink in the village. People used it for stock and washing. The water they drank had to be carried from a community well. There was no sewage system.

The doctors saw only small herds of livestock and although Hungarians eat a lot of pork, Dr. Benthack said he did not see any pigs.

One doctor underwent a little extra interrogating. He had not made his money report in full. So the Communists had to listen to see what he had on his tape recorder too, being suspicious of everything because of a slip on the money report. It was obvious the Communists were not too happy about tape recorders in the first place.

A final word about observances behind the Iron Curtain. In Leningrad the physicians attended "The Gypsy Baron," an operetta, which was well-staged and beautifully costumed.

Television was available but they did not see any programs. Radios in stores and hotel rooms were not used much. Turned on any time of day or night, all they seemed to offer was propaganda.

Hotels in all Iron Curtain countries where the doctors stayed were run by the government. The doctors felt that they were purposely taken to government hotels and that the natives stayed in the private hotels. Most tourists in Russia and behind the Curtain are Americans so the government takes care of needs--including the rooms.

Next week this series on Dr. Benthack's trip to Russia will be concluded with the events and visits in Europe on this side of the Iron Curtain.

Birthdays Not Same for Youth

Tuesday, Sept. 27, Phadet Gawsombat, Thailand exchange student attending Wayne High and living with the Dr. J. M. Brown family, celebrated his 19th birthday. He observed it two ways, as nearly as possible to the traditional way in Thailand among Buddhists and in the American way.

Mrs. Brown prepared a birthday dinner for him that evening. It was complete with birthday cake, candles, presents and company.

Only the candles would resemble the birthday Phadet celebrated a year ago.

Buddhists stress the end of one year and the beginning of another with a review of what they might have done for which they should be forgiven and a pledge to try to be better in the year ahead.

Phadet described a typical birthday observance for himself. He and all his family would get up in the morning, prepare food and take it to the Buddhist monk in the temple. Flowers, candles and incense would be brought to worship the Buddha.

The monk would talk of the life they should lead, the good life as set forth in teaching of Buddha. Holy water from a bowl would be sprinkled over each family member, using a leaf from a tree to sprinkle water in which the leaf has been dipped.

At night before retiring, flowers, candles and incense would be taken to the statue which each Buddhist home has. Here again, respect and adoration would be paid to Buddha.

Then Phadet would pay respect to his father, his mother, his brother and his sister, kneeling in front of each in turn. As he would kneel with incense, candles and flowers on a tray, he would ask forgiveness for the past year from each.

As forgiveness is granted, a cord is tied around his wrist by those granting it. The cord signifies forgiveness from each family member.

His spirit would be called in from wherever it might be. As the family members think of forgiveness and as he kneels, his spirit will be present. In response to this forgiveness, he pledges to be a good boy during the year ahead.

Finally, before he goes to bed, he would light incense and candles overhead and white flowers would be added. The observance of the birthday is over for another year.

WANT TO CHASE A B'AR?

Come along on a crisp fall morning to the wild wilderness of a northern state where men and dogs gather in the misty, grey light of dawn to put Mr. Bruin up a tree.

Wear your runnin' shoes and bring a handkerchief to mop your brow, because this is a hunt with more action than a police raid at the country club.

Pioneered by the Michigan Bear Hunters association some 20 years ago, and since copied by Wisconsin hunters, the modern bear chase is aimed at putting more sport into bear hunting. Prior to the chase method of bear hunting, most bruins were taken by hunters who stumbled across the animals' dens during deer seasons. There is little comparison between den-shooting a bear and following a howling pack of dogs through swamp and woods to put a bear up a tree.

The hunts are conducted earlier in the fall when the bear are gorging themselves to store up fat for their winter sleep.

A typical hunt starts long before dawn, when men, boys and dogs gather in bear country to seek out the sign of recent bruin activity. An "Alley Oop" footprint along a dirt road is enough to set things going.

A "strike dog" is turned loose to sort out the track, and when he has done his job and begins to make "bear music" the rest of the pack is turned loose to join in. Bear hounds are bred for stamina, courage and "guts," with the pedigree or breed of relatively little importance. Walker, Redbone, Bluetick and Plott are hound breeds most frequently combined.

Once the dogs are all on the track — packs of three to six are most common—the hunters plunge into the woods behind them. Only the most hardy hunters, such as those in Michigan who condition themselves with roadwork months in advance of hunting, are able to stay within howling or hailing distance of the dogs.

It is the nature of a chased bear to head for the thickest, most impossible cover. A spruce swamp, full of windfalls and black, mucky holes is a favorite place for bruin to lead the chase. Many a hunt has ended in such terrain when the best efforts of experienced dogs and men are not enough to force the bear up a tree.

The length of a chase varies from a few hundred yards to the breadth of a county and back again. A Wisconsin chase once went on for 17 hours and ended without a bear because hunting hours were over when the critter was finally treed.

The killing of a treed bear is anticlimactic to the rest of the hunt. A hunting code in general use allows the first man to the tree the first shot at the bear, but not before the hounds have been put on leashes to prevent their being injured when the bear topples down.

While bear hunting with hounds is likely to grow in popularity, most bear will continue to be taken when the horde of red-shirted deer hunters take to the woods in states that allow concurrent bear hunting.

In one such state where about 600 black bear are killed annually by deer hunters, over half of them are shot in dens. While there are those who claim that den-shooting is not sporting, it is not without its thrills.

A courageous or foolhardy archer, depending on your point of view, once found a dened bear and decided to roust him out for a cleaner shot at the animal. To accomplish this, he stood on top of the den—a mound of dirt and leaves—and dropped a package of lady-finger firecrackers into the den opening.

Mr. Bear came out of the den like a volcano, upsetting the archer and hurtling off into the woods like a big black cannonball.

And the black bear does get big. During a Wisconsin deer season several years ago, a 16-year-old high school girl killed a bear that weighed 635 pounds and held the state record until several days later a hunter killed one near Glidden, Wisconsin that dressed out at 665 pounds.

This tremendous size has a modest start. A newborn cub is about the size of a red squirrel. They are born in January or February while mama bear is denned up for her winter rest. The youngsters — usually two to a litter, but as many as four — grow rapidly. Eleven months after birth they weigh an average of 55 pounds.

A bear's diet consists generally of whatever is available, but is made up primarily of vegetable matter—berries, shrub fruit, and roots. They also eat grubs, ants, rodents, and, of course, honey. Few things give old man bear more pleasure than tearing into a bee tree where he wallows in the honey, apparently unmindful of the irate buzzing bees.

The black bear's varied eating habits frequently get him into trouble that is his downfall. Conservation wardens in bear states are often roused from bed in the wee hours of the morning by a telephone call from a farmer who has suffered an unwelcome visit from a bear. Usually the "guest" has visited the sheep pasture for some fresh mutton, the orchard for apples, or the apiary for a honey feast. Occasionally, however, the visitor has gone after a bigger meal. The warden records in one northern state show a recent complaint where a bear tore boards off the side of an ancient barn to get inside where it killed a cow and calf.

This bear, along with others like it that become trouble makers, have been removed from the scene by the wardens.

Some states pay farmers for damage caused by bear.

Game officials would rather that a bear be taken by a hunter instead of killed on a complaint, and this is another reason for the early hunt in some states.

Bruin's dietary habits have made him important in another aspect of outdoor recreation. This is the appetite that he has developed for the garbage in rural dumps. Thousands of tourists wait at dumps on summer evenings for their first look at a wild bear.

Because many of the "city folks" apparently fail to realize that they are dealing with a wild animal, they do foolish things, such as approaching the animals at close range and even offering them food from their hands.

"Someone is going to get hurt," a warden warned, and cited the more than 100 bear injuries recorded annually at Yellowstone National Park.

Bear are less dangerous to the hunter who, of course, is usually armed with a high-powered rifle. Of some 500 successful bear hunters who responded to a game questionnaire, only four of them reported that the animal charged them after being shot. These charges, which could have also meant that the bear was simply traveling toward the hunter in confusion to escape, were all stopped in plenty of time with additional shots.

Admittedly, it is a lot more fun to chase a bear than to be chased by one, and that brings us back to where we started. You can be a bear chaser simply by putting yourself on the scene. Contact a state conservation department where the hunts are held for details on participation.

And, remember, bring your running shoes.

BIG YIELDS . . . HOW TO

-EARLY HARVEST

-ON-THE-FARM DRYING

BIG NAME for BIG YIELDS

The modern, short, tough corn that takes heavy fertilization

Sensational DeKalb XL Corn Varieties are made-to-order for the quest toward higher corn yields. In fact, it's such short, tough, responsive hybrids that make intensive cultural practices a practical—and profitable—reality. Concentrated breeding gives DeKalb XL's the ability to thrive in narrow rows at high populations; the ability to respond in extra bushels to higher levels of fertility, and the ability to stand and retain ears well for a clean, fast harvest.

Want proof? Look to the records of farmers in the DeKalb 200-Bushel Club . . . yields mechanically harvested from measured acres, elevator-weighed and tested, figured as No. 2 Corn: In 1965, 96 of the top 100 yields were made with XL Varieties. Average of these top yields was 177.5 bushels. Go with XL—BIG name for BIG yields.

"DEKALB" is a Registered Brand Name. "XL" is a Variety Designation.

The line at many country elevators is getting as long as the one at the ball park's pop stand. And it threatens to get longer.

Advances in corn growing practices, such as those described at last winter's Corn-Soybean Clinics, have increased yields and grain volume to the point where many elevators are finding it difficult to handle harvest deliveries either quickly or efficiently. A growing number of farmers have found the solution to this problem by side-stepping the elevator line completely with on-the-farm grain drying.

Mechanical drying has a lot more advantages than simply avoiding the wait at the elevator. Farmers with bin dryers have found that they can use later maturing hybrids and harvest them at relatively high moisture during the normal harvest period. This greatly reduces the danger of bad weather damage normally associated with late hybrids, and can give them the increase of up to 20 bushels per acre that full-season hybrids often yield over 100-day varieties.

In some cases, a 10 to 20 bushel increase can boost profits 25 to 50%. You have to go through most of the motions to plant, control weeds and harvest the crop anyway, so any extra yields can result in substantial profit increases.

Then, too, on-the-farm dryers keep field losses at a minimum because they allow owners to harvest corn at 25 to 27% moisture. One owner who is particularly aware of this fact is H. N. P. Small, Letts, Iowa.

"With the extra corn I saved in the field, plus the increasing market price of stored corn as the season progresses, I paid for my drying system in no time," says Small. "I wouldn't want to go back to farming without one."

Another Iowa farmer who has found the benefits of harvesting early and drying corn in his own system is Dean VanderHeiden, Wheatland, Iowa. "I can't begin to count the advantages of using a dryer system," he says. "Getting the corn out of the field early helps me harvest all I raise, and I have enough cattle and hogs to use what I grow. The extra corn I gain from early harvest helps reduce my cost of feed. It's just another hidden benefit I've found in using a dryer system."

VanderHeiden and Small aren't the only farmers highly satisfied with their grain drying equipment. Many Cornbelt farmers heard and heeded the advice of batch drying experts who appeared at the Corn-Soybean Clinics held throughout the midwest last winter.

As G. L. Joseph of Behlen Mfg. Co. puts it, "A few years ago, not many farmers considered drying their own grain before selling it. But those who have changed over to this new method are finding more profits than they ever imagined."

For the past seven years, the market price of corn has been at its lowest point at harvest time. Then, generally, the price rises from that time until spring, and this price increase for farmers who dry their corn and sell at these later prime market dates has helped them pay for their drying and storage systems in a hurry.

Small adds evidence to that fact: "We found that we can market our corn when the price is right. And our corn always sells for a better market price because it has been dried."

Another farmer who makes efficient use of a dryer system is Ned Brown, Galesburg, Illinois. Using both a 6,500 bushel dryer and a 10,000 bushel storage bin, Brown has been able to dry 1,300 to 1,400 bushels of corn per day.

"Our previous methods of storing grain were inconvenient, slow, and just didn't fit in with the newer, quicker harvesting methods we're using," Brown relates. "We get our moisture content down to less than 14% for less than 3¢ a bushel. This is quite a savings over the 10¢ a bushel we'd have to pay at the elevator, and we don't have to wait in line, either."

Another farmer drying corn for 3¢ a bushel is Don Lull, Sugar Grove, Illinois. His drying and storing facilities have grown to such an extent that they could put some commercial elevators to shame.

"Owning a dryer has always made a lot of sense to me," says Lull. "You can start to harvest earlier, and the dryer almost pays for itself simply by saving the amount of grain you would otherwise leave in the field."

One common warning is issued by all four of these dryer owners: Improper use of a drying system can eliminate many of a dryer's benefits.

For example, many farmers dry their corn to a much lower moisture percentage than needed. This results in very hard kernels, and feeding is almost impossible unless it is first ground or cracked. Secondly, corn dried under extremely high temperatures is often damaged, and commercial buyers won't bid much for corn dried in a bin that's too hot.

HANDLE THEM

Used properly, on-the-farm grain dryers offer owners great opportunities at harvest time. It makes little sense to do everything in your power to grow top yields, then leave a good portion of them in the field because you lack proper drying and storage facilities. Used with the efficiency for which they're designed, a dryer can save you time, and more importantly, put more profits in your pocket.

Don Lull's drying and storage facilities compare well with many commercial elevators. He gets his moisture content down to storage level for less than 3¢ a bushel, quite a bit under what he'd have to pay to have it done commercially, and under the price he would be docked Big yields are common to H. N. P. Small and his son, Ted. They've been raising over 100 bushels per acre since 1946 . . . and use a drying system to help them harvest every bushel they grow.

Ned Brown took the kinks out of his previously slow, inconvenient corn harvesting methods by switching to a large volume dryer and storage facility. He now dries 1,300 to 1,400 bushels of corn per day.

Dean VanderHeiden was acknowledged as one of the top corn producers in Iowa last year. He credits his grain dryer for having helped him raise his bushel-per-acre average, and lowering his livestock feed costs due to the greater volume of grain.

GOLDEN NUGGET FUDGE

- | | |
|---|---|
| $\frac{3}{4}$ cup evaporated milk | $\frac{1}{2}$ cups butterscotch morsels |
| $\frac{1}{4}$ cups sugar | 1 teaspoon vanilla extract |
| $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt | $\frac{1}{2}$ cups California walnuts |
| $\frac{1}{2}$ cups miniature marshmallows | |

Combine milk, sugar, and salt; boil over low heat 5 minutes. Remove from heat, add marshmallows, butterscotch chips, extract, and nuts. Mix until marshmallows are melted. Drop by spoonfuls on greased baking sheets. Yield: 2½ pounds.

TOASTED PUMPKIN SEEDS

- | | |
|--|------|
| 2 cups pumpkin seeds, washed and drained | Salt |
|--|------|

Spread seeds in a large shallow pan. Sprinkle with salt. Toast in a preheated 350° F. oven until seeds are as crisp as desired (about 15 minutes). Yield: 2 cups.

- | | |
|------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| $\frac{1}{2}$ cup shortening | $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon cinnamon |
| $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar | $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon ginger |
| 2 eggs | $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon nutmeg |
| 1 cup mashed pumpkin | $\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk |
| $\frac{2}{4}$ cup flour | $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon baking soda |
| 3 teaspoons baking powder | $\frac{1}{2}$ cup California walnuts |

Cream shortening, eggs, and sugar. In separate bowl sift all the dry ingredients except the baking soda. Divide the dry mixture in half. To the one half add the pumpkin. Then mix it with the shortening. To the other half add the milk in which the baking soda has been dissolved. Blend both mixtures together and stir in the nuts. Bake in two 8-inch round cake pans at 350° for 30 minutes. Make butter frosting tinted with orange food coloring; make eyes, nose, and mouth of pumpkin with whipped cream or plain frosting. Decorate side of cake with chopped California walnuts.

SAND WITCH COMBO

- 1 pound (8 to 10) frankfurters
- Prepared mustard
- Chopped onion
- 8 or 10 wiener rolls, heated

Slit frankfurters lengthwise, not quite through. Saute in margarine. Spread each cut with mustard; sprinkle on chopped onions. Place in buns. Spoon on hot sauce.

Beef Sauce

- | | |
|----------------------------------|---|
| $\frac{1}{2}$ pound ground beef | 1 beef bouillon cube |
| $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped onion | 2 tablespoons prepared mustard |
| $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped celery | $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce |
| $\frac{1}{2}$ cup catsup | $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon celery seed |
| $\frac{1}{2}$ cup water | |

Brown ground beef in skillet. Add chopped onion and the celery; cook till almost tender. Drain off excess fat. Add remaining ingredients to beef mixture and let bubble without covering till hot and as thick as you like it. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

JACK-O-LANTERN SALAD

- | | |
|---------------------------|------------------------------|
| 2 packages orange gelatin | 9 peach halves |
| 2 cups boiling water | currants, raisins, or cloves |
| 2 cups cold water | |

Make gelatin according to package directions. Pour into 9x9 inch pan. When slightly jellied arrange 9 peach halves decorated with eyes, nose, and grin of currants, raisins, or cloves with open side down. Chill. Yield: 9 pumpkin-faced servings.

SAND WITCH PICKUP

- | | |
|-----------------------------|---|
| 15 premium saltine crackers | $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt |
| $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk | $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon monosodium glutamate |
| 1 pound ground beef | $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper |
| 1 small onion, grated | 2 pie crusts |

Soak premium saltine crackers in milk until soft. Blend in beef, onion, salt, monosodium glutamate and pepper. Roll pastry thin; cut into 3-inch squares. Divide meat mixture evenly on pastry squares. Fold pastry over meat, press edges together to seal. Slash design on top. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in moderately hot oven (400°) 30 minutes or until brown. Serve hot or cold with vegetable relishes. Makes about 15 pickups.

WITCH'S BREW

- | | |
|-------------------------|--|
| 2 teaspoons instant tea | $\frac{1}{2}$ cup fresh, frozen, or canned lemon juice |
| 2 cups water | 1 pint chilled ginger ale |
| 1 cup granulated sugar | 1 pint orange sherbet |
| 1 cup orange juice | |

Combine instant tea with two cups of boiling water. Pour hot tea over sugar; stir until sugar dissolves; add juices. Chill. Then pour into punch bowl. Add ginger ale. Spoon on sherbet. Makes 16 punch-cup servings.

PUMPKIN-HOLLOW SPREAD WITH PREMIUM SALTINES

Cut top off small pumpkin. Remove seeds and line hollow with double thickness of foil. Crumple foil in bottom to partially fill hollow. Then fill with the following dip:

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 3-ounce can deviled ham | $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce |
| 4 tablespoons cream cheese, softened | Dash Tabasco sauce |
| 2 tablespoons sour cream | Onion juice or onion powder to taste |
| 1 tablespoon mayonnaise | 2 tablespoons minced fresh parsley |
| $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon prepared mustard | |

Combine all ingredients.

BLACK MIDNIGHT CUPCAKES

- | | |
|---|-------------------------------|
| $\frac{3}{4}$ cup soft shortening | $\frac{2}{4}$ cups flour |
| $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar | 1 teaspoon soda |
| 3 eggs | 1 teaspoon salt |
| $2\frac{1}{2}$ square chocolate (2½ ounce) melted | $\frac{1}{4}$ cups buttermilk |

Cream the shortening and sugar together until fluffy. Beat eggs in thoroughly. Blend in the chocolate. Sift together flour, soda, salt. Stir buttermilk and flour into mixture alternately. Fill greased or lined muffin cups $\frac{3}{4}$ full. Bake 400° about 18 to 20 minutes. Yield: About 20 cupcakes.

Quick Frosting

- 1 cup semi-sweet chocolate morsels
- 1 cup confectioner's sugar
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup evaporated milk

Melt semi-sweet chocolate morsels over hot not boiling, water. Add sifted confectioners' sugar and evaporated milk. Beat until smooth and satiny. Decorate with Halloween Candy.

HALLOWEEN CAT CAKE

Cover a cake with an orange frosting. Trace an outline of a Halloween cat with humped back. Fill in with chocolate frosting. Use pieces of green cherries for eyes and red cherry for mouth. A fence may be piped below the feet, using a decorating tube.

We wait so long for those vine fresh, juicy, ripe, red tomatoes. After we get our fill of the fresh vegetable, we can preserve the rest and use them in various dishes all year long. Even the last green tomatoes on the vine can be utilized in Green Tomato Mincemeat. Imagine having your own homemade mincemeat to use in Holiday pies!

LUSH SALAD

- | | |
|--|-------------------------------------|
| 1 package lemon flavored gelatin | 1 tablespoon chopped onion |
| 1 cup hot water | 1 cup finely chopped celery |
| 1 can condensed tomato soup, undiluted | ½ cup stuffed olives, finely sliced |

Dissolve gelatin in hot water, add tomato soup. Chill until it starts to congeal. Add onion, finely chopped celery, and stuffed olives finely sliced. Put into small molds. Chill until firm.

- | | |
|--|---------------------------------|
| ¼ cup olive or cooking oil | 6 ounce can tomato paste |
| 2½-3 pound broiler or frying chicken cut into pieces | ¾ cup canned mushrooms, drained |
| 1 cup chopped onion | 1 tablespoon salt |
| 2 cloves garlic, crushed | ½ teaspoon pepper |
| 1 chicken bouillon cube | ½ teaspoon leaf thyme |
| 1 cup boiling water | 2 bay leaves |
| 1 pound can tomatoes | dash cayenne pepper |

Heat oil in skillet. Add chicken and brown until golden. Add onion and garlic; brown slightly. Drain off excess fat. Dissolve bouillon cube in boiling water. Add to chicken. Then add remaining ingredients. Cover and simmer 1 hour or until tender. Remove cover during last half hour. Serve sauce over chicken.

PAN BROILED TOMATOES

- | | |
|-------------------------------|---------------------------|
| 8 thick, firm slices tomatoes | ½ teaspoon pepper |
| ¼ cup flour | 2 tablespoons margarine |
| 1 teaspoon salt | ½ teaspoon parsley flakes |

Cut thick slices (about 1½ inches) from firm, slightly under-ripe tomatoes. Dip cut sides in mixture of flour, salt, and pepper. In a 10-inch skillet, over medium heat, brown slices on one side in margarine, 2 to 3 minutes. Turn and spoon Sour Cream Sauce onto brown sides. Sprinkle with parsley flakes. Cook 2 to 3 minutes more, or until brown on bottoms.

Sour Cream Sauce

- | | |
|-------------------------------------|---|
| ½ cup evaporated milk | 2 tablespoons of mayonnaise or salad dressing |
| 1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice | |

Mix evaporated milk and vinegar or lemon juice gently. Let stand to thicken, about 5 minutes. Then stir in mayonnaise or salad dressing. Makes four servings.

CHEF ROBERT'S SPECIAL

- | | |
|---|--------------------------|
| Pastry for 8 or 9 inch pie shell | 1 egg, beaten |
| 2 tablespoons chopped onion | ¼ cup catsup |
| 1 tablespoon margarine | 1½ teaspoons salt |
| ¼ cup chopped green pepper | ¼ teaspoon pepper |
| 1½ pounds ground beef | ½ teaspoon basil |
| ¾ cup (small can) undiluted evaporated milk | ¼ teaspoon oregano |
| ½ cup fine cracker crumbs | 1 large tomato quartered |
| ¼ cup chopped onion | Cheddar cheese slices |
| 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese | |

Add the 2 tablespoons chopped onion to pastry. Then roll pastry out and line an 8 or 9 inch pie pan. Melt margarine in heavy skillet. Sauté onion and green pepper until tender. Add meat; cook until lightly browned. Remove from heat. Drain off fat. Stir in the milk, cracker crumbs, cheese, and egg. Combine catsup and seasonings. Add to meat. Turn into pie shell. Top with tomato. Bake at 400° F. for 25-30 minutes. Top with cheese slices. Bake 1 minute longer. Serve hot.

TOMATO JUICE BREAD

- | | |
|--------------------------|--|
| 1 package dry yeast | 2 teaspoons salt |
| ¼ cup warm water | 2 tablespoons melted shortening or salad oil |
| 2 cups warm tomato juice | ¼ cup sugar |
| | 6 cups flour |

Sprinkle yeast over warm water. After 5 minutes, stir; add tomato juice, sugar, salt, and shortening; add enough sifted flour to make a stiff dough; mix thoroughly.

Turn out on lightly floured board and knead about 10 minutes or until smooth and satiny.

Place dough in a warm greased bowl; brush surface very lightly with melted fat; cover and let rise in a warm place (80° to 85° F.) about 2 hours, or until doubled in bulk.

Punch dough down thoroughly; turn out on board; divide in two equal portions and mold into balls; let rest, closely covered, for 10 minutes. Shape into loaves.

Place in two greased loaf pans (about 9½ by 5½ inches); brush tops with melted fat; cover and let rise about 1 hour or until doubled in bulk.

Bake 375° F. about 45 minutes. Makes 2 1 pound loaves.

CHERRY TOMATO DIP

Poke toothpick into cherry tomato or half a cherry tomato to be daintier and dip.

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| 3 ounce package softened cream cheese | 2 tablespoons milk |
| 4 ounces blue cheese, crumbled | 2 tablespoons mayonnaise |

Combine all ingredients, beat with the electric mixer until fluffy. Makes 1½ cups.

GREEN TOMATO MINCEMEAT

- | | |
|---------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| 3 pounds green tomatoes | 3 ounce can candied lemon peel |
| 3 pounds tart apples | 3 ounce can candied citron |
| ½ pound suet | 2 tablespoons salt |
| 1 medium orange | 1½ cups cider vinegar |
| 1 lemon | 2 tablespoons cinnamon |
| 2 pounds brown sugar | 1 tablespoon nutmeg |
| 1 pound seedless raisins | 2 teaspoons ground cloves |
| 1 pound currants | |
| 3 ounce can candied orange peel | |

Wash tomatoes. Remove stem and blossom ends. Put through food chopper, using medium knife; drain, cover with cold water. Bring to boil and boil until most of the green color is gone (about 5 minutes). Drain again.

Put suet and pared, cored apples through food chopper, using medium knife. Combine all ingredients in 10-quart kettle and mix well. Bring to a boil and let them simmer slowly about 1½ hours, until thick. Pack at once in hot, sterilized jars and seal. Store in a cool place. Makes about 6 pints. NOTE: One pint of mincemeat will fill a 9-inch pie. To use, add ¾ cup of water, fruit juice or cider; bring to a boil, then cool slightly before turning into the pie crust.

CHILI CON CARNE

- | | |
|---------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| 1½ pounds ground beef | 2 (1 pound) cans red kidney beans |
| 1 envelope onion soup mix | ½ cup water |
| 1 to 2 tablespoons chili powder | 1 (1 pound) can tomatoes |

In large skillet brown meat well, then stir in onion soup mix, chili powder, kidney beans, water, and tomatoes. Simmer, covered, 30 to 40 minutes, stirring occasionally. Makes 6 to 8 servings. Good served with premium saltines.

TOP: all the pieces you'd expect, plus an egg poacher!
 BELOW: Dutch oven; unique "brown, bake 'n serve" square and round casseroles; 3 piece combination cooker; "big family" 12" skillet.

famed for dependability

The News of Knox, Ind., quotes a businessman who came up the hard way as saying, "About all you can do on a shoestring these days is trip."

"Most of the wide open spaces left in this country are surrounded by teeth," says The Ripon (Wis.) Commonwealth-Press.

"Just about the time I make up my mind to fight temptation," says the Burlington (Wis.) Standard-Press, "I get the nagging thought that it might not come again."

The Le Sueur (Minn.) News Herald reports, "Statistics show that more people die in bath tubs than in swimming pools, proving to small boys that water with soap in it is extremely dangerous."

"Nature has a way of evening up things," says The Sibley (Iowa) Tribune. "You are probably just as repugnant to your relatives as they are to you."

"Life goes on," says The Lanesboro (Minn.) Leader, "and there comes a time when you don't have to pay girls to spend their evenings with your son."

A sign of the times, according to the Steuben Republican of Angola, Ind., is using instant coffee to dawdle away an hour.

Two "filler" items on the same page of the Tipton Daily Tribune of Tipton, Ind., were:

One. "The alcoholic beverage industry today employs one out of every 42 working American adults."

Two. "The Pacific horned lizard squirts blood out of its eyes when it is frightened."

"Your mind is like a parachute," claims the Wayne County Press of Fairfield, Ill., "If you expect it to work, it first has to open."

"People who have the ability to laugh at themselves are constantly amused," says The News of Tell City, Ind.

The Lima (Ohio) News claims that the world population is divided into three groups: the small group that makes things happen; the large group that watches things happen; and the multitude that never knows what happens.

The working class was never more aroused than by the fellow who invented the alarm clock, comments the O'Brien County Bell of Primghar, Iowa.

"Three-quarters of love is nothing but unsatisfied curiosity," says a George Bernard Shaw quotation in the Arenac County Independent of Standish, Mich.

The Algona (Iowa) Upper Des-Moines tells about the young coed who, when asked by the bursar's office to pay a $20 incidental fee, asked, "How many incidents does this entitle me to?"

Home of the Purple Cow?

Farmer Fred Peyer of Delavan, Wisconsin has large flowers blooming all year around on his farm silo. He might have started a new trend in rural art when he painted his silo entirely black then daubed in large flowers in bright gold, yellow, red and purple. It is known locally as the 'Calico silo'. One wag has said "Silage inside, corn outside."

ice cream sundae only on sunday

BY RAY TETZLAFF

It was in the old confectionery store that the ice cream sundae came into being served by Edward C. Berners in Two Rivers, Wisconsin. Back in 1881 a customer, George Hallauer, from Marshall, Illinois, stopped at Berners and ordered a large dish of ice cream. While waiting for his dessert a thought occurred to him.

"Say Ed, put a couple of spoonful of that chocolate stuff on top of that ice cream."

"What chocolate?" asked Berners.

"That same stuff you put in ice cream sodas—I want it on top of my ice cream."

With some hesitation Berners followed orders. The new chocolate covered ice cream was so delicious that Hallauer ordered another one, 'with the chocolate stuff on top.' Other customers came in, tried the new dish and enjoyed it too.

Soon there was a demand for the new but tasty ice cream combination. Mr. Berners added other flavors such as strawberry, raspberry and marshmallow. Going a bit further he heaped on nuts, bananas, and fruits and made up names for these eye and taste appealing treats. He added raisins to the chocolate dish and called it the 'Mud'. He crushed cereal, used it as a topping, and named it 'Golden Glow.' One dish of ice cream, dripping in raspberry juice, trimmed with puffed rice was called the 'Ricity Popa.'

Many new dishes were concocted, each with its own original name, such as the Flora Dora, the Gold Fish and an extra large serving of ice cream swimming in fruit juices was called the Two Rivers. More combinations were thought up using chopped nuts, whipped cream, cherries, and dabs of candy—all for the price of five cents.

At Manitowoc, Wis., six miles away, another confectioner by the name of Charles Giffey heard of this competition serving the exotic ice cream dishes with fantastic names. Giffey appeared at Berners and asked for a dish of "that ice cream with the chocolate on top." He was pleased with the dessert and the trimmings but not so pleased when he saw how much was being served for only five cents. He imagined all the ice cream stores going broke if they served so much for such a low price.

Between Mr. Berners and Mr. Giffey they decided that the price would be kept at five cents, used as a sales leader and sold only on Sunday.

It was little Peggy Giffey, the ten year old daughter of George, while visiting at Two Rivers, came into the Berners store, seated herself at a table and ordered "One of those dishes of ice cream with all that 'stuff' on top."

"Oh," said Mr. Berners, "We serve that only on Sundays."

"I know, but I want some of that ice cream now—"

"Can't, sold only on Sundays."

"Well, I want some now. We can make believe today is Sunday," she insisted. Little Peggy won the argument and was served her dish of ice cream with all that 'stuff' on top.

The name 'Sundae' came into use when a crockery salesman, taking an order from Mr. Berners for the long canoe shaped dish, placed his order with the factory and called them 'Sundae Dishes.'

The ice cream sundae has changed over the years with new flavors, new colors and new names. The price has changed considerably too.
